4-H Club News

Monday afternoon the girls of the Merry Stitchers 4-H Club met on the Cameron Church lawn for a short business meeting, followed by demonstrations on Outdoor Cooking, given by the girls in that section.

We were given interesting tips and suggestions on how to be good woods campers. Each girl had a new recipe for preparing food in the woods, which she presented to the rest of the club. The girls who did not take Outdoor Cooking had a swell time tasting the different kinds of food and hoping to go on a camping trip later. With such good cooks along you can almost be sure of having a good time.

Visitors included Mrs. John Blankenship, Mrs. Theo Meske and daughter Ann and cousin Connie.

The next meeting will be on July 22 at the home of Jean Jones. - Judy Koepp, reporter.

Check For Clover Weevil The county agent warns clover seed growers in Latah county to check for seed weevil. Some fields show heavy infestation of these slate gray, slender beaked insects. These bugs are about 1/10th inch in length and lay eggs inside the seed pods, causing the seed to be light and worthless.

Alsike clover is the variety most often damaged with Dutch and Lading being hurt in some cases.

Futter suggests you use your regular bug net used to check pea weevil to determine the number of clover weevil per sweep. Five or more weevil per sweep will warrant dusting or spraying.

Although there are several insecticides that give satisfactory control, 5 percent DDT dust at 20 pounds per acre seems to be most popular. Dusting or spraying gives satisfactory control if a good coverage is Futter points out that these weevil can cost you several hundred pounds of seed if not properly controlled.

Once Tobacco Was Highly Recommended As Miracle Drug

CHICAGO-Well, wodda you know...the whooping about tobacco causing cancer and other sinister diseases has made headlines and a lot of bestsellers but, says Stan Levi, President of Chicago's Iwan Ries and Company, a tobacco firm celebrating its Centennial in 1957, few people realize that tobacco reigned as a miracle drug for almost 250 years.

It enjoyed the longest run of standard usage since it was discovered along about 1560 until the beginning of the 19th century.

Published records show it to have been prescribed for 59 separate diseases, including cancer, asthma, paralysis, rabies, et al. Minor ailments such as warts, insect bites, poor eyesight, and falling fingernails were not considered sufficiently important to list.

This wonderous drug was given as an antiseptic, an ungent, a powder, an emetic, as cathartic, and Queen Caroline of England used it as a dentifrice, as did women and children of those times. Did the patient suffer a heavy cough? He was told to smoke tobacco, deeply inhaled. Pains accompanying gestation or labor? Place a leaf of tobacco, very hot, on the navel. If a form of delirium ensued, doctors blew smoke up the nostrils. Headache? Snuff powdered tobacco.

A Danish professor of anatomy and royal physician researched new techniques for administering the precious herb. The smoke of it, as detailed in his papers, was blown into the intestines to counteract nervous and intestinal disorders and hysteria.

Azaleas Challenge Cherry Blossoms

WASHINGTON-Washington's famous cherry blossoms face a new rival in the masses of azaleas that have come to decorate lawns, gardens, and parks in the city and its outskirts.

Recent years have brought increasing numbers of the shrubs, as neighbors vie in surrounding their homes and bordering their walks and fences with more lavish arrangements of the showy, multitinted blooms.

The rolling acres of the National Arboretum in northeast Washington burst forth each spring with the gorgeous color of plants that _ now number 100,000 in 1,500 varieties. In near-by Maryland suburbs, the London School for Boys augments its scholarship fund each year by a benefit azalea show.

The shrubs popularly known as azaleas are closely related to rhododendrons, says the National Geographic Society. So intermingled, in fact, are the characteristics of these two plants of the heath family that most botanists now clasify all azaleas under the genus Rhododendron, instead of in a separate category as formerly.

Marriage, Family Are Increasingly Popular

NEW YORK-Getting married and raising a family has become increasingly popular among the younger set, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Since World War II the median age at first marriage has decreased by one and one-third years, the statisticians point out, and now stands at 23 years for men and 20 years for women. As a result, the married population at the younger ages has increased markedly, and there are now more than one and one-half times as many married men under age 25 as there were in 1940. Equally noteworthy is the increase in the proportion of young couples with children, reflecting largely the baby boom incidental to World War II and its aftermath, the statisticians say. The number of births in the United States has reached a new high in each of the last six years, the 1956 figure being more than 4,200,000 compared to 2,560,000 in 1940.

