More Trees Coming Out

It seems almost like the "tree removal bug" has hit Kendrick, for almost every day more and more of the big trees about town are being taken out.

Last week Walter Sparber and a crew removed the big black walnut tree, a maple tree and a fir tree from the yard at the home of Mrs. Eula Miller.

Last week Lester Crocker began the removal of three big locust trees from his front yard, and the big locusts surrounding the Ross Armitage home also went down last week. Undoubtedly the grass will grow greener and the litter of the locust seed pods will be "pleasantly missed."

Somehow, however, "the old town seems sorter bare!"

LELA GRUELL JULIAETTA PIONEER, DIES THURSDAY

Mrs. Lela Belle Gruell, 79, a resident of Juliaetta, since 1912, died at 5:00 p. m. Thursday, March 29, at the Gritman Memorial hospital in Moscow. She entered the hospital on Wednesday. However, she had been in the hospital and at the home of her daughter in Pullman, during the last month.

She was a native of Rushville, Ind. She was born Jan. 6, 1877. Her husband, Samuel Gruell, survives at the Juliaetta home. They were married at Rushville, April 19, 1898.

Mrs. Gruell was a member of the Christian Church, and was very active in the Methodist church at Juliaetta, having taught a Bible class there for many years.

Five sons and three daughters who survive are: Eugene Gruell of Ontario, Oregon; Earl Gruell of Klamath Falls, Ore.; Albert Gruell of Lewiston; Donald and Cecil Gruell of Juliaetta; Mrs. Everett Custer and Mrs. Lucille Hartung, both of Pullman; and Mrs. Eldon Heimgartner of Juliaetta. Other survivors are two brothers, S. I. Thompson of Pasco, Wash., and Millard Thompson, living in California; a sister, Mrs. Hans Jensen of Redmond, Ore.; and 17 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Monday morning at 11:00 in the Brower-Wann Memorial Chapel at Lewiston with the Rev. James York of the Lewiston First Christian Church as officiant, assisted by Rev. F. C. Schmidt of the Juliaetta Methodist Church. Songs were sung by June Smith, accompanied on the organ by Louis C. Liddiard.

Active pallbearers were Don Gruell, Cecil Gruell, Albert Gruell, Harold Gruell, Earl Gruell and Eldon Heimgartner. Honorary were Eugene Taylor, C. Dougharty, Harvie Shepherd, Charles Irwin, F. A. Wagner and Otto Schupfer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gruell would have observed their 58th wedding anniversary on April 19th.

Mrs. Gruell's friendliness and gentle ways endeared her to all who knew her, and her passing leaves a vacancy in the community that will long remain unfilled.

Trio Have Narrow Escape

Last Friday morning Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gustafson, accompanied by their neighbor, Mrs. Harry Baker, started for town in the Gustafson pickup truck. As they descended the schoolhouse hill the brakes on the vehicle gave way, and it began to gather speed very rapidly.

Realizing the danger Mr. Gustafson swung over the left hand side of the road near the Lester Crocker residence, and then turned into the alley between the L. S. Thurber and Marvin Long residence. By that time their speed was too great to permit a proper turn, so the pickup bounced over the low rock wall between the alley and the Long residence, and came to a stop in the garden — with the occupants scared and shaken up. Mrs. Baker received a torn ligament in her left knee, but Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson were uninjured.

Mrs. Baker is being cared for at her home by Mrs. John DeHaven. The Gustafsons, suffering from shock, spent a few days in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Levell, at Clarkston.

Quick thinking and quick acting on the part of Mr. Gustafson averted what might have been a very serious accident.

Cool Weather Brings Down Creek

The cool weather of the past four days has greatly cut down on the flow of Potlatch Creek, and one might say, "almost too much." There still remains a great deal of snow in the drainage of the Potlatch, and it would probably be much better if it were carrying more water now rather than later — for it has to come some time and it is getting quite late, despite the fact that we had an early Easter.

So low is the creek that it is not even touching the foot of the flow gauge near the Northern Pacific depot. For some time now engineers and others have been warning residents of the Pacific Northwest to be prepared for high water — for the snow pack is far greater than usual and the season later. It could be that the Potlatch will stand watching, too.

