It Could Become Spring

This past week the weather has made one think "it could easily become spring," but it has not quite reached that stage as yet.

Last week-end certainly saw March "going out like a lion," with a chill, drizzly rain, raw winds and many of the other attributes of that month. The fore-part of this week also was like March. However, there are certainly some signs of spring. Daffodils are beginning to bloom, violet beds are a solid mat of color, forsythia is showing an occasional yellow blossom and early tulips may be seen here and there.

Very little lawn work has been done as yet, however, as it is far too wet. In fact, most lawns may be classed as "soggy."

DRIVE IS NOW ON TO SAVE MORE LIVES FROM CANCER

Once more the American Cancer Society has launched the annual April Crusade to raise 30 million dollars for its national campaign of research, education and service. Certainly in the light of the remarkable progress being made against cancer, there is no question that these programs deserve our utmost support.

Mrs. Hiram Galloway has again accepted the local chairmanship for the Crusade, and urges all to lend their support. She has named as her co-workers Mrs. Weyer Weyen, who will solicit the east part of town; Mrs. E. L. Blewett the business district, and Mrs. Harry Benscoter on American ridge. Mrs. Galloway sends out a plea for volunteers on Cedar ridge and Big Bear ridge. Anyone willing to help is asked to call her.

Today one-third of all cancer patients are being saved. This contrasts with a decade ago when roughly one cancer patient in every four could be saved. This gain is remarkable for two reasons: First, is that cancer was formerly a disease regarded as "hopeless" by leading medical opinion; and second, the savings of what amounts to additional 30,000 lives annually has come without benefit of any radically new methods of treatment. And still another 75,000 lives can be saved each year.

Advances in cancer control to date are the fruits of public support for voluntary health agencies like the American Cancer Society. Its programs have been vital to this progress.

The record shows that the research attack on cancer has become the greatest, the costliest undertaking in medical history.

The record shows that public knowledge of cancer is at an all time high, although it has a long way to go.

The record shows increasing concern and recognition of cancer as a major health problem among American physicians.

Now is the time to secure the future victory over cancer.

Your whole-hearted support and cooperation with the 1957 Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society will help to assure that victory. Give — and give generously.

WHAT JULIAETTA FRIENDS ARE DOING THESE DAYS

Silver Wedding Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Taylor were pleasantly surprised on Saturday evening when the teachers of the district, their husbands and wives, arrived to help them celebrate the evening of their 25th wedding anniversary. A hilarious evening was spent playing "Progressive Bingo," with a choice of five prizes being shuttled from one hand to another, with shouts of "Bingo!"

A gift of sterling on crystal was presented to the happy couple. Pictures were taken, and the evening ended with light refreshments.

This was the sixth of such events in the last three years, honoring teachers on their 25th wedding anniversary.

Those attending to help celebrate the happy occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gruell, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stitzlein, Mrs. Dennis Racicot, Mrs. Effie Stump, Mr. and Mrs. Ben P. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meserve, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Tarry, Mr. and Mrs. Gil Erlewine, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Perryman, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Calvert, and the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Taylor.

I. E. A. Meeting

The last I. E. A. meeting of the year was held at the Juliaetta school Monday evening. New officers elected were: Warren Schmidt, president; Ben P. Cook, vice president; Elmer Stitzlein, secretary-treasurer.

The group observed the "Centennial Anniversary" with "N. E. A. in Review," with Mrs. Cecil Gruell in charge of the program. Several very interesting and entertaining readings were given, and enjoyed by the group.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Gil Erlewine, outgoing president, for the very fine work during the past year.

Grade 2 News

The name of Pat Johnson was omitted last week from the list of children who were neither absent nor tardy for the 3rd quarter of school.

We have completed "The Great Northwest" during our story period and have taken many questions from it to add to the "spell-down" list of questions.

On Monday our class began reading its last text book of the year, called "Faces and Places." Mrs. Howard Hoffman made a brief visit to our room, Thursday.

Vickie Daberco and Joan Thornton returned to school Monday, after an absence of an entire week, due to a bout with the flu. They are reciting in two separate classes to make up work missed.

