Thieves Get Good Haul

Burglars cut holes in the roof, tore off roof sheeting and then cut two holes in the ceiling to get inside the Antelope Inn early Thursday morning, and made a clean get away with approximately $500.00 in cash.

After cutting one hole in the roof they found themselves stymied by a beam, so cut another, and squirmed their way through a hole about eight inches wide and two feet long into the false ceiling of the building. Here they kicked a hole, saw that they had missed the right spot to make use of a low partition to get to the floor, kicked another hole and stepped to the partition top and then to the

ELECTRIC WATER HEATING

What a bargain! All the hot water you need for just $2.80 a month. And you get it quickly, automatically, safely. It's another way you "live better electrically"

Most people prefer ELECTRIC water heating because it's safe, dependable, and the only fully automatic system. Fast, too - new "QUICK RE-COVERY" tanks deliver hot water twice as fast as older heaters. An electric tank can be placed ANYWHERE—no flues or vents to worry about. No fear of fire or fumes.

If your present water tank doesn't deliver enough hot water, have a powerful new element installed to boost hot water output as much as 60 percent. Costs just $17.50—nothing down, three months to pay. Call your WWP office for free inspection of your water tank and complete information on a new conversion element or Quick Recovery tank.

*about 9¢ a day for all your family needs

WWP customers who heat water electrically take advantage of a 500 kilowatt hour block of extra low cost power that is not available to customers who heat water by other fuels.

*Average hot water heating cost of all WWP customers for plentiful usage of 150 degree hot water, temperature necessary for sanitary home laundry and dishwashing.

Nebuchadnezzar Might Have Been Bit Overrated

PHILADELPHIA-History may have overrated King Nebuchadnezzar of New Babylon. He is generally regarded as one of the ancient masters of pillage and war-but he also knew stalemate, defeat and rebellion.

Nebuchadnezzar may not have been as invincible as we think, J. Philip Hyatt suggests in the Journal of Biblical Literature. Though he was beyond doubt both an able general and a war-loving king. Nebuchadnezzar must have "had a harder time of it than scholars have assumed.

Hyatt, professor of Old Testament at Vanderbilt University, bases this revised estimate on a newly available set of Babylonian records. For years, five cuneiform tablets lay in the British Museum, receiving little careful study. In 1956, four of the five were published by J. D. Wiseman.

The tablets have thrown "a great flood of new light" on the reign of King Nebuchadnezzar (605-561 B. C.) and the last days of Judah, Hyatt declares. With gaps, the tablets cover the period 627-555 B. C.

Nebuchadnezzar was once actually defeated by the Egyptians, or at least fought to a standstill. In 601 Nebuchadnezżar took his forces southward toward Egypt. As Hyatt translates, "The King of Egypt mustered his army . . . in open battle they inflicted great destruction upon one another . . . the king of Akkad (Nebuchadnezzar) and his army turned around, and went back to Babylon."

Suggests Treating Addicts Medically

SAN FRANCISCO-Narcotic addiction should be treated medically rather than punitively, according to Dr. Karl M. Bowman, professor of psychiatry, emeritus, at the University of Californa Medical Center here.

While illegal selling of narcotics should be vigorously prosecuted, addiction in itself should be regarded as a medical problem and not a crime, Dr. Bowman recently told the American Psychopathological Association. He praised the British system of narcotic control. under which addicts are encouraged to seek medical treatment, and where if their physicians deem it necessary, are given prescriptions for sustaining doses of narcotics.

Opium derivatives and their synthetic substitutes do not produce criminal behavior, the psychiatrist said: rather, they quiet addict and suppress aggressive and sexual impulses. Addicts may, however, commit crimes to obtain drugs. Such crimes, as well as the illicit narcotic trade itself, could be largely discouraged by overhauling the narcotic control laws. Dr. Bowman believes. "It now seems time," he said, "to turn to the medical approach as it is being used for alcoholism."

Code System for Doctor's Diagnosis

CHICAGO-You may think you have poison ivy and your doctor may even tell you that you do, but when he records his diagnosis, he will call it "dermatitis venenata."

What you call "athlete's Foot" he'll call "dermatophytosis." And his secretary will simply file it as

"112-211." This may look like a method for confusing the patient and making a mystery of something simple, but it isn't. The patient isn't the only one who has been confused by terminology; so have the doctors. Calling athlete's foot "112-211" is one result of years of effort to give them a common language. It's called the Standard Nomenclature of Disease and Operations, now used by more than 85 per cent of American hospitals, and in wide foreign distribution.

