

TELL OF LIFE ON ALASKAN ISLAND

HOISINGTONS DESCRIBE THEIR 'PIONEER' ACTIVITIES

Under date of Jan. 12, from Pauloff Harbor, Sanak Island, Alaska, Mr. and Mrs. Neale Hoisington, who are pioneering with a cattle ranch, write:

Dear Billy: We want to thank you for the copy of the Gazette that you sent us. We receive every copy, and sometimes two or three from our friends down there, and we surely do appreciate and enjoy them.

We have heard via the wireless that some of your readers have requested more information from this part of the world in your paper, so here goes!

Sanak Island has 33,000 acres. It is approximately 13 1/2 miles by 5 miles. It is shaped quite like the United States. Take Florida and bend it at right angles about a fourth of the way from the top, then take the states from Maine to New York, inclusive and set them down by Virginia, with Maine protruding eastward into the Atlantic, and you have an almost perfect resemblance of Sanak Island. With Pauloff Harbor, Unimak Cove and Johnson Bay representing the lakes of Superior, Michigan and Huron, respectively, and Sanak Harbor representing Vancouver Bay.

The general lay of the land is like that of the Palouse country, except that the hills are bunched a little closer together. The highest peak is 1,740 feet above sea level, located between Pauloff Harbor and Sanak Harbor. There is another hill about 200 feet high near Johnson Bay. Other than that there is nothing much higher than 100 feet.

There are supposed to be 365 fresh water lakes on the island, totalling a little over 3,000 acres of water. We believe it, too. One sure has to detour a lot when crossing the island, especially when on horseback. There are also a lot of soft spots and marshy places that won't hold up a horse or cow. The stock get pretty wise to these places in a hurry, however and avoid them pretty well.

The weather here is very unlike what we were used to. We get a lot of rain. I would estimate that there has been 20 to 30 inches of rainfall since our arrival.

The winter so far has been really mild. The lowest temperature has been 18 above, and that was just for one morning. It stayed between 20 and 24 above for about a week, and the natives commented on the long cold spell. We, of course, are used to the winter temperature down home, so this seems like a cool, damp fall to us. There has only been seven or eight inches of snow so far, and that is all gone now, except for a few drifts. The snow doesn't stay in one spot very long here, as the wind blows quite a lot, and once in a while there is a real gale — 80 or 90 miles an hour or so. There has been but one gale since we arrived here, and that about six weeks ago. It didn't blow as hard here, however, as it did some other places, according to the Coast Guard. It blew up to 110 knots in gusts, this side of Kodiak.

It has been two weeks or more since this letter was begun, so had better add a little more and hope that it gets on its way in a day or two. The mailboat didn't stop here on the way down because of the weather, but imagine that it will make an effort to stop on its return to Seaward, because he has some 20 pieces of freight for Pauloff. It has been six weeks or more since we had any mail, and we sure are getting "mail hungry."

Prices here aren't as bad as we expected. Most things are pretty well in line with the prices down home, except perishables, which are quite high. Meat is higher than "Sputnick" used to be. Steak is all the way from $1.80 to $2.10 per pound; stew meat and hamburger are over $1.00; bacon is $1.00 a pound; eggs are $1.10 per dozen. These prices are high, especially when quality is considered. Some of the meat isn't edible at all, and usually there are only about 8 or 9 good eggs in a dozen, so you can see why "Woody" bought our groceries in Seattle. Other things aren't too bad, though. Potatoes are 12c per pound; cigarettes are $3.00 per carton (Lucky Strike), and diesel oil is 18 1/2c per gallon in 50 gallon lots or more. Most of the people have their winter groceries ordered, packed and shipped from Seattle. Their fuel and oil they buy at False Pass.

The people here are very friendly and helpful. They would give a person their last can of tobacco or last dozen eggs. They are mostly Scandinavian, with a little Aleut Indian blood mixed in. They work hard in the fishing season, but most of them take it pretty easy in the "off season," as there isn't much going on in this part of the country in the winter.

We have had a little winter weather since this letter was begun. Just a couple of inches more snow, then it turned off and rained for a couple of days, and now it has turned colder again. It got down to about 16 above for a day or two, but it was warmed up to about 26 above today.

The stock are doing real well considering that this is their first winter in this sort of climate. I have been feeding them a couple of pounds of grain and cottonseed pellets per day, and they seem to fill up pretty well on dead grass and once in a while a little seaweed that they eat — suppose for the salt that's in it.

Unis and I are both wintering real well. We expected that we would be quite subject to colds and what not when we came, but so far haven't contracted the flu or even had a cold.

So with that guess that this letter had better end. We'll B C N U all. — The Neale Hoisingtons.

MORE REPORTS OF SPRING

Following our little item of last week entitled "Freeze Could Do Damage," we have received several reports of others who have snowdrops in full bloom, including Mrs. Anne Jessup of Juliaetta, who states that hers are now almost gone, having made their appearance in January!