Roger brightened the room with a bouquet of jonquils Monday. When real flowers begin to make their appearance, we know for sure that it is spring.

Have Finally Arrived

The following note has been received from Mrs. Noah Deschamps, now at Westhope, North Dakota:

"His Folks: I see in the paper that we had arrived O. K. I don't know where the news came from, but here we are. We were just a week making the trip. Had to stop three days for a storm to blow away, and had plenty of bad luck. Noah lost all of his clothes, a mattress, 2 quilts and a box of groceries, so guess it is bad luck to start a trip like that on Sunday.

"We are in our new trailer house now, and have lots to do. This town is about the size of Kendrick and Juliaetta combined. Lots of oil wells pumping now. We have our house sitting right on ice — and we're just three blocks from town. Guess we will have a few warm days in July and August. It is colder here now than I ever saw it in Idaho. — Fern Deschamps."

SHORT NEWS ITEMS FROM OUR LOCAL SCHOOLHOUSE

Attendance Normal

Except for a few relapses, the flu seems to have run its course in the local schools, and attendance is almost back to normal. Teachers are glad to see the return to standard conditions in the classrooms. Excessive absences, such as we have had during the past few weeks has necessitated covering the same material several times in order to bring those who have been absent, up with the rest of the class.

Budget Approved

The trustees of the local district met last Thursday evening to approve the budget for next year, as based on recent legislation. Gov. Smylie delayed signing the new legislation until Thursday afternoon, which necessarily delayed approval of next year's budget until after the necessary bills were signed.

The new legislation brings a net increase of $1819.00 in state and county monies to School District No. 283. Actually we will receive $4,740 more this coming year than we would have received under the present distribution formula, but attendance has dropped from 350 last year to 323 this year, causing a decrease in funds of $2,921.00. State and county funds are distributed to schools on the basis of average number of students in school each day. So school District No. 283 will realize an additional $1,800.00 per year out of the extra $7,000.00 the legislature appropriated above the 1955 educational money.

Budget May Be Seen

The 1957-1958 budget can be seen at the superintendent's office in the High school at any time. The trustees have set April 10th, 7:30 p. m., at the High school, at the time and place for the public hearing of the proposed budget.

P-T-A. Fact Finding Committee

The P-T-A. Fact Finding Committee met with the School Trustees Tuesday evening at the High school. Members of the committee that traveled to Post Falls last Friday, Gordon Peters, Aaron Wells, Dick Blewett and Board Member Harry Newman, reported on their impressions of the new Post Falls High school building. All agreed it was a good looking building but some questioned the durability of frame construction for a public building of this type.

Considerable discussion centered around the question of a site for a new building, if and when a new building was financially possible. It was agreed that the first step to be taken was to obtain options on the property involved at suggested net sites so that an accurate cost figure could be obtained. The question of size and number of rooms needed was brought out and it was explained that in a school of our size it was not so much the number of students involved, but the number of subjects offered that determined the number of rooms.

The suggestion of building only classrooms and continuing to use the present gymnasium was thoroughly discussed. The problem of transporting students between the classrooms and gymnasium was raised, the necessity of maintaining two separate buildings was discussed, and it was pointed out that the present classroom building is in better condition than the present gymnasium.

The majority of persons present at the meeting on Tuesday evening agreed that the next possible step was to hold elections to determine a site. Four possible sites were discussed: The Don Gruell property in Juliaetta; the Jasper Nutting property between Juliaetta and Kendrick; the Bear Creek site in Kendrick and the present High School site. It was agreed that accurate figures must be presented to the people, preferably by a door-to-door canvass.

Opinions were divided as to whether to attempt a new building as far as the money would go, or to remodel and add to the present High School building. It was getting close to midnight by this time, and the meeting recessed.

COURT HOUSE ISSUE TO BE RESOLVED ON APRIL 15TH

Voters of Latah County will go to the polls on Saturday, April 13th, to decide on the bond issue, that if passed, will provide the funds for a new county court house. An estimated $400,000 will be needed to build and furnish the new structure.

