Bantams Hitch-Hike To Town

Three little bantam chickens all but stopped traffic here one day last week, as they went on a "sight seeing-binge" down the icy Main street. The chickens, belonging to Mrs. Ernest Freytag, rode into town with her when she came to work. Of course she was unaware of the little "hitch-hikers" as they were in the back of the pickup. So it wasn't until some time later that she spied the culprits huddled together, skating in and out of traffic as they attempted to cross the street.

Going to their rescue she gathered them up and took them home. They apparently had been in the habit of roosting in the back of the pickup — and evidently didn't hear their alarm clock — or maybe it was frozen up!

HERE'S WHY MARCH OF DIMES MUST RAISE $46,900,000 TOTAL

The battleries of the 1957 March of Dimes is ringing across the nation this January — "Let's Finish The Job." The challenge of this inspiring slogan demands immediate results in this community, as well as all others. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is adding bold new programs to the basic ones that have brought the American people this close to full victory over polio.

1. Vaccination — The 1957 March of Dimes will provide $10,000,000 to assure vaccination for all families who cannot afford the costs of polio prevention. Until adults as well as children get the full series of three Salk shots there will be no national immunity against paralytic attack.

2. Rehabilitation — Special effort must be made to restore living freedom to patients disabled over the years by crippling attacks of polio, and $5,000,000 of March of Dimes funds will be provided for a wide program of rehabilitation to see that all polio victims have a full chance for recovery.

3. Respiratory Centers — Five new Respiratory and Rehabilitation Centers will be added to the 15 strategically located units now demonstrating and teaching procedures and techniques for the rehabilitation of severely afflicted polio patients, helping them return to useful, productive living.

4. Patient Aid — Funds must be available to pay expenses of hospital and other care for polio victims who need financial aid in whole or in part, regardless of age, race, creed or color. More than 80,000 patients stricken in earlier years need help to achieve maximum recovery.

5. Research — Grants to institutions and medical schools to finance investigation into the cause and treatment of polio and help science as well as the victims of other diseases. Search for a more effective vaccine, the quest for improved methods of treatment and study of after-effects of polio must continue.

6. Professional Education — March of Dimes must continue to finance training of research personnel, doctors, nurses, physical therapists and others urgently needed to fight polio and other diseases. Modern treatment requires more professional hands and skills to help victims recover.

7. Let's finish the job, today, now! In line with the above the Kendrick Grange is sponsoring a dance for the benefit of the March of Dimes on Saturday evening, January 26, at the K. H. S. gym. You can help by buying a ticket — whether or not you dance.

Another "Please Don't"

Ed. Brown, local maintenance foreman for the State Highway department, again voices a "please don't" — meaning, please don't leave parked cars or trucks over-night on Main Street, if it is possible to put them anywhere else — for it interferes with snow plowing.

This latter is usually done during the early morning hours, and parked vehicles make snow removal on Main Street extremely difficult.

And Then It Snowed

Last week-end saw some of the most beautiful winter weather anyone could want in this area.

Sunday was truly a gorgeous day, with bright warm sunshine, and only a few patches of snow were left on sunless north slopes when the day ended in the canyon area.

However, late Sunday evening it began snowing, continuing intermittently until Monday night, when the fall began in earnest.

Tuesday morning residents awakened to find about four inches on the ground, and snow shovels were a popular item.

The fall continued most of Tuesday and Tuesday night, and Wednesday, at the time of going to press, there was about five and a half inches of fluffy, dry snow on the ground.

Wednesday morning at 8:00 the thermometer read "plunk zero!" for the coldest of the winter to date.

Employed By Disney

For those who have been reading "My Dad, Walt Disney," currently appearing in the Saturday Evening Post, a surprise is in store for you, for the Disney cook and housekeeper, frequently mentioned as "Thelma," is no other than Thelma (nee Mills) Howard, from Southwick. She was born near Southwick, attended the "Grinolds" Grade school and Southwick High school.

Many will remember the Mills family, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Mills and their three children, Thelma, Jay and Tyler. Jay Mills now lives in Lewiston; Tyler gave his life for his country in World War II, and Thelma is in California. Mr. and Mrs. Mills are both buried in the Southwick cemetery.

