Crocker's friends would not think of taking their firearms to another smith, and it has been said by men who know their guns, "if Frank Crocker can't fix it, and the factory no longer exists, or if time is too short for it to be sent there - repair is out of the question."

A trained carriage maker by profession, Crocker came west to Kendrick, Idaho, from Harrisonville, Mo., in May of 1892, and went to work for John Benjamin, then owner of the Kendrick Blacksmith Shop. In a gold rush was taking place. He form. also made over and repaired carriages and buggies.

LIONS HEAR SAFETY TALK

The Kendrick Community Lions Club heard Safety talks by Idaho State Police Officers Gordon Jones and W. Bolon at their regular meeting Wednesday evening of last week. The officers, guests of the club, discussed with the organization the "Traffic Safety" problems faced by all communities, and which is under consideration at this time by the Club, School and Village, working jointly.

Following the officers' talk regular rules were suspended and a round table question and answer period, as well as general discussion held.

The officers told the club that in the near future two or more state cars would visit Kendrick and hold a day-long road check of all vehicles

No action was taken by the Club on a "Safe Driver Award" program under consideration, as time is needed to work out plans with the school

"Zims Plunge or Bust!" was the motto of the senior class as they pulled out of Kendrick at 3:00 o'clock Saturday morning! Along as chape-rones were Mrs. Walter Koepp, Mrs. John Cuddy, Mrs. Ervin Mabbott and "skinner" for the bus. The time passed quite rapidly; because those who didn't sleep enjoyed the beautiful scenery - as soon as it was light enough to see. They pulled into Zims Plunge at about 10:30 a. m. (mountain standard time). After having their cabins assigned, some went swimming, some went to bed, and others just "got acquainted." Swimming, of course,, was the main feature. The water comes out of the ground at 145 de-grees F, and is then cooled to 90 degrees for swimming. The only complaint came from the girls, and was that it was hard to comb your hair after swimming - because of the hard water. At supper time the managers led the class into a special dining room where they feasted on a sumptuous turkey dinner.. That night those who didn't go to bed either swam or sat around and chatted until midnight or

Sunday morning, the chaperones, the girls and their bus driver (Mr. Meserve) attended services at the Methodist Church in New Meadows. Although they didn't know beforehand, the minister of this church happened to be Rev. Joseph Coluter, who was pastor of the Kendrick Community Church, Kendrick, from 1946 through 1950. When they returned to the plunge and had eaten lunch, it stopped raining long enough for a soft ball game. After another swim in the afternoon, the class decided to go to McCall for an evening movie and bowling. Bedtime was anywhere from 11:30 to 4:30 — again! Some of the ambitious boys pronew grand lodge officers were per-formed by Eberle, Ivar Longeteig of 9:00 o'clock Monday morning, until everyone was up and packing for the trip home. After they had eaten breakfast, finished packing and secured souveniers, they "roared away

Insured Pension Plan Benefitting Older Employees

NEW YORK - Life insurance companies writing pension plans report that material progress has been made in recent years in bringing insured pension programs into a position of protecting the iob opportunities of older workers, says the Institute of Life In-

The most effective pension plan, according to pension experts in the business, is one which provides, among other features, a continuation of the pension rights, even though the worker leaves the employ of the firm, and one which does not involve unduly larger annual premiums for the older worker. This feature, known as vesting, prevents the older worker from being tied to his job because of his pension credits and enables him to be re-employed without the employer assuming extra pension obligations.

. As a recent United States Department of Labor survey report indicated, there is actually no warrant for an employer citing the existence of a pension plan as a barrier to the employment of an older applicant. It was pointed out in that report, however, that many employers used it as an "excuse."

Claim Sound Can Destroy Cancer

ANN ARBOR-Ultrasonic sound can be used to destroy cancer, chart the structure of living cells, and play a part in the treatment of mental disorders, a scientific meeting at The University of Michigan was told.

Dr. William J. Fry of the University of Illinois' Bioacoustics laboratory told the 54th meeting of the Acoustical Society of America that Russian scientists claim they can selectively destroy cancer tissue with beams of high frequency sound.

Tumors so treated could not be transplanted to an experimental animal, Dr. Fry said, "This implies that a type of immunity to cancer has been produced. They also report that the highly malignant tumor melanoblastomo has been treated in humans with encouraging results."

Dr. Fry also described an "ultrasonic microscope" which has been developed at his university. It directs beams of sound through tissue samples while probes on the other side measure the amount that gets through.

Radiation Hazards Not Overwhelming Problem

MINNEAPOLIS-Radiation hazards likely to develop from nuclear weapons testing are too slight to be worth considering in life insurance calculations of the American public's health and longevity. They are insignificant compared to the commonplace hazards of our daily living, says the medical department of a national life insurance company.