State Officials Visit

R. M. Parsons, district highway engineer, and Ralph M. Stone, district maintenance engineer, both of Lewiston, were Kendrick business visitors last Friday. They called at the Gazette office to explain their position in reply to a recent article in the Gazette criticizing state officials for permitting heavy traffic over the extremely soft roads in this area.

Mr. Parsons stated that a peculiar situation existed here due to the fact that frozen roads on top were ample for the hauling — but here in the warmer canyon were too soft. He pointed out that they knew a number of violations had occurred since the posting — but that it was the duty of the state police to enforce the regulations — and that the state officers "were spread mighty thin."

Both emphasized that present regulations say: "A maximum gross of 8 tons, regardless of type of vehicle or tire equipment — or 200 pounds per inch of tire width!"

When questioned about road building in this area for spring Mr. Parsons said: "Roads in this area will be repaired and rebuilt to as good a condition as possible just as rapidly as possible, including re-oiling of the road between Kendrick and Juliaetta. However, I do not know if any new road construction will be possible as the unusual and severe winter has resulted in a preliminary estimate of $2,000,000 for repairs alone to Idaho highways. This figure is about four times the usual cost and means that $1,500,000 which we hoped could be used for new construction will have to be used for repairs."

Mr. Stone said they were aware that even now, with roads in a "mushy condition" some trucks were slipping through at night and in the early morning hours — but they would be prosecuted to the limit if and when caught.

Theresa Altig Passes

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Theresa Altig, Deary, at Short's Chapel in Moscow, Friday at 2:00 p. m., having been found dead in a Spokane motel room, where she had gone for medical care.

She was married to Ira Altig on April 3, 1918, at Kendrick Idaho. They resided at Deary most of their lives, where he was an oil distributor. Mr. Altig passed away in August, 1954.

Mrs. Altig is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Hanna Schultz of Juliaetta and Mrs. Mary McGillivray of Spokane; two brothers, Fred Gladen of Kendrick and Otto Gladen of Moscow; two half sisters, Mrs. Margaret Montgomery of Moscow, and Mrs. Viola Totten of Coeur d'Alene; a half brother, Roy Phayer of Deary.

Interment was at Riverside mausoleum at Spokane, by the side of her husband.

Honored On Anniversary

Mrs. Nellie Biddison gave a surprise birthday party for her sister, Hazel Talbot, Tuesday afternoon. Guests included Mrs. Tom Long, Mrs. Bob Cain, Mrs. Henry Jones, Mrs. Grace Souders, Mrs. P. G. Candler, Mrs. Theresa McDowell, Mrs. Ed. Nelson, Mrs. Floyd Millard and Mrs. Fred Zimmerman.

The honor guest received lovely birthday presents, and Mrs. Biddison served delicious refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

Portable Mill Moves In

A portable mill pulled onto the "Westendahl bench" north and east of Kendrick Monday. It will be operated by Glen Eggers.

Thongs Attend Easter Services

Easter Sunday dawned chill and cloudy here in the canyon, but apparently it had no dampening effect on the spirit of Christians — for reports everywhere tell of churches filled to capacity as all came to worship "The Risen Christ."

The little Leland Methodist Church had every seat filled and chairs in the aisles at their Sunrise Service. Friends from far and near were present, all enjoying a breakfast in the church basement following the worship service — the Leland ladies reporting that over 200 were served.

The sun peeked through the clouds by mid-morning to shine on churchgoers at the 9:30 to 11:00 hour. Special services of music and inspiration were held throughout the area as families worshipped together in the church of their choice.

Easter bonnets and finery were in evidence, but for the main, the spirit of reverence and worship took first place.

Slide Almost Blocks Road

A dirt and brush slide which almost blocked the highway occurred Saturday night just above the entrance of the Juliaetta Sawmill below Juliaetta.

The slide, of dirt, mud and brush just left room enough for a vehicle to pass. Flares were put out warning motorists and it was removed Monday.