After leaving high school Thelma went to Spokane, where she was employed for a time, and from there she went to California where she found employment with the Disney family, and has been with them ever since — more than 15 years.

Mrs. George Havens called our attention to this story, saying she and Thelma had attended school together and had been close friends ever since, and still correspond regularly.

Mrs. Thelma Mills Howard has one son, Michael. Her husband was killed in a car accident a few months after they were married.

Price Of Milk Up Two Cents

Lewiston — The price of milk went up 2 cents per quart Jan. 1, according to Lewiston dairymen.

The area from Colfax to Grangeville in north Idaho and eastern Washington will be affected by the increase the report said, bringing the price to the level of the Spokane market. Milk prices in this area remained unchanged during the last two increases at Spokane.

A dairyman said the increase is necessitated by wage adjustments, increased operating costs, and increased costs to producers.

In a brief note to the Gazette the Elton Wilson family, formerly of Kendrick, but now of Independence, Oregon, say in part:

"APPERANCES ARE DECEPTIVE"

— (Author's Name Below) —

That good things come in small packages is particularly true of medicines. It is amazing how often a serious illness is relieved, almost like magic, within a few hours.

When the new hormones and antibiotics were first released many people were dismayed that some of them cost as much as 50c each. They soon learned that not only were they saving more lives, but people got well so much quicker that medicines-per-illness now cost far less than before.

We, of course, price all prescriptions as low as operational costs permit.

New Power Road Sander
A new power road sander has been added to state highway department maintenance equipment here. The new device, which fastens at the rear of a truck loaded with gravel, does an excellent job of distributing sand and gravel over the entire surface of the road. It is far faster than the old "hand method," and gives even distribution. The new device permits a road to be plowed and sanded by a single vehicle and in just one trip.

HOW TO CAULK AROUND A CHIMNEY

Homeowners know the kind of damage a leaky roof causes. By proper care, especially around the chimney, this troublesome condition can be eliminated. When caulking around a chimney use screen wire as reinforcement under the caulking. This will prevent caulking from pulling away from bricks to cause a leak. Screen wire is tacked directly to chimney and to roof and caulking compound is applied over it. Compound should be forced into the mesh of the screen. Hardware cloth may be used in place of screen wire.

Determine Role Of Cigarettes In Causing Fire

Why do cigarettes cause so many fires?

What fabrics and other materials will a cigarette ignite most easily?

Do certain conditions make a cigarette especially dangerous?

To find the answers to these questions, the office of California's state fire marshal recently conducted a series of tests.

Lighted cigarettes were dropped into wastebaskets and boxes filled with various types of rubbish and dried vegetation, and fanned to make conditions most favorable for burning. They were puffed near flammable liquids and gases, and pinched so their glowing coals fell through flammable vapors. They were laid on samples of natural and plastic materials commonly used for clothing, decoration and upholstery, and on samples of padding and cushioning, and left to burn until they went out.

The results of the tests were surprising. Because, although some materials burned, and some vapors exploded, cigarettes proved on the whole to be a relatively poor source of ignition, able to start fires only under limited conditions.

How, then, can cigarettes be one of the top causes of fires? The answer is—by sheer numbers?

In 1955, more than 400 billion cigarettes were smoked — about 700,000 a minute. At that rate, it would take only one cigarette in 2 million to cause 200,000 fires a year!

Hot Dog Is Hit At London Fair

WASHINGTON — The hot dog—American version of the world-traveled frankfurter, recrossed the Atlantic last summer when 400,000 samples were handed out to visitors to the United States exhibits at the British Food Fair in London.

The gesture was not expected to make overnight weiner converts of the fish-and-chips-eating Britishers, but it calls attention to the popularity growth of the food item since "dachshund sausage" was first introduced into the United States from Germany about a century ago.

By recent estimates, Americans will consume eight billion franks this year. Linked up, they would reach 600,000 miles, more than the distance to the moon and back, says the National Geographic Society.

Most delvers into the subject agree that the frankfurter as it is known today had its origin in the city from which the name came, Frankfurt on the Main.