But within the next fifteen or twenty years, say the insurance doctors, safe disposal of radioactive wastes resulting from peaceful development of atomic power can be a substantial problem. American casualty companies are already writing public liability insurance for nuclear reactors.

U. S. bomb tests, however, are yielding information of value in the solution of the radioactive waste disposal problem. Safety provisions for commercial atomic power plants are rigidly laid down by the Atomic Energy Commission, and make accident hazards extremely small. We can confidently expect that we will deal with the vast new problems of the dawning atomic age as well as and perhaps better than we have dealt with those of the automobile age and the air age, predicts the insurance company's report.

Co-education Firmly Entrenched in College

ANN ARBOR-Seems more than likely that if Betty Co-ed wasn't in attendance in today's college classes, Joe College would rise up and demand her return.

"That's how firmly co-education is entrenched in our colleges today," says Algo Henderson, professor of higher education at The University of Michigan.

"I think the significance of separate education of the two sexes has largely disappeared because the automobile has caused men to be present on every women's campus," Professor Henderson says. "This mobility means that in their social life they do have co-education so the separateness is conconfined to classroom learning,"

Baby Snooper

NEW YORK-Parents will be interested in a new attachment for their radios which will enable them to tune in on nursery noises and determine what goes on. It's a lowpower radio transmitter that plugs into any outlet broadcasts on a frequency that doesn't interfere with normal radio operation.

Heart Artery Used Successfully In Repair of Throat

LOS ANGELES - A promising new repair process for cancerravaged throats in which the large artery of the heart is used to restore the esophagus has been reported from the University of California Medical School, Los An-

Dr. Joel Pressman, UCLA professor of surgery, described the new technique last week before the Southern Section of the American College of Surgeons in Palm Springs. The research has been supported by the U.S. Public Health Service.

The technique was developed during several years of animal experimentation, the UCLA surgeon said. It has been performed successfully in two human cases.

The large artery, known as the aorta, is the main exit of blood from the heart. It is obtained from a human artery bank where it is stored in a dehydrated state in a sealed tube.

The aorta may be used as an intact tube to replace the entire section of the esophagus situated in the neck. Or a portion of it may be used to "patch" the cervical esophagus, depending on how much of the organ has been removed in cancer surgery.

Actually the arota serves as a "form" around which the body's natural repair processes rebuild a new esophagus. The artery may remain in place for many months but is eventually absorbed and replaced by new tissue.

The elastic tissue of the large artery seems ideally suited to the body's repair processes, Dr. Press-

'57 Savings Rate Topped Debt Rise

NEW YORK - For the second time in the current decade, the American people last year added more to their "nest egg" in life insurance and other accumulated long-term savings than they expanded their debt indicating a growing restraint on the part of the typical consumer in response to the growing impact of inflation on the family budget and the adjustment trend in the economy.

It is true, that the people at large went deeper into debt to the tune of more than a billion dollars a month as an average for 1957 in their borrowing to buy homes, cars, and other goods and services. The combined total of mortgages on one-to-four family nonfarm homes, consumer credit, farm mortgage and non-real estate debt, and life insurance policy loans increased by an estimated $12% billions for the year.

As against this, however, the total of accumulated long-term savings of individuals in life insurance, savings accounts, savings and loan associations, and current redemption value of U.S. Savings Bonds owned by individuals, rose by an estimated $131/2 billions during 1957.

Roaches Held Potential Carriers of Diseases

WASHINGTON - Cockroaches are highly dangerous potential carriers of human disease. This is stressed in a report of the Quartermaster Research and Engineering Center, recently issued by the Smithsonian Institution.

At least 18 species of cockroaches known to inhabit houses have been incriminated, naturally or experimentally, in transmission of infectious agents, or have been claimed to bite man. Several of the commonest species have been captured repeatedly in sewers, cesspools, and septic tanks and have been found migrating from sewers and dumps into nearby buildings. The predilection of cockroaches for human food is notorious. Thus, the scientists point out, the mechanism certainly exists for transference of disease organisms to man and domestic animals.

Mathematics Returning To Former Eminence

LOS ANGELES-Mathematics is finally returning to the position of eminence it held more than 4000 years ago, according to a professor emeritus of Latin and Greek.

Dr. Arthur Patch McKinlay of the University of California, Los Angeles, said statements by college deans throughout the country that the demand for college mathematics by students is at its highest peak evoke only a calm

"I told you so" from the linguists. "The linguists know that when our words were being worked out some 4000 or more years ago, the word mathematics meant

'learning,' " Dr. McKinlay said. Broken down, the Greek word mathematics, is composed of "matha" (learning), "mat" (what results in), and "ics" (pertaining to).

A CURRICULUM FABLE

One time the animals had a school The curriculum consisted of running, climbing, flying and swimming. All the animals took all the subjects.

