High Majority of Urban Population Have Insurance

NEW YORK-Nine out of every ten men, seven of every ten women and two-thirds of the children in America's urban population have some form of life insurance.

This was reported by the Institute of Life Insurance on the basis of a 1955 consumer survey on life insurance ownership made by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan.

The rural population showed 77 per cent of the men, 58 per cent of the women and 56 per cent of the children owning some form of life insurance.

Some 94 per cent of the male city owners of life insurance had life policies with the life insurance companies, more than half of this 94 per cent owning group life insurance and nine-tenths owning individual policies. About 6 per cent had no insurance with the life companies, but did own some other type of life insurance, such as the servicemen's policies, fraternal or assessment insurance.

In the case of the rural male owners, 84 per cent owned policies with the life insurance companies, nearly two-fifths of them having group policies and 85 per cent individual policies. Some 16 per cent of the rural men owned only veterans' policies, fraternal, assessment or other types of life insur-

We Work Less for More These Days

MINNEAPOLIS-The average American's standard of living has tripled in the past century, though he has to work only about half as hard to earn it, reports the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

Our spectacular gains in mass prosperity and well-being basically spring from our amazing rise in farmer efficiency, and the resulting shift of U.S. population away from farming. This is the picture shown in a 100-year summary of the declining share of farm production found in our total national output of goods and services. Measured in constant 1955 dollars, annual disposable personal income per capita amounted to $550 in 1350, $735 in 1900, $1,500 in 1950 and $1,630 in 1955, the bureau calculates, or $4,890 for a household of three persons.

Automation Foreseen As Boon to Dairies EAST LANSING, Mich .- The

farmer, who seems to have a host of problems these days, would find life much simpler if he turned to automation.

That's what W. J. Scarlett, of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company, told the National Dairy Engineering Conference at Michigan State College as he reproved dairymen for using only one-fourth as many tools of automation as industry in general

Today, said Scarlett, dairy processing plants are content to measure temperature, pressure and flow. He envisioned the day when milk would be dumped from a farmer's cans to be weighed in and (1) its butter-fat content reported automatically by a computer which (2) would actuate a tabulating machine for the dairy's internal records and (3) tip off a check-writing machine to pay the farmer.

Can Practice What Is Taught"

U of I., Moscow - Students interested in radio at the University of Idaho get an opportunity to prac-tice what is taught.

Station KUOI, the "Voice of the Vandals," operates today with an assigned carrier frequency of 660 kilocycles with a power of 1 watt. With transmitter and studios on the top floor of the Student Union building, the station technically does not "go on the air," but its programs go out to students over a wire set-up.

Nearly 11 years ago, the station was just an idea of two engineering students, who built a small transmitter. The outfit, with parts including an oatmeal carton, chewing gum and baling wire, first went into operation Nov. 15, 1945, with a two-hour broadcast. That was the start. In 1949 the Associated Students of the University of Idaho took the struggling station under its wing, and furnished studio space in the new building. The station has been going strong ever since.

KUOI's operation, in which about 45 different announcers, engineers and office girls now get "air time" and experience, is similar in every detail to the operations of a professional studio. The signal is transmitted to the campus by means of a current carrier wire which allows any radio within 250 feet to pick up the programs.

Each day, the station, run by the students, delivers news, popular music, programs, sports events, concerts and speeches on a 101/2-hour schedule. Occasionally the station is able to purchase new equipment to make the operation more professional in every respect. However, the students can't purchase or build all the equipment they need at one time.

Currently, the turn-tables that spin the records that go out over the air are riding on No. 30 automobile engine oil.

"The bearings are completely shot," station manager William Vermillion, Jr., of Wallace, explained. "The oil is the only way we can get them to work. But KUOI, as a whole, is going strong. So many students want to work on the station for experience that we may have to double up on our shows to give everyone a chance.

IDAHO'S GROWING LESS THAN ANY OTHER STATE

- * In the past five years, 40,000 Idahoans have left our state to make their living elsewhere.
- * Idaho's per capita income, now next-to-thelowest in the West, was one of only 6 states in the country to suffer a net loss in per capita income since 1952.
- * Since 1952, farm prices have declined nearly 20% and average business profits for small businesses have fallen 50%.

We Read Poorly For Supposedly Educated People

NEW YORK — For a nation of supposedly well educated people, Americans has a surprising low score at reading. One authority states that 10 per cent of all our students are retarded readers. Tests have shown that more than half of the boys and girls in New York City schools are reading below their normal grade levels—in some cases six years below.

They're reading below their intelligence levels, too. Nearly 50 per cent of the New York high school population fall short of their potential reading ability as measured by I.Q. scores. And one reading clinic in another city reports that less than two per cent of all the children who have been referred to it during recent years have been below average in intelligence.

