Judy Craig Judging Winner

A Southwick girl, Judy Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Craig, took top honors in the Home Economics Judging contest last week at the 46th Annual Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland, Oregon. She competed with 129 girls from Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Judy and other Latah county youths and advisors returned Wednesday, Oct. 24. Others on the Latah County Home Economics team, which placed 11th out of 43, were Judy Gale, Potlatch, and Barbara Hilliard, Troy.

A Latah County Boys' Livestock Judging team also competed in the Portland show. Team members were Archie Bendel, Moscow; Joy Esser, Genesee, and Kenneth Johnson of Deary. Sixty teams participated to make it the largest judging contest ever held at the Exposition in Port-

Other youth who made the trip were Larry Galloway, Kendrick, and Geraldine Dobyns, Potlatch, who won Third Wednesday — Friendship Club trips for placing second in a countywide dairying contest at the September Fair.

Peace): Yes, 97; No. 66. S. J. R. No. 6: (Governor Succeed Himself): Yes, 116; No. 86.

Our Comment: Probably the most nterest in the election locally, with the exception of Presidential voting, was in the race between our two local candidates, Eugene Taylor and Gerald Ingle, for the office of County Commissioner, for both men are very well known and equally well liked and both strictly observed an unwritten "no campaigning" rule within the local precints.

Hallowe'en Orderly Here Hallowe'en in Kendrick was quiet and reasonably orderly, with no real damage of any kind being reported. True, garbage cans were missing, some junk was strewn about the streets, and the usual "squiggles and crosses" put on store windows - but on the whole, no real damage of any kind was reported. As far as marking up windows was concerned — that doesn't do a bit of harm — for most of them can stand washing, anyway.

Phil Marsh, District Engineer, and Ralph Stone, District Maintenance Superintendent, both of Lewiston, were Kendrick business visitors last Friday, and while here called at the Gazette office.

Mr. Marsh stated that the re-surfacing and oiling of State Highway No. 7 (known as the Asakha-Kendrick link) was on the 1957 program, as was the resurfacing and oiling of another approximately six miles of State Highway No. 7, from the junction east of town to and just beyond He added a word of caution, however, Vipers," wherein a group of girls that until these items were accepted as a part of the budget, they could not be counted as "assured."

Well, in the case of the 1957 Buicks it's true - gospel true.

We mean these 1957 Buicks are new in the precise and literal sense. We mean new from the ground up, and from gleaming grille to sassy taillights.

We mean new lowness, new styling, new bodies, new windshields, new controls, new safety-padded instrument panels, new safety steering wheels, new seating, new fabrics, new colors.

We mean new front end, new rear end, new frame, new braking, new steering, new handling, new riding, new roadability—a whole new chassis of greater solidity and safety.

Worms, Like Man, Learn and Forget To Remember

BERKELEY, Calif. - A University of California graduate student has shown for the first time that. certain worms will learn, forget what they have learned, and then remember again-very much the way humans do.

This was reported by W. J. Coppock, a graduate student in thedepartment of psychology.

Coppock studied what is known to psychologists as "extinction and "spontaneous recovery" phenomena in the common sand worm, known to zoologists as Nercis vexilosa. Extinction can be equated roughly to forgetting, and spontaneous recovery to remembering.

He taught four worms the simple trick of swimming out of a glass tube in order to get food whenever a light was flashed on them. They all learned this trick in a very short time, responding to the light whithin 30 seconds after fewer than 20 lessons.

Then Coppock taught the worms to forget the trick. He did this by fooling them: flashing the light and withholding the food. Before very long, the worms forgot that a flash of light once meant food. They simply stayed in their glass tubes waiting for their two regular meals each day.

The California researcher suspended his experiments for two days after the trick had been extinguished - forgotten - by the worms. Then he tried flashing the light on the worms again.

Sure enough, they came right out of their tubes, even though they received no food for it. In. other words, they "remembered" the trick that they had been trained to forget.

Warning System For Tornadoes

WASHINGTON-Though science knows no defense against the spinning winds of a tornado, a new radar warning system may reduce the spring season's annual harvest of destruction.