Slides are commonplace almost everywhere this spring, and motorists are warned to always be on the lookout for them.

Last week the local road crew, with the help of special state maintenance men cut a channel along the road right-of-way from the pond below the H. F. Thompson residence (Grant's pond) to the foot of the hill leading to the Arthur Johns ranch, where the water goes through a large culvert and into the Pothatch.

This latter operation did away with water seepage which was all but covering the highway.

Funeral Services Held

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Theresa Altig, Deary, at Short's Chapel in Moscow, Friday at 2:00 p. m., having been found dead in a Spokane motel room, where she had gone for medical care.

Fair Board Plans Building
Latah county fair board members plan to construct one building this year and will work toward improving roads at the fair grounds, they decided at a meeting Monday afternoon at the Extension Service office. A committee was appointed by Gerald Ingie, Kendrick, chairman, to study the building situation and work out a program for this year. Chosen were P.A. Nilsson, Genesee; F.H. Brincken, Garfield, and Elbert McProud, Moscow, county agent. They will report at the April meeting. Indications are that the highway commissioners will improve the road on the north side of the fair grounds, it was reported. Fair board members said they plan to request that the city extend Harold avenue to connect with the road along the north side and that they eventually want the road built eastward to the north and south county road from the Troy highway. Long range plans at the fair grounds include construction of two more stock barns and a sales building. Board members are counting on a permanent Armory being built there, which could be used as a main exhibit building in the future. The fair ground now has three buildings—a temporary Armory, food house and a stock barn. Fair board members plan to make roads wide enough so that cars can park on both sides. Edgar Spencer, Palouse; Burl Trout of Troy; James Hurst, Moscow, assistant county agent, and Ingie were appointed by Ingie to serve to work with the 4-H council, Junior Chamber of Commerce and others on the annual 4-H fat livestock sale at the fair. The committee set a meeting for Saturday at 10 a.m. to outline preliminary work for the event.

Fair board members reviewed plans for constructing a chimney in the building at the fair grounds, so could be used as a meeting place. Following Monday's board meeting, members adjourned to the fair grounds to inspect the buildings.

One advantage in starting late is that you miss the thousands who starve early to avoid the crowd. To practice what you preach is easy—suppose some people tried to preach publicly what they practice.

IKE APPROVES "PARTNERSHIP" PLAN FOR JOHN DAY DAM

President Eisenhower not only has approved the partnership plan for financing John Day Dam; he has urged Congress to pass legislation getting the dam under way in a partnership arrangement. This is good news for the Pacific Northwest, which needs to keep its power pool building. It is especially good news to Yakima, for it can mean there'll be a 310-million-dollar construction project in progress just 60 miles from here.

There has been a good deal of partisan controversy over the plan put forward by Rep. Sam Coon of Oregon, for it is a new concept in dam financing. He proposes that local agencies, either or both public and private, advance the money for the cost of the dam and obtain 50-year power contracts for their enterprise. The dam would, however, be built, operated and owned by the federal government. The arrangement fits in with the Eisenhower partnership theory, through which he hopes to get more power developed in our area by attracting local money to assist federal funds. This was timely, for feeling is building up in Congress against making federal funds build all our power projects.

The President realizes better than many congressmen the need for keeping moving on power development. He has promised that a comprehensive legislative program on water conservation and development will be submitted.

"The need is such that we must make faster progress and without delay," said the President in his State of the Union message. The Northwest is fortunate that the President so believes. It is for us to drop the public-private power warfare and get together in a partnership program.

Attention Farmers I HAVE BUILT AND SOLD THE COMBINE AIR-FLO GRAIN SAVER

for five years! Every year a better unit is built. Many people are skeptical of something new. I too am often skeptical and must be shown — but my product is now proven!

Friends, I have not sold one Air-Flo near Kendrick, but some 700 are well distributed all over the west. The reason I think I don't sell any near Kendrick is "I am too well known." I could have built them in Kendrick and not sold one unit there. However, in Craigmont, where I am also well known, I have sold some 100 units — and all like them very well, and I have many orders from Craigmont for this year.

