Glorious Fall Weather

This section has been enjoying some glorious fall weather again — with sunny days and brisk nights — although we have had a brief rain squall or two.

Most of the trees still have their leaves, although they are beginning to turn yellow and brown — and in a few cases, a brilliant red.

Lawns are a bright green, and farmers say pastures are greening up wonderfully well.

There has been just enough rain to make fall plowing, seeding, harrowing and the like ideal — no dust, but plenty of moisture — and farmers have been taking fullest advantage of the taking.

FINAL RITES HELD MONDAY FOR MRS. ROBERT N. OLSEN

Mrs. Robert N. Olsen

Funeral services for Mrs. Irene Olsen, wife of Mr. Robert N. Olsen, who met death in a head-on collision with a gasoline tanker truck at Verona, Italy, were held in the Brewer-Wann Funeral Parlors at Lewiston, Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. The Rev. Merrit Faulkner of the Lewiston Methodist Church officiated. Interment was in Normal Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Jud Lee and Mrs. Jack Lohman sang "Over the River" and "Faces I'll See," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. H. C. Schupfer.

Active pallbearers were Charles Deobald, Everett Farrington, Raymond Hudson, Milton E. Lind, Louis and Leonard Lundens, all high school friends of the deceased. Honorary bearers were Herman Johnson, Ervin Draper, Chester Vincent, Gerald Schmidt, Harry Newman and Emil Silflow.

Irene Peters was born October 22, 1923, at Leland, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Peters, pioneer residents of the area. She attended the Leland grade school and the Kendrick High school, graduating with the class of 1943.

Following graduation she worked for a time as a telephone operator for the Potlatch Telephone Co. at Kendrick, later going to Spokane, where she was employed as bookkeeper in a bank. Still later she accepted a position as bookkeeper with the Boyle Fuel Co., Spokane.

On Jan. 17, 1946, she was united in marriage, at Spokane, to Capt. Robert N. Olsen. For some time following they made their home at Montgomery, Alabama, later returning to Spokane. They also lived for a time in California and in Okinawa, where his army duties called them. Still later they moved to Virginia and from there to Verona, Italy.

They were the parents of two children, Mark, aged three years, and Janice Faye, three months, who with her husband, Mr. Robert N. Olsen, survive. Other survivors include her mother, Mrs. Sylvia O. Peters, now of Spokane; three brothers, Gordon, Kendrick; Elmer, Lewiston, and Leo, Spokane; two sisters, Mrs. Vera Decker, Quincy, Wash., and Bernadine Peters, St. Maries, Idaho, and several nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by a sister, Jane, and her father, A. G. Peters.

Wild Game Not Coming In

Marion Rowden (Blewett's Grocery) reports that wild game, or at least that to be cut and wrapped) is coming in far slower this year than last. Here it is past the middle of the general big game season, and so far just 15 elk, six deer and five bear have "crossed the block." Last year they kept coming in a steady stream.

Marion says the five bear are more than last year, but the other animals far less.

It would seem that hunters were in the woods for the opening of the season, got a minimum of game, and then were driven out by the early storms. Since that time the weather has been very good — but farmers too busy in the fields to go again.

New Home Begun

Last week saw the first activity toward a new home for Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hollenbeck and children. They have purchased lots adjoining the Lester Crocker home on the School House Hill, extending east toward the Ross Armitage home. The ground was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Blewett.

René Reindeau, contractor from Clarkston, has taken the contract to build the new three-bedroom home, with full basement, fireplace and attached garage.

The lot allows the house to be built on two levels, with a walk-in basement. Electric heat will be used throughout. Mrs. Hollenbeck says they hope to be in by Christmas.

"Soup Hounds" To Spare

Kendrick seems to have suddenly developed a surplus of dogs, or perhaps we should more accurately say "Soup Hounds," for they seem to consist almost entirely of "Genuine Heinz," (57 varieties).

Who the owners might be (if they have any) is unknown. But at any rate they are roaming town in packs of from three to seven, upsetting garbage cans and strolling noisily about Main Street all hours of the day and night.

It just might be a good idea to revive the old Kendrick dog license law — that might prove effective in making a cleaning.

Albert Frank Dies

Five Lewiston residents drove to Wallace Monday where they attended funeral services on Tuesday for Albert Frank, formerly of the Southwick area.

Mr. Frank, a Mullan resident, died Friday at a Wallace hospital. He had been in poor health for the past year.

His wife, Peggy, survives at the family home. Those from Lewiston attending were his nephews Everett and Allen Neumann and their wives and his brother-in-law Jake Neumann. His brother, Hugo Frank of Boise accompanied those from Lewiston to Wallace. The services were at 1:00 p. m., Tuesday.