Present plans for the new building call for a two-story structure with a full basement and a one-story judicial annex. The proposed structure will provide an estimated 24,000 square feet of office and storage space for official offices and records.

According to reports the public will be asked to support a two-mill levy increase for a period of 20 years. However, advocates of the new court house are quick to point out that the taxpayers will not feel all of the new levy. A one and one-eighth mill levy that is currently in effect and being used to help defray the expense of renting downtown offices, due to lack of courthouse space, will be transferred to the courthouse bond fund, thus making an increase in actual taxes of only 82-100th of one mill.

Plans showing the proposed new courthouse are now on display in each town in Latah county so that the voter will have the opportunity of seeing exactly what the new building (if approved) will look like. The new structure will be in an "L" shape and will be built around the present courthouse. When, and if the new building is erected, the old courthouse will be torn down and the space used for parking facilities.

The drawing of the new structure may be seen in Burt's Confectionery, Kendrick.

4-H's Can Win Awards

Hard work and a determination to make the best better will earn college scholarships worth $400 each for the 4-H poultry, field crops and entomology programs, the Cooperative Extension Service announced this week. In addition, 48 state champions will receive an all-expense trip to the 1957 national 4-H Club Congress to be held in Chicago in early December, and county blue award groups will get handsome gold-filled medals of honor.

The 4-H boys and girls who enroll in the poultry program will learn the latest methods in poultry and egg production, and in marketing. Last year 4-H Club members handled 9½ million birds, according to the Extension Service.

More than 800,000 acres were cultivated, planted and harvested by 4-H members carrying the field crops project last year. Members are encouraged to demonstrate to others what they learn about soil nutrition and fertility, as well as recommended crop production practices for their particular locality.

Introduced to 4-H's only six years ago, the entomology project last year alone helped 28,000 members. Knowing the difference now between an ant and a termite, could save many dollars in damage to homes and farm buildings later on—says one entomologist. And this is one of the many valuable lessons taught in the 4-H entomology program.

Arrangements with the awards donors were completed by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Chicago. Details about participation in these national 4-H awards and others can be obtained from the county extension office.

All "the makin's" for a wonderful winter breakfast will be found at Blewett's Market, Kendrick. 1-adv.

Shift Takes Place In Distribution Of Public Debt

NEW YORK—A shift of more than ordinary consequence has been taking place in the distribution of the public debt, highlighted by the growth of debt ownership by the Federal Government itself through the Social Security trust funds and other investment accounts it controls.

The latest figures show that individuals as a group still hold top honors in debt ownership, with a total of nearly $67 billions of Government securities as of last June 30. This is due primarily to some $50 billions of Savings Bonds held by the people. A basic element of Federal fiscal policy has been to finance the public debt out of the savings of individuals and other investors to the greatest possible extent to promote economic stability and to help keep inflationary pressures under control.

While the commercial banking system continues to hold the No. 2 debt ownership spot, the Government-controlled investment accounts, whose predominant source of funds is the taxing power, have been coming up rapidly as a contender. As of last June 30, these Government accounts had upped their ownership of the public debt to $53½ billions as against just over $57 billions then held by the commercial banks.

Thus the spread between the two was little more than $3½ billions at that time. By contrast, the commercial banks held some $10 billions more of the public debt than did the Government investment accounts six months earlier, at the end of 1955.

U. S. Population Is Gaining Fast

NEW YORK—A United States population of 178½ million by the time of 1960 census is envisioned by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. In that event, the 1950's will show a population increase of about 27½ million, or two-fifths more than the 1940's, which up to that time had the greatest gain for any 10-year period.

In the 11½ years since World War II, almost 29½ million have been added to our population, which is more than the gain during the 23 years between World War I and World War II.

During the year just ended, the population, excluding the Armed Forces overseas, increased by 1.8 per cent. Every geographic area shared in this growth, but the Far West showed the highest rate of increase—almost double the national rate.

Since the 1950 census, California has gained more than any other state, about 3.1 million inhabitants. California's population now numbers about 13.7 million, exceeded only by New York State.

