SOUTHWICK FOLK ARE BUSY ONES

WEATHER AND VISITING TAKE LEAD IN THIS AREA

Storm Washes Fields

NEW CLOVER PEST ALARMS

Clover growers are warned to be on the look out for heavy infestations of the "Clover Bud Caterpillar," says Geo. F. Brocke & Sons, Kendrick. To date, the damage and infestations appear to be somewhat spotted, but the threat is near.

The caterpillar attacks the clover blossom first, then strips the leaves, eating the tender portions and leaving stems and veins. In a matter of three or four days a field can be utterly devastated and brown.

The presence of the culprit can best be detected by close examination of the blossoms.

Henry Tschantz, reports losing a small tract of clover to this pest, and there are no doubt, others.

Brocke & Sons suggest an immediate and thorough examination of all fields by clover growers.

RAY GREENE HAS NARROW ESCAPE

STATE FORESTRY AND CATTLE TRUCKS COLLIDE FRIDAY

Ray Greene, an employee of the State Forestry Department, stationed at Kendrick, had a very narrow escape from death last Friday evening about 9:30 o'clock when the state department fire truck (Jeep) that he was driving and a big cattle truck collided on the curve this side of the Leon Branscom ranch.

The cattle truck apparently swung sideways on the curve, striking the Jeep truck on the right front side, tearing off the hood and driving it through the windshield on the driver's side. The radiator was pushed back against the motor, the top of the motor and storage battery literally "mowed off," and the cab driven back until the steering wheel all but touched the back of the seat. The water tank and pump in the back of the state truck probably added to the collapsing of the cab through pressure from the back.

The cattle truck, driven by a Richard Golden of Clarkston, and owned by a Mr. Murray, also of Clarkston, suffered only minor damage.

Following the collision Mr. Golden, assisted by passersby pulled Ray from the crumpled cab and he was brought to Kendrick and taken to the Davidson Nursing Home. There he was met by Dr. Christensen, who cared for his injuries.

Ray was found to have some teeth knocked out and others loosened; many deep facial cuts and bruises, body bruises, a slight concussion, not to mention shock and loss of blood. He remained at the Davidson Nursing Home until Monday morning when he was taken by ambulance to Lewiston for x-rays, repair of a broken nose, etc.

We understand that Mr. Golden was uninjured.

The accident was witnessed by Wendall Hall, who lives near Hubbard Gulch, Juliaetta, and who was following Mr. Greene. Mr. Hall stated to investigating officers E. M. White, Kendrick, and State Police Gordon Jones and Bolton, of Lewiston, that the fire trucks' speed was between 25 and 30 miles an hour. Mr. Hall was following the state truck.

Mr. Greene and Deputy State Forester Norman Lewis had returned from answering a fire call at Spalding. Mr. Lewis got out at his home in Juliaetta and Ray was proceeding here to the office and his home at the time. Mr. Lewis said: "It was lucky we weren't both in the truck — one or the other of us would have been killed!"

State Forester Ring of Coeur d'Alene came down Monday to assist in the investigation.

CRACKDOWN ON FIRE HAZARD LAWS

STATE FORESTER ORDERS ENFORCEMENT OF FOREST LAW

Coeur d'Alene — State Forester Roger L. Guernsey today ordered more strict enforcement of Idaho laws dealing with fire hazards created through timber cutting. "It has come to my attention," he said, "that too many persons are failing to comply with the Forestry laws governing slash disposal. Specifically, too many persons are not bothering to secure from their Forest Warden or Ranger a Compliance before starting logging. This is in violation of Section 38-108 and is punishable as a misdemeanor under Section 38-111 of Idaho Forest Law."

"In the interest of public safety and in order to discharge my duty, I am this day ordering all State Forest Wardens to intensify the drive to get full compliance with laws governing logging and the management of logging slash. Every operator must get a Certificate of Compliance from his Warden before he starts to log. To get such a Compliance, the operator has the option of posting a bond or contracting his hazard management to the state. The state will go along with the common practice of having the purchaser of the logs hold out the bond provided it is remitted monthly to the State."

