The big room was made festive for the occasion with arrangements of spring flowers. A gay umbrella was hung over the bride's table, with streamers attached to gifts, adding to the shower decor.

For entertainment a guessing game was played, with Mrs. Helen Hinrichs holding high, and Mrs. Anna Bowers, second high.

The bride opened and displayed her many lovely and useful gifts, and commented that this was the first shower she had ever attended, as the custom was not observed in her home state of West Virginia.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the evening by the following hostesses: Mrs. Melvin Sneeve, Mrs. Joe Clemenhagen, Mrs. Grant Clemenhagen, Mrs. Henry Galloway, Mrs. Ed. Galloway and Mrs. Anna Bowers.

DEATH COMES TO CENTENARIAN

Palouse, Wn., Jan. 20 — Halvor Nelson, 100, died yesterday at the Palouse Rest Haven in Colfax. He was born in Oslo, Norway, and came to the United States when 21 years old. He had been a resident of Latah County, Idaho, east of Garfield, in the Silver Creek district, since 1919, where he had farmed.

Mr. Nelson also farmed on Big Bear ridge, near Kendrick, coming to this area in 1903, and leaving in 1919. The family first lived on what is known as the Koretmeier place, later moving to the ranch now farmed by Claude Jones, where they lived until 1919. He gave the land to build the Bethany Lutheran Church, where it now stands.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Mary Schel, Clarkston; Mrs. Nellie Bernsten and Mrs. Mable Sever, Spokane; a son, Alfred, Garfield; 19 grandchildren; 31 great-grandchildren; and eight great-great-grandchildren; and a sister in Norway. The funeral was held Wednesday at 1:00 p. m. in Garfield Christian Church.

NATIONAL V. F. W. WEEK

National V. F. W. Week, which this year is Jan. 19-25, was instituted in 1952, and since that time has grown in popularity and the results have been gratifying. It has given the organization an opportunity to tell our citizens the aims of the organization. The entire history is the story of the task of keeping our citizens aware of our patriotic obligation to a country which is a Republic and a free nation.

The objects of this organization are fraternal, patriotic, historical and educational. To preserve and strengthen the comradeship among its members, to perpetuate the memory and history of our dead, to assist the widows and orphans, to maintain allegiance to the government of the United States and its Constitution, and to help preserve and defend the United States from all her enemies, whomsoever.

The V. F. W. has wholeheartedly endeavored to live up to the principles set forth in the above declaration, and their record on the national level is living proof. This means that they have kept up a continuous campaign to insure just and adequate compensation for disabled veterans, and increased pensions for widows and orphans.

Once again, as an organized group, the Veterans, the Auxiliary, and the Military Order of the Cooties, they have not been lax in responsibility for national security. Let us try to help them support what has been fought for in the past wars — Freedom — and all that we hold dear today.

The National V. F. W. Week has a special significance for all of us, not only those who have been over seas, but for everyone who has served his country in time of need.

CUB SCOUTS ON TELEVISION

The local Cub Scouts, Pack 114 — were viewed on Television Monday evening at 5:30, over station KLEW at Lewiston, with Don Paul as Master of Ceremonies.

Appearing on the "Cow Poke" program, each boy was interviewed by Paul, and had a chance to tell a few things about himself and the Cub program.

Mrs. Marion Rowden and Mrs. Geo. Brocke, Jr., are the Den Mothers, and told us the Cub theme for this year is "Movie Making," so felt the opportunity to see how TV was handled went along very well with their theme.

The group meets twice a month, with one Pack meeting. They have good attendance and interest is high — no doubt this is in part due to their leadership.

Cub Scouting gets boys off to a good start, and it is with pride this area acknowledges these young citizens of tomorrow. Following is a list of members: Dean Brocke, Tommy Rowden, Richard Abrams, Rickie Rogers, David Wilson, Dana Magnuson, Stanley Wilson, John Bogar, Bill, Danny and Eldon Fey, Charles Lackey, Freddy Cope, Tommy Cuddy and Bobby Meserve. Bobby Meserve was unable to be with the TV group, due to the mumps.

The youngsters were taken to Lewiston and accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Fey, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Rowden, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Floyd Millard, Mrs. Onal Cope and Mr. and Mrs. George Brocke, Jr.

ALIEN REGISTRATION TIME

James M. Sweet district director of the Immigration and Naturalization service estimated this week that approximately 4,600 aliens will report their addresses in the Idaho during January under the Federal Alien Address Report program. He added that 4,212 aliens reported their addresses during January of 1957.

Mr. Sweet said that all non-citizens except those in diplomatic status, foreign representatives of certain international organizations and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers, are required to file address reports.

Any alien who wilfully violates the address report requirement may be fined up to $200, imprisoned for 30 days and deported. In addition, those who are not in the United States during January must report their address to the service within ten days after their return.

Mr. Sweet said that address report cards will be available at the Immigration Service office at Boise, and local postoffices beginning January 1, 1958.

WHAT'S AHEAD FOR LUMBER INDUSTRY

INTERESTING PREDICTIONS FOR COMING SEASON

Wash., D. C. — The year 1957 has been a sobering one for lumber manufacturers — in fact, for the entire lumber industry.

The coming year is one to approach with cautious optimism.

It would appear that the decline in lumber output it about to end. Output for 1957, at this writing, is expected to total about 34 billion feet — some 9 percent below 1956.

The prospects is that 1958 production will at least equal the level of 1957 and could very well exceed it. No more precise estimate is possible at the present time because of a number of factors which have yet to crystallize.

Housing is one of the uncertainties.

Tight money is expected to be the chief limiting factor to housing activity in 1958, as it was in 1957.

