P.-T. A. FUN NIGHT GREATLY ENJOYED BY GOOD CROWD

A near-capacity crowd enjoyed the program of the P.-T. A. Fun Night at the High School gym. Monday evening, Eugene Taylor is to be congratulated for the fine variety of entertainment presented. Many said this was the best one ever presented.

The following is a review of the program:

Opening — an accordion band consisting of Mrs. Bob Magnuson, Patty Corkill, Mrs. George Lyons, Mrs. Max Clemenhagen and Dana Magnuson played "Whispering Hope" and "The More We Get Together."

Mr. Taylor then asked the crowd to stand and sing "Whispering Hope."

The Cameron ladies presented a negro skit, "Oh Doctor," which kept the audience in a laughing mood as the doctor (Mrs. Marvin Silflow) left his office, instructing his unhelpers (Mrs. Glen Wegner and Mrs. Ed Mielke) to "look in the book" for medical advice on treating any patients who might come in. Patients included Mrs. Fred Newman, Mrs. James Whittinger, Mrs. Herb Schwarz, and Mrs. Charles Parks. Helen Mielke directed the play.

Billy Blewett played two trumpet solos, accompanied by Mrs. John Johnson, "The Elena Polka" and "The Bible Tells Me So."

The "Hot Shot Duet," Teddy Peters and Rosalea Whittum of Juliaetta gave several musical numbers — electric guitar and accordion duet, "Easter Parade," electric guitar and piano duet, "Whispering" and "Lover." Ted Peters also accompanied himself on the electric guitar, singing "My Isle of Golden Dreams."

BERNICE FOX BECOMES BRIDE OF GORDON COOK, MARCH 18

In an impressive ceremony Bernice Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fox, Lewiston, became the bride of Gordon B. Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben P. Cook, Kendrick, at the First Christian Church, Lewiston, Sunday, March 18. The Rev. James York read the service at 2:30.

The chancel was decorated with baskets of orchid gladioli and white stock and lighted candelabra. White corded draped in loops and held by large pale pink bows, in which were tied lighted candles, decorated the choir rail. Greenery tied with large pink and white bows and lighted candles in the windows added to the arrangement.

Guests: Gerald J. Goecke, Moscow, sang "O Promise Me," "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied by Mrs. Dona Detweiler, who played the Lehengrin and Mendelssohn professional and recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a gown of imported hand-clipped French lace and nylon tulle over satin. It was fashioned with long, pointed lace sleeves, buttoned back and chapel-length train. The bridal veil belonged to Mrs. James Miller, Moscow. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible, and a lace handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, the late Mrs. John Shafer. She wore the traditional blue garter and had a good-luck piece in her shoe.

Mrs. James Miller was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Glorene McGregor, Longview, Wash., and Miss Judy Hendricks, Clarkston. Their floor-length gowns were of Buddha blue, crystalite worn over turquoise taffeta. They wore matching mitts and sequin trimmed Juliet caps of the same material. Their flowers were nosegays of pink and white spring flowers.

The flower girls, Susan and Hallie Hendricks, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Hendrick, Clarkston, wore identical floor-length frocks of rose colored crystalite over rose-pink taffeta. Halos of small pink flowers crowned their heads and they wore wristlets of matching flowers.

Lighting the candles were Mrs. John Deobald, Kendrick, and Mrs. Harold Goff, Asotin, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore ballet-length dresses of lavender and yellow crystalite, and halos and wristlets to match.

Bennie B. Cook, Pullman, brother of the groom, was best man, and ushers were Ronald Kerr, Vancouver; Robert Fisher, Seattle; James Corbett, Moscow, and Gordon Fox, brother of the bride, Mountain Home Air Force Base.

Mrs. Fox wore a Dior blue taffeta afternoon dress with cocoa and beige accessories. Mrs. Cook wore a navy blue lace dress with pink and blue accessories.

The reception was held in the church parlors for approximately 300 guests. The cake was a graduating four-tiered square. A miniature bride and groom standing underneath an arch of pink apple blossoms and white lily of the valley combined with lace ribbon, topped the cake. A wreath of tiny pink rosebuds encircled the cake, centering the lace-covered table. Mrs. Marvin Barnes and Mrs. John Miller served the cake.

