Truck Does "Flip" And Burns Saturday about 12:30 p. m. the loaded lumber truck belonging to Wayne Bailie, and headed from the Davis Mill, near Southwick, to Kendrick, "flipped on its side in the ditch when a load binder broke.

Gas from the tank drained onto the hot motor and caught fire. Wayne, inside the cab, kicked out the windshield and escaped, just as the blaze got going in good shape. The fire burned out the interior of the cab, including all wiring, as well as the wiring on the motor, oil in the air cleaner, etc. One front tire also burned.

Damage to the truck, which was taken to Lewiston for repairs, has not yet been estimated. The load of lumber, mill green, did not burn. Had Mr. Bailie been going at a high rate of speed, damage would have undoubtedly been much greater. Aside from fire damage, the truck suffered only minor dents.

Most Americans Are Covered by Group Insurance

NEW YORK—More new group life insurance was purchased in 1955 by workers in American business and industry than in any previous year.

This is shown in the preliminary estimates of 1955 purchases and ownership of life insurance which indicate that the new group plans set up for these workers in the year totaled $9,300,000,000. This was $2,700,000,000 more than the year before.

More than 2,400,000 workers were brought under group insurance protection by these new 1955 contracts, more than in any previous year with the single exception of 1950. Five years ago, the average size of new policies was about 40 per cent smaller than today and thus the aggregate of protection brought in 1950 was only slightly over $6,000,000,000.

Adding the Federal Government employees brought under group life insurance with the nation's life insurance companies through special Act of Congress, the 1955 purchases of new group life insurance totaled $11,200,000,000 and the number covered was 2,900,000.

More than half of the employed, non-agricultural work force in this country now owns group life insurance. These group-insured persons numbered an estimated 21,000,000 at the start of this year, some 20,000,000 more than were covered ten years ago.

Group life insurance in force with employee groups now exceeds $100,000,000,000 for the first time, being estimated at $102,000,000,000 at the start of this year.

Animals Suffer Coronary Attacks

SAN FRANCISCO—Hardening of the arteries seems to be an affliction suffered by all the animal kingdom—at least all mammals—including such diverse species as dogs, cats, lions, tigers, elephants, birds, horses, cows, baboons, gorillas, and llamas.

This was reported by Stuart Lindsay at a recent symposium of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine.

The elephant was "Marge," an Indian tusker in the San Francisco zoo who died last year of a heart attack. The gorilla was "Bushman," the famous animal which died of a similar ailment.

Dr. Lindsay found that in all of the animal species the degree of hardening of arteries increases progressively with age.

The scientist also reported that in animals, as in man, hardening of the arteries begins with the degeneration of the inner lining of the arterial wall, followed by deposition of mucoid substances.

In animals, Dr. Lindsay found, fatty deposits play little or no part in the disease. In man, however, fatty deposits are important in the later stages of the disease, and contribute materially to coronary attacks.

Ice Cream Makers Turn to Varieties

NEW BRUNSWICK—Ice cream manufacturers are borrowing a successful idea from the breakfast food people.

Particularly in the West, you can buy a large package of individually wrapped ice cream portions put up in a box about the size of a bulk half-gallon, and the idea seems to be catching on.

Another new idea, is frozen orange juice on a stick, to fool Little Charley into getting the vitamins he misses when he refuses to drink his orange juice at breakfast.

Ice milk, with a lower calorie content than ice cream, is also winning popularity in various parts of the country.

Moving Sidewalks Take Effort From 'Walking'

WASHINGTON—Fanciful things are happening to sidewalks.

Last year an endless-belt conveyor was opened in the underground station of the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad in Jersey City, N.J. Another "moving sidewalk" was installed in the Sam Houston Coliseum in Houston. The first to span a pedestrian bridge, it can carry 15,000 people an hour from parking areas across a bayou into the auditorium. Another rolling ramp is anticipated at the Dallas airport. A similar one is being built for the Philadelphia airport to move passengers and baggage from parking lot to terminal to planes.

Twice-Told Tale

COLUMBIA, S.C.—Mrs. James L. Yates, Jr., told police that she gave $10 to a man, who claimed to be a schoolteacher from Loris, S.C. and stranded without funds.

A few minutes later, she said, a woman approached her and began telling the same story. Mrs. Yates interrupted to say she had just heard the tale.

"Oh, he beat me to you," the woman said as she fled.

Man-Hour Output Up Three Times Since War II

NEW YORK—Thanks largely to record investment and constantly improving technology, American industry today is close to a third more productive than it was at the end of World War II a decade ago, gauged by output per man-hour.

U.S. Bureau of Labor statistics indicate that production per man-hour in all manufacturing rose by around 30 per cent in the 1947-55 period. This represented an average rise of about 3½ per cent a year for the period as a whole. What is particularly significant is a recent acceleration in the rate of growth. Estimates are that productivity in manufacturing rose by close to 10 per cent in 1954 and 1955 alone, with more than half this gain taking place last year.