The duck was good in swimming, better in fact than his instructor, and he made passing grades in flying, but he was practically hopeless in run-ning. Because he was low in this subject he was made to stay after school and drop his swimming class in order to practice running. He kept this up until he was only average in swimming. But average is acceptable so nobody worried about that except the duck.

The eagle was considered the problem pupil and was disciplined severely. He beat all the others to the top of the tree in the climbing class, but he had used his own way of getting

The rabbit started out at the head of the class in running, but he had a nervous breakdown and had to drop out of school on account of so much make-up work in swimming. The squirrel led the climbing class, but his flying teacher made him start his flying lessons from the ground up instead of from the top of the tree down. He developed charley horses from over-exertion at the take-off and began getting Cs in climbing and Ds in running.

Life Insurance Investments Upped During Past Year

NEW YORK - The five East North Central States showed the largest regional dollar gain in life insurance investments in the most recent analysis released today by the Life Insurance Association of America.

The analysis, covering investments by geographic region at the start of last year for companies representing 86 per cent of total life insurance funds, showed a one year rise in these five states of $834,805,000. This brought total life insurance investments in these states of the companies surveyed to $14,995,773,000, nearly double the investment at the end of World War II.

The three Pacific States accounted for the second largest gain, the year's increase of $763,-091,000 bringing total investments in the region to $9,312,868,000, about three times the 1945 figure.

In the four West South Central States, the year's increase was $620,117,000 and the new aggregate $8,797,723,000, up about 180 per cent from 1945.

In the three Middle Atlantic States, which lead the United States regionally in total life insurance ownership, the year's increase in life insurance investments was $383,985,000, bringing aggregate investments of the life companies to $14,218,915,000 or about 50 per cent over the 1945

WASHINGTON-Ever since the days when Washington notables wore beards and sidebeards, they've gathered once a year to let down their hair.

Medium for the high jinks is the Alfalfa Club, with a membership limited to 150 of the nation's top diplomatic, executive, congressional, judicial, military, business, and professional men. They uphold tradition with an annual banquet, and with less formal gettogethers throughout the year.

The President, Vice President, and a quorum of the Cabinet are among Alfalfa's members. A World War II hero named Dwight D. Eisenhower was admitted to membership 12 years ago, long before destiny led him to the White

The Egyptian Department of Antiquities recently began cleaning and restoring the magnificent monument-an object of speculation, admiration, and mutilation since prehistoric times.

This is not the first time that the mysterious guardian of the pyramids has needed urgent care. King Thutmose IV ordered repairs some 3,500 years ago. It has received beauty treatments several times in the 19th and 20th cen-

Insecurity Is Often Cause of Insomnia

CHICAGO - Physical contacteven if it's only your own hand touching your leg-helps overcome sleeplessness by providing a feeling of security, according to an Indiana sleep researcher.

Donald A. Laird, Ph. D., Lebanon, Ind., an industrial psychologist, said sleeplessness is frequently caused by some type of anxiety that keeps the person so "vigilant" that he can't go to sleep.

Outside Employment Has Effect On Student's Grades

CHICAGO-Outside employment has a definite effect on a college student's grades.

Students working more than 12 hours a week have somewhat lower grades than those working fewer hours or not at all, it was revealed in a survey conducted at Illinois Institute of Technology.

More than one hundred students, representing a cross-section of the student body, reported their work activity for a typical one-week period in the school year, according to William D. Diemer, mechanics instructor who made the survey.

"Half of the employed students surveyed worked more than 12 hours a week," Diemer pointed out, "and one-fourth of them put in more than 20 hours a week in outside employment."

Thirty-five per cent of these students were employed from four to 40 hours a week, or an average of 15 hours, he said. The proportion of working students among seniors was 50 per cent, slightly higher than the 30 per cent figure for employed underclassmen.

"Presumably, the student who is working a greater number of hours each week does not carry as heavy an academic program," commented Diemer. "Although the data shows that this is true, the difference is slight."

According to the survey, students working more than 20 hours each week had significantly higher scores on college entrance examinations than those who worked less or not at all. However, students working fewer than 20 hours per week have slightly lower intelligence scores than non-working students.

Conditions Affect Driving Ability

CHICAGO-Even though a person has a good safety record and thinks he's in excellent health, there are certain circumstances under which he shouldn't drive.

Some of the things that make a driver dangerous are:

-The driver's attitude. Some drivers feel the other fellow is always wrong. Some are aggressive and intolerant when they get into a car. They need to be mature.

-Sleepiness. A sleepy driver is as much a hazard as a drinking one. Dozing is not restricted to night driving. When making long trips, a person should rest every two hours, drinking coffee or cola to stay alert. He should not take any medicine that makes him drowsy.