Washington Is True Diplomatic Center

WASHINGTON—Nearly every independent country in the world now maintains an embassy in Washington—the nation's Capital now hosting 75 foreign embassies, an increase of 40 since World War II.

Among the 81 diplomatic missions located in Washington, only six are lesser ranking legations headed by ministers or charges d'affaires.

Newest envoys are those of newly independent nations such as Morocco, Sudan and Tunisia, who sent envoys of top rank.

The six with lesser legations are Switzerland, Yemen, Hungary, Romania, Latvia and Lithuania. Switzerland traditionally has no embassies anywhere, although under 1956 legislation it is probable that legations in Washington and other leading capitals will be raised to embassy status.

Tidal Flats Valuable To Most Marine Life

WASHINGTON—Tidal mud flats, often reclaimed for building purposes or used as dumping sites, are among America's most valuable marine nursery grounds.

Such prolific mud flats lie in quiet estuaries and bays around the world where nutrient-rich rivers and streams blend with the sea.

Multi-million-dollar fisheries are dependent upon the survival of tidal inlets. Commercial oysters and food clams cannot live elsewhere. Menhaden, shrimp, striped bass, salmon, shad mullet, and the important Oriental food item, milk fish, all must go into brackish waters to carry out their life cycles.

Europe and Coal

WASHINGTON—Reflecting Western Europe's widening gap between energy supplies and demand, the Organization for European Economic Cooperation asserts that "coal will be the mainstay of the energy economy in Europe for many years."

Exhibit Shows Everyday Life in Early America

WASHINGTON—"Everyday Life in Early America" is portrayed in a new hall opened by the Smithsonian Institution.

Filling a gallery 180 by 55 feet, the new hall is a novel installation. It provides for the first time in Washington a comprehensive display of the domestic paraphernalia, furnishings, and settings of seaboard America from its initial European settlement to the industrial revolution. Also for the first time in an exhibition of American cultural history in a large museum, it introduces the revolutionary new exhibit techniques which were first applied to exhibits of natural history. In an actual 17th-century house, in four other room interiors, in an early 19th-century schoolroom and in 52 professionally designed case exhibits, specimens are used not only to exploit their own intrinsic qualities, but also to illustrate ideas and tell a narrative history.

Illustrations, diagrams, models, maps, and narrative labels supplement specimens, while colorful backgrounds and dramatic lighting help to vary pace and overcome "museum fatigue." Push-button switches, which the visitor can operate to change room lighting from daylight to candlelight, and an introductory tape-recording triggered by the proximity switch add modern dimensions to this hall of antiquities.

Fatal Accidents Higher in 1956

NEW YORK—Fatal accidents in the United States during 1956 took approximately 95,000 lives. It was the second successive year in which the total increased, figures for the recent year being about 2,000 higher than that for 1955 and 5,000 higher than the 1954 total.

The rise is accounted for by the increase in fatalities from motor vehicle accidents, which numbered approximately 40,000 in 1956. This is about 2,000 more than in 1955, and established a new high annual toll.

The number of lives lost in each of the other main classes of accidents showed no appreciable change from the preceding year. Accidents in and about the home were responsible for approximately 28,000 deaths, public accidents other than those involving motor vehicles killed about 16,000 persons, and occupational accidents about 14,000, of which more than 3,000 involved motor vehicles.

Early Artist Painted Record of Old West

WASHINGTON—When the wild west was "wild" 125 years ago, occupied almost exclusively by red men of many Indian tribes, an American artist wandered among these Indians painting portraits of eminent individuals, ceremonies, dances, villages and landscapes.

He was a prolific painter, sometimes producing four or five pictures in a day. On the whole his work was extremely realistic and presented a faithful picture of the early west. This sometimes is quite different from that gleaned from textbooks or romantic histories.

This painter, George Catlin, of Philadelphia, was an ex-lawyer whose mother had been an Iriquois prisoner in the Wyoming Valley (Pa.) massacre. He traveled with companies of army dragoons, with traders and explorers, and quite often alone. Throughout he remained on friendly terms with the various tribes of Indians.