SHORT NEWS ITEMS FROM OUR LOCAL SCHOOLHOUSE

Tigers Drub Pierce 32 to 19

It was Kendrick all the way in a high school gridiron battle at Armitage Field here Saturday afternoon, when the Kendrick Tigers met the Pierce High School team.

In the first quarter Lyle Parks punted out of bounds on the Pierce 1-yard line. Minutes later Ray Lohman recovered a Pierce fumble, and Gary Browning went over for the touchdown. The try for point failed, being wide.

Again it was Pierce's ball, but this time Jerry Armitage intercepted a pass and rambled to the Pierce 20. Again Gary Browning went over for the touchdown. This time the try for point was good, it being on a pass from Lyle Parks to Reggie Wegner. At the end of the quarter the score read Kendrick 13, Pierce 0.

In the second quarter Kendrick drove to the Pierce 30, and scored a touchdown on a pass from Robin Magnuson to Reggie Wegner. The try for point kick was low. Play then was on a pretty even basis until the closing seconds of the first half, when Kendrick again scored on their "Everybody Handles the Ball" play with Reggie Wegner scoring the touchdown. Wesley Andrews made the try for point good on a kick. The half-time score read: Kendrick 28, Pierce 0.

In the third quarter Kendrick again scored following a 50-yard run by Gary Browning and a line plunge by Lyle Parks.

The first Pierce touchdown also came in this quarter when Jerry Lippert snaggled a pass from Darryl Vanderveer for 20 yards and six points.

In the fourth quarter Pierce, not willing to admit defeat, scored once on a run by Dwight Snyder, and again when Matt Lepka took a pass from Snyder for the third Pierce TD.

The final score read: Kendrick 32; Pierce 19.

The game was played under sunny skies with good support from the side-line rooters.

Junior Play Progressing

Hi, Folks, Juniors reporting again. Last week we introduced some of the main characters who appear in "Onions In The Stew." Of course the MacDonalds have neighbors, boy friends and girl friends, too.

Anne MacDonald, the elder of Betty and Don's teen age daughters, finds it hard to decide between two boy friends, Roger Hilton of Vashon Island, played by Robin Magnuson and Howard Fraser, a college boy from Seattle, played by Leonard Eldridge. Joan, the other daughter, plays along with poor deluded Claude, a local boy. This part is taken by Rayner Havens. Betty's good friend and nearest neighbor, Claire Fessenden is acted by Janice Foster. Sandra Peters and Sharon Strohm are the glamorous feminine threats. All men are putty in their hands. In the play they are Lesley Arnold and Margo, her niece.

Loeda Meyer is Miss Garvey Garvey, a welfare worker, who brings the play to a rapid climax. Although Bee Gee, Salsie and Kittle are not blondes, they surely are dizzy. They are Joan's special pals, and their parts are played by Mary Lee Westendahl, Carol Weyen and Bernice Fraser.

Next week we'll list the rest of the cast — our last report.

Prize Winners In Pet Parade

The Pet Parade always captures a first place in the interest of everyone and this year was no exception. One of the hardest jobs, of course, is to pick the winners, for each entry has its own special appeal. However, after quite a bit of deliberation, the judges picked, for first place, Dale Taylor, little three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Taylor of Juliaetta, for his get-up, as well as pet.

Dale was attired as a hunter, with hunting coat, game bag, pop gun and boots — yes, and a bird dog on a leash!

Donnie Hepler, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hepler took second place with his entry. Dressed in western clothes, he pulled a decorated wagon laden with a basket of crumpled linens

MRS. NEALE HOISINGTON WRITES OF ALASKA TRIP

Mrs. Neale Hoisington has written her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Westendahl, a most interesting letter describing their trip to Savak Island, Alaska, where they are establishing a cattle ranch. Articles in various daily papers as well as the Gazette have described their plans, and the cattle they took with them.

Through the kindness of the Westendahls, portions of her letter follow:

Hi Folks: Well, we finally got here. It has been quite a trip and I'm sure glad it's over. The ocean was getting pretty rough before we arrived. Mr. Nelson, who has a 2-way radio here, talked to us on the boat radio and guided us into the bay and there were others in row-boats who came out into the bay and showed us where to put the barge up as far on land as they could and unloaded the cattle. The "Highland" cattle didn't want to get off very bad and they pushed a couple overboard. The White Faces went off better. Neale led Mag off and Dixie followed her. They couldn't walk very good the first few steps, but it wasn't long until Dixie was running and bucking. One of the Highland cattle had a calf just before we got to Ketchikan. You should have seen him when he got on land, running and bucking. Chris Gunderson, the storekeeper here, has the only cattle here besides ours, about ten head.

There are 11 or 12 families here, with about 29 children in school. There is a lady missionary here. She is about 60 years old and has been here for two years.