Pouring were Mrs. Max McHargue, Mrs. Harry Prater, Mrs. Richard Foren and Mrs. Richard Blewett. Presiding at the punch bowl were Miss Lou Ann Clouser and Miss Joan Coffland. Miss Lois Clouser passed the bridegroom's cake.

The guest book was in charge of Mrs. Fred Jeffreys and the gift table of Mrs. Bonnie E. Cook, Miss Lorene White and Miss Anita Blewett.

The bride attended the Northern Idaho College of Education and received her B. A. in education at Eastern Washington College of Education at Cheney. For the last two years she has been employed as a second grade teacher in the Kelso public schools.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Idaho and is employed by the Washington State Employment Service at Walla Walla.

The couple left for a week's trip along the Oregon-California coast and will reside at 737 1/2 Valencia, Walla Walla. For traveling the bride wore a gold rayon silk suit with matching hat and gloves and black patent shoes and bag.

Big Move Is On

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Silflow started a chain reaction Monday when they moved into the top apartment in their building near the phone office. The apartment had been occupied by Goldie Sandborgh and Dee Dee Painter, who are moving now into a big trailer house that has been moved onto the Warney May property (Lucy Thomas), occupied by the J. K. Bruce family.

Then the Bob Magnuson family, who purchased the Silflow home, will take possession as soon as the Silflows vacate. The other link to complete the chain is when Mr. and Mrs. Dave Clayton and sons move from the C. E. Harris home to the Tom Keene home (which they purchased) and which will be vacated by the Magnuson family.

TREE TRIMMING RAISES IRE (An Editorial)

I do not agree with the editor's statement in last week's Gazette that, "I guess it is all for the best," in speaking of the recent mutilation of the trees in the park. I think it is the worst disaster to strike Kendrick since the great fire.

After shade trees have been planted in the first few years of trimming in the lower limbs is necessary to the formation of a straight trunk with the limbs taking off at the proper height. After that no benefit is derived except for the removal of dead or broken limbs. The bark of the tree, like your skin, is to protect the tree from the invasion of organisms of disease and rot. Any cut too large to be covered in a reasonable time by new bark will surely invite decay and shorten the life of the tree. The tree will attempt to regain its former height and form by producing new limbs, but these will be more easily broken by wind and it will never again achieve its natural symmetry.

Our predecessors may not have made the best selection of trees when they planted the poplars, but they gave quick and abundant shade. They will never more be anything but an eyesore and should be totally removed to spare the public the agony of their dying. We will have an opportunity to see how long it takes to produce a tree.

I do not criticize the workmen who did the butchering. They deserve credit for their daring and skill. I also commend the dispatch with which the carnage was removed, but it will be a long time, if ever, before our park will be the beautiful, shady spot it once was. — Dr. D. A. Christensen, Kendrick, Idaho.

Potlatch creek has continued to flow a chocolate color for the past week, and at a fast rate, although it can not be said to have reached flood stage at any time.

The cool weather of Sunday night, Monday and Tuesday undoubtedly had considerable to do with keeping the water below flood stage — and the more that comes down now the less will come when warm weather really does strike.

SCHOOL NOTES

For Glass Backboards
Homer Parks started the "Glass Backboards Drive" rolling with a donation of $20.00.

It is hoped that the funds can be raised to have the glass backboards installed before next basketball season. Our boys work under a handicap when they practice on wooden backboards and then have to play away from home on the glass ones. Depth perception is changed and rebounds are livelier on the glass, so that all phases of the game are altered. The boys work hard at this game of basketball, and certainly deserve any and all the facilities that will help their game.

These glass backboards, with which most of the other high school gymnasiums are equipped, cost from $65.00 to $500.00, depending on the style — fan shaped or rectangular. All persons who would be interested in helping to make the purchase of these glass backboards possible are invited to contact Coach Racicot, Mrs. Glen Wegner, Floyd Millard, or the High School office.

"At Home At The Range"

How well Inland Empire high school girls are "at home at the range" will help determine whether they'll be eligible to compete for a two-year college scholarship in home economics being offered by the Washington Water Power Co.

V. S. Casebolt, W. W. P. Palouse division manager, said this week that the company's new scholarship competition is open to all high school senior girls who are currently enrolled in an accredited home economics course or who have satisfactorily completed a credit in the subject.