Distance No Matter To True Music-Lover

CHICAGO—In rural areas, long distances make little difference to music lovers. Driving hundreds of miles to a concert is not unusual. In a thinly populated section of Northern California, some 60 members of the Humboldt County Little Symphony travel 130 miles weekly to attend rehearsals. Members are housewives, ministers, teachers and retired persons.

Mountain neighbors living in the Asheville, N. C. area drive up to 30 miles to play traditional mountain ballads by ear on banjo, guitar, fiddle and mandolin. In Colorado, a music teacher, Lloyd Bader, travels 60,000 miles a year in a trailer to provide music classes for five towns and three rural areas.

Versatile Product

NEW YORK—In 1948, International Nickel announced a revolutionary new foundry product commonly known as Ductile Cast Iron. Although made in the iron foundry, this new product is unlike ordinary cast iron in that it is not brittle and can be bent or twisted. Today it is widely accepted for numerous engineering applications and is expected within the next few years to become the third ranking industrial engineering ferrous metal on a tonnage basis.

Man's Hat Gives Clew as to How He Earns Living

PHILADELPHIA — The surest clue to a man's job is the style of his hat. And the way that he wears it—straight, tilted, or however, is more a geographical than a personality matter.

These observations are gleaned from a compilation of answers to a questionnaire circulated by John B. Stetson Company among a worldwide cross-section of fashion advisers, men's hat designers, and hat salesmen.

The strongest influence on the average married man's choice in hat styles is not, as with most of his other apparel, his wife, it was established, but instead, the pressure of the kind of group in which he earns his income.

Doctors, for example, tend to wear hats like other doctors, and newspapermen hats like other newspapermen.

Journalism, incidentally, no longer can be associated validly with disreputable headgear, according to the experts—no matter what you see in TV dramas or at the movies. The typical member of the Fourth Estate has gone along with the current style kick of the American male everywhere. Newspapermen, in fact, the survey indicates, are likely to look more like what you might expect of doctors, in this season's hats, while doctors are inclining to more and more casual, though correct, hats.

New Era Seen for Management, Labor

LOS ANGELES—A new era will bring about a change in the traditional relations between management and labor, predicts Dr. George H. Hildebrand, nationally known labor economist.

He believes that automation, atomic and sun power, and other technological advances will increase the nation's material output by as much as 100 per cent by 1967.

Other factors in the future which are less predictable include a possible labor shortage due to lessened birth rates of depression years, an increasingly older population, and the growing importance of "fringe benefits" in labor compensation.

"We have come a long way from the bitter labor strife of the thirties," he says. "There are two principal reasons for our progress. One is the rise of professional business management. The other is a dawning recognition, by both management and labor, of the importance of good industrial relations."

Science Cannot Tell Exact Age of Living

WASHINGTON—The recent visit to the United States of a modern Methuselah from Colombia points up the fact that science has no exact method of determining the exact age of a living adult.

Medical authorities concluded that the four-foot-four Indian, who claimed to be 167, could well be 150. But they couldn't pinpoint the actual number of birthdays the still-alert old gentlemen has celebrated.

During the past year newspapers in Brazil reported the death of a citizen, aged 150. Java and Pakistan each also lost a sesquicentarian. And in Egypt, there's a man who claims to be 200.

Much longer ago, Denmark noted the death of a 146-year-old.

All this is interesting, especially in view of the fact that as recent as 1850 the average life expectancy of an American was only 37 years.

America's Millions Are Doing Their Own

NEW YORK—It's more than a fad, this "do it yourself" idea—millions of Americans are finding that they can handle for themselves tasks which used to be turned over to skilled tradesmen.

Spare-time artisans tackle all sorts of jobs, from redecorating home interiors to adding an extra bath or even building an entire house. In 1953, for example, 11 million amateur carpenters applied 25 million power tools to 50 million square feet of plywood, burning enough electricity to light a city as large as Jacksonville, Florida. Amateurs bought 75 per cent (400 million gallons) of all the paint used in the United States, 60 per cent (150 million rolls) of all the wallpaper, and 50 per cent of all the asphalt tile.