Cave-Dwelling Reptile Remains Are Discovered

LOS ANGELES - Remains of cave-dwelling reptiles that lived more than 30 million years before the dinosaurs have been found in an Oklahoma limestone quarry.

Dr. Frank Peabody, paleontologist at the University of California, Los Angeles, who has studied the site, says that erosion and quarrying have exposed a limestone highland which was honeycombed with caves during the early age of reptiles, 210 million years ago.

Mountain Generator

WASHINGTON - To build the world's largest underground power station, miners by rrowed a quarter of a mile inside Pritish Columbia's Mount DuBose. Within the mountain, generators churn out electrical energy in an atom-bomb-proof excavation that will one day be big enough to drydock the Queen Mary.

C & O Canal Was Early Dream of George Washington

WASHINGTON-The quiet pleasures of walkers, canoeists, naturalists, and fishermen now rule along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, a booming trade route gone bank-

Winding 185 miles through the green valley of the Potomac River from Washington, D.C., to Cumberland, Maryland, the canal was the long-delayed fruition of a plan older than the United States, the National Geographic Society says.

George Washington began to contemplate such a waterway to the west in 1754, when he was a 22year-old surveyor. His idea was to improve the bed of the river.

The Revolution thwarted the plan, but in 1784, shortly after resigning his commission as Commander in Chief, Washington persuaded the legislatures of Maryland and Virginia to grant a charter to his "Potomac Company."

Work started at once. Loose stone and sand were dredged from the river bottom; deeper passages were blasted through solid rock. Walled channels were built over shallow rapids and water forced into them by dams. Five short reaches were built around impassable falls.

By 1802, the work was substantially finished. Though dangerous to navigation, the river from Western Maryland to the Capital was carrying furs, flour, lumber and whisky.

Earth Encircled By Ring of Wind

LOS ANGELES-A Saturn-like ring of wind apparently encircles the earth at about 100,000 feet above the equator.

So reports Dr. Clarence E. Palmer, geophysicist at the University of California, Los Angeles, who has been studying the high level wind. The first indication of the wind ring was following the tremendous Krakatoa explosion in 1883 near the equator in the South Pacific, Dr. Palmer says. Fine dust from the gigantic volcanic explosion apparently was carried in a narrow band around the earth by this wind 21/2 times. Theoretical considerations of the stratosphere in recent years have largely overlooked this evidence, according to the UCLA geophysicist. It has been thought that wind at this altitude along the equator flows back and forth between winter and summer hemispheres as it does at lower altitudes.

Data from Eniwetok bomb tests and observations made at such areas as Singapore and Nairobi in Africa have indicated, however, as did the Krakatoa observations, that a steady easterly wind blows around the earth the year around at the 100,000-foot level, Dr. Palmer says.

'Living Fossil' Held Link to Earliest Times

WASHINGTON-A specimen of a "living fossil," perhaps the most primitive extant member of one of the major classes of animals, has recently been added to the collections of the Smithsonian Institution.

This is a crustacean that has certain characters of the long-extinct trilobites, the earth's dominant animals of a half billion years ago. fossils of which are among the earliest traces of a high order of life on this planet.

It was found by Dr. Howard L. Sanders, of Yale University, in dredging from the bottom of Long Island Sound and afterward from Buzzards Bay, Massachusetts. Examples of the same or a related species have more recently been taken from San Francisco Bay. Presumably it is exclusively an inhabitant of the mud bottoms of shallow inshore waters and never comes to the surface or has a free-swimming existence. This may account for the fact that it has remained unknown so long.

Surprised Library Gets Old Shakespeare Folio

LOS ANGELES-A large book of "Mr. William Shakespeare's Comedies, Histories and Tragedies, never before printed in folio" has unexpectedly landed on the shelves of the University of California, Los Angeles, library.

The valuable old folio, printed only 16 years after Shakespeare's death, was presented without previous announcement to Lawrence Clark Powell, UCLA librarian, by Justin G. Turner, a Los Angeles businessman, at a recent meeting of the Friends of the Library.

Heart Disease Deadly CHICAGO- ine out of every two deaths is caused by cardiovascular diseases. However, medical scientists are confident that a notable decline in the heart of reases among the young and middle aged can be brought about in the next ten years if adequate support is given to research, and if new and existing information is properly implemented through education and community service programs.