Health Conditions Continue Favorable

NEW YORK—Health conditions among American wage earners and their families, as reflected by prevailing mortality, continued to be very favorable during the first six months of 1956, according to the experience among the millions of industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Although slight increases in mortality were recorded from the same periods of the banner years of 1955 and 1954, the current death rate of 661.8 per 100,000 policyholders is lower than that for the first half of any year prior to 1954.

The rise this year reflects principally increased mortality from the cardiovascular diseases and the cancers. There was a slight increase in the death rates from pneumonia and influenza, but a decrease in the tuberculosis rate. The principal communicable diseases of childhood—measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and diphtheria—continued to record a very low mortality.

Kansas City Keeps Evergreens Green

KANSAS CITY—The Kansas City park department believes in keeping evergreen trees looking green. Last spring some evergreens were transplanted on a block square park that covers an underground parking lot.

Four of the trees—native red cedars—died in the transplanting process. They couldn't be replaced until late fall.

Eugene Nelson, the grounds-keeper, hit upon the idea of painting the dead trees with green paint. The idea worked so well that Nelson said one could hardly tell the painted trees unless they "got real nosy and started fingering the boughs."

No Burial Space

TOKYO—Tokyo is fast running out of cemetery space. City officials report the ashes of 50,000 dead yearly must be left in Buddhist temples until graves can be found.

The city each year sells by lottery a limited number of burial plots in the eight cemeteries it operates.

New Radar System To Make Tracking Hurricanes Easier

BOSTON—Earlier and more reliable storm warnings will soon be possible through new U.S. Weather Bureau radars that can detect and track hurricanes and tornadoes up to 250 miles away.

Under production are 39 new-type weather radars for the Department of Commerce—tailor-made to Weather Bureau and forecasting needs. The U.S. Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics will use eight of these equipments at Naval installations here and abroad. Delivery is scheduled to begin in early 1958.

The new radars will be linked into a planned nationwide network of radar weather stations to be strategically located throughout the country. By tracking a storm and relaying the findings from one station to the next without losing contact with the disturbance, meteorologists will be able to make a continuous check of storm progress and development.

Use of this network, Weather Bureau officials point out, will reduce to a minimum present difficulties in plotting of hurricanes as they approach the coast. It will also be used to help guide planes and ships either away from or safely through turbulent weather and severe storms.

Each of the new weather radars can instantly pinpoint the exact location of severe storms within its 200,000-square-mile coverage. The weatherman will see an entire weather front or storm systems at once, thus greatly improving his present piecemeal, intermittent roundup of the situation.

Caves and Mines Have Practical Use

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—Properly air-conditioned caves and abandoned mines can serve as excellent storage places for military and industrial materials and for the preservation of food, says Elmer R. Queer, director of engineering research at the Pennsylvania State University.

When the U.S. Army Ordnance Corps decided to transform an abandoned limestone mine near Atchison, Kans., into an underground storage depot for military supplies, it called on Queer and other Penn State staff members.

They supervised the design of a dehumidification system for the 14-acre section of the mine which had been used previously by the Commodity Credit Corporation of the Department of Agriculture as a cold storage place for food.

As the Navy learned in "moth-balling" its ships after World War II, controlled atmosphere is the key to successful long-term storage and preservation of military material, Queer says.

Employee Turnover Subject of Study

LOS ANGELES—Why do employees quit?

This is the question Dr. Wayne L. McNaughton, of the Graduate School of Business Administration, UCLA, has been studying in cooperation with a large aircraft company.

The company was concerned about its rate of employee turnover—5,600 separations a year from a work force of 10,000. The investigation covered all former workers who had been gone from two to 11 months.

One of the study's most interesting findings was that the reasons given by ex-employees on why they quit were quite different from those given interviewers at the time of separation.

At the time of departure, most workers gave some "polite" reason such as "other employment" or "leaving the state." On the questionnaire, however, they emphasized such reasons as "poor pay," "bad supervision," and "slow advancement." This was true of 40 per cent of ex-employees questioned.

Interestingly, three out of four ex-employees who had quit after two months employment said they would like to rejoin the company.

New Dummy Helps in X-Ray Experiments

NEW YORK—Galatea is the intriguing name scientists have assigned a new testing dummy.

Galatea is man-made, has sponges for lungs, wood sheathing for a heart, and cotton interior—all constructed around the real heart of a human chest.