Some easing of the mortgage market is likely because of increased savings and a leveling off in the demand for funds to finance industrial plant and equipment expansion.

Still, many builders and potential home buyers will find it difficult to obtain financing.

A reasonable estimate of housing starts — both public and private — in 1958, would seem to be about one million — perhaps 1.1 million or even as many as 1.2 million, in view of the Federal Reserve Board's recent lowering of its discount rate — the fee charged on loans to member banks.

Assuming some sort of increase from this year's probable total of 950,000 to 1,000,000 housing units, it is likely that apartment units will account for a greater share of the total housing output in 1958 than in 1957.

How lumbermen fare in next year's housing market will depend largely upon how aggressively and how forcefully they undertake to promote the advantages of lumber and wood products to the builder, architect and prospective home buyer.

Never has there been a greater need for aggressive merchandising by the lumber industry.

The prospect of a significant increase in home remodeling; repair and expansion work next year should serve as an incentive to the industry to step up its merchandising and advertising efforts promptly.

An encouraging development of late has been the leveling off of lumber inventories at the mill level. Halting the steady rise in gross mill stocks has involved some shutdowns, and, in many cases, a shorter work week.

But the industry is in a much better position now than earlier in the year to feel the full salutary effects of any pickup in new business.

It will be no comfort to lumbermen to know that the Corps of Engineers now expects the dollar volume of its lumber purchases in 1958 to be some 25 percent below 1957. However, military demands are subject to constant change and the increased emphasis on guided missile and space satellite developments could alter almost all procurement schedules over night.

To sum up, 1958 would seem to be a year in which the lumber industry has an opportunity to strengthen its hold on present markets and acquire new ones.

There will be many rough spots ahead, but none of the problems will be of such magnitude as to defy solution by men of courage, vision and ingenuity. — N. Floyd McGowin, President National Lumber Manufacturers Assn.

Just Couldn't Wait!

A curiosity-ridden drunk stopped beside a deep excavation and called down to a group of men laboring at the bottom of the pit: "Shay, whatcha doin' down there."

"We're building a subway," one of the workers shouted back.

"When you gonna finish it?"

"Three years," came the reply.

"Three yearsh," muttered the drunk to himself. "To heck with it. I'll take a taxi!"

WOOD LIVING IS GOOD LIVING

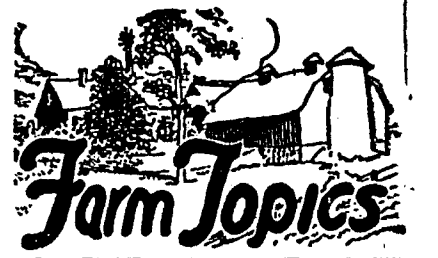

it will be here tomorrow...

The modern manufacturing methods used in the production of lumber products add to the natural beauty of wood and assures longer life. These advantages, coupled with the economical factor of wood, both in actual building and over-the-years maintenance, is another reason to say that "WOOD LIVING IS GOOD LIVING."

Pig Disease Has Small Beginning Early Efforts Stop Atrophic Rhinitis

Golfers sometimes kiddingly remark after a bad drive, "It's not how you begin but how you end!" But researchers at the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine aren't kidding when they describe atrophic rhinitis in pigs as a disease that "begins little and ends big."

These research men point out that atrophic rhinitis is usually noticed when the pigs are two to four months old. During the first year of infection, only a few pigs may be affected. But unless steps are taken to control the disease, it may spread to virtually every pig in the lot by the third or fourth year.

SOUNDS LIKE YOU GOT ATROPHIC RHINITIS

First sign of the disease is time to treat pigs for atrophic rhinitis.

The first year atrophic rhinitis is found it may be controlled by eliminating all affected pigs, plus their littermates and dams. If it is found the second or third year, only breeding sows and gilts that have shown no signs of rhinitis and whose litters have shown no evidence of the disease should be saved. Separate the ones you save from the infected stock.

When most of the herd is affected, it may be most economical to market the entire herd at the first chance and purchase replacements from a disease-free herd. Thoroughly clean and disinfect all houses and equipment before buying clean stock. The first sign of the disease is violent sneezing, followed by a nasal discharge. Nose bleeding may also occur. Affected animals are stunted and may die of pneumonia.

Strawberry Virus May Be Controlled

A new technique using gibberellic acid, the miracle plant-growth booster, may free strawberry plants of yield-reducing viruses, according to research at the Oregon State college agricultural experiment station.

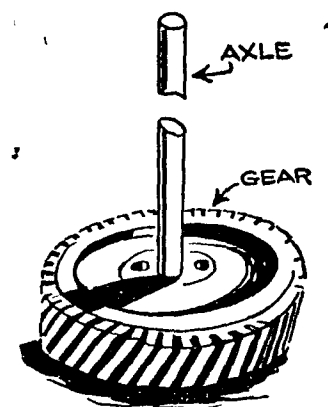

Ralph Garren, OSC horticulturist, reports that some new plants produced on runners of strawberry plants treated with gibberellic acid have checked out free of virus. He says the new technique may make it possible to produce virus-free plants of strawberry varieties, such as the Northwest variety, which haven't been eligible for certification in Oregon due to virus infections in all known stocks.

In his experiment, Garren used strawberry plants stunted by several viruses that cause reduced yields in the state. Gibberellic acid was injected into the crowns of the plants, stimulating runners to grow rapidly and develop new plants much sooner than usual.

Theory behind the experiment was that gibberellic acid might speed growth to the point where new plants could be produced and separated from the mother plant before viruses could move into the new plants.

To date, it looks like the idea works.