Doctor Population Increased by 3,000 During Year 1956

CHICAGO-The physician popullation of the United States increased by 3,804 in 1956, according to time annual report on physician licensure by the American Medical Asssociation's Council on Medical Education and Hospitals.

Actually 7,463 physicians received their first licenses to practice reallcine and surgery in 1956. However, 3,659 physicians died during time year. Subtracting this number from the number licensed for the first time leaves a gain of 3,89% ma the total American physician popul-

State and territorial boards is sued 14,543 licenses during the year, but 7,080 went to doctors allready holding licenses from home other state or to men who tome examinations in more than

Of the total licenses given, 7,122 were by written examination and 7,421 by interstate reciprocity and other methods. Compared with 1955, a near-record year exceeded only by 1946 and 1954, there was an decrease of 297 in the total number of licenses issued.

Most candidates who received licenses by examination came from the 76 approved four-year medical schools in this country and 11 in Canada. The rest were from foreign schools, unapproved schools, schools of osteopathy, and schools no longer operating. Only 4.5 per cent of the 6,149 graduates of approved American schools failed to get licenses. Most failures occurred among graduates foreign, unapproved or osteopathic

The greatest number of licenses (1,745) was issued by California. New York issued 1,355.

Many Known Stars Revolving Twins

WASHINGTON-Twin stars with lifetimes of only 100,000 years; stars with enormous diameters but with masses only one-tenth or twotenths of that of the sun-attention is called to such celestial objects by Dr. Otto Struve, University California astronomer, in a discussion of the observed phenomena de double stars. A large proportion of known stars are double, and thehr behavior poses some of the most difficult problems in astronomy.

A report by Dr. Struve on doublestar research and its future trends has been issued by the Astrophysic cal Observatory of the Smithsonizmo

Institution. These stars revolve around each other. They must have had a common origin, and presumably each pair separated out of an original cloud of rapidly revolving gas. & slowly turning cloud would comdense into a single star, according to present orthodox theories. If the revolution were sufficiently rapid, the cloud would split into two car more parts, and each components would condense into a star. These "twins" may differ greatly in diameter and mass.

Women Diners Complain Most, Survey Discloses

Don't look now girls, but the restaurant manager is watching

In fact, judging from a survey report released today by Charles C. Cowley, executive vice presadent of Muzak Corporation, restaurateurs have been watching the ladies at chow for some time. And they want to help the girls relax.

Only 37.1% of the food experts think more women than men customers suffer from tension; 56.6% said more men are affected. However, even though the girls are outnumbered, they seem to feel the need of blowing off steams more. The restaurant men see meal time tension causes:

* women to complain about service more than men;

• more women to be dissatisfied with meals—by almost 2 to 2 over men customers;

* the ladies to be impatient and irritable waiting for service; * women to smoke excessivelyeven more than men.

One of Five Americans Moves Every Year

Americans continue to be the movingest people. Figures compiled by the U.S. Bureau of the Census show that 33 million persons of all ages changed homes: in the year ending in March, 1956. This represented one person out of every five in the civilian popurlation, a proportion which has shown no important change from year to year over the past decade.

Pretty Blue Eyes

CHICAGO-In our early history. the blue-eyed mountain girls et. the Southern Appalachians used juice from the Jimson weed applied to the eyehalls. The juice was thought to enlarge the pupil so that, only a thin rim of blue showed. It made them look "purtier." Since the plant is poisonous it is not recommended.

Find Clue to Mortality Among Baby Calves, Pigs

Nobody knows definitely why many newborn calves and pigs die shortly after they begin to nurse, but a theory advanced by research veterinarians is winning accepttance because it seems to be the most logical explanation yet of-

Picture a starving man who eats food that makes him violently ill, only to die from the illness rather than from starvation, and you will have an idea of what is believed to be happening to countless pigs, and calves too, on the nation's farms.
The main difference is that the newborn animals die after consuming their mother's milk-the very thing upon which they depend for

This is how the trouble starts: While the cow or sow is pregnant, she is attacked by a virus disease that may or may not be apparent to the owner. Her natural body forces produce substances called antibodies that fight off the infection, and at the same time some of these antibodies find their way to the unborn calf or pig.