"Under the hold-back system, it is planned that the landowner or logger will dispose of his hazard and get a refund of his bond from the State upon completion of the work. We cannot any longer go along with this 'hold-back' method when the purchaser fails or refuses to turn the money in. There have been several cases where a mill went broke with a logger's or landowner's money. The State cannot be a principal or party to such arrangement. We intend to see that slash hazard management is carried out successfully and impartially throughout Idaho in the interests of public safety. Further, we intend to see that those loggers who have operated in good faith and posted bonds will be able to get their money back after they have completed their job of disposing of the hazard. Everyone engaged in the business of cutting timber is urged to make certain he is complying with the law. Further information can be obtained from the District Forest Warden or Ranger."

Our Note: Loggers in this area are asked to contact Norman Lewis, Kendrick, Deputy State Fire Warden.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. EINAR BRUSETH OF CLARKSTON

Mrs. Clara Olive Bruseth, 61, 401 Bridge Street, Clarkston, died about 1:00 p. m. Saturday. She had been ill since the first of the year.

Mrs. Bruseth was born March 13, 1897, at Forest, Idaho. Later, with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Ole Lien, she moved to Big Bear ridge in 1899, where she grew to young womanhood. Completing her schooling here, she later attended and graduated from the Moscow Business College.

She was united in marriage to Einar Bruseth Coeur d'Alene on Oct. 18, 1919. They resided in Spokane for a time and then moved to Clarkston, where she had since made her home. Survivors include her husband, Einar (Ed) Bruseth, at home; a son, O. J. Bruseth at Richland, Wash.; a daughter, Mrs. W. S. (Carol) Hamilton at Echo, Oregon; three brothers, Isaac Lien of Los Angeles, Henry Lien, Kendrick, and Emret, at Wisdom, Mont.; a sister, Mrs. E. T. (Anna) Long at Kendrick, and three grandsons.

Mrs. Bruseth was a member of Our Savior's Lutheran Church, the American Legion Auxiliary, and a charter member of the Clarkston War Mothers.

Funeral services were held at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Vassar-Rawls Chapel, Lewiston, with the Rev. Norman Prestbye of Our Savior's Lutheran Church officiating. The organist was Mrs. Vonley Miller and the soloist David Knutson. Pallbearers were C. C. Swanbeck, Andrew Gross, Harry Christy, Ralph Haas, Joseph Forrest and Joseph Bowers. Burial was in Normal Hill cemetery with the graveside services being directed by the American Legion Auxiliary.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL ENDS

Vacation Bible School of the Kendrick Community Church was over Friday. Mothers, grandmothers and friends visited the departments and had lunch with the children. Thirty-six were enrolled, with 20 having perfect attendance.

The teachers of the school wish to thank everyone who co-operated so wonderfully on the sharing project and free-will offering. The sum of $10.51 was shared with the children for blind children. This money will be sent to the "John Milton Society for the Blind" in New York City. The sum of $13.75 was taken in, to go on expenses.

Mrs. Howard Hoffman entertained at a luncheon in her home Friday for the teachers, Dee Magnuson, Cheryl Westendahl, Patty Nelson, Mrs. Frank P. McCreary, Mrs. Bob Magnuson and Mrs. Ben P. Cook.

No man can be expected to pay if he goes if he is always going broke — only the government can do that.

JERRY WHITE LIFE GUARD

There has been a "slight shift" in the local swim pool picture since our issue of last week. Gerald White will be the life guard and swimming instructor this season, replacing Elmer Stitzlein. It became impossible for Mr. Stitzlein to keep this appointment so arrangements were made for Mr. White to take over.

Jerry, as he is known to all, needs no introduction, as he grew to manhood in Kendrick. He, with his family, arrived here Sunday night from Reno, Nevada, where he has been teaching the past two years.

Aspiration plus perspiration has enabled many a man to reach his goal.

THIS AND THAT IN LOCAL HAPPENINGS

SURPRISED ON SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Blewett and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCreary.

Aside from being the Slind's wedding anniversary it was also Mrs. W. A. Myers' birthday anniversary. Both ladies were presented corsages.

For entertainment the evening was spent playing "bingo," after which all sang old favorites, with Mrs. Slind at the piano.

The Slinds were presented a "money tree" from the group.

TO TEACH AT JULIAETTA

Gerald White, who has been teaching eighth grade in the Los Vegas, Nevada, public schools for the past two years, arrived back in town last Sunday evening. He will be the principal at the Juliaetta Elementary School this coming year.