Food Is Subject Of Many False Superstitions

LOS ANGELES-There are almost as many superstitions about food as about the weather, says Dr. Cora Miller, of UCLA,

"One is that if you abstain from drinking water you'll lose fat," she said. "Water, of course, has weight, but it certainly cannot form tissue of any kind, so it cannot possibly fatten."

Dr. Miller, who is making a study of food fads and fallacies, said it's not uncommon to hear individuals seriously proclaim that aluminum cooking pots cause cancer, fish is "brain food," milk causes mucous, and skim milk has had all its food value removed.

"None of these statements is true," she said. "Fish is an excellent food but it won't improve your acuity or insight or raise your I.Q. any more than it'll improve your backstroke."

Proponents of the "brain food" theory have been known to base their belief on the nebulous argument that fish contain iodine which is needed for the thyroid gland which controls the workings of the brain, Dr. Miller said.

The milk-mucous myth probably got started because "the physical character of the proteins in the milk may give them the sensation of a film similar to that experienced in phlegm formation during a cold. However, in a few rare cases, individuals do produce more mucous when drinking milk, but this is in no way harmful.

"And skim milk," Dr. Miller concluded, "contains all the nutrients of the original milk except the fat and fat-soluble substances. The minerals and proteins as well as water-soluble vitamins remain in the skimmed fraction."

Barbituates Cause Increasing Deaths

NEW YORK-Deaths from barbituate poisoning in the United States are on the increase, insurance statisticians report. In 1955, the latest year for which complete data are available, accidental poisoning by barbituates claimed 411 lives, as compared with 345 in 1954, 337 in 1953, and 327 in 1952.

"Careless use of barbituates, predominantly by adults, presents a difficult problem," the statisticians observe. "With more stringent restrictions being placed on their sale in many localities, it is mortality which was recorded from 1949 to 1952 has not continued. It would seem that greater efforts should be made to acquaint the public with the dangers inherent in using such drugs care-

About 30 per cent of all deaths from accidental poisoning by solids and liquids during 1955 were caused by barbituates; this compares with nearly 25 per cent for all other drugs and medicines.

The sheffield silver vegetable dish, with a sterling-silver stag's head on the cover, is from the celebrated service that was owned by Commodore Stephen Decatur and which President Jackson purchased in 1833 from the widow of Commodore Decatur.

Housewives Know Best Meats by Tasting .

DAVIS, Calif.-Housewives may not always be able to spot a choice grade steak by sight, but they are pretty good at tasting the difference between choice and good.

In a series of tests, two steaks -one good and one choice-were given to a number of families. They were asked to note which one they thought looked better. After the steaks were cooked, they were again asked to judge which one they preferred, on the basis of juiciness, tenderness and flavor.

About half preferred the looks of the choice grade and half the good grade. But as to the meat, 75 per cent preferred the choice

New Citizens Will Cast Ballots in Upcoming Election

WASHINGTON, D.C. - On Election Day this year some 300,000 newly-naturalized citizens will be eligible to cast their ballots along with everyone else.

For many who have fled from behind the Iron Curtain or come here from the less developed areas of the world, it will be the first vote in their lives. In comparison with the native-at least 18 years old.

Then, each one must live in this country for five years and in a given state for six months before he can file a formal petition for citizenship.

Most Families Own Life Insurance

NEW YORK -- How extensively life insurance has become a part of family financial planning is illustrated by the fact that among families in which both husband and wife are living, 97 percent of the husbands own policies, 73 percent of the wives and, in those with children living at home, all children are insured in more than 60 percent of the cases. .

This is shown in a consumer survey made by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan for the Institute of Life

Over half of all "complete families" in the U.S. now have everybody in the family insured; twothirds have both husband and wife insured.

Today, according to this new survey, 70 of every 100 men, women and children in the country own some form of life insurance: at the turn of the century, only about 13 of every 100 were insured.

Astronomers Training Cameras on Planet Mars

WASHINGTON-During the next few months, astronomers will study the face of Mars in an effort to solve many of the mysteries of the only other planet in the heavens that shows signs of life.

Dr. E. C. Slipher, world-renowned authority on Mars, is in South Africa on the second "Mars Expedition" in three years sponsored by the National Geographic Society and Lowell Observatory of Flagstaff, Arizona.