Substandard reading ability cannot be dismissed as a single isolated handicap. It has been found to be closely tied in with one's entire make-up, sometimes causing emotional disturbances and sometimes resulting partly from them. Obviously, vision is a primary factor in the situation, the Better Vision Institute points out.

The child with a reading problem is apt to develop a sense of inferiority as a result of this frustration. He may become a withdrawn type of person, perhaps failing to compete socially as well as in the classroom. And he may be a trouble-maker. In 1953 a delegation from the Affiliated Teacher Organizations of Los Angeles complained to the board of education that poor readers in the high schools were causing the teachers one of their biggest discipline problems.

Radioiron Aids Deficiency Study

LOS ANGELES—Radioactive milk, eggs and cereal may help solve problems of iron deficiency, prevalent among the nation's infants.

Dr. Jeanette Schulz, pediatrician at UCLA Medical School, has been awarded a $5,000 fellowship to study such problems.

In the study, hens and cows are being infected with harmless amounts of radioiron which show up in trace amounts in eggs and milk. Radioiron is also added to baby cereals

After the harmlessly radioactive food is fed to infants the iron absorption can be traded through iron radioactivity.

From the research Dr. Schulz hopes to learn (1) the amount of iron absorbed by infants from food, (2) if infants get sufficient iron from their food to meet blood building requirements, and (3) if infant diets should be supplemented with iron as extensively as is done with vitamins.

Famed Ripple Rock Will Be Destroyed

WASHINGTON—Tons of high explosives will remove a shipping peril along the inside passage to Alaska if a Canadian plan succeeds

The target is Ripple Rock, a twin-knobbed reef on which more than a hundred vessels have foundered with a toll of scores of lives, says the National Geographic Society.

Ripple Rock is at the southern end of Seymour Narrows in the Strait of Georgia between British Columbia and Vancouver Island, Seamen have tagged it with a number of names: "the Fang," "the Barb,"

"the Lurking Jackal."
Government plans for destroying the reef began last fall. But the actual blast will not be heard until 1957 or early 1958. Engineers have learned that blasting Ripple Rock is no ordinary task. Turbulent currents and tides defeated two previous attempts to remove the obstacle by drilling and blasting from an anchored barge.

Sulfur-Mustard Drug Shows Great Promise

SAN FRANCISCO—University of California scientists have found in preliminary trials that a new sulfur mustard drug appears to be of promise in the treatment of Hopkin's Disease and other forms of lymphatic cancer.

The research, supported in part by the American Cancer Society, was based on extensive animal experiments and tests on 27 human patients. Final clinical evaluation must await more extensive use on patients.

The sulfur mustard is a version of the mustard gas used in World War I.

Monkeys, Too

ATLANTIC CITY—The discovery that monkeys get the measles just like man indicates that monkeys and men can give it to each other. Dr. Gisela Ruckle of the University of Pittsburgh reported the solation of a virus from monkey tissue and said it was indistinguishable from measles virus previously isolated from man by other researchers.

How Much Ocean Do Individual Nations Control?

WASHINGTON — International jurists are seeking an answer to a puzzle as old as the saga of seafaring: How much ocean can a nation call its own?

Under modern theory the high seas belong to anybody. By time-honored precedent a nation may control no more of its offshore waters than an eighteenth-century cannon could shoot—one league or three nautical miles. In actual practice, nations throughout the world are putting "No Trespassing" signs on coastal belts extending from four to 200 miles from their mainlands.

Some neighboring nations think that is bending the principle of freedom of the seas too far Out-of-bounds waters present a particular problem to far-ranging fishermen and planners of hemispheric defense. In an effort to settle the intricate problems of oceanic geography, however, the United Nations this year will receive proposals from its International Law Commission for new rules befitting present-day conditions.

Today, fewer and fewe, nations accept the three-mile timit. It is unlawful, for instance, for foreign fishermen to drop nets within 12 miles of Soviet Russia, Columbia, or Guatemala. Chile, Ecuador, Peru and the 70-mile El Salvador claim 200-mile belts in the Pacific Ocean.

Do-It-Yourself Fatalities Few

NEW YORK—Do-it-yourself activities are responsible only to a very minor extent for the fact that home accidents kill about twice as many men as women at their main working ages, according to insurance company statisticians.

Only about 6 per cent of one company's male industrial policy-holders from 15 to 64 years old who died in home accidents during 1953 and 1954 were fatally injured while engaged in repair, maintenance, or improvement work. The do-it-your-self victims included men who fell from ladders, roofs, or scaffolds while painting the exterior of the house, while shingling or repairing the roof, or while adjusting or installing television aerials on the roof.

