Weather Really Wintery The weather the past week can,

we think, be best described as "really wintery.'

We have had snow squalls, sleet, and raw winds.

Friday saw a driving rain here in the canyon, with snow to a depth of about three inches on top the hills but it did not stay, being almost completely gone by Saturday, and leaving only a trace of "tracking snow" for the hunters on Sunday.

Sunday night it cleared, and the mercury dipped to a low of 22 above, for our coldest night this winter. Since that time cloudy skies and raw winds have prevailed.

Newest Buick Yet

WE'VE introduced a lot of new Buicks to the local scene—but never before one as new as this.

Inside and outside, top to toe, end to end-this is the newest Buick yet.

And it's not just new for newness itself—but new in ways that make driving more comfortable, safer and more fun.

You'll see what we mean when you study these gorgeous new Buicks close up.

They're inches lower and stunningly styled from stem to stern - yet each is wondrously roomy inside.

They bring a wide-eyed new visibility of the road ahead with a rakish windshield that adds hundreds more square inches of glass area.

They're new in ride, with a new contour frame chassis that "nests" your going-giving new roadability with a lower center of gravityyet road clearance is unchanged.

They're new in handling with a new Buickdeveloped ball-joint suspension that makes steering and cornering easier while it levelizes braking.

But above and beyond all else—these 1957 Buicks are brand new in performance:

-with a V8 engine that's new from the crankshaft up, to give you the highest power and compression in all Buick annals.

-with an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow* that brings you such instant response, such smoothness, such à full range of fluid motion in "Drive" that the need for "Low" is all but eliminated.

All this covers only the big advances in the 1957 Buick.

There are other wonderful new things-the new safety instrument panel-the new colormate interiors - the new counterbalanced brake pedals-well over a hundred and fifty new features in all.

As your Buick dealer, we're ready to show you these newest Buicks yet-and how easy you'll find it to call one your own. Stop in and see us this week.

Clang Clang of Streetcars Fading Into Oblivion

WASHINGTON-The death knell of the streetcar sounds more like a clink than a clang, clang, hardly heard above the roar of the buses and automobiles that are replacing them. Yet almost every month another trolley somewhere in the United States runs its last ride into oblivion.

Such cities as Detroit, Cleveland, Dallas, Atlanta, and Minneapolis have eliminated streetcar service in recent months. New York City, which retired most of its surface lines in 1947, will have but one left - over Queensboro Bridge next fall when the last two in Brooklyn are withdrawn.

Among the 15 cities which still retain trolleys, scarcely one has not put away a sizeable number, or considered doing so. Trackage. which ran to 40,500 miles thirty years ago, has shrunk to 6,700 miles. Cars in use have dwindled from 62,800 to fewer than 6,000.

Diehard "railfans" are coming to the rescue for the old and discarded trolleys, and have instituted one of the nation's newest hobbies: collecting streetcars. Banding into groups, "railfans" buy or receive as gifts specimens of various vintages from all over the nation. They restore and repair them, and exhibit them to the public.

Near New Haven, Connecticut, members of the Branford Electric Railway Association maintain an outdoor trolley museum with two miles of track. Here visitors can ride a 15-bench "breezer" which recalls the day when transportation was recreation and bowlertopped dandies took their Gibson girls to Sunday picnics in opensided, bunting-draped trolleys.

Londoners, singing "Auld Lang Syne," ran the last of their trams into the bar in 1952. Other Europeans still cling to their carsamong them, the Viennese, who bought 45 of New York's moth-

Question: How Hot Is Hot Water?

NEW YORK - How hot is hot

No, this isn't a trick question like, "How high is up?" The answer is: It all depends on what you're using it for.

To the house cleaner, hot water is properly hot at 140-150 degrees. That's enough to kill germs and leaves everything it touches hygienic as well as sparkling-spot-

But those temperatures would parboil a bather. Hot water in the bathtub or shower is just-right hot when it's between 95 and 110 degrees. Anything less than that would result in more goose pimples than cleanliness.

The laundry is a veritable hotbed of hot water, what with dyefast cotton clothes asking for 120 to 150 degrees worth of hotness, and more delicate fabrics such as woolens or silks calling "hot" 90 to 105 degrees.