From at least 20 other points around the world, observatories will carry on a coordinated photographic patrol, keeping watch on Earth's neighboring planet as it swings across the sky in its closest approach since 1941. .

On September 10, Mars and Earth will reach "opposition," lining up with the sun. Only 35,300,000 miles apart-little more than a third the distance of the sun from Earth-they will be virtually as close as they ever come.

Judge Lectures on Dove-Tail Hair-Do

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa.-A Franklin County judge took advantage of a parole case hearing to lecture on "dove-tails."

Judge Chauncey M. Depuy, in granting a parole to a 20-year-old inmate who had served two months of a four months sentence, handed down the informal opinion on the latest in male hair fashions.

"You fellows who wear those long sideburns and dove-tail haircuts evidently do it to attract attention," he said, admonishing the youth to "show off in a better way by getting a job and doing a better job than the other fellow."

Not the Skilled

FORT MADISON, Iowa-Men who do creative work with their hands are less likely to wind up in prison, says Percy Lainson, Iowa State Penitentiary warden. .

Lainson says about 20 of the 1,300 penitentiary inmates here have been skilled workers and strangely, he says "most of them are in for murder.'

Ask for More Trained Men For Animal Disease Study

Solution to some of the nation's most costly animal disease is being slowed by lack of highly trained research men.

There is urgent need for giving promising young scientists an opportunity to learn the techniques of animal disease investigation.

The only way this can be done is by a long range fellowship pro-

Such a program has been spon-sored by the AVMA for the past six years. Under this program, which will be expanded as funds permit, research-minded graduates of collages of veterinary medicine get financial aid to engage in animal disease studies at leading scientific institutions. This gives them background and experience needed for unraveling highly complex dis-

Many livestock and pet owners who ask for "more research to solve disease problems" have given too little thought to how the job might be done.

Finding out what causes a perplexing animal disease isn't much different from tracking down a dangerous criminal, and neither is a job for anyone but a well-trained

The Federal Bureau of Investigation would not put a man on any of its cases without first training him in FBI methods. The same advantage should be given to people interested in disease investigation.

Funds for expanding the fellowship project should come from private sources rather than the federal government "because the nation already has gone too far toward dependence on federal hand-outs."

Mastitis Germs Live 5 Days on Broomstick

Harmless though it may look, that broom in the corner of the barn might be the means of starting a new case of bovine mastitis.

The germ responsible for most cases of bovine mastitis can stay alive for as long as 20 days on objects around the barn, and for as dong as 26 days anywhere on a cow's skin. From these jumping - off places, the germ can eventually get into a cow's udder, where it starts the disease known as mas-

Survival time of the germ was observed after mastitis-infected milk was poured on manure, hair, wood, bricks, udder cloths, and other materials commonly found or used around dairy barns. The germ stayed alive for 4 days on rubber boots, 5 days on a broom handle. 7 days on an udder-washing cloth, 8 days on a bucket, 13 days on hair, and 20 days on hay. However, when some of these objects were treated with a disinfectant before being smeared with infected milk, the germ didn't do so well. Enough of the disinfectant lingered to cut down the survival time to a day or less.

This research emphasizes the need for clean barns, clean cows, clean attendants, and prompt disinfection of any object that gets splattered with milk.

Use of Columbium

John Winthrop, Jr., who supervised the construction of America's first successful blast furnace at Saugus, Massachusetts, in 1643, found an unidentified rock fragment near his home. About 150 years later, an English chemist. Charles Hackett, saw this fragment in the British museum, analyzed it. and thus discovered the element columbium. Today, this element is playing an increasingly important part in the manufacture of stainless and heat resistant steels for such uses as jet aircraft engines. Columbium is one of the most recent elements to find use in the steel industry. It was used commercially as an alloy in the 1930's, although experimental work had been done with it as early as 1920. Last year 632,000 pounds of columbium metal was consumed in the manufacture

Origin of Camouflage

The origin of the word camouflage has, it seems, been lost in the shuffle. One of the stories told in connection with it is that, during the Indian troubles in the Southwest, one Jacques Camou built a circular mud fort. This fort had large square openings at regular intervals around the walls. Through these, the garrison of the fort would fire. As the Indians' shots also found 'heir mark through these openings, Camou painted the entire fort like a checkerboardwith large black squares on a white field. This confused the Indians so they were unable to determine at which dark squares to aim.

Thermal Snow Removal

to fall.