In a network of cities east of the Rocky Mountains, Weather Bureau observers scan radarscopes for the appearance of any distant squall line. Not every line bears a latent twister. But it is these frontiers of thunder, wind and rain that breed nature's most violent storm.

When one is spotted an alert is flashed and hundreds of volunteer ground corpsmen begin watching for possible formation of the dark pendant cloud that swings down to earth like an elephant's trunk, wrecking nearly everything in its narrow path. Even a few minutes warning saves lives. The first widespread network of radar was established in Texas in 1954. Since then the Weather Bureau has extended the system toneighboring states in "Tornado Alley."

Chickens Will 'Lay' For Civil Defense

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.-Chickens may join the civil defense ranks in case of nuclear war by "laying down" a yardstick for measuring deadly radioactive strontium.

Zoologists Howard T. Odum of Duke and Edwin M. Banks of the University of Illinois outlined this possibility during an Academy of Science meeting.

Eggshells could be used for measuring radioactive strontium present in atomic fallout, they explained, because when chickens eat strontium-containing foods, this substance quickly appears in their egg shells.

Strontium is a metallic element often used in the production of fireworks. Radioactive strontium is considered the most dangerous substance in atomic failout "because of its long life and affinity for bones," the zoologists said.

Predicting Quakes Puzzling Task

BERKELEY, Calif.-Next year's earthquakes are even less predictable than next year's weather, according to Dr. Perry Byerly, professor of seismology on the Berkeley campus of the University of California and director of the University seismographic stations.

Accurate records have not been kept long enough to determine whether earthquakes come in recurring cycles, he said. At present, the only safe prediction is that where the earth's crust has shifted before, it will shift again.

Learning how to predict earthquakes is one purpose of studying them.

Easy Climbing

VIENNA-Brig. Sir John Hunt, head of the team that topped Mount Everest, predicts that "sooner or later Everest and the Himalayas will be traversed just as an Alpine peak." .

Here on a lecture tour, he said it would require coordinated climbing from both sides. His leam climbed it from Mepal. The far side is Tibetan under Red China

Forest Service Studies Lightning By Seeding Clouds

TITTE GOALL PROVINGMENT.

WASHINGTON - Cloud seeding as a means of preventing or reducing the severity of lightning will be tried out in northern Arizona as part of the Fores' Service sponsored program known as "Project Skyfire." This cooperative program is designed to learn more about the occurrence, behavior, and control of lightning caused fires.

Experiments will be carried out an the Coconino National Forest were lightning causes hundreds of fires annually. More than 6,000 lightning fires occur each year in western forests, representing 65 per cent of the forest fires in the Rocky Mountain states, and 42 per cent in the Pacific Coast

A specially built mobile radar unit will detect, track, and analyze lightning storms. It also will assist in comparing the results on seeded and unseeded cloud systems. This is the first use of radar in forest fire control. The unit, installed in a truck trailer adapted for this special purpose by the U. S. Weather Bureau, has project headquarters near Flagstaff, Arizona.

Lightning storms and cloud systems in the project area will be observed from a network of fire lookout stations. Time lapse motion picture cameras on several towers will record the life cycle of lightning storms.

Actual seeding will be on an exploratory basis only and will be limited to the occasions when isolated lightning storms develop that are suitable for this type of

Infant Survival Rate Increasing

NEW YORK-Important gains have been made in reducing the heavy loss of life among babies during the later stages of pregnancy and soon after birth, but such mortality still constitutes a serious medical and public health problem.

Prenatal mortality declined steadily in the United States from a death rate of 51.4 per 1,000 live births in 1940 to 35.0 in 1953. Despite this progress, more than 136,000 such deaths were recorded in 1953. Of this number, about 69,000 were still-births and 67,000 were liveborn children who died before they were one week old. The latter figure alone is twice the number of deaths that occur yearly among children in the age range from one to fourteen years. Premature birth was reported as an associated condition in a majority of deaths within the first week.

