Postoffice Re-classified

On July 1st the Southwick Post Office became a 3rd Class Office. This means that we will receive our mail earlier on the routes as James Reece, our carrier, only goes as far as the Lester Weaver home, rather than on into the Park area.

This also means that the mail will leave for Lewiston earlier in the day.

About Twenty Years Ago Paper

There seems to have been some misunderstanding about the date of our coming "Twenty Years Ago" Edition: It will actually be published on Thursday, August 8, but dated and distributed on Thursday, August 15th — so that we and our hard-working correspondents may enjoy a week's vacation — the week of Aug. 11 through Aug. 17.

During that week no job work will be done at the Gazette office. It will, however, be open as usual to receive news, want ads., subscriptions and job work — with Dee Magnuson in charge.

Until the 11th we're on the job as usual.

SHORT LOCAL ITEMS OF MORE THAN PASSING INTEREST

Fire Situation Deadly

The fire situation in this area may be classed as "deadly," according to Norman Lewis, deputy district fire warden for the State Forestry department and Bob Magnuson of the Kendrick Volunteer Fire department.

In the state department no burning permits are being issued except on an emergency basis, and then the area under consideration must be inspected by a member of the department and approved before a permit can or will be issued.

In the local department Bob Magnuson, fire chief, says that trash burning will be permitted only in barrels or burners, between the hours of 6:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m., and the top of the burner must be covered with an adequate "spark arrester," such as screen.

Both men warn that violators will be prosecuted.

Weather Turns Torrid

Following a somewhat summer-like but comfortable week-end, with daytime temperatures in the high 80's, the weather really turned torrid Sunday with a high reading of 94 degrees. Sunday night, too, was "hot all night" for this part of the country, with the mercury dropping to a mere 70 degrees. It looked for a time Sunday evening like we might get a real thunder shower, black clouds massing in the west. However, they blew away.

Monday was also hot, with another reading of 94 degrees. Monday night the temperature dropped to 56, and local folks enjoyed "good sleeping."

Tuesday showed a high reading of 87 degrees. There was, however, a gentle breeze and low humidity, so the heat was not nearly as noticeable as one might imagine.

Enjoy Family Reunion Sunday

A no-host picnic dinner was enjoyed Sunday in the home of Mrs. Eula Miller. Guests included Mrs. Frank Crocker's brothers and their wives, as well as other members of the family.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lukens of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lukens of Spokane; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Lukens of Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lukens and daughters of Craigmont (a nephew); Mr. and Mrs. D. Miller and sons of Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crocker, Mrs. Liddie Ameling, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Crocker and granddaughters Pat and Debbie and Mrs. Eula Miller.

It was a most joyous occasion for all the family.

Combined Picnic Held

The Nezperce County 4-H Clubs and Home Extension Clubs got together Sunday to hold their annual picnic in the Kendrick park.

With the mercury reading 94 degrees the swimming pool was by far the most popular spot, and it was estimated that at one time there were 90 swimmers in the water.

Somewhere over a hundred enjoyed the picnic, with the usual good eats and fun. The iced drink department was very, very popular, we might add.

Loren Kambitch, county agent; Norman Fitzsimmons, assistant county agent and Mrs. Bernadine Tudder, retiring Home Demonstration agent, and there families were among those present.

Grain Really Pouring In

Trucks loaded with grain are becoming a commonplace sight on Kendrick's streets these days, as the 1957 harvest gets under way. To date, of course, it has mainly been winter barley, but wheat is beginning to arrive in noticeable quantities as we go to press (Wednesday).

Warehousemen and farmers alike say that a good rain would be a real benefit at this time. Not only would it make grain harvesting easier, but it would be a real benefit to beans, which are showing the effects of the prolonged heat and dryness.

On Artificial Respiration

Boise — The Nielsen method of artificial respiration, now endorsed by many national organizations, including the American Red Cross, U. S. Public Health Service, Armed Forces, American Medical Assn., and Federal Civil Defense administration, is easy to learn and easy to do. It can save lives if given right away when someone stops breathing after rescue from drowning, suffocation, electric shock or gas poisoning.

You begin by laying the victim on his stomach with his cheek on his hands to keep dirt out of the mouth. Be careful to remove sand, pebbles or other foreign matter from his mouth. Pull his tongue out to insure an air passage, and have someone call a physician if at all possible.

Kneeling in front of the victim's head, put your hands — thumbs almost together and fingers spread out — on his back just below his shoulder blades. Rock forward keeping your elbows straight. Press slowly and evenly downward on his back, adjusting your pressure to the size of the body. This empties the lungs of the victim.

Then, rock back, easing up on the pressure slowly. At the same time, take hold of the victim's arms just above the elbows.

Lift the arms up and toward you until you meet resistance at the shoulders. Raising the arms pulls air into the lungs. Keep your elbows straight while you do it. Then let the victim's arms fall back into place and drop your own arms. Repeat these motions steadily from 10 to 12 times a minute. They should take about 1½ seconds, with a short pause in between.

That's all there is to it, and it would be well for everyone to know how to give artificial respiration. Practice it on some family member or friend until you can do it properly.

Remember, don't lose a minute in starting artificial respiration when the occasion arises to use it. Even after breathing stops, the heart usually goes on beating for a few minutes and in that time there's a chance to save a life.

About Social Security

Lewiston — Marlow V. Wooton, district manager of the Lewiston Social Security office, declared this week that a long-disabled worker now has until the beginning of July, 1958, to file an application for the "disability freeze" and still have his social security earnings record protected as of the date he actually became disabled. He said also that the law now permits a veteran to receive compensation from the Veterans Administration for service connected disability without any reduction in the amount of his disability insurance benefits under social security. These changes, significant to persons who have been disabled for some years and to those with service connected disability, became effective when President Eisenhower signed P. L. 109 on July 17, 1957.