Mr. White is well known in this area. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. (Bill) White; his wife is the former Connie Freeman, a daughter of H. S. Freeman of Juliaetta. They have three sons.

Mr. White served four years in the United States Air Force, the last three of which were spent in Japan. He received his Bachelor's Degree in Education at the University of Idaho in 1956, and has completed two-thirds of the work necessary for his Masters Degree in Education. He has taken the position of life guard at the local swimming pool for the summer.

Mr. White says: "It surely is good to get back among the green trees of the Northwest."

All extend to him and his family a most hearty welcome to our communities.

KAY ABRAMS IS GRADUATE

Lewis-Clark Normal School, Lewiston (June 6) — Among the 36 graduates receiving diplomas at the Lewis-Clark Normal School commencement today, were Kathryn Ann Abrams of Kendrick, and Ida Marie Heimgartner and Karen Elizabeth Penland, both of Juliaetta.

The graduating class of 36 students, had completed two years of college training qualifying them for certificates to teach in the elementary schools of Idaho. The class was presented by Dean Cleon C. Caldwell, administrative head of the school. Diplomas were awarded by President D. R. Theophilus of the University of Idaho. The normal school is operated as a division of the university.

Following the commencement exercises a reception was held in Clark hall.

Miss Abrams has accepted a teaching position at Sandpoint, and Ida Marie Heimgartner at Mountain Home.

TWO-HEADED CALF BORN

Tuesday, June 3, a Hereford cow at the Lester Weaver ranch on Cedar ridge gave birth to a two-headed calf. Observing that the cow was in difficulty, Mr. Weaver acted as "midwife" and said his eyes "literally popped" when the calf appeared — with two perfect heads! The new arrival, however, was born dead.

Mr. Weaver went on to say that the heads were joined at the base, were perfectly formed, and equally spaced on the neck. Stranger, too, was the fact that the calf had a Guernsey appearance, although both the cow and bull were of registered Hereford stock.

Mr. Weaver went back to the house for a little while, then returned to see how the cow was doing — only to find that she had given birth to another calf, also born dead. This one, however, was a perfect Hereford, although quite small.

Lester says he has had many odd things happen to him during his life — but the arrival of twin calves, one with two heads, and all in one day — "beats all!"

AND THE RAINS CAME!

Farmers throughout this area had been wishing for rain for the past two weeks, and following two sultry days, interspersed with brief showers, rain began falling in a gentle pattern about 9:30 Sunday evening. It continued all night, reaching downpour proportions about 3:00 o'clock Monday morning. This slacked off, however, into a steady warm rain about 7:00 o'clock, to continue most of the day.

Farmers say that up until the Monday rains what we have had was just enough to germinate the beans, but insufficient to keep them growing, resulting in some losses.

ANOTHER "GULLY WASHER"

A rain that turned out to be of cloudburst proportions hit on the hillside above Arrow Junction last Sunday night, and turned out to be literally a "gully washer" in so far as the draw which ends near the Ed. Groseloc house at Arrow (Arrow section house) is concerned.

Mud, rocks and debris came down with a ten-foot wall of water. The big new culvert under the state highway there was unable to carry the torrent, so wound up plugged full of mud, rocks and dead brush, the rest spewing out onto the highway, and even knocking down utility poles.

It cut off service between Kendrick and Lewiston, and Lewiston and Orofino.

The highway was re-opened to one-way traffic shortly after the downpour subsided, and utilities were restored shortly thereafter.

STONY POINT ITEMS

June 9 — On May 29th Alvin Johnson of Lenore and Boville, returned from a motor trip to Fairbanks, Alaska. He reported a good trip, good roads, and the usual excess of service stations on the Alcan Highway. Of interest to old-timers of this area were his visits in the Bert Southwick home in Seattle and the Rob. Johnston home at Camas, Wash. Both of these families lived in this area years ago.

Walter A. Scott of Wilton, Minnesota, has been visiting here with his step-father, George Finch, and his brother, Joe Finch. The brothers had not seen each other for 32 years.

On June 5th the Keith Steigers children returned to their home at Alberton, Montana, with their parents. Their mother is making a good recovery following recent surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Art. Eller of Clearwater and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Steigers and family were Wednesday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Steigers. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Steigers and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Steigers visited with them.