Casebolt said the basis of the scholarship contest, which will be limited to students of high schools within the W. W. P.'s Washington and Idaho service areas only, would be on two major points: A five-minute cooking demonstration emphasizing any feature of an electric range, and a description of the student's qualifications, desire and need for the scholarship. Applications including the above information must be submitted in writing to the company before April 25, 1956, he added. The scholarship contest area will be divided into five districts which correspond approximately with the company's five divisional operations. District winners will be selected after a personal interview with the five top applicants, with preliminary selection based on scholarship, need and ability.

First place winners in each district, Casebolt said, will receive a portable radio and will automatically become eligible for the grand finals to be held in Spokane.

The winner of the grand final will receive a two-year home economics scholarship to attend either the State College of Washington, if the winner is a resident of that state, or to the University of Idaho, if an Idaho resident. The scholarship includes tuition, registration, miscellaneous fees up to a total of $370.00, Casebolt said.

It's important that each scholarship competitor be prepared to present her range demonstration on television," Casebolt said, "and that she remember the closing date for the contest is April 25, 1956."

Judges for the Grand Finals will be home economists not associated with participating schools or the Washington Water Power Co., he added.

Roads In Terrible Condition

Roads throughout this area may almost all be classified as being in "terrible condition," due to frost boils, overflowing culverts, and all the other things that plague maintenance men.

In some areas of Potlatch ridge it has been necessary to put up "Road Closed" signs, due to the frost boils. All other roads throughout the area are posted at from 200 to 250 pounds per inch of tire width, and from a five to eight ton gross load limit — regardless of tires.

According to word from the state highway department the state highway is posted at an "8 ton gross load limit or 200 lbs. per inch of tire width."

We in this section have been more fortunate, however, than many others, for it has not been necessary to close the schools due to road conditions.

Cut Half Cost
Putting up a farm building this spring? Try a pole-frame job, suggest University of Idaho agriculture engineers. Poles serve well and may cut the cost in half.
Locate the building on a nearly level, well-drained site where it fits into the farmstead plan. If it is to be a loafing shed or machine shed, place it so the open side faces the sun and is protected from the prevailing wind. Most builders space poles 12 to 15 feet apart. Depth of holes depends on bearing strength of the soil and size of the building. Four feet is recommended for average soil. Five feet is good for sandy or soft soil. Poles that come in contact with moist soil must be treated if they are to last. Pressure-treated poles are best. Cold-soak treatment on the site will give good results. Pressure treating extends the life of a pole to 30 or 40 years.

Concrete footings beneath and around the pole butts is insurance against uneven settling.
The entire process is described in detail in an extension service bulletin "Pole Frame Construction for Idaho Farm Buildings." You can get a copy from your county agent.

New Control for Swine Erysipelas

New Factor Also for Internal Parasites

New developments in vaccination for swine erysipelas and control of internal parasites in livestock is always good news for farmers.
One of the newer vaccines for swine erysipelas produces immunity on a par with older methods of immunization and apparently has two distinct advantages: It breaks the chain of propagation of the disease via in-

Researchers hope that piperazines will be on hand to take up slack should phenothiazine lose its effectiveness in fighting worms in animals fect premises, and it does not seem to cause any ill effects, such as enlarged joints in vaccinated pigs.

A new factor in internal parasite control is the successful use of three compounds, all very similar, called piperazines. Used for years in treating humans, piperazines only recently have been tested on animals and chickens. Piperazines are effective against certain types of worms, but they also have a low toxicity. Piperazines may be fed in mash or placed in drinking water. For hogs, they may be mixed with feed in a self-feeder, but to assure a more uniform intake it's best to hand-feed them on the day of treatment.

Dr. Roger Link of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine notes that phenothiazine has been used for years to fight internal parasites in cattle. He adds that, when a drug is used for many years, it sometimes seems to lose its effectiveness. Veterinarians are hoping that piperazines will serve as a backstop in fighting worms in cattle in phenothiazine should start to fail.

Recommend Isolation in Swine Erysipelas

A combination isolation and vaccination program offers the best control for swine erysipelas, says the American Foundation for Animal Health.

The Foundation recommends isolation of all newly purchased swine for a period of three weeks, during which time they should be observed closely for signs of the disease.

Erysipelas is similar to many other diseases in that it is spread by carriers—that is—animals that appear to be healthy but actually are infected. Farmers who do not raise their own pigs should buy feeder animals and breeding stock only from herds which are known to be disease free.

