Oiling Job Completed

Last week-end the company doing the oiling job on Kendrick's streets showed up and completed the work. The village had run out of rock chips, and the company, oil — hence the few days delay.

New oil mats laid during this job include the north side of the school house hill; the south side of the gymnasium up as far as the Edgar Hamrell residence, and an oil mat on the alley between the schoolhouse and the gym, which is indeed a most welcome improvement to students and teachers, not to mention the general public, when attending school activities.

The rest of the oiling was done on streets and alleys previously coated, but which were in pretty bad shape.

Grange Meeting Tuesday Eve

The regular business meeting of the Kendrick Grange was held Tuesday evening, July 16, with a small attendance, there being but 23 members and three visitors present.

The program consisted of a tap dance by Lauren Hoffman, followed by the showing of slides taken by Norman Fitzsimmons of Lewiston, assistant extension agent for Nez Perce County. He showed some slides of boys' and girls' 4-H Club projects exhibited at Lewiston and Spokane, which were of real interest to Grange members, as their work contributes to 4-H projects.

Following this Mr. Fitzsimmons showed slides he had taken of Washington, D. C., and the different points of interest and beauty during his visit there, while on furlough. These pictures were certainly worth anyone's time, and it is to be regretted that there was not a larger attendance.

At the July 2 meeting there was a program which included a tap dance number by Joy Davis and Velda Kechter, followed by the showing of slides taken in Germany and California by Bob McCall, and shown by Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCall, his parents. As these pictures are really educational, there will be more shown after harvest — when it is to be hoped there will be a larger attendance.

Refreshments were served by Ruth White and Dick Cuddy.

The next Grange meeting will be on Tuesday, Aug. 6th.

Louden Burned Seriously

V. M. (Monty) Louden, who was critically burned June 27, at the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mine at Kellogg, is still in the Wardner hospital, there.

Louden, an electric welder, was working on a job when the wrench he was using slipped and flew into a high tension wire. He was burned terribly from his head to his waist. In fact, his clothes were completely burned off. An electric burn is more serious, as it keeps working in. His daughter Karen went to his side immediately when she received the news, and has been there ever since.

Mr. Louden is undergoing skin grafts every week and we understand that this may continue "until snow flies," which is a long time and a slow process.

Mr. Louden is employed as a maintenance man for Bunker Hill & Sullivan Mines at Kellogg. He and his family lived here several years ago.

Kills A "Buzz-Tail"

Last Thursday evening, while on their way to town, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Slind spotted a rattlesnake in the road. Oscar stopped and dispatched the reptile.

It was not a big one, but what made it of interest was the fact that it carried ten rattles and a button — yet was not over two feet in length!

Is Recuperating

Word has been received that Mrs. Grace Kortemeier is recuperating at her home in Corvallis, Oregon, after serious surgery at the Good Samaritan Hospital.

Mrs. Paul Kortemeier, who has been caring for her, has departed for her home in San Diego, Calif.

Leonard Nilson Drowned

Leonard Nilson, 14, a Lewiston Jr. High School student, drowned Friday at 4:05 p. m. in the Clearwater river near the Lewiston pumping plant.

The boy, son of Joseph Nilson, Miller Cabins, 3107 Main St., had been swimming with two companions and apparently swam too far out in the river.

The body was recovered at 5:30 p. m. in about 15 feet of water and 60 feet from shore. Rescuers theorized the boy may have been stricken with a cramp or become panicky when he reached the main current of the river.

Leonard Joseph Nilson was born Nov. 3, 1942, at Spokane. When he was five months old he and his parents moved first to Kellogg where they lived for a year, and then to Craigmont for another year. He then moved to Troy, Idaho, where he lived for 10 years, coming to Lewiston with his father in 1955.

He was a member of the Troy Lutheran Church.

Survivors, in addition to his father, include his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Sears, Spokane; a brother, Marion John Nilson, 13, Lewiston; a half-brother, Tommy Sears, Spokane, and his maternal grandfather, John Hill, Lewiston.

Our Note: He is known to quite a number here, have lived on the Boyer Nilson farm near Troy.

Homemakers Club Meets

The Cameron Homemakers Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Helen Mielke. Fourteen members, three visitors and six children were present. Roll call was "My Favorite TV Show."