Large amounts of them also go into the colostrum or first milk, that will nourish the youngster after birth. These disease-fighting substances have a sensitizing effect on the unborn animal. Then, after birth, when the youngster starts to consume colostrum, it gets a large dose of the antibodies and dies

Prevention of such losses is a problem now confronting veterinarians. While the colostrum from affected cows and sows is obviously harmful, it also has many properties vital to the survival and health of calves and pigs. Ordinary milk and other feedstuffs do not contain all of these essential properties, and so far satisfactory artificial foods have not been developed for practical farm use.

Veterinarians Tell Ways To Prevent Pig Scours

These five suggestions for keeping scours out of the spring pig crop are offered by swine disease authorities of the American veterinary medical association:

1. Set up a definite schedule for feeding the sow. Irregular feeding results in an uneven flow of milk that causes nursing pigs to go hungry at one feeding and then scour from overeating at the next.

2. Don't overfeed the sow. Newborn pigs often scour because the brood sow is being overfed. Give her only warm water and no solid feed the first day after farrowing and a small amount of bran or oats the second day. After that, the ration can be increased a little each day so that she is on full feed within two weeks.

3. Feed a balanced ration. If the sow gets too much corn, her litter is almost sure to scour.

4. Keep sows away from mud holes, manure, and filth. Many cases of pig scours are traceable to filth consumed while nursing.

5. Protect pigs against sharp changes in temperature. Failure to kep pigs warm when the weather suddenly turns cold will cause outbreaks of digestive trouble.

Saws Used in Home

The saws commonly used in the home are the hacksaw and the handsaw. The hacksaw is used to cut metal and the handsaw to cut wood. There are two types of handsaws, the ripsaw to cut with the grain and the crosscut to saw across the grain. Ail saws should be kept sharp. In starting a saw cut, the thumb of the left hand should be used to guide the blade until the cut is started at the desired location. The first stroke of the saw should be in the up direction. Sufficient pressure should be used when starting the cut so that the saw immediately begins to bite into the wood.

Warning to Cattlemen

Stock owners who use grazing land that adjoins oil lines and tanks are warned to watch out for crude oil potsoning in their herds. A bulletin from veterinary medical authorities cautions that the lines and tanks occasionally spring leaks, leaving pools of oil, and cattle may consume enough of it to be fatally poisoned. Animals on poor grazing land seem to have a special liking for crude oil, the bulletin adds. Cattlemen also are advised to keep their animals off pastures fronting recently oiled roads, particularly during rainy weather. The reason is that rain may wash enough oil onto the pasture to poison all or part of a herd.

Early Days of Indiana

Indiana territory's initial 1,000 settlers came from Kentucky, Virginia, and the Carolinas. They built their cabins in the south, along the Ohio and lower Wabash. They found the farm land rich, and when, in 1813, they moved their capital to Corydon, 20 trail miles west of Louisville, their number was 30,000. The total had jumped to 75,000 by late 1816, when statehood was won. There were a million and a half Hoosiers in Civil war days. By that time, the state's "naturals" in crops-corn, wheat, and hogs-had been found. Hominy and hogs continue to be good Hoosier fare.

Faulty Vision Is Held Number One Highway Menace

NEW YORK-Faulty vision and poor seeing habits are the number one highway menace, according to the Better Vision Institute. For safe travel, the driver's primary tools-his eyes-should not only be sharp and sure, but they should also be used with all-round skill.

Traffic conditions are growing more complex every day. Approximately 88,000,000 Americans now spend a good deal of time propelling themselves around in motor vehicles, some of which have the power of 200 horses under the hood and habitually travel from 10 to 14 times as fast as old Dobbin.

The roads are so overpopulated that thousands of accidents occur daily, although only one person is killed each year per 16,000,000 miles of movement. One car bumps into another every 42 seconds. One collides with a stationary object every 15 minutes. And a car and pedestrian come together violently every 31/2 minutes. This isn't surprising when you consider the magnitude of the problem. The surprising fact is that the drivers who have accidents are mainly decent, conservative, responsible people instead of harum-scarum hot-rodders. Statisticians estimate that any driver is likely to have a serious accident once in seven years. Some have them oftener, some never.

A number of signs point to poor seeing as the crux of this baffling situation, so improvement should be sought primarily from that standpoint.

Wandering Mind Is Motorist's Hazard

ANN ARBOR-What is the average motorist thinking about just before he has an accident?

According to a survey made in Washtenaw County by University of Michigan traffic engineers, many of them were "trying to get the car home to the wife," were "worried about an examination," "just got married," "had a recent operation," or were concerned with similar earlier events.