Gilts and sows should be properly vaccinated before breeding time in areas where erysipelas has occurred earlier. Little pigs should be vaccinated at six to eight weeks of age.

Antiserum injections and selective antibiotics offer some help in swine infected with erysipelas, provided such treatment is done early in the course of the disease.

Seed and Soil Make Best Corn

Key Factors, Chicago Winners Believe

Good seed and careful soil management were key factors in helping win top corn growing honors for America's latest Corn King and Corn Prince at the International Grain and Hay Show in Chicago.

Willard C. Kirk, 58, the new Corn King, who operates a 335-acre farm near Jeffersonville, Ohio, has won the championship three times in the past five years.

Thomas Halterman, 16, of Rushville, Indiana, new Corn Prince, was following a family custom in winning corn honors His brother

Corn King Willard C. Kirk believes in good seed and careful soil management—a policy that has earned him three corn championships in five years.

Lair, 20, was Corn Prince at the 1948 show. His father Newton, 64, operator of a 227-acre farm, won the title of Corn King at the same show, to repeat an honor he won in 1946.

Kirk says four steps were particularly important in bringing him the 1955 championship: 1—The use of a high quality single cross hybrid seed; 2—Feeding the soil a well-balanced supply of nitrogen, phosphate and potash fertilizer, and liming as needed; 3—A rotation that gives him a two-year laydown of legume-grass sod; 4—Returning manure and crop residues to the soil.

Tom Halterman's junior championship corn was produced on a 20-acre field he tilled as a 4-H Club project. The seed was a parent of Indiana hybrid No. 844.

Calves Are Lost in First Twelve Weeks

The greatest danger of losing a dairy calf comes before it is 12 weeks old, says R. E. Brown, dairy specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Most of the losses, he adds, are due to infections brought on by poor management and unsanitary handling.

Use common sense plus nature's own protective measures to help calves through those critical first weeks. Be sure each calf gets milk from its dam for the first three or four days after birth, either by nursing or hand feeding. This first milk, or colostrum, contains antibodies and a large amount of vitamin A that helps calves fight off infectious diseases.

Build calf pens so that you can clean them easily. Thoroughly clean and scrub the pens before you put calves into them. A one-pound can of lye in five gallons of water makes a good cleaning solution.

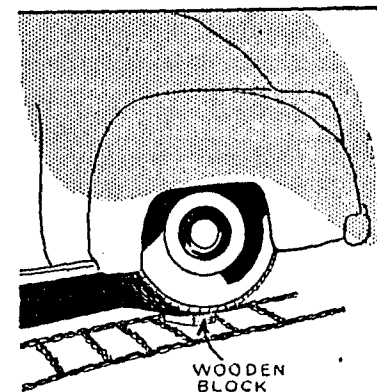

Recent experiments have shown that calves can stand severe cold if they are dry and free from drafts. They need plenty of no-draft ventilation, too.

No-Freeze Tank

One farmer, having trouble with exposed stock tanks freezing in severely cold weather despite a tank heater going full blast all day and most of the night, built a tightly boarded roof shelter over his concrete tank. One side of tank has swinging doors, open by day to give stock access to the tank, closed by night to prevent freezing in severe weather.

Chain Secret

Attaching chains to car or truck tires is made simple if wheel of car is raised with a small block of wood. By using two blocks, both wheels can be raised simultaneously. Blocks may be carried in trunk along with chains.

Film Sponsored by W. W. P. Co.
 Builders, home loan agency representatives, contractors, appliance dealers and others from the Palouse area were among those present at Struppier's in Pullman, March 15, for a special showing of a television kine-scope film which highlights the national "Live Better . . . Electrically" program.

Sponsored by the Washington Water Power Company, the film is described as part of a "double barreled effort to acquaint everyone concerned with modern home building and equipment with the value of promoting electrical living."

Kimball I. Jack, W. W. P. vice president in charge of sales, promotion and information, said the meeting at Pullman was one of a series of LB-L promotion sessions throughout the Inland Empire.