We know there are now lots of buttercups, and daffodils, narcissis and other "bulbous" plants are several inches in height and some of them will probably be in bloom soon.

Here in Kendrick, with a temperature reading of 58 degrees Sunday afternoon, a big maple tree near the Ed. Long home is beginning to shed its winter "wraps," and Sunday was literally covered with honey bees, who also are emerging from "winter quarters."

We repeat, "a hard freeze could and would do a lot of damage."

Kendrick Grange Meets

The Kendrick Grange met Tuesday evening for their regular business and social session. Two new members, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Maio were initiated, receiving the first and fourth degrees. Following the business session pinocle was played. Mrs. Frankie Benscoter and Ed. Kent received high scores; Mrs. Bob Draper and Herman Johnsons, lows.

The evening closed with refreshments served by the hospitality committee.

This club wishes to thank the Syringa 4-H Club for the invitation to their skating party. It was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. — Sharon Fey, reporter.

Thornton Wins High!

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eichner entertained the Pinochle Club in their home Saturday evening.

High scores were won by Mrs. John Deobald and Keith Thornton, Mrs. Geo. Brocke, Jr., and John Deobald held lows, Mrs. Chas. Easterbrook took home the "goose." Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of play.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Vernon Choate had a narrow escape from serious injury and possible death Sunday evening. The late model station wagon he was driving went into the ditch on the Juliaetta side of the "Brammer Hill" between Kendrick and Juliaetta, spun around on the road and stopped without going over the bank.

Mr. Choate was headed toward Kendrick when two dogs appeared in his headlight beams, on the right hand side of the road. Rather than hit the dogs, he took the left lane, got a bit too close to the bank and the soft shoulder "sucked" the car into the ditch, scraping the left side along the bank. The resulting jar threw him sideways in the seat, and wrenched his hands from the steering wheel. When he regained an upright position the car had spun completely around in the slime on the road, and was headed back toward Juliaetta.

Vernon was not injured, but the station wagon suffered extensive damage. The dogs, of course, were not injured.

FIRST AID CLASS COMING

First Aid class will be offered to Kendrick area residents some time in March, the date to be announced later. However, anyone interested in taking the course is asked to contact Mrs. R. L. Blewett, Bob Meserve or John Deobald. Sponsors are the Home Demonstration Club and the Kendrick Volunteer Firemen.

Baptismal Services

Baptismal rites were held for Mark Glenn Lee, year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jud Lee, Sunday morning at the worship service in the Community Church. The Rev. C. Richard Boyd, exchange pastor from the Cottonwood-Nezperce Churches officiating. Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Kanikkeberg were sponsors.

Disapproves Of Game Tags
 In a note accompanying a subscription remittance, John A. Thomas of Deary, well known here, says in part: "I saw your editorial about the game tags a little while back, and I and deer tags — but they were thoroughly agree. I think last year's were the poorest tags put out since the first game paper tags, a number of years ago. I have never talked to a hunter who liked them."
 "I hunted with a party of five this last fall, and we all filled out our elk and deer tags — but they were almost wore out before we attached them to the animals!"

WILL WINTER COME?
 There are those who maintain that the remainder of our unusual winter season will remain as open and easy as it has to date (based on past years), and those who maintain that we are due for some bitter cold soon (also based on past years).
 Everyone is entitled to their belief, but for this past week at least, there has certainly been no need to long for the warmth of Florida or California.
 Days have been sprinkled with rain and interludes of warm sunshine, and last Thursday, Feb. 6, the thermometer hit a high of 60 degrees — a number of Kendrick business firms had their doors propped open for brief periods — just to air out, they said.
 The nights have been cool, but rarely below the freezing mark. On Monday night, despite some low-hanging clouds, those who cared to look, or perhaps just happened to look — were treated to a brief, but gorgeous display of northern lights. The colors, perhaps due to the clouds, seemed mostly of brilliant red, deep orange and yellow.

Blood Program In Tenth Year
 Boise — This week marks the 10th anniversary of the American National Red Cross Blood program. In January of 1948 the first Red Cross Blood Center was opened in Rochester, New York. During this decade the American Red Cross activated 51 regional centers with 1,450 participating Red Cross chapters, serving 3,900 hospitals in 40 states and the District of Columbia.
 In the past ten years the Red Cross procured and processed 21,000,000 pints of blood, 14,000,000 for use in civilian hospitals and 7,000,000 pints collected for defense since the beginning of the Korean War.
 The Blood Centers provide blood donated by volunteer donors for all patients in the participating hospitals without any charge for the blood itself. Patients, in other than veteran and military hospitals, are charged normal laboratory fees and blood administering charges by the hospitals, and a small portion of the cost of collecting, processing and distributing the blood. All blood derivatives (serum albumin, gamma globulin and fibrinogen) are provided entirely free of charge by the American National Red Cross.