Thermal snow removal from sidewalks and driveways by means of embedded piping is a new and interesting development in the heating industry. The snow is removed automatically and without effort by the heat from pipe coils installed under the surface of the pavement. Hot water, circulated through the coils, transfers its heat to the pavement, thus melting the snow and keeping the surface dry. Automatic snow removal is economical. There is no necessity for using snow shovels or chemicals. All the owner does is to turn the switch to start the system in operation when the snow begins

Giant Industry Arising From New Patent Fibers

Ever since Adam and Eve left the Garden of Eden with nothing to wear, mankind has been clothes conscious. The Bible story tells us that Eve fashioned her first garment from a fig leaf - maybe it was leaves.

We wear clothes from the time we are born. It would take books to tell the progress of the clothes story down through the ages. Long ago it was found that the clothing of the cotton seed was better than fig leaves for human garb. For centuries we have used the skins and wool of animals, as well as the covering of the cotton seed, for our own clothing. Still we were not satisfied. We took the cocoon of the little silkworm for its silk.

But we can thank that same little worm for our modern system of producing fibers for textiles that do not necessarily deprive any other living creature of its coat. We learned that the silkworm extruded a fluid from a spinnerette near its mouth. The fluid became a stout silken thread on reaching the

This observation led to a manmade fluid extruded through a mechanical spinnerette which produced our first rayon thread. The device was called a "mechanical silkworm." This invention came from France about 70 years ago. During the past 15 or 20 years American inventors, encouraged to find new processes and products through the protection and rewards provided by our patent system, have devised new machines and new fluids to make many new kinds of fabrics for human clothing. Coal, oil, various gases, glass, brine, and many organic substances such as wood, cornstalks, peanuts, and feathers provide the substances from which we now have fabrics that resemble wool, silk, and cotton.

'Won't Hurt' Boast Not Idle Promise to Army Blood Donor

It takes courage to give blood that will save a soldier's life, but your fears of pain or ill effects now are unwarranted.

Army medical authorities recognize that thousands of Americans who are willing to die for their country if necessary have a horror of seeing blood flow from their veins. Just as many shudder when they think of a needle just under the surface of their skin. But ask anyone who has ever donated a pint of blood to help re-plenish the nation's seriously depleted stocks and chances are he will tell you there's nothing to itno pain, no ill effects. But you will have a deep satisfaction that you have helped a fellow American in a critical hour.

If you have ever pricked your finger with a pin, you already have experienced all the pain you will suffer when you give a pint of blood. It's that simple.

If you are not physically able to donate blood, you will not be permitted to do so. You are given a thorough examination before the blood is taken from your arm.

A single drop of blood from your fingertip is all that is required for the tests that will determine whether you are able to donate blood. If the results of these tests are satisfactory, the remainder of the procedure is entirely painless.

You lie down on a bed and an attendant puts a little procaine on your arm. As the blood is drawn, you feel nothing. In five minutes, the bottle is full and ready for processing and shipment to the battle zones of Korea.

Within a few minutes you feel like your old self again - probably better, for you realize what a precious contribution you have made.

That Parallel

The 38th parallel in Greece ferries the legended River Styx and passes close to Corinth and Athens. Dodging Aegean Islands, it borders the Maeander River south of Smyrna on the Turkish shore. It crosses the Turkish headwaters of the Tigris and Euphrates en route to Tabriz, metropolis of Iranian Azerbaijan.
Across the Caspian Sea, it finds itself on both sides of the critical frontier between Russia on the north and Iran and Afghanistan on the south. At the Russia-China border, the parallel climbs to its greatest height on the shoulders of Stalina and Kungar, both 25,000-foot peaks.
Touring China, it runs near the ancient Silk Route past Yarkand and the Takla Makan (desert). China's Great Wall crosses the 38th frequently near the cities of Yulin, Ningsia, and Wuwei.

Abe Lincoln

When Abe Lincoln was 21 he crossed the Wabash and encountered the first level land he had ever seen -the fertile prairies of Illinois. At two sites there he helped his father build log cabins. Then he struck out for himself, settling in the village of New Salem, 20 miles northwest of Springfield, Illinois. Lincoln received his first popular notice in New Salem. He was elected captain of a volunteer company in the Black Hawk War, and later was sent to the state legislature. Afterward he moved to Springfield, the state capital, and New Salem literally disappeared. Many of its log buildings were dismantled and carried to Petersburg, two miles north.
