AUTO INSURANCE RATES ARE RISING

HIGH COST REPAIRS: NUMBER OF WRECKS FACTORS

San Francisco — New automobile insurance rates for Idaho were announced last week by two rating organizations on behalf of their member and subscriber companies, effective Jan. 22nd.

The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters issued revised rates for bodily injury and property damage liability insurance and the National Automobile Underwriters Association for automobile material damage insurance Liability insurance protects policyholders against claims or suits for damages to person or property of others, while material damage insurance covers loss or damage to the insured car itself. The statewide average rate level for liability insurance will be increased by 21 percent, and the material damage rate level will go up 9 per-

Rate changes will vary, however, in different areas within the state (called rating territories.) The rates for each territory are based upon the record of losses incurred by insured motorists residing within that territory. Thus, the territory with the lowest loss cost average pays the lowest rates, and those with the higher loss cost pay higher rates.

Rates also vary according to the use of the automobile and according to who drives it, so that cars fall into different rate classifications according to these factors.

"Because of unprecedented losses and high accident frequency among insured cars," the National Bureau stated, "rates are increased for practically all car liability classifications.'

For cars owned or principally operated by unmarried men under age 25, the rates increase from $104 to $122 in the Boise area; $92 to $122 in the remainder.

Unmarried young men who own or principally operate cars typically lack parental supervision and frequently their cars are driven by other youths. Liability costs for these cars as a class average almost 31/2 times higher than for family cars without young male operators, hence, the higher

WATER USERS ON LOOKOUT

The Northwest Public Power Assn. has declared war on the water users of Idaho, and seeks control of the waters of all Northwest states, Sen. Henry C. Dworshak charged.

Dworshak said a letter, sent by the association secretary, Gus Norwood, to members of Congress, outwood, to members of Congress, outlines a "brazen program of usurpation of Idaho's water." He said the letter, written in opposition to S. J. 97,, the Western Water Bill of Rights, specifically opposes provisions that the federal government respect state water rights. "This attitutude poses a threat to every headgate in Idaho, Dworshak stated.

The Idaho senator said Norwood's letter stated S. J. 97 was "wrong in requiring the Federal government to conform to the water laws of each of the 48 states." The letter also opposes having the Federal Power Commission regulate the power selling prices of government agencies.

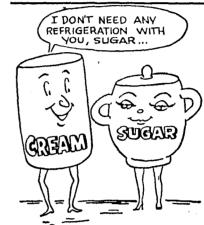

Dworshak said Norwood's letter is a definite indication that this public power group now believs it is bigger than the individual states, and its promoters are preparing a bill to set up a regional power empire which would trample state water rights under the heel of a government-controlled all-powerful power agency."

Sugar-Preserved Dairy Cream Keeps Lasts Six Months At Room Temperature

Sugar-preserved dairy cream that keeps well, unrefrigerated, just as do sweetened condensed and evaporated milk, is a promising new product of dairy research, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced.

The manufacturing process is a simple one that any well-equipped dairy plant can carry out. It produces a sweetened cream product containing 40 per cent butterfat, additional nonfat milk solids, and sugar in sufficient concentration to preserve it at room temperature for at least six months.

Sugar-preserved cream that lasts could provide new dairy markets.

Further storage tests are under

Delicious ice cream can be made when the product is used as the source of milk fat. It can be whipped, or used as a source of cream and sugar in coffee and in other ways. Pale yellow in color, it has a consistency and flavor much like those of sweetened condensed milk; however, it is less sweet.

Dr. Arjen Tamsma, chemist of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, described the new product to the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers meeting in San Francisco, Calif. Since ice cream manufacturers now use much frozen cream as a source of milk fat in their mixes, the new unfrozen product could save them considerable expense and frozen storage space.

Dr. Arjen Tamsma and Dr. Raymond 'W. Bell-both engaged in USDA research in Washington, D. C., to increase and improve use of dairy products-are chiefly responsible for development of the cream preservation process.