I am not crying for business — I have way too much now! This is only March, and already some 150 units sold, mostly to neighbors of last years users — so that speaks for itself.

The Oliver Corporation of Battle Creek, Mich., tried one last year. This year they bought six more units, which I shipped to their factory in January — and want many more. Now the big Corporations and everyone else can't be wrong! The Air-Flo must be of great value to everyone or they would not sell! I guaranteed everyone of some 100 units last year on a "no work, no pay basis" — and not one failed to pay for their units!

It is true the first units I built years ago did not perform too well — but all of you who know me know I am no quitter — I simply make work whatever I build and sell! The reason I put this ad. in this paper is this: I want more units close here where I can personally supervise the installation — and when "Old Bill puts 'em on they work !!!

Many farmers tell me this: "Before we had Air-Flo we could not run slow enough to save the grain — now we can't run fast enough to lose any." Don't it make you sick to crawl along in low gear and still see the waste of grain? See those green streaks of growing grain in your fields? Many say the only solution is buy a leveler. But in the steep Palouse country I sold some 75 units, all of which go on leveler-equipped machines! WHY? — because many tried them on levelers last year. No combine has enough air — all are short. Using the Air-Flo, which puts double the amount of air in the machine naturally, the floating chaff leaves the combine and never gets on the sieves.

Come to my factory for a visit, at least, and see what I am doing.

Putting Weight On Beef Cattle

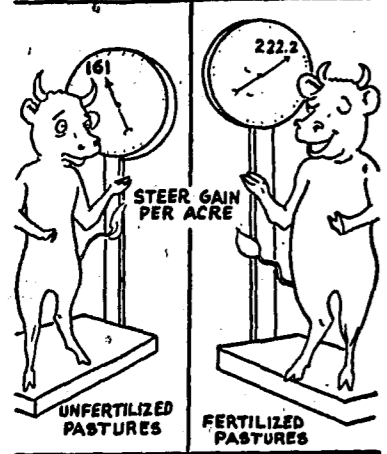

Fertilized Pastures Best, Tests Show

Despite very poor weather and grazing conditions, fertilized pastures came out far ahead of unfertilized in putting weight on beef cattle last summer at the University of Minnesota's Rosemount Experiment Station.

Paul M. Burson, University soils professor, says the fertilized pastures were not set back as much by drought as were the unfertilized.

Steer gain per acre on fertilized pasture was 222.2 pounds, on unfertilized, 161 pounds. And cattle pastured in rotation on fertilized pastures sold for a little more than animals grazed on unfertilized pastures.

Steers on fertilized pasture sold for $20.50 per hundred pounds, those on unfertilized for $20. Value of beef produced per acre on fertilized pasture was $45.44, on unfertilized, $32.22. In 1954, a better-moisture year, fertilized pasture produced $66.46 worth of beef per acre, while unfertilized produced $29.06 worth—$27.40 per acre less.

Minnesota experiments have shown that you get more steer gain per acre on fertilized pastures than on unfertilized.

All pastures got three tons of lime per acre in 1952. Half of each pasture was fertilized with 500 pounds of 0-20-20 per acre as found necessary by soil tests.

Rosemount's 1955 pasture season was unusually poor. In April, May and most of June there was drought and pasture yield was cut seriously. There was another long dry spell from August 1 through September 15.

New Meat Ideas May Increase Retail Sales

The livestock industry believes that flash-frozen, no-waste meat will bring great dividends in the field of animal agriculture.

A development of the industry's effort for meat that is simple to prepare and easy to store, flash-freezing is done at 50 degrees below zero. Five minutes before dinner the frosted meats can be placed on a broiler or in a frying pan. After 2 or 3 minutes of cooking they are ready to serve.

The phrase "no waste" has double meaning. The consumer gets meat that is trimmed and less bulky. Fats and bones, usually wasted after they leave packing plants, can now be kept at the plants where they are valuable for many useful by-products.

Centralized butchering and processing will offer the housewife better meats in smaller packages and at the same time simplify meat preparation in the kitchen. These advantages, it is believed, will cause meat sales to increase sharply.