On Friday evening children of this community and of the Cottonwood Creek Community Church presented a program of completed work in Daily Vacation Bible School. Mothers served refreshments of cookies and cool-aid and the Kerby Brothers furnished ice cream for the reception which followed the program.

Arthur Heath of Oregon City accompanied his brothers, John and Newt, to Southwick on June 1st where they enjoyed the old-timers picnic and visited with many old friends.

Mrs. Lyle Kerby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, visited in the Kerby home a few days last week and became acquainted with their new grandson, David Charles.

Don Hoisington had the misfortune Saturday evening of bumping into a car driven by Don Stevens of Moscow. Don Stevens and his brother were hunting groundhogs on the Juliaetta Grade and were said to be on the wrong side of the road, when Don Hoisington, accompanied by Gerald Heimgartner, rounded a corner. The Stevens car was stopped and the Hoisington car was unable to stop or go by. None of the occupants were injured. The Stevens car suffered about 200 damage. The Heimgartner car was damaged both by the impact with the parked car and a rock on the bank.

Mrs. William Steigers and children and Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor and Susie were Thursday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Steigers. In the afternoon they visited Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kerby and family.

Watch Trash Burning

Kendrick residents are reminded that the fire season is with us again, and residents are reminded that the burning of debris of any kind now requires a permit.

All incinerators (five barrels) must be covered with a screen to prevent drifting particles and sparks. Every precaution must be observed — as dry grass is everywhere.

The rains of Monday and Tuesday have all but eliminated the hazard — temporarily — but it will be with us in a greater degree than ever as grass again dries out.

TRAFFIC SAFETY NECESSARY

Boise — Traffic safety is everybody's business. The time has come to stop saying "Why don't they do anything about it?" and look at yourself. Why don't you do anything about it?

The safe highways are there. The proper authorities see to that. Cars are built as safe as possible. You are being told again and again to have your vehicle safety checked. And yet every day people lose their lives on the highway.

Who or what is to blame? Bad roads, weather conditions, mechanical failures?

No, the one at fault is the driver. Roads, the weather and mechanical failures figure in accidents to a certain degree. But most smash-ups are caused by some error or miscalculation on the part of the driver.

In most accidents, disobedience and disregard of traffic laws are involved. Failure to yield the right of way, not stopping at stop signs, weaving in and out of traffic lines, passing improperly and driving too fast for conditions, driving while drinking, all these contribute to the deplorable toll of fatalities on Idaho's highways.

Once again, this summer, the Slow Down and Live campaign is being conducted throughout the United States. This, Mr. Motorist, is your chance to do something about it. You are asked to drive slowly and stay within the proper speed limits, especially on the open highway, where it is tempting to "let 'er out a few notches."

The Idaho Traffic Safety Division asks your cooperation in the effort to reduce Idaho's accident toll. You can do something about it. Please drive with caution and slow down.

Things of interest will be deep furrow seeding of fall wheat, morning glory and thistle chemical control plots, new conservation methods, registered beef cattle, and windbreaks, says Homer Futter, Latah County agent.

The tour will start at 9:00 a. m. sharp at the Moscow city park on East Third Street, and a dutch lunch will be served at the park at noon.

A full program of interesting and educational agricultural topics will be covered. This tour is sponsored by the Soil Conservation Service District Supervisors, Soil Conservation Service, the County Extension Service, the University of Idaho, the County Weed supervisor and the Moscow Chamber of Commerce.

READY FOR BID CALL

Frank Abrams, Kendrick village mayor, said Monday morning that all details had been worked out with all interested parties, and that the call for bids for construction of the Flood Control Dike at Kendrick was expected soon from the Corps of Army Engineers at Walla Walla.

All legal requirements have been met in their entirety. Just when the call might be made or when the work would begin Mr. Abrams was unable to say.

MINISTER ASSIGNED HERE

According to the Lewiston Morning Tribune of Sunday, June 8, the Rev. Ernest F. Gates has been assigned from the Methodist Conference, to the Kendrick-Julietta churches from Lacomber, Wash.

He will serve the Kendrick Community Church and the Juliaetta Methodist Church.

Time of his arrival here and other details are lacking at this time.