The promotion is a streamlined version of an hour-long closed circuit telecast from New York which launched the "Live Better . . . Electrically" program simultaneously in 77 major cities across the nation. Kinsey M. Robinson, president of the Washington Water Power Company, announced at the first showing of the telecast in Spokane that "We are heading more rapidly than most men realize toward the era of electronics, and an era of atomic power. No other source of energy holds such possibilities for the homemaker. Other methods of homemaking may offer temporary advantages in cost, speed of installation, or novelty, but it is electricity that we must look to as the modern source of energy—the thing that will catch the imagination of young people of tomorrow."

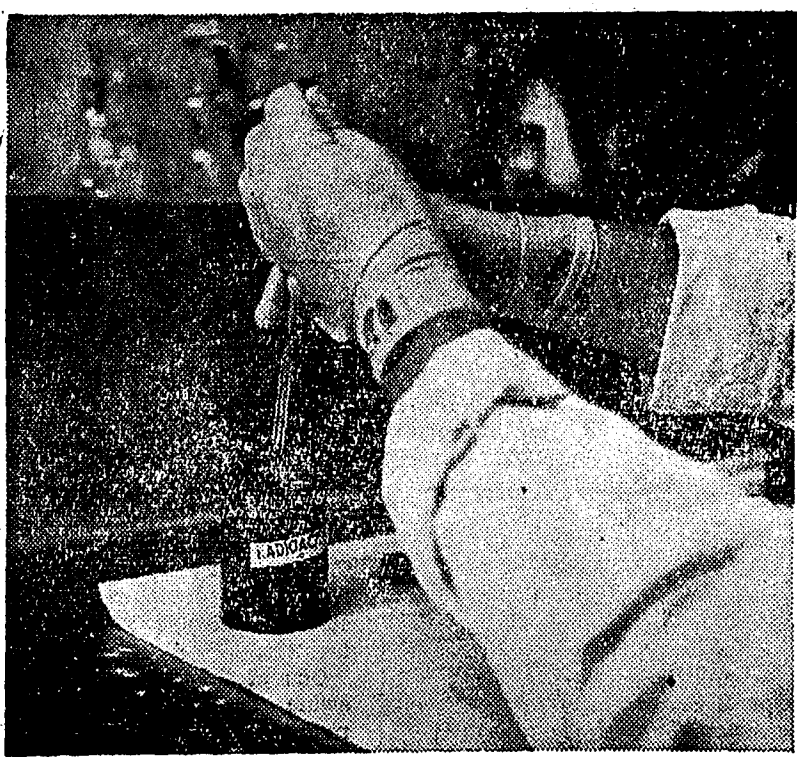

Robinson said that the "Live Better . . . Electrically" program represents an all out industry effort to benefit homemakers and win the consumer's dollar. It involves representatives of lending institutions, contractors, real estate agencies, plumbers and government. "A program of such magnitude," he said, "is bound to increase business for all."

Landscaping and Home Improvement

Man can take the plants of nature and cut them up into boards and shingles and sawdust, and even can extract their chemicals. But once he does, he never again can put them back together again to make a beautiful tree or shrub.

Trees and shrubs and flowers can only be grown. It may take 1,000 years to raise a giant redwood, for example. Many a tree or shrub on home properties is over 100 years old. Even the small-size shrubs that beautify newly-constructed homes, blending them into the landscape, must be grown from two to ten years or more in nurseries, say the American Association of Nurserymen, before they are ready for the home owner.

Growing trees and shrubs on the property also can make the home more beautiful, more livable, more valuable. For practically all recently-built homes and many old ones, good landscaping, if not already accomplished, is the key to home improvement.

Shrubs and trees and flowers have a healthy psychological effect on man and his family. The magic transformations of the seasons, the fruits, the fragrances are of the pattern. Many of us remember the tree house we built as a child, and the joy of climbing a tree and becoming the master of all the landscape below us as far as we could see. We beheld a perfect rose and marvel at nature's loveliness.

Our pleasures in plants stem from the fact that they comprise a large part of nature. When our homes are surrounded by the living, beautiful products of nature, we have greater happiness in living, more wholesomeness.

We feel that we belong, just as the tree belongs, not just temporarily, but permanently, even though we may not live so long as the tree. Our neighbors seen in our plantings an evidence of stability, too. Plantings about the home show a happy will to live beautifully, for the whole family, and they are especially important in any home improvement program.

Eat Lots Of Eggs

It's time to boost the poultry business, Mrs. Rettig, county home agent says — for any winter month is an egg month.