The study showed that almost every important type of accident in and about the home took a higher death toll among men than

Fewer Hemorrhages Using New Compound

NEW YORK--The unpredictable hemorrhage that frequently occurs following the removal of adenoids in children has been prevented in ninety-seven of one hundred operations, according to a recent report.

Dr. Herbert P. flarkins of the University of Pennsylvania who ran the clinical study showed that both the frequency and severity of hemorrhage, which can occur hours or even days after surgery, was markedly reduced through the use of a compound known as Synkayvite-CB.

The findings were based upon a controlled study of two hundred Philadelphia children between the ages of five and thirteen. One hundred of the children were given the Synkayvite-CB before and collowing surgery.

Of this one hundred, only three suffered post-operative hemorrhages. In each case, the bleeding was minor and easily controlled at home.

Fourteen of the children who did not receive the medicine suffered hemorrhages after the operation.

Women More Friendly Today, Cards Reveal KANSAS CITY, Mo.-Today's

women have proved to be friendlier and more thoughtful of others than their counterparts, of a quarter century ago, a study madehere indicates. They send nearly six times as many greeting cards.

The typical American woman sends friends and relatives about 200 greetings annually to cheer their birthdays, anniversaries, vacations, homecomings, illnesses and such days as Christmas, Easter and Valentine's Day, In 1930 she sent only 35.

Most women of today enjoy a wider circle of friends than their mothers did, the study revealed, and more women have adopted greeting cards for social correspondence. Even so, more of them make a conscious effort to 'keep in touch," they said, than women of the previous generation did.

South, much in demand as an after-dinner speaker, has been driving 41 years and owns his 30th automobile. He started with a chain driven Metz roadster.

Glass-Lined Planet Was Once Out in Space

WASHINGTON—There probably once was a glass-skinned planet the size of the earth which moved around the sun in an orbit between those of Mars and Jupiter. Now the earth's surface is strewn with millions of fragments of this planet's glass surface.

The sun's tenth major satellite was smashed to bits in a collision with another planet—perhaps its twin moving in the same vast emptiness of space—or one of the moons of Jupiter.

This is the interpretation offered by Ralph Stair, of the National Bureau of Standards, of the so-called tektites, or black-green 'diamonds,' found in various parts of the world. Mr. Stair's account was recently published by the Smithsonian Institution.

Tektites have been known since the time of man. Primitive races used to make arrow points from them or used them for decorations. The great smash, however, could not have been very long ago in cosmic history, for none of the fragments are found in ancient geological strata.

It is not unlikely that the earth itself was once at least partially "glass-shelled." Through various processes the shells were changed into the present sedimentary rocks. That the glass fragments, weighing from fractions of an ounce to several pounds, are of extraterrestrial origin, Stair concludes, now can be accepted as a virtual certainty

New Uses for Magnesium Salts

CHICAGO—Magnesium salts—used to prevent "grass staggers" in cattle after early spring grazing—may also help overcome delirium tremens in chronic alcoholism, according to a report by the American Medical Association

The normal adult human body contains less than an ounce of magnesium, but a deficiency can produce muscle twitching, excessive nervousness, tremor, delirium, and even convulsions. Dr. Edmund B. Flink, Minneapolis, said in the report.

The human symptoms are similar to those produced in cows, calves and horses suffering "grass staggers," a magnesium deficiency illness usually occurring one or two weeks after the livestock begins grazing on new spring grass. Symptoms of "grass staggers" include nervousness, restlessness, grazing away from the nerd, lack of appetite, muscle twitching, unsteady gait, spreading of the hind limbs, gnashing of teeth, a wild look, and constant lowing.

Chronic alcoholism appears to be an important cause of magnesium deficiency symptoms in humans, Dr. Flink said.

New Bird Fossils Added to Known List

WASHINGTON—There are now more than 400 fossil birds known from North America and the West Indies—less than half of which are represented by extant species

They range from the grotesque, toothed flying creatures of the days of the giant dinosaurs to the more recent fossils which cannot be distinguished from some of the common song birds of today.

A checklist of all birds of this area of which fossil traces have been found has been compiled by Dr. Alexander Wetmore, Smithsonian Institution research associate.

For the most part bird fossils are quite fragmentary. Birds, with their light bones and aerial way of life, are much less likely to be preserved in fossil form than heavier-boned earth-bound reptiles and mammals. Almost 100 species, however, have been added to the previously known list in the past 15 years.