Pedestrians — You have the right-of-way in intersections — but don't bet your life on it. Before you step from the curb, make absolutely certain that you are in the pedestrian lane and that traffic will wait for you. For your own sake, look where you walk, warns the Idaho Traffic Safety division.

SIGMA DELTA CHI INITIATES

U. of I., Moscow — Three professional journalists and nine students have been initiated into the University of Idaho chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, men's honorary journalism fraternity.

The three professional newsmen tapped by the organization are editors of Idaho newspapers and members of television station staffs. They are Ralph Hunter of the Meridian Times; Harry Nelson of the Weiser Signal-American and Thomas Campbell, KLEW-TV, Lewiston.

Idaho students initiated were Dwight Chapin, Lewiston; James Flanigan, Emmett; Gerald Steele, Nampa; Phillip Nelson, Rupert; Frank P. McCreary, Kendrick; John Turner, Deer Park, Wash.; Clair Kenaston, Shoshone; Edward Seelstad, LaCrosse, Wisc., and Harold Davis, Republic, Wash.

Following ceremonies at the Student Union, a banquet held at the Moscow Hotel featured Lew Papes, editor of the St. Maries Gazette-Record, in a discussion of opportunities in the field of journalism.

The banquet was sponsored by W. T. Marineau, publisher of the Moscow Daily Idahonian.

Suggests Lots Of Publicity

The federal government has pending applications to withdraw federal lands equal to half the area of Rhode Island from public use in Idaho, Senator Henry Dworshak said this week. He urged the "fullest possible publicity" prior to action on these withdrawals to protect the interests of Idaho people.

Dworshak said 530 square miles, some 358,033 acres, are under consideration by eight agencies. The 38 parcels of land to be withdrawn range in size from a 151,193 acre chunk wanted by the Atomic Energy Commission to one-fourth acre sought by the Forest Service.

"I have asked the Bureau of Land Management to not only do the required legal advertising, but to extend every effort to use the press, radio and television to the fullest in publicizing these withdrawals and scheduling public hearings," Sen. Dworshak declared.

He urged Idaho residents to take considerable interest in proposed withdrawals of areas which might contain watersheds or other valuable resources. "Once these lands are taken away from public use, it's very difficult to get them back," said Senator Dworshak. He pointed out that only 12,000 acres are currently being considered for restoration to public use.

"Some of the land may be needed for our nation's defense... but I believe we should study these withdrawals to be certain that we are not letting irreplaceable resources get away without knowing they are going," he added.

How Standard's busy transportation system helps hold down prices of petroleum products

Twenty-six Standard Tankers—plus others that we charter—sail the seas to keep crude oil moving to refineries and more than a hundred finished products returning to customers. A supertanker, carries a crew of 40 to 50, can hold enough gasoline to run your car over 10,000 years. On inland waters, tugs, barges and smaller tankers take over the transport job.

Rivers of crude oil and finished products flow through 3364 miles of pipelines that Standard operates in the Western hemisphere. In addition, we pay to send products through pipelines owned by other companies. They in turn use our lines. Through these "steel arteries," oil is pumped over mountains, as high as 9500 feet, under rivers and through deserts.

Miles of leased railroad cars, thousands of trucks, trailers, and semi-tank trucks move our finished products to distribution points, service stations, airports, marine stations, farms, factories and military installations. Standard either operates or leases nearly every form of transportation to keep vital oil supplies moving.

What's today's biggest travel bargain?—petroleum's journey from well to refinery to you, a trip that often covers thousands of miles by land, water and underground. To keep the "fare" low, Standard serves the Western hemisphere with an intricate network of tankers, trucks, tank cars and pipelines.

They move oil in huge quantities carefully scheduled to match production at the well, refining capacity and our customers' needs. This far-flung transportation job is done at a cost so low it amounts to a fraction of the price per gallon—generally less than you pay to mail a postcard.

It's one way we work to keep down the price of the gasoline you buy:

HELLO, FOLKS:

Yes, buttercups and snowdrops are in bloom — grass is turning green — and there are many other indications of spring — but by golly you still can't do without a fire — and when you need heat in your home you want hot, clean, instant heat. So just you pick up that phone and call us at 1251 — and we'll fill that tank with clean burning, instant heat Union Fuel Oil. Try us, won't you?

Never consider yourself hopeless — even the worst of us can serve as excellent horrible examples.

Let us wash, wax and clean your car. We'll drain that winter-worn oil from the crankcase, refill it with wonderful Royal Triton, give the chassis a thorough lube job — and you're ready for spring!

Dairy farmer, questioning prospective hired man: "Have you any bad habits — smoke, drink, eat margarine?"

Ask us how to get a tank full of gas free. No lottery, no drawings. Come in and find out about it for yourself!

Got some muddy roads to travel, despite the fact that "spring is just around the corner?" If so, let us figure with you on some real "mud tires." You'll be surprised at how cheaply you can own them.

Give yourself a couple of years, and you'll be referring to these trying times as "the good old days!"

Use Union Lubricants — best!