The demonstration for the day was given by Ida and Margie Newman, with "Cookie Making" the topic. Several baking hints and short cuts as well as a lot of new recipes were given. It was much enjoyed by all.

At the close the hostess served refreshments of coffee, cookies and ice cream.

The August meeting will be with Ida Newman.

Entertains At Bridge

Mrs. Estella Leith entertained at a table of bridge last Wednesday afternoon. A 1:00 o'clock luncheon preceded the card play, at which Mrs. Dickerson held high score.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. H. C. Dickerson, Lewiston; Mrs. Roy Ramey and Mrs. John Johanson.

Home economists say detergents are usually better than soap in the family wash — unless that water is quite soft.

More Beautiful Glads

Mrs. Arnold Hoisington, Juliaetta, brought to the Gazette office last Wednesday two beautiful glads — one a peach color flecked with red and the other a flame color. Both were gorgeous things.

Mrs. Hoisington said she started the bulbs in the house — then transferred them to the garden.

Construction Work Resumed
With the return of warmer spring weather in the Clark Fork river valley in western Montana, approximately 1000 men are now at work on the second year of construction of the Washington Water Power Company's $84 million hydroelectric project.

Now approximately 27 per cent complete, WWP's 400,000-kilowatt power development project will be one of the west's largest. The first of the 5900-foot dam's 137,500 horsepower turbines is scheduled to spin into action by the fall of 1959.

Although cold weather slowed operations greatly during the winter, the project's construction force never dwindled below 500. With the snow all but gone from the valley floor, 12 prime and sub-contractors are again on the scene to keep the project on schedule.

Five bridges, one of them almost 1,000 feet long are being built to shift the railroad traffic on a Northern Pacific main line track paralleling the project area to higher ground. Approximately 20 miles of track are being relocated to avoid inundation by the dam's 38-mile-long reservoir.

The Naxon Rapids project is the company's largest power development in its 67-year history. Its completion in 1960 will make the company virtually self-sufficient in power resources for the first time in 20 years, in addition to doubling its present generating capacity.

About Those Chickens
For healthy chickens and quality eggs in hot weather, keep cool. Sometimes it's easier said than done, Homer Futter, county agent admits, but he points out that it pays to try.

Poultry is poorly equipped to stand high temperature. The body of a chicken is covered with feathers, and there are no sweat glands, so about all a pullet can do is pant and hold out her wings to get a little more circulation.

Robert Black, poultry specialist of the University of Idaho extension service, recommends opening the poultry house to take advantage of any air movement. Spray a fine mist, or attach a sprinkler to the roof. And be sure to provide plenty of fresh, cool water to drink. Birds can stand a temperature of 100 degrees for about seven hours. When it gets up to 105 there will be some casualties.

Egg production slumps when the temperature gets above 60 degrees. High quality eggs and high temperatures do not go together. There are several things, however, the poultryman can do to keep the loss down, and Black lists these pointers:

Gather eggs often, four times a day is recommended. Use a wire basket and store the eggs in a cool, moist place with temperature at 55 to 60 degrees. When casing the eggs use a pre-cooled container. A warm, dry container will remove moisture from the egg.

Care Of Your Lawn

Homer Futter, Latah county extension agent has the following to say about care of a lawn:

A little nitrogen does wonders to a lawn. The only trick is to put it on properly. Make use of the following four tips:

First, put on light, frequent applications. This will give a nice green color and promote even growth. Apply a fertilizer such as ammonium nitrate at the rate of two-thirds of a cup per 100 square feet every eight weeks to keep the lawn looking fresh and thrifty. Unless you want to mow the grass every other day, go easy on the fertilizer.

Second, spread fertilizer so there is uniform distribution. Uneven grass is not pretty. Go over the area several times while spreading the fertilizer. Measure the material, don't guess. One pound is equal to one and one-half to two cups of most commercial fertilizers.

Third, don't apply phosphorus if you want a pure grass seeding. Most soils contain enough phosphorus for lawns. If you seed a clover-grass mixture, a fertilizer with equal portions of nitrogen and phosphoric acid is desirable. Nitrogen stimulates grass, and phosphorus boosts legumes.

Fourth, organic materials such as manure help condition a lawn for better water penetration and aeration. Put manure on in the fall or early spring when lawns have least use.