Moving Building

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fraser are performing a job that not many would care to tackle — except professional house movers — the moving of a building.

They decided that their storage shed, a frame building approximately 12x18 feet, would look better and serve its purpose just as well if it were out behind his modern concrete block work shop, rather than in front of it.

So, securing jacks, block and tackle and other necessary equipment, they went to work Sunday morning. By evening they had the building moved sideways and onto the roadway leading to the rear of his shop!

They plan to build an addition to the present block building, which will extend to the site of the old shed they are moving.

Bird Ventriloquist Curious Creature Of Panama Jungles

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In Panama jungles there is a bird ventriloquist.

This curious creature, the gray-headed dove, is described by Dr. Alexander Wetmore, former Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and now Smithsonian research associate, in a publication on the birds of Isla Coiba, Panama. Dr. Wetmore reports an extensive study of the bird life of this Pacific convict island.

The ventriloquist, he says, was one of the most common birds in the Coiba forests.

"They live and feed on the ground," he reports, "usually two or three together, rising to low perches on logs or branches when flushed, if not too badly frightened. Occasionally I had random glimpses of them, walking with bobbing heads among the shadows, or standing completely motionless, when it was difficult to distinguish them in the dim light of their haunts."

"Some of the males were calling, a single hooting note, so highly ventriloquial that we never succeeded in following it to see the actor perform though we were certain of the source. Usually the birds when calling appeared to rest on low branches near the ground, where they were completely concealed. When we came too near they became silent and flew or walked away."

An interesting little bird was the yerbero, or yellow-faced grassquit. It was a creature of pastures and the edge of the forest, congregating especially where tall grasses have ripening seeds. "They feed," says Dr. Wetmore, "by balancing on the grass heads as these sway and bend beneath their slight weight. At headquarters dozens came to feed about the mill that hulled the rice. They were completely tame and often came hopping about the feet of men sitting on benches."

College Students Of Today Not As Wild As Formerly

LOS ANGELES—If you think the younger college generation is going to the dogs then you're barking up the wrong tree, according to a University of California dean.

In a study of the morals and manners of college students of past generations, Adolph Brugger, Assistant Dean of Students at UCLA, writes: "The earliest accounts of university life quickly dispel the illusion that the medieval undergraduate was devoted to Biblical study and religious virtue."

Records of Italian courts of law in the 13th century, Dean Brugger said, have preserved a tedious detail of petty and not-so-petty offenses—quarrels with tradesmen, armed attacks on citizens, cutlass duels in the classroom, the abuse of women, robberies and "lesser riots."

"Again, a century later, we read of the Town and Gown Riot at Oxford which lasted for almost a week, resulting in the death of more than 50 students and townsmen."

At Leipzig there were graded penalties "for him who picks up a missile to throw at a professor, him who throws and misses, and him who accomplishes his fell purpose to the master's hurt."

U.S. Opens Doors Wide To Sesame

WASHINGTON—The United States has opened its door to sesame.

Though sesame was one of the first seed plants cultivated by man, the tropical herb has only recently been grown as a commercial crop in this country.

Sesame seed has many uses, ranging from stock feed to medicine and cookery. Most familiar as a garnish on baked goods, the seed is also used as a seasoning and as the chief ingredient of "halva," a confection that originated in the Mediterranean area.

The seeds yield half their weight in oil that is highly resistant to rancidity and suitable for all edible-oil uses, such as salad dressing and shortening. The oil goes into cosmetics and soap. It is used as a carrier of certain drugs, including penicillin.

House Flies Used to Test New Compounds

WASHINGTON—The common

house fly may become an important test organism for the rapid screening of tumor-inhibiting compounds intended for use in medical treatment of humans, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

In trials made during the past few months, USDA insect physiologists found that several anticancer compounds act as inhibitors of ovarian growth in female house flies.

The tests were undertaken to find a chemical that would cause sterility in insects and eventually lead to an effective means of insect control.

House flies complete a life cycle in slightly more than 2 weeks. They are physiologically similar in many ways to higher animals, as well as to other insects. With minimum space and effort, thousands of flies can be reared daily by non-professional workers, at low cost, for laboratory use. Only 30 to 40 flies are needed for a single test. Mice and rats, normally used in screening tumor-inhibiting materials, require months of effort in breeding new strains and in rearing the animals to maturity.