TB Progress

NEW YORK—Outstanding among the medical advantages which have cut down on deaths from tuberculosis are the availability of drugs effective in treating tuberculosis and refinements in surgery.

The principal drugs in use are isoniazid, streptomycin, and para-aminosalicylic acid (PAS). None of these actually kills all the tubercle bacilli in the patient's body. The drugs slow up or inhibit multiplication of the microorganisms.

Farallons, Bird Refuge, Now Closed to Civilians

California's Farallon islands, whose 1950 U.S. census count of an even 30 inhabitants was reported complete before the April 1 official census started, found human traffic there far greater in the 19th century than it has been in the first half of the 20th.

Russian sealers occupied the bleak group, 26 miles west of San Francisco's Golden Gate, from 1812 to 1833, notes the National Geographic society. Drafting Indians and Aleuts as labor, they reduced seals from abundance to scarcity, taking close to 200,000 skins for the China trade. Sir Francis Drake had restocked his vessel with seal meat at the Farallons in 1579.

During the 1849 gold rush in California, food was scarce in San Francisco. Egg-gathering from the nests of gulls and murres on the Farallons became profitable and well organized, and the traffic continued for many years. Finally, bird lovers stepped in, and the islands are now a bird refuge, closed to civilians from April to August.

The Farallons, known but little even to mainland Californians, consist of three pinpoint groups of rocky islets spreading over seven miles of the Pacific ocean on air and water lanes of trans-Pacific travel. Paradoxically, although they are officially part of the City of San Francisco, the mayor and other city officials may not set foot on them without special permission.

The permission must come from the 12th coast guard district based in San Francisco. It provides the personnel that maintains the powerful beacon 358 feet above sea level atop Southeast Farallon, the only inhabited island of the group.

The lighthouse-keeping families live in neat, white houses at the foot of the high beacon cliff. A radar station and an automatic fog-signal horn complete the island's important navigation aid equipment.

Human Regard for Criminal Modern Idea, Says Educator

The idea that the legal offender shares a common humanity with his nonoffender brother is a relatively novel conception and regards the criminal as a human being and not subhuman, specialhuman, superhuman, infrahuman, robothuman, or extrahuman. Dr. Robert Lindner, clinical psychologist at Harlem Lodge, Catonsville, Maryland, told the first session of the third annual institute on crime and delinquency which University of California extension held in Los Angeles recently.

Declaring that "offenders, too, are human," Dr. Lindner pointed out that the modern view of the criminal historically succeeds the primitive, theological, philosophical, mechanical, and psychiatric views. "The modern view is based on a total approach to the offender, including the whole person and his history in the world; it is based upon scientific knowledge that is reaching a level of maturity; its sources are biological, anthropological, sociological, and psychological. Among these, the psychoanalytical appears to be the most fruitful and comprehensive."

Study Hydrogen Bonds

While other scientists the nation over concern themselves with hydrogen bombs, Dr. Joseph W. Ellis and Dr. Leonard Glatt of the physics department of the University of California are busy with hydrogen bonds—a study more closely related to everyday life. Hydrogen bonds are links which assist in holding together the long molecular chains found in many of the substances we use in our daily life. These links are formed by the sharing of a proton (hydrogen nucleus) between two units of the same or different molecules. Examples of substances they bind together are liquid water, proteins, and many plastics, including nylon.

From Everywhere

The ingredients of paint products literally come from the world's four corners. Take, for example, a quarter pint can of varnish stain. It's packed in a shipping case made from fibre that may have come from Norway. The paper for the label may have come from the same place. The tin for the can probably came from either Bolivia or Malaya. The contents may consist of linseed oil that came from Argentina, the drier from Asia, tung oil from China, resin from Africa and dyes from England. Skillfully combined by American know-how, the user benefits from world-wide activity which he seldom realizes.