Eggs are one of the best protein foods. One contains nearly 7 grams of protein, or one-tenth of an adult's requirement for a day. This protein is readily utilized in the body for growth or repair. Five eggs are equal in protein value to a quart of milk or five ounces of lean meat.

Besides their superior protein content eggs enrich meals with important minerals, especially iron. Iron is a mineral most often low in the average American adult diet. One egg yolk will provide one-eighth of the day's requirement of iron. This compares well with other sources of iron such as greens, dry beans, whole grain cereals and potatoes.

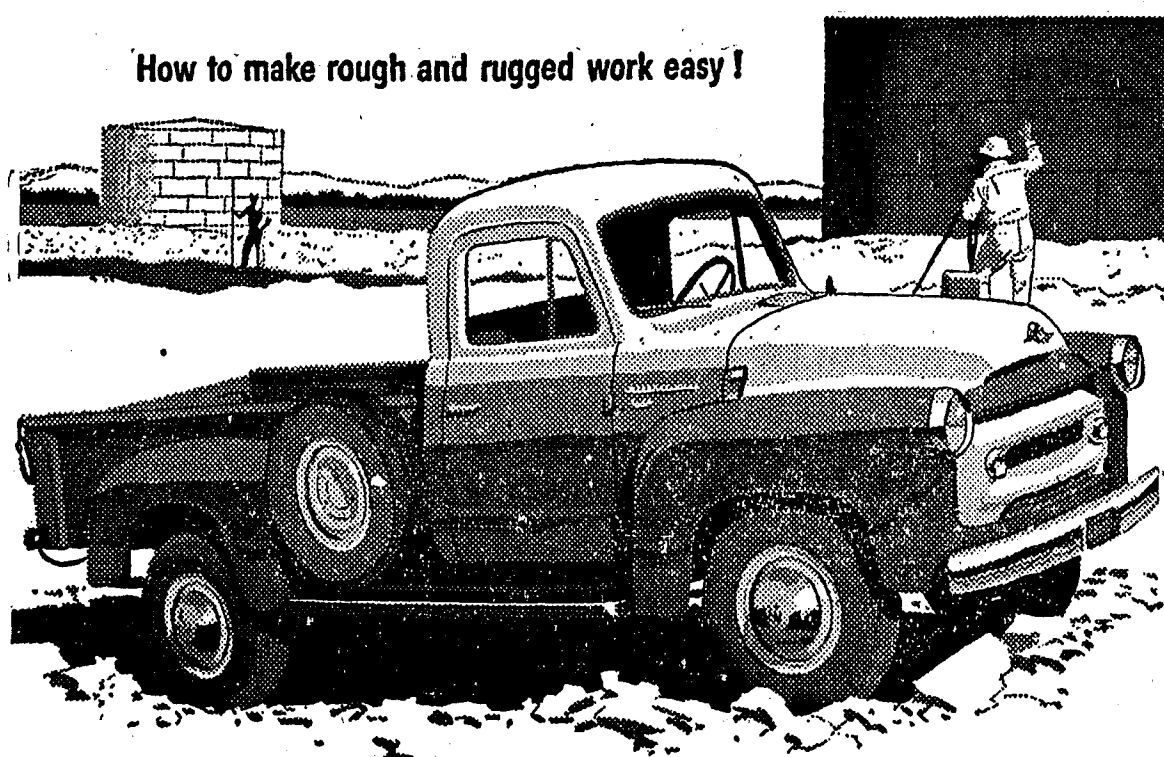

The egg yolk is an excellent source of vitamins A, D, riboflavin and pantothenic acid, a good source of thiamin and a fair source of niacin.

Vitamin A is particularly important in the formation of mucus membranes in all openings of the body, as a part of tooth enamel, and maintenance of clear vision. Approximately 5,000 I. U. of vitamin A are needed every day. One egg gives 750 units, or about one-sixth of the daily quota.

Many people are very inconsistent in many things, but stand loyally by their prejudices.

"Swamp buggy" carrying oil geologists into a Louisiana wilderness

SWAMP BUGGIES, snowmobiles—even helicopters—are used by Standard's geologists, who seek petroleum throughout the free world and in 33 U.S. states. Our search never ends. Last year, in the Western Hemisphere alone, Standard invested $134 million in exploration, drilled 107 test wells. We added nearly three times as much oil to reserves as we brought from the ground. But U.S. consumption rises steadily. It's now over 9 million barrels per day and expected to increase 1/3 within 10 years. So in 1956 we'll again invest many millions in exploration, drill scores of new wells—seeking the oil you'll use tomorrow.