Corn Prince

Tom Halterman proudly displays prize-winning corn which earned him the title of Corn Prince at International Hay and Grain show. Member of a family which has many times won corn honors at the Chicago show, Tom produced his corn on a 20-acre plot as a 4-H project. His father Newton Halterman, was twice named Corn King.

Polio Vaccine "Safest Yet"
BOISE—The Salk polio vaccine slated for use in Idaho this spring is probably the most thoroughly tested polio vaccine released in this country, A.W. Koltz, Director of Laboratories, State Board of Health, reported this week.

The vaccine has been "triple-tested" to insure its safety, Koltz said, and all three tests failed to disclose presence of any live polio virus.

Manufactured by Eli Lilly and Co. of Indianapolis, largest producer of vaccine in this country, the vaccine was first tested by Lilly Laboratories; then by the Division of Biologics Control, United States Public Health Service.

Samples of the lot for use in Idaho were also submitted by the board of Health to Dr. Jerome T. Syvertson, University of Minnesota virus laboratory, for further testing. Results of that test, received this week, confirmed both previous tests showing no evidence of live virus in the vaccine.

Dr. Syvertson's summary and interpretation of the test stated: "I interpret these findings to indicate that polio vaccine, Eli Lilly B-1403, Supply Lot No. 0120-66'610, is free from live virus and fully satisfactory for use in the Idaho state poliomyelitis vaccine program."

The polio advisory committee, Idaho State Medical Association, has approved going ahead with the vaccine program as outlined.

Dr. Quentin W. Mack, Boise, chairman of the committee said: "We feel that the thorough testing of the vaccine has proved it to be the safest yet released, and we give our approval to the vaccination program set up by the Board of Health."

Statewide distribution of the vaccine will begin on April 9, through direction of local health units at Pocatello, Boise, Twin Falls, Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene.

In counties not served by a health unit, distribution will be through county officers, who must request the supply of vaccine for their counties. Local physicians will administer the shots at the request of their patients.

Children 4 through 7 years of age, and expectant mothers, will be the first to receive the vaccine, the health department said, in accordance with recommendations of the polio advisory committee.

The vaccine is made available to Idaho by the U.S. Public Health Service and by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. A total of 43,000 doses of the "triple-tested" Lilly lot are presently available.

While no charge is made for the vaccine itself, physicians may charge patients a normal fee for administering the shots, the department noted.

Ernest Westman Disappears
Lenore — The depths of the Clearwater river two miles east of here were being probed Tuesday for a two-ton truck thought to be imprisoning a Grangeville man for the last eight days. Believed in the river with the truck was Ernest Westman, 44.
At a late hour Tuesday night neither Westman nor the truck had been located. His truck was last reported seen at about 2:00 a. m., March 24 — a week before relatives reported he was missing.

First clear sign of the accident was reported a week ago by employees of the Camas Prairie Railroad, who, from the opposite side of the river had seen a red stock rack over the bank adjoining the Lewis & Clark Highway. But Clearwater and Nez Perce County sheriff's offices said no one was reported missing. State police, however, said Tuesday they had begun a search of the truck several days ago.
On Sunday the Idaho County sheriff's office received a report that Westman was missing. Relatives said he left Grangeville March 25 in a truck owned by his brother-in-law, Virgil Honie, Grangeville. Westman, who is employed as a ranch foreman, was to drive to Kendrick to get a cook and move her to the ranch.
The missing man was last seen at 11:30 p. m. at a tavern between Orofino and Greer, according to the tavern owner, Zack Jordan. State police said the truck had last been seen parked there at 2:00 a. m. the following morning.
Early Tuesday morning CPRR conductor Roy Cavanaugh and Clearwater County Deputy Sheriff Floyd West located the red stock rack and some rope. Wheel tracks, they reported, showed only faintly in the river bank, indicating a vehicle had left the road. A search of the river was begun immediately. The scene of the accident is about 10 miles west of the Nez Perce county line.
Throughout the morning Tuesday Ralph Bursell, Orofino, probed the river from his outboard motorboat. In the afternoon Bill Clem, Lewiston, arrived and in Bursell's boat used his radio sounding device which indicates when metal is located on the river bottom.
Westman owned and operated taverns at Grangeville and Ahsahka before becoming a ranch foreman several months ago. — Lewiston Tribune.