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association points out that such varying degrees of hotness are no problem at all to owners of automatic gas water heaters. Not only is a steady flow of hot water assured all day long, but most models are equipped with handset thermostats that allow you to dial any hotness you need as easily as making a phone call.

Age Is Now Lesser Factor in Operations

CHICAGO—A comparison of records for the last decade vith those of 20 years ago shows the falsity of the adage "the older the person, the greater is the operative risk," according to two St. Louis physicians.

Drs. Carl A. Moyer and J. Albert Key found that for many operations the risks now are the same for persons over 60 years as for persons under 60. Survival rates for all ages have increased greatly in the last decade and especially for the older group.

One reason for the change is improved treatment of postoperative infection through the use of antibiotics. This is particularly true for cholecystectomy (removal of the gallbladder) and appendectomy, which used to have high death rates because of infection. The outlook is now about as good as for young patients.

National Parks Expect Record Attendance

WASHINGTON - Nature's wonderland of scenery in the national parks is expected to lure a recordbreaking number of travelers—at least 53,000.000 this year.

Termed "irreplaceable national treasures" by President Eisenhower, the parks attract ever increasing numbers: 380,000 in 1916, more than 20,000,000 in 1941 and about 50,000,000 in 1955.

Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service, forsees 80,000,000 visitors a year by 1966.

You Color Blind? Many Eye Defects Worse for Driver

NEW YORK-Drivers with "tunnel vision" or those slow to recover from the temporary blindness caused by a blaze of oncoming headlights are a much greater danger on the highway than colorblind motorists.

So reports Leonard M. van Noppen, who supervises a passenger car fleet that travels 30,000,000 miles annually for a big auto finance company. He warns that at this time of the year particularlywhen twilight, with its extra deceptions, lasts longer-defective eyesight is one of the major dangers to motorists.

Van Noppen, vice president of Universal C. I. T Credit Corporation, reports that optometrists have found that color-blindness is not particularly hazardous, judging by accident statistics. Colorblind motorists, he says, are able to distinguish between signal lights by the difference in brightness between red and green (red appears brighter).

Eyesight defects that are especially dangerous, he reports, are inability to see distant objects clearly; tunnel vision, or the inability to see over a wide area or "catch glimpses" of things on either side while watching the road (warning signs are next to useless); inability to judge distances (especially vital when passing other cars on the road); and faulty night vision, which means the driver cannot see against moderate glare or when there is little light, and does not recover speedily enough from headlight

Many U.S. Women Widowed by Age 55

NEW YORK-Despite increased postponement of widowhood to the older ages as a result of the declining mortality prior to midlife, last year 115,000 wives were widowed in the United States through the death of a husband less than 55 years of age.

At the time of the last census there were, in all, 700,000 white widows in the United States who had lost their husband within the preceding decade, and who were under 50 years old at the time of their loss. Of these, almost onethird had been widowed two to four years, and one-half for five to nine years.

These facts emerge from a study of young widows and their dependents based upon 1950 census data: Four-fifths of the widows under 50 years of age had borne children and many of these children were quite young-about 80,-000 were under age five. Nearly three out of every five of the widows still in their early twenties had responsibilities for preschool

Tornado Toll Heavy Over Ten-Year Span

NEW YORK-Tornadoes in the United States took 1,766 lives during the decade 1946 through 1955. and inflicted injuries on approximately ten times that many persons, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's statisticians.

During the ten year period the loss of life varied considerably from year to year. Over the past 40 years, however, there has been a general tendency for the fatality toll to decrease from one decade to the next — the 1916-26 toll being 3,114, the 1925-35 figure 2,138, and the 1936-45 figure 1,896.

May was the peak month for tornadoes during the past decade, accounting for nearly one-fourth of the deaths.

The heaviest death toll from tornadoes in the United States during the decade just ended resulted from the series of tornadoes which swept through the Missouri Valley States on the weekend of March 22, 1952, taking 208 lives.

Cousins Can Marry, Consultant Believes

CHICAGO-A medical consultant has contradicted the notion that all cousins who marry will have defective children.

In a query to the Journal of the American Medical Association, a physician asked if it would be wise for a girl to marry her second cousin-the grandson of her father's brother.

The unnamed consultant said that it would be all right—if the ancestry on both sides for three generations was sound physically, intellectually and emotionally.