The prenatal death rate is higher for male babies than for females, and prenatal mortality is shown to vary according to the adequacy of prenatal care and diet of the mother. It is high for first-born infants regardless of age of mother, but especially where the mother is

Here's Where Average Eater Gets Calories WASHINGTON - The average

American civilian in 1955 obtained 12 per cent of his calories from protein, 41 per cent from fat and 47 per cent from carbohydrates. These Department of Agriculture figures show considerable change from two decades ago when the national average was 11 per cent from protein, 36 per cent from fat and 53 per cent from carbohydrates.

While the protein figure had the smallest change percentagewise, it has won the most attention from nutritionists.

Protein provides the building blocks for growth. It comes from milk, meat, poultry, eggs, fish, soya flour and nuts.

Soya flour is used as a protein booster in many cereal foods, such as bread, cake, breakfast foods, macaroni and spaghetti.

Salute to Shoppers
NEW YORK — Masculine merchandise is now being packaged to appeal to feminine shoppers. Manufacturers have found that even though the purchase may be for the head of the house it is the woman who makes the decision and usually does the buying. Socks are being packaged in folding boxes that resemble a book with the merchandise between the pages. Tie and socks sets are in bright boxes that look like a big box of matches. All of this, say the manufacturers, is because the little woman wants the package she takes home to look as attractive on the outside as it does on the inside.

Too Many Experts

CLEVELAND, Ohio, - Colleges are producing too many experts and too few men who know how to make decisions, says Stringfellow Barr, former president of St. John's College in Annapolis. Said Barr: "If American colleges could produce graduates able to read and write, it would be an educational revolution."

4-H'ers Aim for 1956 National Club Congress

their sights high to reach their goal and the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 25-29, where they will be honored and rewarded for outstanding accomplishment.

More than 1300 boys and girls representing over two million 4-H Club members from 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico will attend the Congress. In addition to an all-expense trip, these state, sectional and national winners will receive other rewards climaxing several years of diligent 4-H project work.

"While the annual value of products resulting from 4-H members' projects amounts to an estimated $115,000,000, this gain is probably the least of the benefits arising from 4-H Club experience," said Guy L. Noble, director of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

"The greater and more lasting benefits are the personal satisfactions derived from real achievement such as making friends, practicing democratic procedures through organized 4-H Club work, and developing spiritual values from day-to-day living with 4-H ideals," he stated.

Immediate rewards for the Congress-bound 4-H'ers will be 212 college scholarships worth $67,-000; U. S. savings bonds valued at $11,250; special cash awards totaling $15,700. Many will be presented with engraved watches and other handsome gifts. All will be entertained at gala breakfasts, luncheons, and dinners.

In the overall National 4-H Award Programs a total of nearly $360,000 is expended annually to recognize boys and girls who have excelled in "improving family and community living."

These award programs are made possible through the com-bined efforts of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, the Cooperative Extension Service, civic spirited individuals, business firms and foundations.

Those providing 4-H awards and support this year are: the President of the United States, Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Thos. E. Wilson, Edward Foss Wilson. Tells Of Travel Troubles

Miss Dorothy Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyer, Cameron, who is enroute to India to resume her duties as a missionary for the Lutheran church, writes under date of Oct. 21, as follows:

Dear Friends — By the time this letter reaches you, I hope to have reached my final destination in Inreached my final destination in India. The address: "Nayudupet, Nellore District, South India. If you were to judge the distance that I am away from home by the length of my juorney, you would think that I was even more than 12,000 miles away. Some of you may remember that I left home on Sept. 6th. After making several stops in Ohio — Toledo, Columbus and Cleveland, I arrived in New York on Sept. 12th. (My travelling companion Gertruh Kettner of Minnesota, who is also returning to India, joined me at Toledo). On Sept. 14th we sailed from New York aboard the S. S. United States, the beautiful ship which had brought Grace Kelly to America the day before. We had a safe Atlantic crossing, arriving in Southampton, England on Sept. 19th. When we reached our hotel in London we had distressing news awaiting us. Our passages on the Thervia, on which we were to sail on the 26th, had been cancelled, due to the Suez trouble. The Theria was sailing around the cape straight to Australia, with no stop at India. What to do? We went to Pennisular & Orient Line office and after many inquiries and much waiting we were able to get sailings on a sister ship-S. S. Chusan on Sept. 28th, also sailing around the cape, but stopping at Bombay. While waiting for our ship we spent a few days in Paris, visiting some friends and seeing all the places you hear so much about — Eiffel Tower, Notre Dame Cathedral, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Arch de Triumph, the Louvre Museum, etc. It was fascinating to visit this historical city which has so many treasures of the past. On Sept. 28th we boarded the S. S. Chusan, which carries 1,000 passengers and 500 crewmen. Most of the passengers are English and Asian. We haven't found this ship too interesting especially in comparison to the S. S. United States. We've been thankful not to suffer from seasickness even though we've had quite a bit of rough weather. This ship uses stabilizing fins, which cut down the amount of rocking and rolling in bad weather.