Still others, it was found, were distracted by "children fussing in the back seat," "people talking," or a minor accident ahead. And other motorists queried were sick, tired, intoxicated. • nervous. otherwise abnormal.

In short, one driver in five was disturbed or not in his best physical condition, the survey shows.

These replies, in answer to questionnaires sent to county motorists involved in mishaps, point up the "chain of events" that often leads to accidents, reports Prof. Bruce Greenshields, in charge of the study. If any link in the chain can be broken he says, the accident may be prevented.

Expectant Fathers Take Spotlight, Incorporate

NEW YORK-Nature's gift to anonymity-the expectant fathertook the spotlight recently when the National Expectant Fathers Club held its annual meeting at the St. Moritz Hotel in New York City.

The Club, incorporated in Washington, D. C., in 1948, is sponsored by the National Institute of Diaper Services. In preparation for their own blessed event, members of the Club-all fathers-to-be-are taught how to feed, bathe, burp and diaper babies. In some areas, the classes are conducted by the Red Cross as a regular part of prenatal courses.

Members of the Expectant Fathers Club are entitled to wear paternity pins. According to Aaron Bonoff, president of the New York City local chapter, this pin is presented to the member" . . . in recognition of his delicate condition and need for sympathy and understanding."

Other privileges and responsibilities symbolized by the paternity pin are outlined in a wallet size membership card.

Myopia Is Linked With Child's Eating Habits

CHICAGO-Recent studies indicate a possible connection between myopia (near-sightedness) and the eating habits of children, according to the Better Vision Institute. It was found that an unusually large number of myopic youngsters constantly refuse one or more of certain foods such as those first-class sources of protein-milk, cheese, meat, fish, and eggs.

The boys with highly active myopia are more fussy than the boys who are not nearsighted, and the myopic girls are still more inclined to pick and choose.

Roads Are Big Business

NEW YORK—About $75 billion was spent on highways in the United States from 1920 through 1953, and nearly $54 billion was collected from 1925 through 1952 from highway users through taxes on motor fuel and lubricating oil, registration fees and federal motor-vehicle excise taxes, notes a recent study.

It's Vacation Time — Now! Off we go — 80 million strong — America's army of vacationers landing on beaches, charging up the mountains, infiltrating the woods and sweeping over the highways.

Besides the increased business for hotels, motels, resorts, railroads, airlines, gas stations and bus lines, the annual tourist trek means new business for clothing stores, drug stores, food stores, hardware stores, grocery

People are rushing to buy sun tan lotion, sun glasses, creams, lotions, mosquito repellents, sport clothes, fishing tackle, camping supplies, outboard motors, picnic supplies.

It is estimated that 15 billion dollars will be spent on vacations this year. Of the vacationers, 85 percent will travel by automobile, 14 percent by train, 8 percent by plane and 6 percent by bus. Others go by boat, and there are a few who will ride bikes or walk.

The middle Atlantic states will get the most vacationers, with the north central states east of the Mississippi river getting the second largest number. Thirds will be the south Atlantic states and fourth the Pacific coast

Among the biggest attractions for tourists are: Scenery and sightseeing. The biggest items in volume sales for tourists are gasoline, aspirin, sun tan lotions, eyedrops, insect repellents and

To DrilleWildcat Oil Well Spokane — Standard Oil Co. of California, Western Operations, Inc., will begin an exploratory well in the Rattlesnake Hills of Benton county, eastern Washington, about July 15, the company announced this week.

The wildcat well, "Rattlesnake Hills Unit No. 1," will probe for gas and oil to a depth of about 8,000 feet on a site 15 miles north of Prosser, Wash., on section 15, T11 N, R24E.

Company spokesmen stressed that the well is highly speculative and a costly venture in an area where little is known of the sub-surface. Encouraging results from this well, however, would justify the financial risks taken by favorably affecting pros-pects throughout a large part of southeastern Washington.

Nearest modern drilling to date has been "Kirkpatrick No. 1," Standard's stratigraphic test well near Condon, Oregon, 100 miles south. This test is still being drilled, below 8,700

Site grading has been completed for the Rattlesnake well and operations will commence as soon as the Kirkpatrick rig finishes drilling there and can be moved to the new location, the company said.

The Rattlesnake wildcat will take more than four months to drill Standard said. Some 20 to 25 men will be employed at the site during the oper-