The cream stays stable for the same reason that jams, jellies, syrups and honey do - bacteria cannot grow in a concentrated sugar solution.

Farm-City Week Fills Vital Need

Producing, processing and distributing our food involves many processes and many people. These, of course, give rise to problemsproblems that can be solved if they are all better understood. The annual Farm-City Week was held this year for the third time in an effort to bring about better understanding along the "Life Line of America" -the line of essential processes between food in the field and food on the table. Farm-City Week has grown from an idea born in the minds of some of our agricultural . leaders. They had the desire to bring about a better understanding among our economic groups whose people live side by side but who do not always act as neighbors in the traditional American pattern. The necessity of closing the breach in the understanding between the rural and urban segments of the American economy is a very real one. Farm-City Week has taken the lead in closing this breach through a concentrated exchange of ideas and information and through widespread "get acquainted affairs" between farm and city folks.

Insured Pension Plan Benefitting Older Employees

NEW YORK - Life insurance companies writing pension plants report that material progress have been made in recent years an bringing insured pension programs into a position of protecting the job opportunities of older workers, says the Institute of Life Ensurance.

The most effective pension plan, according to pension experts in the business, is one which prevides, among other features, continuation of the pension rights. even though the worker leaves the employ of the firm, and came which does not involve unduly larger annual premiums for the older worker. This feature, known as vesting, prevents the older worker from being tied to his. job because of his pension credits and enables him to be re-employed without the employer assuming extra pension obligations.

As a recent United States Department of Labor survey reposit indicated, there is actually no warrant for an employer citing the existence of a pension plan 23: a barrier to the employment of an older applicant. It was pointed out in that report, however, that many employers used it as an "excuse."

Claim Sound Can Destroy Cancer

ANN ARBOR-Ultrasonic sound can be used to destroy cancer. chart the structure of living cells. and play a part in the treatment of mental disorders, a scientific meeting at The University Michigan was told.

Dr. William J. Fry of the University of Illinois' Bioacoustics laboratory told the 54th meeting of the Acoustical Society of America that Russian scientists claim they can selectively destroy cancer tissue with beams of high frequency sound.

Tumors so treated could not be transplanted to an experimental animal, Dr. Fry said, "This implies that a type of immunity to cancer has been produced. They also report that the highly malignant tumor melanoblastomo has been treated in humans with encouraging results."

Dr. Fry also described an "ultrasonic microscope" which has been developed at his university. It directs beams of sound through tissue samples while probes on the other side measure the amount that gets through.

Radiation Hazards Not Overwhelming Problem

MINNEAPOLIS-Radiation hazards likely to develop from nuclear weapons testing are too slight to be worth considering in life insurance calculations of the American public's health and longevity. They are insignificant compared to the commonplace hazards of our daily living, says the medical department of a national life insurance company.

But within the next fifteen or twenty years, say the insurance doctors, safe disposal of radioactive wastes resulting from peaceful development of atomic power can be a substantial problem. American casualty companies are already writing public liability insurance for nuclear reactors.

U. S. bomb tests, however, are yielding information of value in the solution of the radioactive waste disposal problem. Safety provisions for commercial atomic power plants are rigidly laid down by the Atomic Energy Commission, and make accident hazards extremely small. We can confidently expect that we will deal with the vast new problems of the dawning atomic age as well as and perhaps better than we have deals. with those of the automobile age and the air age, predicts the insurance company's report.