The purpose of the "disability freeze" is to prevent those years during which a severe and indefinite disability keeps a person out of work from counting against him on eligibility for benefits or on the amount of his benefits.

"Touchdown" sweated over this for some time and finally wrote, "Monticello." He passed. In checking the answers the officials said that 100 was perfect, and Monticello is 25 miles from Tallahassee. Twenty-five from 100 leaves 75 — and 75 is passing!

Fair Warning
It had been learned that a gang of toughs were going to pack the gallery at a temperance meeting. So the chairlady hired a tough, ex-prizefighter to keep order in the balcony. During the course of the talk the speaker said: "What is it we want most when we finish our day's work and let down? What is it that gladdens our hearts, fills us with song and quenches our thirst in a decent way?" At that moment the prizefighter said to the crowd in the balcony: "First 'un that says 'beer' gets tossed out on his ear!"

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who so kindly assisted and for the words of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings extended at the death of our beloved son and brother. — Leonard J. Nilson Family. 31-1x

About Ptomaine Poisoning

Boise — Food poisoning, which is sometimes called "ptomaine poisoning" by laymen, crops up from time to time in nearly every locality. It is usually caused by one of the following three means:
Bacterial contamination — cases in which the food has become contaminated with one of four types of bacteria;
Food poisonous in itself — cases in which the food itself is poisonous because it contains some toxic substance, as is true in certain mushrooms;
Accidental contamination with poison — cases in which the food has become contaminated with some poison such as insecticides.
With proper handling, the majority of food poisoning could be prevented. Since most outbreaks are due to bacterial contamination of food, prevention normally can be accomplished by clean hands, clean food, clean utensils and dishes, proper cooking, adequate refrigeration and keeping persons with infections out of the kitchen.
A common type of bacterial contamination occurs most frequently in custards and cream-filled desserts which have stood for several hours at room temperature. In this type of contamination, poisoning is by a toxin produced in growth of the organism rather than infection of the organism itself.

CARD OF THANKS
The kindness and sympathy of neighbors and friends in our recent sorrow will always remain with us as a precious memory. Our sincere thanks and gratitude for all those comforting acts. — The Lind Family.

ABOUT YOUR LAWN

Complaints are coming in regarding lawns or portions of lawns dying out, according to Homer Futter, Latah county agent.
The disease is commonly called "Brown Patch" and is characterized by spots from the size of a saucer to as large as a wash tub suddenly turning brown and dying out during the summer months. It is caused by two fungi (molds) that live in the soil and are capable of attacking the roots, crown tissues and grass blades. The fungi penetrate the grass plants directly or through natural openings and once inside, obtain their nourishment from the plant tissue, causing decline or sudden death.
Moisture and temperature have a pronounced effect on the type and severity of disease development. A purple to brown colored leaf spot symptom is produced when temperatures are near 70 degrees. The disease is much more severe at temperatures above 70 degrees. At temperatures from 80 to 85 the entire leaf blades blight, or the plants suddenly die. During or just after periods of high temperatures and moist conditions the disease can and often does cause considerable areas of the lawn to die out suddenly.
Early morning sprinkling is better than evening sprinkling because the grass blades can dry out somewhat during the heat of the day; whereas evening sprinkling leaves the grass wet throughout the night and early morning, creating a climate that is ideal for further spread and infection by the fungi.
The standard chemical recommendations for the control of this disease has been to apply corrosive sublimate (Mercuric chloride). This material is effective but is corrosive and poisonous and should, therefore, be handled with extreme caution. A safe rule is to dissolve two ounces in water and apply to 1000 square feet of lawn. Be sure to dissolve the material in sufficient water to get good coverage. Apply this material about every two or three weeks during the summer.
Other compounds such as Bordeaux Mixture and copper sulfate (blue vitriol) are effective, but continued use results in an accumulation of toxic amounts of copper in the soil.

Odds And Ends

The percentage of farms in the United States with telephones has more than doubled since 1940.
A dairy scientist in Nevada has figured out that the average person drinks in a lifetime the total production from eight year's milking of the average cow — about 24 tons!
Total farm employment in America is 160,000 less this year than it was last, according to the department of agriculture.
A recent survey of outdoor cooking showed that approximately two billion meals will be prepared out doors this year. About half the nation's families have a meal outdoors at least twice a month.
Chlordane is an insecticide recommended for general use to control ants in a vegetable garden. In the house it may be brushed into cracks where ants often crawl.

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, here we are at the start of the harvest season. Barley is pouring into the warehouses — and soon wheat cutting will begin. Are you ready? Is your supply of lubricants, greases, oils, gasolines and diesel fuel on hand? If not, just pick up the phone and call us at 1251, and we'll be there shortly with your needs of those famous Union Products.

Festive One: "Whash yer lookin' for?"
Policeman (at lake): "We're looking for a drowned man."
Festive One: "Whash yer want one for?"

Are the tires on your pickup or truck ready for harvest hauling? Will they stand up to the regular schedule required? If not, come in and talk the problem over with us. You'll be surprised at how cheaply you can own a set of those famous U. S. Royals.

A traveling salesman held up in the Orkney Islands by a bad storm telegraphed to his firm in Scotland: "Marooned by storm. Wire instructions."
The reply came: "Start summer vacation as of yesterday."

In a hurry for service? Try us. We specialize in fast service. Just give us a chance to prove our statements.

Bride: "What are these tickets I found in my husband's pocket?"
Old Family Friend: "Your husband is an archaeologist. Those tickets are evidence of a lost race."