Jetliners Will Fly Cross-Country

WASHINGTON—New Yorkers will soon be able to run out to California for lunch and be back home in time for dinner.

Fastest commercial flights across the continent now take eight to ten hours. Round trips in about the same time will be possible on American-built jet airliners expected to start hauling passengers in the autumn of 1958.

In one minute a jetliner flying from New York will be high over New Jersey. In 10 minutes it will have crossed New Jersey and be roaring over Pennsylvania. In an hour it will bypass Chicago. In about four hours it will land in California.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration says that jet planes may replace piston-driven aircraft entirely on long hauls. Jets are most efficient at high altitudes on sustained runs.

Silencers will make jetliners about as quiet as the DC-7 used today by many air lines. Some jetliners may be even quieter. In any case, a jetliner gets out of hearing quickly.

Air Travel Up

NEW YORK—Noting that travel by air has zoomed upward almost as fast as the jet planes themselves, a new Twentieth Century Fund report points out that in 1935 domestic airlines carried 679,000 passengers while in 1953 about 26 million were carried.

TV's Effects On Children Not Bad

CHICAGO—Contrary to popular belief, television's effect on school children is not all bad, Northwestern University studies have shown.

In fact, children's strong interest in television may be an asset, if television watching is handled properly in the home, according to Paul Witty, Ph.D., director of the psycho-educational clinic, Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Each year since 1949 the Northwestern clinic has studied the TV viewing habits of more than 2,000 children in the Chicago area. Children, their teachers, and their parents have been interviewed, Witty said.

By the spring of 1950, after TV's first appearance in 1949, 43 per cent of the children interviewed had TV sets at home. In 1951, 68 per cent had them, and in 1957, 96 per cent had them. In one school, only one child did not have a TV set at home.

Wandering Patients Suffer From Syndrome

CHICAGO—Patients who travel from hospital to hospital faking startling symptoms to gain admission may have Munchausen's syndrome.

A case of the syndrome was outlined in the Journal of the American Medical Association by Dr. John S. Chapman of the State University of Iowa College of Medicine, Iowa City. He said his is the first reported American case, although the condition has been reported frequently in England.

In 1951 an English physician "somewhat facetiously" applied the term Munchausen's syndrome to "perennial perigrinating problem patients" because "their wide travels and fanciful histories are reminiscent of the travels and adventures of fiction's Baron Munchausen," Dr. Chapman said.

Accident Rate Rises Among Pre-School Group

NEW YORK—Better protection against accidents is urgently needed for America's preschool children.

The proportion of accidental deaths to the total number of deaths in the 1-4 age group has increased from 12 per cent to nearly 30 per cent in two decades, it has been reported. While the death rate from disease in this age group was being reduced by four-fifths—from 417.3 to 82.4 per 100,000—between 1934-35 and 1954-55, the corresponding decrease for fatal accidents was much smaller—from 56.5 to 33.1 per 100,000.

Our Income High

NEW YORK—The aggregate real income of more than 160 million Americans today probably exceeds the combined income of the 600 million people living in Europe and Russia and far surpasses the total income of the more than one billion inhabitants of Asia.

Predict New Type Family Doctor Will Soon Appear

CHICAGO—Prognostication is in the air with the beginning of the new year!

And from his vantage point as a trustee of the American Medical Association, Dr. Julian P. Price sees a new type of general practitioner emerging within the next 30 years.

Dr. Price, who is 56, the father of three grown children and a practicing pediatrician in Florence, S.C., said the next 30 years will show as many scientific achievements and changes in the way medicine is practiced as the American people and physicians have experienced in the last 30 years.

Dr. Price said: "Medical practice will change. The trend toward specialization will continue, with an increase in group practices in clinics. These clinics will be staffed and equipped to furnish complete care for the ambulatory patient, and a large segment of the population will patronize their services.

"There will still be those, however, who want individual physicians for themselves and their families, and for these a new type of general practitioner will emerge to take the place of the present general practitioner.

"His work will consist of internal medicine, pediatrics and psychiatry, with office procedures in orthopedics, gynecology, and surgery."