You are welcome to use the lands of PFI for hunting, fishing and camping, except during seasons of extreme fire danger, however when you do, use care and help keep our great outdoors as they are today. A campfire unattended can cause forest and land destruction that would destroy the area for fish and wildlife. ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

As has been mentioned many times before, this is a good time of the year to get a sun tan, but do it gradually to keep from burning.

A few persons invariably expose themselves to excessive heat and suffer either sunstroke or heatstroke. Both of these ailments have the same symptoms, but sunstroke results direct exposure to the sun's rays, while heatstroke is caused by excessive indoor heat.

The first signs are usually a headache, dizziness, nausea, oppression and dryness of the mouth and skin. The victim shows a flushed face, hot and dry skin, rapid pulse, and a temperature which may reach 107 degrees or higher. He may become unconscious and convulsions sometimes occur.

For either sunstroke or heatstroke, move the victim to a shady or cool place. His clothing should be removed and he should be put on his back with his head and shoulders slightly elevated. Cold, wet cloths, an ice bag, or ice, should be applied to the head. The body should be cooled, preferably by wrapping in a wet sheet which is kept moist with cold water. Rubbing the limbs, toward the heart, will aid circulation, and may be done through the wet sheet. Cool drinks may be given, but do not give stimulants. Call a physician at once.

Feeling Of Futility

Accident analysts must sometimes have a feeling of futility as they sort through reports of the traffic accidents that occur each year in Idaho trying to find the reason for each smash-up.

Take, for example, the accident report received early this week by the state department. This one occurred when a car missed a turn on the highway. The driver's explanation was: "I must have had a flat tire." Investigation by police showed that all four tires were inflated following the mishap.

Further checking revealed that the curve he missed was a 60 degree turn, and two passengers said the driver attempted to negotiate it at a mere 70 miles an hour.

Then, there's the report of an accident that might explain why crumpled fenders are stylish in many cities. This driver failed to signal for a left turn and pulled directly into another car. He didn't signal, he told officers, because, "I didn't want to roll down my window."

One of the traffic deaths reported this year resulted when a driver crashed into a truck parked completely off the highway, killing a passenger in his car. His speed at the time was 60 miles an hour, which means the impact packed the same punch as driving off the roof of a 10-story building. This driver's statement: "He didn't know what caused the accident. He'd only had 'four or five beers'."

Household Pest Control

Silverfish and firebrats throw in the towel when they come up against sprays and dusts.

The insects are common in many homes throughout the country, the county agent says, but they can be controlled with such insecticides as DDT, chloradane and malathion.

Both types of insect cause damage by eating food and other things containing protein, sugar or starch. They like cereals, moist flour, wallpaper, bookbindings and starch in clothing. They are slender, wingless and covered with scales. Silverfish are shiny gray in color. Firebrats are mottled gray. Both insects have two long feelers at the head end and three long appendages at the rear. Silverfish and firebrats are active at night and hide during the day. When they are disturbed they dart out and seek new hiding places.

Silverfish live in damp, cool spots such as basements. Firebrats like it hot. They are frequently found around furnaces and in the insulation of hot water pipes.

Oil solution DDT sprays are recommended for home use. Dust containing the same chemicals as the sprays are preferred for places where an oil solution might cause fire.

Control can also be accomplished with bait, but the method is slower and less satisfactory.

Command large fields — but cultivate small ones.

4-H Cooks Show Proficiency
 Two popular 4-H Foods demonstration programs are well under way in 4-H Club throughout the state, according to the Extension Service. They are in dairy foods and bread baking.
 Under the guidance of local club leaders last year, more than 900,000 youthful cooks practiced tested recipes and demonstrated techniques. The projects teach that foods can be good to look at and good to eat as well. In learning the basic steps in preparing appetizing, nutritious dairy foods and baked goods, the 4-H'ers also demonstrate to others their newly acquired skills.
 The 1957 state winners will receive a beautiful inscribed 19-jewel wrist watch from the Carnation Company. State winners in the bread baking contest will get a $50 U. S. savings bond from Standard Brands, Inc. County winners in both programs are to be presented gold-filled medals of honor.