Our Note: Mr. Westman is quite well known at Kendrick, having resided here several months about a year ago.

To Attend Track Meet Sat.
Coach Dennis Racicot will take his track team to Clarkston, Saturday, where they will participate in a joint meet beginning at 1:00 p. m. Thirty-three boys will make the trip.
Lewiston is sponsoring the meeting for schools from this area. Included are Lapwai, Moscow, Grangeville, Orofino, Clearwater, Clarkston, and possibly several others.

Undergoes Tonsillectomy
Little Debbie Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Jean Johnson, underwent a tonsillectomy Saturday in the office of Dr. D. A. Christensen.
She is recovering nicely.

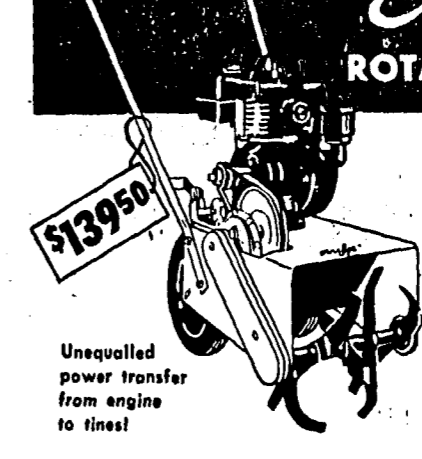

Latah County Farmers Union
The Latah County Farmers Union met at the New Idaho Hotel in Moscow, Wednesday, with 36 members present. Clarence Jensen, Farmington, president, presided.
The highlight of the evening was the report of the two men from this area who made the Farmers Union bus trip to Washington, D. C., Ernest Jones of Kendrick and Earl McClellan of Plummer. They not only visited the Congress, our representatives there, and the many shrines near the capitol, but also many of the Farmers Union points of interest in the United States, such as the Grain Terminal Association in St. Paul, a co-operative which markets one-tenth of the grain grown in the United States; the National Farmers Union office building in Denver, and the Farmers Union Central Exchange, a supply agency.
Alvin McCormack of Lewiston followed the Farm Bill up to date, and explained the mechanics of a bill and the process by which it becomes law. He told the group that current issue of Colliers Magazine carries the two sides of the farm story, written by present Agricultural Secretary Ezra Benson, and the former Agricultural Secretary, Brannon, who is at present a Farmers Union staff member.

A general discussion was held on the two-price plan, the school lunch appropriation, dual parity, and the farm bill in general. President Jensen had recently returned from the National Farmers Biennial Conference in Denver.

It was decided that county meetings will be held especially for Action Committee members of the locals, plus all other members who can attend.
At the State Line Local meeting on April 9, at Farmington, Dr. Julius Pena of Ecuador will give an illustrated lecture.

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, now that it seems as if spring "has really sprung," how about your tires? Are they ready for spring and summer driving? If you're not fully equipped, let us show you the dressy new U. S. Royal Whitewall. It's a beauty, yet ready and able to take abuse. They are excitingly new and different! The cost is low, too!

Bore: "Talking about Africa reminds me of the time."
Quick Thinking, Long Suffering Listener: "Good gracious, you're so right. I had no idea it was so late. Good night."

How about letting us wash away winter's grim on your car? And perhaps give it a wax job. Why be ashamed of the old bus when it can really look sharp. You'll be surprised at how little it will cost.

An American Indian petitioned the court to have his name changed. The judge asked his present name.

"Chief Screeching Train Whistle" came the reply.
"And what do you want it changed to," queried the judge.
"Toots," replied the Indian.

Don't keep operating that car, pickup or truck with last winter's thin, worn out oil in the crankcase. Bring it in and let us drain it and refill with that wonderful Royal Triton Motor Oil. It will put power and smoothness back.

Wife to husband: "I scratched a front fender a little, today, dear. If you want to look at it, it's in the back seat."