The model is being used by X-ray technicians in experimenting with techniques and films to improve the knowledge of radiology—the use of X-rays, radium and other radioactive substances in diagnosis and treatment.

More and More UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—The population of the world increased 4,000,000 people at midyear 1955 over the previous year, the United Nations reports. The new estimated world population is 2,692,000,000.

Teacher Shortage Laid to Lack Of Facilities

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—The current teacher shortage is due primarily to the dearth of facilities in teacher training institutions rather than to lack of prospective education students.

This is the opinion of Dr. R. H. Amalong, in charge of teacher placement at the Pennsylvania State University, who claims that hundreds of young men and women who want to become teachers cannot get into the teacher training institutions because of overcrowded conditions.

"I believe we could solve the problem of teacher shortages in the next ten years if we expanded teacher training facilities immediately," Dr. Amalong says.

While higher salaries will do much to attract more persons to the teaching profession and to retain those already employed, they are not the only answer, he claims, citing the lack of adequate teacher training facilities and staff as the crux of the problem.

Penn State, itself, has been forced to turn down a number of applicants to its College of Education because of lack of space, he points out.

The teacher shortage probably will worsen as the demand already is far outstripping the available supply, Dr. Amalong predicts. His office, which serves not only Pennsylvania, but the entire country, is receiving far more calls for teacher candidates this year than ever before.

Because they were the first to feel the pressure of the current population boom, the elementary schools in certain geographic areas are at present the most acute sufferers from the teacher shortage.

Why Do Students Select Teaching?

LOS ANGELES—What factors influence persons to become teachers?

Dr. Clarence Fielstra, assistant dean of the School of Education at UCLA recently surveyed 230 future teachers enrolled in an introductory education course.

He found that 50 per cent of the students had decided to become teachers while still in high school. Interestingly 18.2 per cent of the students had one or more parents who were teachers.

The three most important factors in influencing students to enter teaching, Dr. Fielstra found, were exposure to an inspirational teacher, encouragement from friends and relatives, and newspaper accounts of the teacher shortage.

In ranking 14 opportunities in teaching, men put "to get as good a salary as I could probably earn" at the bottom of the list. The women rated it only twelfth.

Politics Also Problem In Days of Romans

LOS ANGELES—Financing political campaigns is a problem almost as old as civilization, says a scholar of antiquity.

But, adds, Dr. Arthur Patch McKinlay, professor emeritus of Latin, at the University of California, we are fortunate that the Democrats and Republicans have sounder methods for soliciting campaign contributions than did the Romans.

In those days, he points out, it was common practice for enterprising five-percenters to pick out a likely young man and back him through a series of political offices, leading hopefully to the governorship of a province.

Once the backer's protege became province governor, it was the established practice for him to reimburse the stock company for its expenses by looting residents of the province with heavy taxation.

Homeowner Wants No Yellow-Hued Fireplug

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—Mrs. O. Z. Russell, 74, a retired school teacher, thinks yellow is a horrible color, unless it happens to be the color of a flower.

When a yellow fire hydrant was installed in front of her home she telephoned her objection to City Manager Henry Yancey.

Yancey asked Mrs. Russell what color she preferred to have the hydrant.

"White," she replies. So the only white hydrant in the city of Charlotte is now to be found in front of the Russell residence.

Holiday Treat

BONN, Germany—Residents of West Germany will eat their first American-raised Christmas turkeys this year. The Food Ministry has announced. It said $1,190,000 worth of turkeys, chickens, ducks, and chicken livers have been bought in the United States.

This is the first time Germany has imported American fowl for the holidays.

About Ice Fishing

Boise—Inquiries coming to the Idaho Fish and Game department indicate there is still considerable uncertainty in the public mind in regard to fishing through the ice. The rule for Idaho is that ice makes no difference in the fishing regulation. If the water would be open to fishing without ice, it is O. K. to chop a hole and fish through the ice. The same rules apply to fishing hours, bag limits, methods of fishing, etc.

Also, it should be remembered that last year's regulations remain in effect through March 31. You can use them for a check list to find the 40-odd waters that are open to fishing for all or most species, as well as a good many others that will be open for whitefish fishing through Feb. 28.