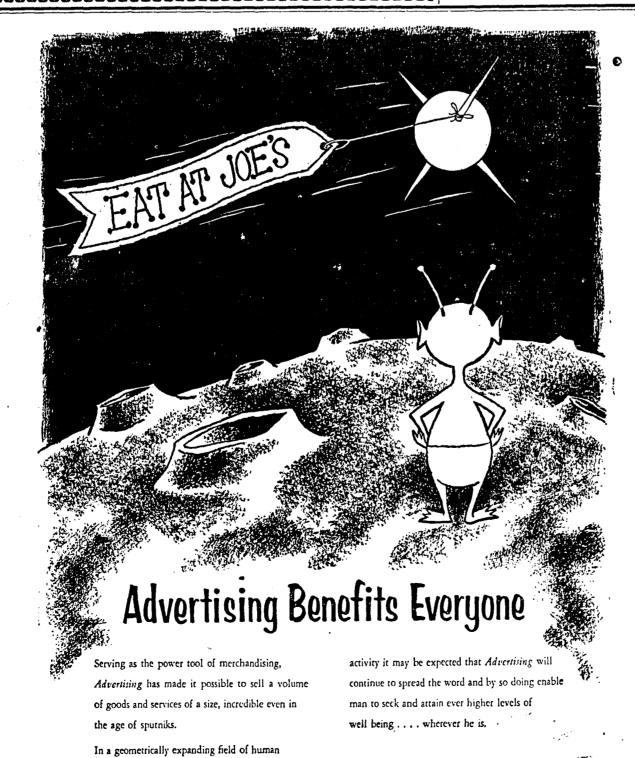

Co-education Firmly Entrenched in College ANN ARBOR-Seems more than likely that if Betty Co-ed wasn't in attendance in today's college classes, Joe College would rise up and demand her return.

"That's how firmly co-education is entrenched in our colleges today," says Algo Henderson, professor of higher education at The University of Michigan.

"I think the significance of separate education of the two sexes has largely disappeared because the automobile has caused men to be present on every women's campus," Professor Henderson says. "This mobility means that in their social life they do have co-education so the separateness is comconfined to classroom learning."

Baby Snooper

Laikas Have Long History of Real Service to Man

WASHINGTON-Laika, the late space-flying passenger of Russia's Sputnik II, was named for a canine family that has a long history of working for and with man.

The Laikas belong to the Old World branch of the ancient Spitz group that includes all sled dogs. They are closely related to the Malemute and Eskimo dogs, popularly called Huskies, of Arctic North America.

In varying degrees, Eastern and Western dogs share typical Spitz characteristics of broad skull and tapering muzzle; erect, pointed ears; tough, hairy feet; heavy coat frilled around the neck; and plumed tail arched over the back.

In Russia, the word Laika is a general term for almost any sled dog found between Lapland and far eastern Siberia, says the National Geographic Society. To distinguish specific breeds, the name of home regions or tribal masters is usually added—for example, the Kamchatka, Ostiak, or Bashkir Among Eastern sled dogs, the breeds most familar to Westerners are the fluffy, snow-white Samoyed of northwest Siberia and the Chuchi, or Siberian Husky, from the extreme northeast.

Both Samoyeds and Siberians Huskies are handsome, versatile animals that have been favorites at dog shows and sled-racing contests since their introduction into England and Alaska some 50 years

Film Series On Hearing Problems PITTSBURGH-More than 3,500,

000 persons in the United States have a hearing problem, public health experts estimate. Many suffer impairment of hearing as a result of exposure to industrial noise. This problem is the subject of a new series of three half-hour full color motion pictures entitled "NOISE AND HEARING." Part One, "How We Hear," defines the loss of hearing problem in terms of public health and safety, explains the mechanics of hearing, and illustrates various types of hearing impairment. "The Nature of Sound," the second film, explains the physics of sound and its measurement in terms of frequency and intensity, explains some of the termi nology used in this field. The probable mechanism of hearing loss is considered.

Part Three, "Noise Control," presents methods of industrial noise measurements and analysis. and tells of ways to control harmful noise through elmination, insulation, isolating of the source, or through personal ear protection.

Mexicans Find Colas Substitute for Water

LOS ANGELES - Carbonated colas are replacing pulque as the national drink of Mexico.

Credit for this phenomenon doesn't belong to any high-powered advertising campaign but to that bane of Mexico's existence-polluted water.