-Medicines. Antihistamines, cold tablets, sedatives, tranquilizers and some other drugs may dull reflexes or impair coordination. Stimulants may make a person nervous. The doctor should be consulted about the side effects of any drugs.

-Faulty vision. A driver needs regular eye examinations; if he notices any change in his eyes between examinations, he should see his eye doctor immediately.

Better Foods To Get. Better and Better

NEW YORK-According to the experts, virtually every fruit and vegetable on the market today has been improved by modern plant breeding and this work is continuing steadily.

Today we have seedless grapes and seedless grapefruit, tight packed head lettuce, thicker, crispier bunches of celery, smoother, cleaner skinned potatoes, bigger apples and peaches.

Tomorrow looks even better. Scientists have produced blueber-'ries as large as cherries, sweet corn with a yield many times that of present varieties and plant geneticists are working on thornless blackberry bushes and the perfect peach.

Gas Clouds Occupy Interstellar Space

WASHINGTON - The vast distances between the stars - light from the står closest to the sun takes more than four years to reach the earth-are not empty.

In interstellar space there are enormous invisible clouds composed of gases and "grains," whose nature is completely unknown, out of which eventually new stars are born. Locating and defining these clouds and determining what they are made of remain some of the most pressing problems of modern astronomy.

Power User

WASHINGTON - More electric power is used by the Oak Ridge installation of the Atomic Energy Commission than by the highly industrialized city of Detroit, Mich. Power for Oak Ridge comes from the Kingstan, Tenn., steam plant of TVA, which uses 4,300,-000 tons of coal a year.

Saw Has Been Man's Tool Since Earliest Times

WASHINGTON - Cave man, nan less than the do-it-yourself enthasiast of today, could hardly get along without a saw.

The first saws were serrated flints. Then man learned how to mount flakes of stone in a grooved. piece of wood or bone. However crude, this composite tool with teeth was the forerunner of the powered chain saw that has been such a boon to the lumber indus-

The saw of tomorrow, forest researchers say, will be a ray that can cut a log swiftly and cleanis without leaving sawdust. The ray's intense heat will plane boards during the cutting process.

The origin of the saw can only be conjectured. One legend says the inventor got the idea from the spined snout of a sawfish; another holds that the saw was izspired by a wasp's toothed sting.

More likely man devised the saw out of sheer need. Flint saws have been found in Stone, Age caves. With them, paleolithic hunters gained mastery over bone, antler, and ivory, developing a kit of 'tools. In civilized societies the saw was even more important. Most wheels made before 2000 B.C. were tripartite wooden disks. It is not easy to imagine how boards: could have been cut into segments: of a circle without a saw of some kind. Metal saws have been unearthed from graves at Kish, one of the more important ancient cities of Sumer.

Sputnik Info Out-Last Summer

LOS ANGELES-When Russia's first sputnik began its beeping around the earth last Octoberand American radio operators twirled dials in a frantic effort to tune in, a popular Russian magazine for radio hams carrying detailed descriptions of the Sputnik's radio operation lay unnoticed on library shelves throughout the United States. The July issue of "Radio," a monthly magazine published by the USSR Ministry of Communications, arrived at the University of California, Los Angeles, Engineering Library in August, two months before the first sputnik was launched.

The Russian word "sputnik," meaning a travel companion or satellite, was used throughout the articles which described the radio set-up of the Russian and American earth satellites. "Radio" fold its readers that radio amateurs throughout the world could make useful contributions to science during the International Geophysical Year by recording their observations of satellites, the launching of which seems to have been taken for granted by the magazine's edi-

Eye Care Is Matter For Properly Trained

NEW YORK - No matter how smart you may be at painting the kitchen or repairing damaged furniture, don't ever take your seeing problems into your own hands. Pointing out that every day is Sight-Saving Day, the Better Vision Institute stresses the wisdom of leaving all visual decisions and procedures up to a competent eyesight specialist, who alone has the necessary training, experience, judgement and skill.

The layman can't even determine when he needs visual aid, for he doesn't know what normal standards are and seeing troubles often creep up so gradually as in go unnoticed for a long time. Far too many people only visit a specialist when they become sharply aware of discomfort or failing sight. By that time irreparable damage may have been done.

Some Big, Some Small ANN ARBOR, Mich.-American cars are going to get bigger and bigger-and small and smaller.

Continuing increase in multiple car owning families with the family car becoming larger and the second car becoming smaller is the picture for the future, according to Aarre K. Lahti, associate professor of design at the University of Michigan.

Decentralized cities and industries will make multiple-car ownership mandatory, Lahti says.

Electric Eye

NEW YORK-An electric eye that uses atomic radiation instead. of a visible light beam has been developed. The maker says it uses a small amount of radio active isotope strontium 90 to replace the light bulb used in standard photoelectric-cell systems. Its advantages are said to be a higher degree of reliability and longer operation without need of repairs.