All "the makin's" for a wonderful winter breakfast will be found at Blewett's Market, Kendrick. 1-adv.

Church Shows Substantial Gain

Kansas City, Mo. — The Church of the Nazarene, an international Protestant denomination, recorded substantial gains in every area of its work during 1956, it was reported here this week.

The annual statistical report by Dr. S. T. Ludwig, Kansas City, Mo., general church secretary, showed that new churches and Sunday Schools were established at the rate of two a week in 1956. The denomination had a net gain of 109 churches for a year-end total of 4,435.

A net gain of 8,031 members, or a 2.8 percent increase, brought the denomination total to 287,866. The vast majority joined on profession of faith.

Perhaps most notable was the record of $129.94 in per capita giving in 1956. This was an increase of $4.35 over the previous high in 1955. Giving for all purposes also increased by $2,260,063 in 1956 for a total of $37,404,741.

Sunday School enrollment reached an all-time high of 611,319. All three principal societies — missionary, junior and young people — recorded gains in members and income.

Wail of Ghost Lady Disturbs Jungle Quiet
WASHINGTON — In the eerie hours before the jungle's pink and pale dawn the ghost lady wails. Natives call her "alma perdidia," the lost soul. The indescribably sorrowful call heard by visitors to Barro Colorado Island, Canal Zone, is that of a relative of the North American whippoorwill.
"I have never heard such a human sound from a brute before," wrote the late Dr. Frank Chapman, noted ornithologist of the American Museum of Natural History who made intensive studies of the island's bird life. "It made the gooseflesh rise all over me. It was a soft, but loud, sad, flute-like note."
The sound has also been described as a "woman's voice, a deep, mellow contralto calling in hopeless grief."

Writer Says American Women Are Unhappy
BATTLE, Eng.—A British anthropologist says the American woman used to fight for her man, but now she fights him—and usually wins.
Dr. Eric J. Dingwall describes the American woman as "The most nervous, unhappy, disgruntled woman that possibly one might find."
Starting with records of the Puritans of the 1600's, Dingwall has examined 10,000 books, magazines and newspapers and diaries to fill out the picture of the American woman he has obtained during 20 years of dashing back and forth between England and America to carry on eyewitness studies.

Young Nation's Early Victory Seldom Noted

NEW YORK—Over 180 years ago a tired and battered Continental Army suddenly found itself for four hours of immortal glory. Turning from wild retreat up Manhattan Island, the Americans lashed out and rolled back several crack British and Hessian battalions.

This obscure clash is sometimes lost on even astute historians. The man-on-the-street usually takes on a blank stare to the inquiry: "What was this country's first victory as a nation?"

The answer lies on New York's upper west side. On the site that is now occupied by Columbia University, the previously dispirited troops of Washington, reeling from bitter defeats on Long Island, Brooklyn and lower Manhattan, abruptly turned on their British pursuers and flung them back from what is now 130th Street to 105th Street. Thus was forged the first victory of arms of a nation then barely two months old. Known as the "Battle of Harlem Heights," it took place September 16, 1776.

Today, this forgotten battle site which was then mainly a rolling buckwheat field is covered with the stately redstone buildings of the 202-year-old Columbia. When the battle was fought, Columbia, then known as King's College and located at Park Place, had suspended classes and its students, among them Alexander Hamilton, had nearly to a man donned Colonial Blues.

To the passerby there remains only one link with this epic victory which was then mainly a rolling buckwheat field is covered with the stately redstone buildings of the 202-year-old Columbia. When the battle was fought, Columbia, then known as King's College and located at Park Place, had suspended classes and its students, among them Alexander Hamilton, had nearly to a man donned Colonial Blues.

Home Ties Strong For Collegians

SANTA BARBARA — The most difficult adjustment problem young collegians have is cutting the apron strings, says a University of California professor.

Dr. Joseph E. Lantagne, chairman of the department of physical education who teaches preparation for marriage, said this problem was reflected in a survey of 4,000 men and women students in eight California junior and 13 senior colleges and universities. He listed 60 marriage education topics for students to check in the order of their interest.

The item heading the list for both men and women was "Parent-Child Relationships." Second and third rated topics were "normal sex relations" and "happiness with home and family."