Adrenal Gland Plays Role When One Suffers Injuries

Another step forward in better understanding the important role played by the adrenal gland in helping the body recover from injuries has been achieved, a University of Michigan doctor states. Dr. Jerome W. Conn, an associate professor of internal medicine, reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science or. research he has been conducting at the university. His study has shown that the adrenal gland calls upon a substance in the blood known as cholesterol to help in producing the huge amounts of adrenal hormones needed in prolonged periods of stress which the body undergoes at the time of an in-

Cholesterol, produced largely by the liver, is the basic compound of adrenal hormones, including cortisone, the hormone found to be beneficial in the treatment ... rheuma. toid arthitis, Dr. Conn says.

In his experiments, Dr. Conn found the cholesterol content of the adrenal gland could be reduced 70 per cent within three hours by artificial stimulation which produced conditions similar to those created within the body during periods of prolonged stress.

This artificial stimulation was achieved through use of ACTH, the pituitary gland hormone which causes the adrenal gland to produce its hormones.

The effect of this prolonged stimulation of the adrenal gland has important implications for future study of several diseases, including those of the heart, liver and kidney as well as hardening of the arteries according to Dr. Conn. These disterol.

Wool Scarce; Give Blankets Extra Care for Longer Life

Treat your wool blankets with the gentle care that precious possessions deserve. Textile scientists of the U.S. department of agriculture have pointed out that U.S. production of wool this year is one of the lowest on record.

Frequent airing of blankets in use not only is good sanitary practice but helps them last longer and hold their fluffy warmth and comfort. When a blanket is thrown back loosely so fresh air reaches both sides, the wool has a chance to get back its natural springiness which makes for warmth. But care should be taken not to throw a blanket over anything sharp, such as a peaked bedpost, which may pierce or pull it, or on anything that may stain it. Loose bed springs, sharp metal corners or even roughened wood may also catch and tear blankets or other bedding.

For best service and comfort blankets should be large enough to come up well over shoulders and still tuck firmly in the bottom of the bed. Short blankets often wear out early because they take so much pulling and strain.

A blanket stays clean longer if the bed is made so that the sheet turns back over the top of the blanket 8 to 12 inches. If the sheet is too short, a strip of cloth, basted over the top or the full length of the blanket, is good protection against soiling the wool. A covering over the blanket, or even a third sheet used on top, gives added warmth because it holds still air in the fluffy wool.

For Pig Protection
A pair of clean rubber boots is worth more than any medicine in protecting pigs from a fatal intestinal disease called transmissible gastroenteritis. Vast means of controlling it is to move healthy pigs as far away as possible from the sick ones. Many farmers do this, a veterinary medical bulletin points out, but they overlook the fact that their shoes can spread the infection. Attendants who have walked through infected hog quarters should put on a pair of clean boots before entering healthy quarters, the bulletin cautions. The disease, believed to be caused by a virus, is marked by severe diarrhea, o per vomiting, and rapid loss of weight. 34-tf Young pigs are hit hardest, with death losses sometimes running as high as 90 per cent.

Finishes Pre-Tested

The term "industrial-finishes" is applied to the finishes used by manufacturers to enhance their products. Before being applied, they are subjected to many special tests based upon the kind of usage to which the article may be subjected. For example, in addition to tests for adhesion, and hardness, finishes for refrigerators, stoves and kitchen cabinets are tested for their resistance to various foods, such as lemon juice, butter, lard and vinegar—as well as to various cleaning materials.

Wooden, Aluminum, Ladders

The rung of a wooden ladder will bend downward about one-sixth of an inch for a 150-pound person stepping on its center. An aluminum ladder is constructed so that the deflection is much less. If it were built like the wooden ladder, the deflection of the aluminum rung would be about a ninth as much as for the wooden rung under similar conditions. This is because Jailed As Fire Suspect

THIS STORE WILL BE CLOSED THANKSGIVING DAY

OUR KNEES

Thanks for these brooding hills; the forest hush; Houses with lamps alight; a muted song, And children, murmurous at the close of day, Now, as we lift our hearts in grateful prayer, Kneeling, say thanks for shelter and for food, Safety, and warmth against the winter's cold, Give us, O Lord, compassion for the old; Inspire in us the courage to be good; Vanguish our terror, and let brotherhood Invade those hearts locked hard in bands of hate. Now, in November, grant to all the living Grace to feel the comfort of Thanksgiving.