Making Good Soils

"Somehow the notion gets around," says Dr. Charles E. Kellogg of the U. S. department of agriculture, "that originally our farm soils were highly productive; that is, productive when first plowed. Many of them were, like the black lands in our Middle West and in central Eurasia, for example, and in some of the great deltas and alluvial valleys. But most soils are not it is through liming and fertilization, drainage, irrigation, the introduction of legumes, and a host of other practices, that farmers have made their soils productive," explains Dr. Kellogg.

Report Thorough Cooking Of Pork Cuts Down Disease

Thorough cooking of fresh pork can help to reduce materially the incidence of trichinosis, an infection from diseased pork, it was shown in a report made public by Dr. Rodney R. Beard of San Francisco.

Dr. Beard credited that as one of the factors in an apparent two-thirds reduction in the incidence of trichinosis in San Francisco since 1936.

Trichinosis is caused by Trichinella spiralis worms which sometimes are found in pork. The worms lay eggs in the human intestinal tract. The embryos work their way into muscles, especially the diaphragm, where they develop. Diarrhea, nausea, colic and fever are the usual early symptoms of the disease, followed later by stiffness, pain, swelling of the muscles, fever, sweating and insomnia. The seriousness of the infection depends upon the degree to which the pork has been infected. Severe infections may cause death.

Dr. Beard cited a 1936 study in San Francisco of a random sampling of 200 human diaphragms taken at autopsy. Trichinosis worms were found in 24 per cent of the organs. A more recent study of 161 diaphragms, also a random sampling, showed only 8 per cent were infected—a decrease of two thirds.

He first pointed out that federal, state and local regulations now assure adequate processing of pork products intended to be eaten without cooking. In San Francisco, for example, stringently enforced rules by the local Department of Public Health provide for adequate salting and drying of Italian style salami, an uncooked product, or possible prior killing of trichinae by freezing.

Another factor he mentioned was the reduction in the proportion of pork from garbage-fed hogs. Wartime scarcity of labor, difficulties of transportation and other factors.

Statisticians Report Life Safest Ages Nine and Ten

Life in the United States is safest at ages nine and ten, according to Insurance Company statisticians, and less safe during the first year than at any age to and including 65.

This is based upon an analysis by the statisticians of mortality data for the general population in 1949, as reported by the National Office of Vital Statistics.

An all-time high of 67.6 years in expectation of life at birth registered during the year represents a gain of fully 4 years since 1940, the statisticians note, and a gain of 18½ years since the start of the century.

Our greatest gains in life expectation, it is pointed out, have been at the early ages. At birth the gain in life expectation for males during the decade has been more than three years, whereas at age 40 the increase was less than a year.

"This reflects the strides made in the control of the infections of early life," the statisticians explain, "in contrast to the limited progress which has been made in the control of the chronic diseases of middle and later life. Then, too, with an unchanged life span limit of about 100 years, the closer that limit is reached the smaller is the margin left for gain."

The extent to which women live longer than men is greater than ever before. According to mortality conditions prevailing in 1949, women outlive men by an average of 5.6 years, as compared with 4.5 years at the beginning of the decade.

Even if there should be no further improvement in mortality, most people now living in the United States can expect to live beyond the biblical three score and ten years, according to the statisticians.

Finding Fingerprints

Criminal investigators use various methods to make fingerprints visible, depending on the surface where the fingerprint is located, its age, and other factors. When one touches a surface with the fingers, the ridges on the finger tips usually leave an invisible pattern of perspiration. If the print is on light-colored paper, and not more than a few days old, finely powdered lampblack or graphite dusted over it will usually make it visible. On a dark surface a white powder would be required. For older prints, there are various methods using chemicals which react with the minute amount of salts, such as potassium and sodium chloride, left after the perspiration has dried. In one such method, the paper bearing latent prints is dipped in a weak solution of silver nitrate, which converts the chlorides into silver chloride.

Aid for Key Losers

Motor-car-key forgetters or losers will be interested to know that Edward J. Tobin of Norfolk has come to the rescue with his invention of a combination lock to take the place of keys for automobiles. With this dial on your instrument panel, you can forget your key, but not your combination. It works like the combination on a safe. National Patent Council suggests that the combination numbers be kept with your driver's license. Tobin's patent is good for 17 years, and by that time he hopes combination locks will be clicking in autos throughout a good part of the motor world.