Here is a development of far-reaching importance for the future progress of the economy and the continued rise in the people's income and living standards. Over the long view, much of the increase in goods and services produced in the economy has been due to the rise in productivity rather than to the increase in number of man-hours worked. Furthermore, the need for steadily rising output per man-hour is accentuated by the fact that the number of dependents in the population—children, teen-agers and those 65 and over—has been rising faster proportionately than those of working ages, and will continue to do so for the years to come.

Coal Industry Said Far From Dying

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—The coal industry is not dead nor is it dying.

Dr. H. Beecher Charnbury, professor and head of the department of mineral preparation at the Pennsylvania State University, says that, on the contrary, the coal industry is looking forward to increasing growth in future years to meet the demands of our increasing population.

"The coal industry in this country has averaged about 500 million tons each year since 1920," Dr. Charnbury said, "and expects to produce about 700 million tons by 1965 and one billion tons by 1975."

He said that the false impression people have of a dying coal industry has resulted from bad impressions people received in recent years because of strikes, railroad car shortages, and distressed areas and because of the more glamorous attention received by atomic and solar energy.

Outlining the processing methods used in the coal industry, Dr. Charnbury said that at present only 5 per cent of the total coal produced is sent to industrial markets and 95 per cent is subjected to preparation, including crushing, sizing, and mechanical cleaning.

Eye Discomfort Chief Cause of Headaches

CHICAGO—Although headaches can come from a number of different causes, they are very frequently associated with eye discomfort and a statistical review shows close relationship of exacting eye work to headaches.

Headaches occur most often up to the age of 20, then decrease slowly until at 60 or more only 25 per cent of the people are subject to them. They bother college students most, and to a lesser degree executives, professional men, housewives, and clerical workers. Manual workers experience them comparatively little, and agriculturists least of all.

Nearsightedness, farsightedness, and astigmatism—particularly in its milder forms—are to blame for many headaches. Crossed eyes and other forms of muscular imbalance also rank among the leading causes. Other offenders are such eye diseases as conjunctivitis and acute glaucoma.

Winter Deaths From Fire, Burns Heavy

NEW YORK—Accidental loss of life from fires and burns by other means is nearly three times as high and that from poisonous gas five times as high in the winter as in summer, according to a study by statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Both classes of fatalities are associated largely with the increased use of heating facilities.

Many poisonous gas fatalities result from improperly installed or defective heaters. An appreciable number are due to running an automobile motor in a closed garage or in a parked car.

Busy Bees in Iowa

DES MOINES, Iowa—Statistics show Iowa farms produced an estimated 18,975,000 pounds of honey last year to rank the third state in the nation among commercial honey producers. Only California and Minnesota kept bees busier than did Iowans.

New Construction Scheduled
University of Idaho—Construction will start this fall on new student housing at the University of Idaho to provide dormitory space for 111 men and family quarters for 64 married students, it was announced this week by President D. R. Theophilus. The projects, estimated to cost about $800,000, will be financed by regents' bonds to be paid off from revenue.

A call for bids has gone out for the 111-man dormitory, expected to cost about $250,000, and a call will follow shortly for bids on the 64-unit family housing project, estimated at $55,000.00.

"The buildings will be modern, fire-proof structures, but they will be of minimum-cost type," said President Theophilus. "With greatly increased numbers of students coming, we must get the maximum out of every dollar to take care of them."

Both the men's dormitory and family housing units, designed by Antone Dropping of Boise, will be of reinforced concrete. The dormitory, a three-story building, will be located in the West Sixth Street village of war surplus housing just west of the Gault-Upham dormitories. It will face an extension of Rayburn Street.

The family housing project will be located in Park village in an area formerly occupied by war surplus trailers. It will consist of eight separate two-story buildings, each with eight one-bedroom apartments. These buildings, located between Home and Reed Streets, will face on a common court.

"We cannot deny our Idaho youth a university education because they are married," said President Theophilus. "The need for family housing is particularly pressing, and we must do everything possible within financial means to meet this need."

Home economists say detergents are usually better than soap in the family wash—unless that water is quite soft.

We hear a lot about cheap money these days, but it's never so cheap that it isn't dear.

THE Bull itin

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, we certainly can't complain about the fall weather we have been having — it's been perfect — not only for farmers and woodworkers — but for hunters (the lucky stiffs). But, it's also time to think about that fuel oil tank. Is it ready for winter? Is it full? You know one of these days we're going to wake up and find "the frost is really on the punkin!" Call 1251, and say "Fill 'er up." We'll do the rest!

When Mark Twain was a young and struggling newspaperman in San Francisco, a lady of his acquaintance saw him one day with a cigar box under his arm looking into a shop window.
"Mr. Clemens," she said, "I always see you with a cigar box under your arm. I'm afraid you are smoking too much."

"It isn't that," he replied impulsively. "I'm moving again!"

How about the radiator on your car, pickup or truck? Is it ready for that frosty morning? If not, bring it in to us. Let us thoroughly flush it and install the proper brand of anti-freeze. It's much better to be safe than sorry.

"Darling, I love you!"
"Good gracious! Why, we've only just become acquainted!"
"Yes, I know; but I'm only here for the week-end."

Hunters: Let us supply you with chains, mud and snow tires, and the other necessities before you "take off for the tall timber."