According to Dr. John A. Crow, professor of Spanish at the University of California, Los Angeles, polluted water is still the main cause of disease of the digestive tract in Mexico.

"The abnormally high death rate due to enteritis and kindred ailments is directly attributable to unclean drinking water," Dr. Crow said. "This explains why bottled carbonated drinks have become so popular that thousands of middle class and wealthy families buy whole cases at a time and drink nothing else.

"On every country road you will find little shacks where carbonated drinks are sold," Dr. Crow, author of several books on Mexico and Mexican literature, said.

Increasing Traffic Toll Brings Record Claims

NEW YORK-The mounting traffic toll is certain to bring a record number of life insurance death claims from motor vehicle accidents in 1957, with a record amount paid out for this cause, the Institute of Life Insurance

In the first nine months of the year, 34,000 such claims accounted for payments of $82,000,000. This compares with $71,000,000 under 33.000 claims in the like period of last year and $53,000,000 under 27,000 claims five years ago. At , the current rate, the 1957 total will be more than $110,000,000 under 46,000 claims.

Volcano Found LONDON-Soviet arctic explorers have discovered an active underwater volcano near the North Pole, according to Moscow radio. Prof. Yakov Gakkel told a meeting in Leningrad of the discovery during studies of the underwater Lomonoscov Mountain Range, the radio said.

Federal Spending At New High; Pushed By Civilian Program

NEW YORK - In the face of mounting public concern over the high cost of Government in the United States and increasing pressures for economy, the total of Government expenditures-Federal, State and local combined-has gone into new high ground over the past year, breaking through a level that had held for more than a decade in war and peace.

This time, in contrast with the past, than main upward push has been coming from civilian programs rather than from the military and defense spending areas.

Figures compiled by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget on a calendar year basis show that Federal, State and local expenditures combined added up to $105.2 billions for 1956. This total was $5.2 billions higher than the year before, and the gain was almost equally divided between Federal and combined State and local outlays. It was $2.1 billions above the previous peak for overall Government spending of $103.1 billions, originally established in 1944 during World War II and duplicated in 1953 as the result of the Korean War.

Nor is there any indication, despite the budget-cutting in the last session of Congress and increasing attention being paid to steadily-rising State and local outlays, that effective controls of governmental budgetary and spending processes have been attained. In fact, all signs are that a new peak for overall government spending is being chalked up this year, even without the pressures to reverse the retrenchment trend in defense spending because of Russian achievements in the missiles field.

Nature and Man Create Cave Organ

LURAY, VIRGINIA-Electronics and nature have joined forces to create The Great Stalactite Organ in Luray Caverns, Virginia. A musical instrument not only unique but the largest in the world as well, it is still growing and can be made to include all tunable stalactites in the 64-acre caverns.

It has taken three years for Leland W. Sprinkle, an electronic scientist at the Pentagon, to develop this instrument which can coax the music out of stones silent for centuries in the caverns first seen by candlelight in 1878. It all started when four-year-old Robert Sprinkle asked to visit the caverns in June 1954 for a birthday present. It gave his father the idea that it might be possible to create a device that would play musical selections on the stalac-

Today that dream has been realized with the console, and automatic player which control the electronic mechanism that causes rubber-tipped metal plungers to strike the stalactites whose sweet mystic tones echo in the underground Ball Room of Luray Cav-

Prolonged TV Watching May Cause Leg Troubles

CHICAGO-Prolonged sitting in awkward positions while watching television may produce serious circulatory disorders in the legs, a Philadelphia physician said to-

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Meyer Naide reported three cases of blood clots occuring in the leg vessels after the patients had sat in awkward positions watching TV. Similar disorders may occur after driving long distances in a car, especially in tall men who are "peculiarly susceptible" to such ailments, he said.

Dr. Naide recommended that television viewers get up and move about at least once an hour in addition to moving their legs frequently. Girdles and other tight garments also should be removed before prolonged TV watching.