The last I wrote we were in Kodiak, so I'll try and take you from there to here. We got to Kodiak about dark Saturday, Sept. 21. We tied up at the Union Oil dock and stayed over-night. We got fuel and water for the boat. Left there Sunday and the water was smooth until evening. Monday and Tuesday were stormy and the ocean awfully rough, it felt like the barge was going to tip over. Pat (the dog) fell overboard in about the worst of it. They stopped the boat and she finally got back to it, Neale and Woody went out to the front of the barge and Neale leaned way over the side and grabbed her and gave her to Woody. All the time there were big waves and swells and the wind was blowing. She must have been in the water for 10 or 15 minutes. She was scared, but never lost her head. If it had been dark we never would have found her. Sept. 25th we got to Sand Point on Papof Island, one of the Shumigson islands, about 6:00 a. m. It was dark and the wind was blowing and they had quite a time getting the boat tied to the dock. We were tied up at the crab cannery. The population of the town is four or five hundred. I think the people make a living catching and canning crabs. We went to the store. It was similar to Long's. It's run by a couple from Seattle during the summer and by a local couple in the winter.

Going to Sand Point from Kodiak we had awfully rough water, rain and fog from the night of the 22nd until 6:00 o'clock in the morning of the 25th. The boat kept tipping from side to side and the chair and stool in the cabin kept tipping over and sliding back and forth.

We left Sand Point at 10:30 Thursday. The water and weather were both nice. We went past Pauloff Volcano, saw the smoke coming from it. Most of the time it was covered by clouds, and has snow on top of it except where the smoke came out. Pauloff is a little over 8,000 feet high.

Stopped at King Cove for fuel and water. It was dark, so don't know what it looked like. We arrived at Pauloff Harbor about 1:00 o'clock. It was foggy and the ocean awful rough. If the barge hadn't been built very strongly, it would have fallen to pieces.

Boy, am I glad to get off that ocean. You don't realize how good it is to be on land until you have been on the water for a while.

No mail will go out of here until next month, as the boat doesn't stop here if the water is too rough. When anyone from here goes to Cold Bay they get the mail and bring it over.

Our address is: Mr. and Mrs. Neale Hoisington, Pauloff Harbor, Savak Island, Alaska.

Preservative Adds Life
The stuff that keeps fenceposts strong many years after they are set in the ground preserves lawn furniture, too. You can add a long period of useful life to picnic tables, swings, and other outdoor wooden furniture with a preservative, according to Homer Futter, Latah county agent. Two excellent materials can be obtained from hardware store or lumber yards, he says. They are pentachlorophenol, usually called "penta," and copper naphthenate. Each is sold under various trade names, but the label will show the basic ingredients and give directions for application.

All wood in contact with the soil is subject to decay. The rot is caused by fungi — small organisms present everywhere in the soil. Numerous insects also attack wood. Wet wood is particularly vulnerable.

Penta and copper naphthenate are poisonous to both insects and fungi. When mixed with oil they are not soluble in water and wood soaked with them become water repellent.

For furniture like tables and chairs, the county agent suggests soaking each leg over night in a tin can full of the preservative in oil solution. Other vulnerable spots such as joints, bolt holes and lumber ends can be treated by flooding the surface and allowing the material to stand until it disappears into the wood.

For best results the wood should be dry and unpainted when treated. Paint can be applied after the preservative is dry. Copper naphthenate leaves a slight green stain.

Pinkeye Season Calls for Care

Urge Early Treatment For Affected Animals

Summer and fall months often find cattlemen concerned with a variable number of cases of sore-eyed cattle. In many cases the animals are probably suffering from a condition commonly called pinkeye, says the American Veterinary Medical Association.

The term pinkeye is descriptive of the condition in that parts of the affected eye become reddened and inflamed. It may be caused by different germs, and in some cases a mechanical irritant has paved the way for the bacteria to gain a foothold, the report states.

Such irritants as dust, plant pollen, and insects are more plentiful in pastures during the late summer, making the animals more susceptible at this time of the year. Pinkeye affects cattle of all breeds and all ages, the association says. Since pinkeye spreads readily, unaffected groups should be pastured or kept as far away from affected cattle as possible.

The association suggests that the several affected animals should be isolated in a small shaded area or in a shed or barn. Feed and water should be close at hand because the affected eyes are extremely sensitive and animals will not graze in bright sunlight. Some are completely blind and unless properly treated the blindness may become permanent.

Don't Take Chances With Cornpickers

There is an old saying that "you can't beat the machine" and this time of year is appropriate for using this phrase to point up the fact that this fall many a careless farmer will not understand the truth of this statement until after he has been injured in a cornpicker accident.

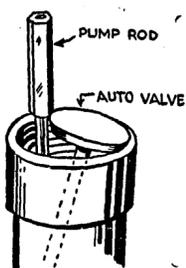

The facts are simple: A stalk of corn goes through the snapping rolls at a speed of 7 feet a second. By scientific calculation, you need .4 of a second to perform the simple reaction of letting go of a corn stalk. This means that a stalk goes 3 feet through the rolls while you are reacting to the danger.