4-H Awards Available

An increasing number of incentives are being offered for the 100,000 4-H Club members participating in the 1956 National 4-H Frozen Foods Program.

A new addition to the Honor Roll of National Donors of 4-H Awards, a nationally known firm, is providing medals for four county winners this year, double the number previously offered. State winners in the program will receive all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, in place of a $250 U. S. Savings Bond. At the congress, six national winners will be named and each presented a $300 college scholarship.

The National Frozen Foods Awards Program has become increasingly popular among 4-H members since its inception in 1945. Through the program, club members learn to use freezing equipment advantageously and economically, discover the local foods best adapted to freezing, and develop skill in preparing, packing and freezing meats, poultry, eggs, fish, fruits and vegetables.

The program is conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, and the awards arranged by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Chicago. Full information is available from county Extension offices.

"America, Beacon Of Hope"

In the V. F. W. Auxiliary sponsored essay contest on the subject of "America, Beacon Of Hope" the following were: Nadine Ostman, first, winning a $25.00 Savings bond; Rosalea Whittum, second, winning $10.00 in cash, and Delores Gaskill, third, winning $5.00 in cash.

There were 37 entries, and the judges, Mrs. Robert Meserve, Mrs. Warren Schmidt and Robert Magnuson had a difficult time picking the winners, as all might be classed as very well written and thought out.

The Auxiliary sincerely appreciates the interest taken in this contest.

Small Fry

Marian was in the second grade and when his mother asked her teacher's name she replied, "Miss Feelings."

Later the mother stopped at school to meet the new teacher and walk home with her daughter. Marian's mother extended her hand to greet the teacher, saying, "How do you do Miss Feelings?"

"I beg your pardon, my name is Miss Rhines."

Elsie - "What kind of husband would you advise me to get, grandma?"

Grandma - "You just leave husbands alone and get yourself a single man."

Word of Thanks
State Highway Engineer E.V. Miller expressed appreciation to the loggers and truckers of Idaho's five northern counties for their cooperation and tolerance on the load restrictions imposed in that area.
The restrictions of 8 ton gross load in all state and US numbered routes, except US 10, has virtually brought trucking and bus operations to a standstill in the area. Miller said that District Engineer Jack Phelps, Coeur d'Alene has met with logging operators and others in north Idaho and explained the reasons for having to impose such drastic limitations to protect the pavement surface.
"Phelps has reported to me that the loggers were very understanding over the need to limit the use of the highways at the inconvenience of a few so that we could protect it for the majority," Miller said.
"If the present weather continues, we are hoping that the pavement structures will dry out enough so that we can ease these drastic limits within a week or ten days," he said.
Miller had previously stated that the spring break up of pavements over the entire state was worse than it had been for several years. The early periods of thawing and freezing have caused moisture to collect under the pavement and heavy loads break up the roadways according to Miller. He has pointed out that there has been what amounts to three springs in the state. "We have already had to impose restrictions two different times up north and spring is just now starting."

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, by golly, Monday morning it looked as though our advice about taking off your sawdust tires was a bit premature — for the snow certainly fell on top the ridges. Our apologies for making that statement. But what we said about U. S. Royal Tires still goes. Come in and let us figure with you. We'll offer you a deal you just can't afford to pass up!

A prim little old lady was telling her friend about her awful shock upon finding two empty whiskey bottles in her yard. "You can imagine my embarrassment," she said. "I got them out of sight fast because I didn't want anyone to think I drank."
"What did you do with them?" asked her friend.
"Well, the minister lives next door," was the reply, "so I put them in his garbage can; everybody knows he doesn't drink!"

Getting your equipment in condition for spring work? If so, better check over your supply of lubricants — greases, transmission oils, motor oils, etc., and then give us a ring at 1251. We'll bring you out a supply of those famous Union Oils and Greases (one made to fit each need) and including that great Royal Triton Motor Oil.

May: "What color dress are you going to wear to the party tomorrow night?"

Faye: "Each lady is supposed to wear something to match her husband's hair, so I guess I'll wear my gray dress. What are you going to wear?"
May: "I guess I'd better not go!"