Women showed great interest in subjects concerned with strengthening marital happiness. They appeared willing and anxious to accept the traditional feminine role with numerous responses in "childbirth and infant care."

Information on Blood Bank

Of interest to our readers is the following article regarding the Latah County Blood Bank.

Within the Chapter area there were 140 patients in hospitals who drew 283 pints of blood. Outside the Chapter area, but drawing from the Latah bank were 41 patients who used 68 pints of blood, for a grand total of 181 patients and 351 pints of blood.

In addition to the whole blood used in our county the Red Cross supplied considerable quantities of albumin and other blood derivatives. It also transferred blood to hospitals outside our county for the use of county citizens who were hospitalized there.

An interesting case of transferring blood occurred a couple of months ago when nine pints went to the Veterans Hospital at Spokane for one of the county veterans who had an all-day operation on his heart. The nine pints of blood kept him alive while a dozen doctors and nurses patched up a defective heart. He is now recovered and back on his job.

Latah County also pays a proportion of the total cost of the operating expenses of the Boise Regional Blood Center. Our share is a little over 5 percent, and last year cost just over $2,000.00. This is more than all the other expenses of the local chapter put together, but is still a bargain, as this amount of blood would cost more than $10,000 if we had to purchase it. Of course you know it is furnished to everyone free.

The next blood drive is scheduled for April 2 and 3. The advisability of having a one-day drawing occasionally in Genesee, Potlatch, Troy, Bovill and Kendrick. A one-day drawing in Kendrick, the first drawing held in the county, took place some time ago. They did all right, too, producing 114 pints.

Town Team Wins Another

Thursday evening of last week the Kendrick Town Team took on the Culesac Town Team at Culesac, Kendrick emerging victorious by a score of 72 to 47.

High point man for Kendrick and the game was Ira Havens with 16. R. Steigers was high for Culesac with 14.

The next game will be on the local floor Thursday evening, Jan. 17, with Kendrick meeting Reubens.

DAD, DID YOU KNOW . . . ?

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, the recent snowfall has made traveling conditions considerably more hazardous — but if you're driving with those famous U. S. Royal Mud & Snow Tires — you can feel you have the maximum in road grip. However, there are times when chains are required — so come in and see us about them — and let us tractionize your regular tires. The cost is low, satisfaction high.

In "dry" Mississippi, the prohibition issue is a constant problem for office-seekers, because the voters are about equally divided on the matter.

In the recent election one candidate, hard-pressed to state his stand, declared: "Well, half my friends are for it and half my friends are against it. I want it understood I'm for my friends."

Give your vehicle the maximum of winter protection, particularly the motor. Bring it in and let us fill the crankcase with that wonderful Royal Triton Motor Oil — the oil that's designed for maximum motor protection and efficiency under all conditions.

"Hello, operator, I would like to call the Reverend Smith in, Claybank. This is the Reverend Turner calling."

"Is this a station-to-station call?"

"Don't be foolish, young lady, this is a parson-to-parson call."

How about letting us wash and wax your car before winter sets in? The cost is low, and the protection provided the finish is high.

SCHOOL NOTES

Senior Trip

The Senior class journeyed to Spokane Monday before-last, to see the Ice-capades. The entire class of 21 students, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ben P. Cook and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Meserve left Kendrick in the morning, spent a few hours sight-seeing in Spokane, enjoyed a banquet at the Davenport Hotel; attended the show, and returned to Kendrick Tuesday morning at 3:00 o'clock. An enjoyable time was had by all, and the students said it was worth every sleepy minute of it — the next day.

Income Tax

The American Government Class has spent the last few days working on Income Tax problems, including their own. Although the Income Tax form seemed an insurmountable task, most now agree that it is not as bad as it seems.

School Does Not Sell

The local school directors held an auction sale at the Leland school Saturday, January 12th, for the purpose of selling the Leland School building and land. There was only one bid offered, and since it did not approach the appraised value, the auction was declared "no sale." There are no plans at this time, for future action concerning the property.

Tests

Semester tests are in progress this week in the local High school. Many students are burning large amounts of "midnight oil" in preparation for these formidable "events."