Most cornpicker accidents, naturally, are the result of carelessness, or are caused by the foolish act of attempting to unclog or adjust a cornpicker without stopping it.

Added to the unreplaceable loss of a finger, hand or arm caught in snapping or husking rolls, there is an equally disastrous financial loss.

Such an accident costs several hundred dollars in doctor and hospital bills—much more if it is necessary to "fill in" for the missing hand with an artificial limb or hook. And while they're laid up, they have to hire extra help to do their farm work.

Good Idea

A disconnected pump rod is kept from dropping into the well pipe by wedging an old auto valve between the rod and the pipe. The valve is easily removed when the pump is installed.

It Ain't So, Virginia!
Every now and then the general public likes to take an inside peek at us newspapermen to see what makes us tick. To help satisfy that natural curiosity we would like to call public attention to a bill introduced in Congress the other day.

It would permit small weekly newspapers to suspend publication two weeks of each year without losing their second-class mailing privileges. At present, the weeklies must publish regularly each week of the year, to retain the low-cost mailing privileges without which they could not operate.

The effect of the law is to chain the publishers of one and two-man papers to their jobs — allowing them no vacation. The pending bill would make it possible for such newspapermen to take vacations just as most people in other business do.

We hope the bill passes. And, yes, Virginia, it is not true what you see in the movies about us newspapermen. Most of us do not dream of some day owning a small weekly. We like our vacations too much. — Chicago Sun Times.

Why M. F. Hedler Likes Competition

M. F. (Mikey) Hedler

Like almost every businessman, Mikey has competitors . . . other petroleum distributors who also work hard to win steady customers. Probably no one knows this better than he does. That's why he works constantly to improve his service. That's competition.

And, even though methods may differ, the entire petroleum industry believes in competition, too. For competition inspires research and experiment; the results are new processes, new and improved products, a better way of life.

This is the essence of our democratic system and our economic vitality as a nation. It's also one of the reasons you can enjoy efficient dealer service and the most advanced petroleum products at the lowest prices in the world.

Many of you may know M. F. (Mikey) Hedler. He's worked here in Kendrick for eight years supplying Mobil products to independent Mobil dealers in your community.

On the occasion of Oil Progress Week, we join in honoring the Mobil distributors and dealers . . . and their competitors . . . for the fine job they do serving you . . . serving a nation on wheels.

Digs A Real Potato

Tuesday of last week Mr. and Mrs.
Ernest Freytag began the digging of their netted gem potato crop, and came up with at least one "monster," a very nicely shaped potato that tipped the scales at 3 pounds, even.
Yes, there have been reports in other papers of larger ones, but it must be borne in mind that this spud was a dry land product — not irrigated!

Experience is the only sure-fire cure for inexperience.

"I feel so smart and fashionable since we got our all electric laundry"

"You just can't imagine how wonderful it is to have an all-electric laundry. It gives you the feeling of being efficient and modern, so fashionable. An all-electric laundry saves energy, worry, and time. I use my new freedom to be with the children, to shop, and for worthwhile clubwork.
"Now my laundry is washed automatically, gently, and safely. Clothes are dried sun-sweet clean. No more worry about fading, wind whip, rain, or soot. Best of all, I actually cut my ironing time in half because so many items are ready to fold and put away right from my new dryer."

Take a tip from this homemaker and friendly Reddy... Visit your nearby IEEL member-dealer soon for your automatic electric laundry.

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, now that Sales Day is over it's "full speed ahead" with that fall work — and fall field work takes gasoline, diesel fuel, oils, greases, lubricants — and that's where we "shine." Just pick up your phone and call 1251 — tell us your needs, and we'll be there in a jiffy — with those famous Union Products!

Inebriate: "The navy mus' have relaxeded it'sh ruleson, size." Sober Fried: "How so?" Inebriate: "It telsh here abou' a shalloer who went to shleep on his watch!"

Are you ready for the wintery weather that lies ahead? Do you have Prestone in the radiator? — Light oil in the crankcase? Mud and snow tires? Tire chains? If not, bring your car, pickup or truck in to us and we'll "winterize" it for you. The cost is low — the safety margin high.

Officer: "I caught this here guy pinchin' bananas off a fruit stand." Judge: "Ah! Impersonating an officer! Two years! Next case!"

How's that stove oil tank? Is it full and ready for the winter that lies ahead? If not, pick up your phone and call 1251. Say: "Fill 'er up" and we'll do the rest!

Barber (to absent-minded professor): "You want a haircut? Would you mind taking off your hat?"

Professor: "So sorry, I didn't know there were ladies present."

Always travel "Union".