The bright spot of this long journey have been the shore excursions. Our first stop was at Las Palmos on the Canary Islands. It was especially interesting for Americans, as it was here that Columbus spent some time before discovering America. We visit-Columbus house, where a great many of his writings and possessions are preserved.

After crossing the equator we continued south for many days, making our next stop at Cape Town on Oct. 11th. Here we saw the Cape of Good Hope and a lovely countryside. After many days at sea the sight of grass and flowers is especially apprecated.

It was spring time there. Our next stop was in Durbon on Oct. 13th — still in South Africa. Here we visited a Zulu village up in the hills. We also did some shopping in Durbon and found it to be a modern city. There were many department stores and an abundance of American and European products. I'll be happy to disembark at Bombay on October 22nd. Greetings to all - Dorothy Meyer.

Backaches Can Be Caused by Many Bad Posture Habits

MINNEAPOLIS-Does your back ache? If so, don't feel too badly about it. You are not alone.

Orthopedic physicians report that close to 50 per cent of their cases consist of the enormous assortment of backaches to which humanity is subject.

Most back troubles, even the disabling ones, come from things people do to themselves; only a minority are the result of outside causes.

By far the number one cause of back trouble is posture—faulty posture while standing, sitting, sleeping, working, lifting, driving. In fact, the posture habits of most Americans are pretty terrible; if right posture habits were drilled into all school children it would save an enormous amount of disability in later life, for most back troubles occur in men and women

Posture is so much more important than most people realize because the human spine is a pretty weak piece of engineering. It is a makeshift adaptation forced by that odd human habit of going around on two feet instead of on all fours. To hold the trunk upright the spine has to form an S-curve, which even a freshman engineering student will tell you is a pretty weak set-up. Postures which exaggerate the "S" curve invite strain and pain.

Alien Physicians Training in U.S.

CHICAGO - More than 6,000 foreign physicians are in the United States this year to complete their professional training as interns or residents, while more than 1,700 Americans are studying at foreign medical

A survey of foreign physicians in the U.S. was made by the Institute of International Education and the American Medical Association.

The study showed that 1,730 Americans are studying in 26 different countries. Switzerland, Italy, Canada. Netherlands and Belgium each have more than 100 American students. The University of Bologna (Italy) has the largest number, 243 American medical

The 6,033 foreign physicians in the U.S. are training in 764 hospitals. This is almost a thousand more than the 5,036 reported in 1954-55. Approximately 47 per cent

first came here this year. Of the group, 1,859 are internes and 4,174 are residents; 86.6 per cent are men and 13.4 are women. They are distributed among all but four of the states. Only Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, and Wyoming have no foreign physicians in Marriage Now at Peak Of Popularity in U. S.

NEW YORK - Marriage as a way of life, is at peak popularity among American men. In number, American husbands have reached a record high, totaling 39,000,000 in the civilian population alone.

The typical American nowadays marries at a relatively early age, establishes his own household soon after marriage, and keeps his nose to the grindstone to the extent that he bears responsibility for raising a family throughout most of his working life. About 95 per cent of all married men under age 65 are gainfully employed.