Activity Recommended As Fatigue Treatment

CHICAGO-Rest is not "a universal panacea" for fatigue, even among aging persons, a New York physician said today.

In many cases, activity is better remedy, especially when the fatigue results from "atrophy of disuse," Dr. Theodore G. Klumpp, president of Winthrop Laboratories, Inc., said.

In the absence of specific disease as a cause of fatigue, it arises in older persons from the normal physiological processes of aging which reduce the body's endurance; from loss of incentive motivation, and interest; from a decline of glandular activity, and from "atrophy of disuse."

People Set New Saving Peak At $253 Billions

NEW YORK - Adding to their protection, and at the same time helping to meet the capital needs of our high-investment economy, the American people boosted the total of their accumulated savings in life insurance and other longterm thrift mediums to above the $250 billion level this year.

This is a new high mark in the nation's personal thrift innuals. It was accomplished by an increase of nearly $9 billions in the first half of this year in savings accumulated behind life insurance policies, time deposits in mutual savings and commercial banks, and accounts in savings and loan associations, according to data compiled by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

The increase for the period in these three thrift mediums taken together was the largest in years, and more than offset an aggregate decline of close to $11/2 billions in two other classifications of long-term savings of individuals-U. S. Savings Bonds and Postal Savings. As a result, the net increase in accumulated longterm personal savings came to $7½ billions between January and June, lifting the total at mid-year to a new high of more than $253 billions. This figure is the equivalent of over $5,000 for every American household

Accident Victims Basis of Study

CHICAGO - Accidents account for about 7 per cent of all cases treated in American hospitals, according to a new survey by the American Medical Association.

Accidents combined with pregnancy, the "other great nondisease category," account for onefourth of the total hospital load, according to the A.M.A. Journal. Many people believe that all patients are hospitalized for disease, the editorial noted.

The study on accidents, prepared by the A.M.A. Bureau of Medical Economic Research and reported in the current Journal, is a part of a comprehensive survey of medical services given to the American people. The accident study was based on information about patients discharged from 6,000 general and special hospitals during November, 1955. Tuberculosis and mental hospitals were excluded from the study. The 128,000 patients hospitalized because of accidents comprised 6.9 per cent of all patients discharged during the month. The average hospital stay for accident patients was 10.7 days as compared with 9.1 days for nonaccident patients. The accident cases required the use of 50,500 beds, or 6.7 per cent of total beds avail-

Geophysical Year Seeks Northwest Passage Data

WASHINGTON — One of the many questions to which International Geophysical Year Scientists seek an answer is: How soon, at the present rate of Arctic thawing, may ships on schedule traverse a Northwest Passage across. the top of North America during the summer months?

For their answer they can now draw on vital information supplied by five weather stations installed on Canadian Arctic islands 1947-1950. They can draw also on the experience of ships operating for the United States Military Sea Transport Service in supplying those stations and the 50 radar outposts of the DEW (Distant Early Warning) Line.

The DEW Line, stretching from Alaska's far-west Cape Lisburne to Baffin Island, went into full operation last August. Weather and radar outposts alike are manned almost exclusely by Canadian and United States civilians.

It's Really Glue That Holds World Together

WASHINGTON-Geophysics notwithstanding, it's glue that holds the world together.

Since earliest times, men have needed to stick one material to another. King Tut sat on glued furniture. In present-day life, if all glue turned to dust, countless objects ranging from pianos to supersonic planes would fall apart. The average house would be a shambles.

Fortunately, the National Geographic Society says, nature has provided plenty of glue-animal, vegetable, and mineral. Tried-andtrue natural glues still pull more than their own weight, but the best new adhesives come from synthetic resins.

Income Up
WASHINGTON—Half of all U.S. families had a total income of $4,780 or more in 1956, 8 per cent over the 1955 figure, according to the Bureau of the Census. The bureau's figures were based on a median-numerical middle-rather than an average.