African Rats Walk Upright Like Man

WASHINGTON—"Rats that walk like men" and many other small mammals of the North African desert have been added to the mammal collections of the Smithsonian Institution. They were collected by Dr. Henry W. Setzer during an expedition to Libya in search of mammals that serve as hosts of insect parasites and disease carriers. The country is largely desert, and its mammals are nearly all small creatures adapted through millenia for suring the state of the search of vival under desert conditions.

The biped rats are the jerboas, animals 7 to 8 inches long with big bushy tails, which ordinarily progress on their hind legs, somewhat after the fashion of kangaroos. They are probably the best-known creatures of the northern desert.

Better Service

KALAMAZOO, Mich.—The Kalamazoo Police Department has added two uniformed women officers to provide change for motorists using parking meters.

But it is not completely a publicservice proposition—since the women are also authorized to issue parking violation tickets.

The private utility program is COMPREHENSIVE DEVELOPMENT of the Snake River

New dams MUST be started RIGHT NOW to meet the area power needs of 1965. The Washington Water Power Company and neighboring utilities, sponsors of the PNP Co., are "ready for action" with a sound, practical COMPREHENSIVE plan for the power development of the Snake River that can mean 2,415,000 NEW kilowatts.

Five dams are planned for construction by private industry with private capital. NOT A FOOT OF RIVER FALL WILL BE WASTED AND NOT ONE CENT OF TAXPAYER'S MONEY will be used.

The Idaho Power Company is now building Brownlee to be followed by Oxbow and Heils Canyon. Work will be started on Pleasant Valley and Mountain Sheep as soon as licenses are granted by the FPC. These five big dams will harness 10 billion kilowatt hours of electricity annually.

Personal Debts Upped Considerably

During Year 1955

NEW YORK-The American people in their record spending spree last year added the equivalent of $1.63 to their personal debts for every dollar of increase in their long-term savings.

Figures compiled from Government and private sources show that the total of personal debt jumped by more than $20 billions during 1955 to an estimated $147. billions at the year-end. This represented by far the biggest yearly increase of its kind on record, and it was half again as great as the previous peak annual rise in personal debt of more than $13 billions in 1953. These debt figures consist of mortgages on one-to-four nonfarm homes, installment and other consumer credit, agricultural mortgage and non-real estate debt, and life insurance policy loans.

At the same time, accumulated long-term savings of individuals in life insurance, savings accounts, savings and loan associations, and current redemption of U.S. Savings Bonds owned by individuals, but not including home owners' equities, increased by approximately 121/2 billions during 1955 to bring to an estimated $2321/2 billions at the end of the year, according to Federal Home Loan Bank Board. While this increase was second only to the one in 1954 as the largest for any year in the decade since the end of World War II, it fell $8 billions short of matching the net amount that the people had expanded their borrowings during the year, primarily to buy homes, automobiles and other durable goods.

Airborne Dust Hinders Spacemen

CHICAGO-Tiny particles of airborne dust-almost invisible to the naked eye-may be a great hindrance to our space travel, according to the findings of researchers at the Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology.

This problem and the problem of erosion of metal surfaces caused by the heat generated by Jir friction are being given serious attention by engineers.

Investigators have learned that ordinary dust traveling at high speeds can cause extensive d'amage to metal and glass surfaces. To stimulate some of the hazards encountered in space flight, they may be useful for accelerating fine dust particles to speeds as high as 11,000 feet per second, or more than 7,000 miles per hour. If damage from these millions of dust specks striking the surface of a satellite vehicle is great enough, it could seriously diminish the chances of a missile or satellite to fulfill its mission.

Eskimo Birthrate Affected by Food

WASHINGTON - The Eskimo birthrate is increased as much as threefold when the Arctic people eat "white man's food" instead of their traditional pure animal diet of whale, fish and seal. This is the observation of Prof. G. E. Mac-Ginitie, of the California Institute of Technology, in a report of his biological investigations at the navy's Arctic Research Laboratory at Point Barrow, on Alaska's Arctic coast.

"When hunting was the only means of subsistence," he writes, "Eskimo women became pregnant only once in several years but with the new diet they bear a baby about every year. What will happen when outside support is shut off is an important and serious problem. Some few fathers are training their boys in hunting and other Eskimo skills, but most of them are content to let the future take care of itself. The situation is fast becoming a problem difficult of solution."

Library Gets Book Back After 36 Years

DURHAM, N.C.-The Duke University Library chalked up a new record a few days ago: a book was returned 36 years overdue. The volume, a biography of Napoleon, was checked out on Oct. 8. 1919, and the fine theoretically could have been about $650, at a nickle per day except holidays. However, the library has a "statute of limitations" for this sort of thing: the most you must pay is the price of the book, plus the cost of replacing it.

This book was returned by a professor who found it among his father's books. Since he wasn't responsible there was no charge, just thanks