FARM SAFETY WEEK
 Safety makes sense.
 That's the theme of National Farm Safety Week, July 21 to 27. Idaho farmers, Homer Tutter, Latah county agent says, will make a particular effort at that time to prevent accidents and to remove their causes.
 President Eisenhower has proclaimed the week. "Farm accidents each year inflict a heavy loss upon the economy of the nation and cause untold suffering among our rural population," he said. "The death toll from farm-work accidents last year was higher than that in any other major industry. The health, prosperity and welfare of the nation's farm families are of vital concern to all citizens. The effect of accident prevention programs has indicated that our rural residents, through attention to safety education, can greatly reduce accidents and the resultant loss and suffering."
 "I call upon all the people of the nation to observe national farm safety week, and I urge all farm families and farm workers to join in a continuing campaign designed to prevent needless accidents in their homes, on their farms, and along the highways."

Each day of the week has a special designation in connection with safety. July 21 will be church day, July 22 is home safety day, July 23 is livestock safety day, July 24 is fall prevention day, July 25 is highway safety day, July 26 is machinery safety day, July 27 is review day.
 Everett H. Davis, agricultural engineer of the University of Idaho extension service and member of the state farm safety committee, called attention to the Idaho toll from drowning and falls. Last year, he said, 20 youngsters drowned. Fourteen were under four years old. "That one should insist," he said, "that children wear life preservers until they are old enough to realize the hazards of water. Youngsters should be taught to swim as soon as possible. Fence in the little tots. A woven wire fence with latched gate the child cannot open, can save a life."

Davis said 32 people died of falls in Idaho last year. Thirty of them were 65 years or older. Points to remember in this regard, he advised, are to keep stairways well lighted and free of obstructions, and to provide hand rails for all steps.

BIG BEAR RIDGE NEWS
 Don't forget the Lutheran Church picnic at Laird Park Sunday, July 21. Services at 11:00 — dinner following. All are welcome.
 Mrs. Stanley Cox and children spent the week-end in the homes of her sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Leland and families in Lewiston and Clarkston.
 Mrs. Johanna Nelson and Miss Solweig Emerson visited in Coeur d'Alene in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Moon on Lake Coeur d'Alene over Sunday.
 Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jones and her uncle, Morris Meyers of Los Angeles, Calif., spent the first of the week on a fishing trip.

CALL FOR BIDS
 The Kendrick Highway District will receive bids up to and including the 20th day of July, 1957, for gasoline and diesel fuel to be delivered to District grounds at Kendrick, Idaho, — for a one-year period, July, 1957-July, 1958.
 The District reserves the right to reject any or all bids.
 Dated: July 1, 1957.

Dump Yard Is Disgrace
 The condition of the Kendrick dump ground is a disgrace to any community — and steps should be taken to do something to remedy the situation.
 The high water of the past winter took out the rock dyke, and literally "cleaned" the yard of everything, including room to dump.
 It would seem that the only remedy, aside from locating a different spot, is to put a bulldozer into the creekbed, and change it to its former course, thus providing needed room.
 At present, dumping is going on all the time from the road, which makes that entry into town anything but a pretty sight.
 However, to cap the climax, someone dumped a beef offal right in the middle of the little remaining space! This created quite a "smelly problem" for the village fathers!
 This latter "job" is very much against the law. This sort of "debris" is required to be buried!

HELLO, FOLKS:

Haying season is almost at an end — it's either bean cultivating time, clover and pea spraying time — or, perhaps, vacation and fishing time. In any event, look to us for what you'll need to make your work easier or vacation season happier. We'll keep those tanks filled with gasoline or diesel tanks full, and bring you oils and lubricants. Or, if you're going on that vacation, bring in your car or pickup for a complete lubrication job, and perhaps a wash and wax job. In any event, we'd love to serve you.

Drunk: "Tell me, shir, who was braver Lancelot, wis'er'n Shocrates, more honorable than Lincoln, funey'n Mark Twain and better lookin' than Appollo?"
Second Drunk: "Thas easy. My wife's firsh husbin!"

"Hey, you! How about coming in and letting us talk trade to you on those old thin "banana peels" before you start on your vacation or harvest begins. You'll be surprised at how cheaply you can drive in safety and comfort on U. S. Royals. Come in today.

After his first dancing lesson, little Butch was asked how he got along. "Aw, it's easy," he said. "All you gotta do is keep turnin' around and wipin' your shoes on the floor."

Have you tried our service? If not, why not? Come in today — or for wholesale service on Union Oil Products just call 1251!

Always travel "Union".