Many Automobiles In Latah County

The above heading is the same one used on a Kendrick Gazette article under date of July 23, 1915, given to us by Mrs. Johanna Nelson. The account follows:

"Under the new automobile license tax law there has been collected by the county tax collector in Latah county the sum of $4,424 during the year up to July 15. According to the figures compiled there are 335 licensed automobiles in the county and 14 motorcycles. The registration of automobiles is made with the county assessor and the collection of same is left with the tax collector. The money collected is then turned over to the county commissioners, 75 per cent being placed in the general road fund of the county and the other 25 per cent sent to the state highway commission. Under the collections made thus far $3,318 will remain in the county for road improvement while $1,106 will go to the state highway commission. It is interesting to note the number of cars licensed of different makes in the county. "Automobiles: Ford 146; Buick 37; Studebaker with which is included E. M. F., 28; Maxwell 20; Overland 13; Chevrolet 10; Reo 10; Chalmers-Detroit, with which is included Chalmers, 9; Hudson 8; Velle 8; Case 7; Mason 6; Dodge Bros. 5; Franklin 4; Paige and Paige-Detroit 4; King 3; Cadillac 2; Winton 2; Haynes 2; Maytag 1; Chandler 1; Empire 1; Metz 1; Cole 1; Regal 1; Assembled Car 1."

"SUFFERING ITSELF DOES LESS AFFECT THE SENSES THAN THE ANTICIPATION OF SUFFERING"

Pain is a warning that something is wrong that needs correction. To suffer any pain continuously in this modern age is unnecessary.

Modern dentistry is practically painless. New analgesics and tranquilizers can quickly ease any pain or relieve nervous tension. Never delay visiting your dentist at the first sign of trouble.

Better yet, let your dentist check your teeth twice a year, and let him help you to prevent future pain.

Interesting Navy Facts
United States submarines destroyed a total of 214 Japanese naval ships during World War II, including one battleship, eight aircraft carriers, 15 cruisers, 42 destroyers and 23 submarines. Against this score, 52 U. S. submarines were lost.
Modern submarines can travel faster submerged than on the surface. They can fully submerge in less than one minute.

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, it's still far too soggy to think about field work, but while loafing around measure up that stove oil tank and call us — 1251 at Kendrick — for it's just too cold to do without a warm fire!

Little Mary was on a visit to her grandparents, and the old-fashioned clock on the wall was a source of wonderment to her. While she was standing before it her grandmother said to her from the next room: "Is the clock running, dear?"

"No, ma'am," promptly replied Mary, "It's just standing still and wagging its tail."

Is your car ready for summer? Have you drained out that worn winter oil? If not, bring it in to us. Let us "grease" the chassis.

drain and refill the crankcase with that wonderful Royal Triton Motor Oil, and replace the filter cartridge. You'll love the smooth response you'll get — on those rough roads or the highway. Union Lubricants make the difference.

"Of course, I must ask you for a deposit," said the landlady. "Certainly," replied the tenant, handing over the desired sum. "Thanks. Now shall we trust each other or do you want a receipt?"

Good tires make the difference between danger and safety on the highway. Come in and let us show you the wonderful new U. S. Royals and Royal Masters. You'll be surprised at how cheaply you can own them!

IN LIVING FULL LIVES

by Rev. John H. Emerson

"A Challenge"

Today, more than ever, our world, our nation, our own community needs more Christians and strong Christians. In order for our lives to be rich and meaningful, we must seek spiritual growth: We can take great pride in our community churches in the vast area about us, and their attempts to bring Christ closer to you, and you closer to Christ. It is a wonderful experience to find God in the beauty and quietness of church worship.

Won't you accept their challenge for living, for building a better family, and for building a better world in which to live? Believe it or not, Christianity and world peace depends on YOU! Attend the church of your choice regularly, and live your faith to the fullest. 14-1x