These facts are derived from a statistical profile of the American husband using largely data from the Bureau of the Census. Other details: Over one-quarter of the present-day husbands are under 35 years of age, and an additional fourth are in the 35 to 44 age bracket. At the same time, however, the numbers of ages 65 and over is close to 4,400,000 - about 11 per cent of the total-and is growing rapidly. Four-fifths of the families where the husband is in the age range of 25 to 34 have at least one child, and nearly one-quarter have three or more children.

Fossil Remains Turn Up in Wyoming Valley

WASHINGTON - An isolated Wyoming valley has yielded a considerable collection of fossil remains of archaic mammals of about 60 million years ago, animals only remotely related to those living today. The fossils from this locality, known as the Bison Basis, first discovered four years ago, have been described by Dr. C. Lewis Gazin, curator of vertebrate paleontology at the Smithsonian Institution, who had a major part in collecting them.

The creatures lived during the Tiffanian epoch, next to last subdivision of Paleocene geologic time -a period that lasted approximately 20 million years but which was just the start of the "Age of Mammals." The Paleocene was the time when mammals were coming up as the dominant animals on earth and the importance of the dinosaurs had just passed.

College Graduate's Outlook Said Quite Promising

MINNEAPOLIS-Fantastic 1956 demand for engineering graduates hampered spring classroom sessions, lured away sorely needed technical instructors, and resulted in sharp practices by some recruiters. It boosted starting salaries considerably higher than earlier spring estimates - "unhealthily high" in the opinion of some placement officials, so high it has disturbed morale of already employed grads of previous years, whose advancement schedules have not kept pace.

The pleasantest light in this spring's graduate employment picture is the sun shining on the liberal arts man at long last, according to the family economics bureau of a leading national insur-

In the final report on its 21 annual survey of college placements, with salary tabulations pretty well completed, average base starting pay for newly-"minted" engineers is reported at around $420 at some technical schools, and as high as $450 at a few, compared with $390-$410 a year ago. Premiums for working schedules beyond 40 hours, graduate study assistance, free furniture moving for married grads, etc. bring actual pay offers considerably higher.

Women who majored in science or math have been in heavy demand as engineering assistants, physicists, even as well spotters and map drafters. Women liberal arts majors are being inducted into regular management training classes formerly limited to men, and career appointments in gov-

Death Rays Destroy Terrible Termites

LOS ANGELES-A small black box which sends "death rays" into wood floors may be the answer to the household problem of destructive powder post beetles and ter-

Developed by Roy J. Pence, University of California entomologist, the death dealing unit utilizes infrared radiation to destroy the insects. In field tests the infrared unit achieved complete kills of all development stages of powder post beetles, which have a fondness for expensive hardwood floors. Treatment of an area merely involves setting the box down and exposing the area to infrared radiation from five to ten minutes, depending on the thickness of the flooring. The device is of simple construction, Pence says, and can be built cheaply in the workshop of any pest control operator. It consists of a light wooden cabinet and contains a battery and six standard infrared lamps. Powder post beetles, which generally confine their activity within the limited thickness of a hardwood floor, have been particularly difficult to control.

CHICAGO-Barbituates, antihistaminics, and stimulating or "tranquilizing" drugs being administered for a variety of diseases are vying with alcohol as highway hazards.

Dr. Walter J. R. Camp., professor of pharmacology and toxicology at the University of Illinois School of Medicine, says that in some instances patients should not drive because of the effect of the medication being taken. "Alcohol in some ways is not the most dangerous since the effects of overindulgence are usually obvious," Dr. Camp points out, adding that "many persons of their own volition, or on advice of a physician, are taking drugs which have a definite effect on the central nervous system." Termite Collection

Includes Many Species WASHINGTON - Got termites? The Smithsonian Institution has. a collection of 230,000 specimens, including 1,286 distinct species of the approximately 2,000 known in the world.

This collection, probably the second most valuable of its kind in the world, represents the work of more than 46 years during which Dr. Thomas E. Snyder, retired Department of Agriculture entomologist, has collected termites in the Western Hemisphere and has also obtained many Old World species by exchange and gift. Among the specimens are 943 "type specimens"—individuals to which all others of the species must be referred for final identification.