Tons of Cure For National Headache

NEWARK—Americans must have plenty of headaches. In a recent year they took a multitude of pain relievers, including over 7,000 tons of aspirin products, more than 300 tablets for every man, woman and child in the country.

While headaches and remedies are plentiful, there is a lack of complete scientific understanding of their causes and effects, according to Dr. Morton J. Rodman, professor of pharmacology at Rutgers University College of Pharmacy here.

The State University pharmacologist explains that doctors know the brain itself is insensitive to pain. They think that most headaches are caused by large arteries and veins on the surface of the brain and the base of the skull "pulling" on nerves which carry pain impulses.

Anything which enlarges, displaces or presses on these blood vessels tends to stimulate pain-sensitive nerve endings.

Cuban Curiosities Added To Institute Collection

WASHINGTON—Lizards apparently immune to bullets, bat-crushing snakes, pigmy boa constrictors, frogs that never are polywogs, and frogs less than a third of an inch long are among the curiosities of reptile and amphibian life recently collected in Cuba for the Smithsonian Institution by David Hardy, a graduate student of the University of Maryland.

Most curious of the lot are the "bulletproof" lizards. They are large iguanas, 3 to 4 feet long, with a curious resemblance to antediluvian monsters. Mr. Hardy found them in limestone outcroppings and on sandy islands along the Cuban coast.

"You just can't kill them with bullets," he says. Over and over again he has hit them with a .22 rifle. When shot, he says, they turn over on their backs and lie still, but when approached the apparently dead reptile suddenly "comes to life again," gets on its feet with marvelous speed, and disappears down a hole. About the only way to collect specimens is with a noose.

Tell How Tranquilizers Act on the Brain

LOS ANGELES—More light has been thrown on the way tranquilizers act on the brain by scientists at the University of California, Los Angeles.

In animal studies it was found that reserpine by itself acted directly on certain brain areas to bring about its tranquilizing effects. These effects are apparently brought about by an action of the drug on regulating mechanisms in the brain stem.

One of the mechanisms affected by the drug is a center called the RAS (reticular activating system) which is known to regulate how "awake" we are.

It had previously been thought that reserpine stimulated the flow of serotonin, a substance thought to be a neuro-hormone, which in turn acted on the brain.

Home Taught

CHICAGO—Today, an estimated 10 per cent of the nation's licensed engineers are home taught. More than 32,000 persons enrolled in home study engineering courses through correspondence schools in 1955.

Irregular Beat Of Heart Doesn't Mean Sure Death

CHICAGO—The irregular beating of a person's heart at frequent intervals—or even constantly—doesn't mean he's going to have a heart attack and die.

In fact, one New Yorker's heart beat irregularly for 38 years before he suddenly died at the age of 94, "having been most active until the very last moment," a New York doctor reported today.

He was suffering from auricular fibrillation, which is a convulsive movement of the upper chambers of the heart. His was the familial type.

He was one of 22 members of the same family, all of whom had auricular fibrillation. The family's history, covering 36 years and 113 members of five generations, was outlined by Dr. William L. Gould, Albany, N.Y., in the Archives of Internal Medicine, published by the American Medical Association.

The first two cases occurred in a stepbrother and a stepsister. Eight members of the second generation who lived to the sixth decade or beyond all developed auricular fibrillation. In the third generation, 11 cases have already developed and more may appear from time to time, Dr. Gould said.

Only one case has appeared in the fourth generation—in a 32-year-old man, who is the youngest one to have the condition. So far the fifth generation is too young to show signs of the disorder.

The usual symptoms of paroxysmal auricular fibrillation are palpitation, irregular beat, "the heart in the mouth" feeling, weakness, dizziness, faintness, and cold sweat. They present many problems of diagnosis, since they usually disappear before a doctor can arrive and make a diagnosis.

Farmers Rely On Outside Earnings

NEW YORK—Over a third of the income of the nation's farm operators and their families is now coming from sources entirely outside of agriculture, reflecting a long-term shift in major sources of farm income and a progressively lessening dependence on farming itself as the predominant source of livelihood.

The chief factor in this trend has been the big growth of non-farm job opportunities as the result of the expansion of the economy over the last decade and a half, but an appreciable and growing income is being contributed by a return on savings and by public and private retirement benefits, annuities, etc.

A special survey made by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Bureau of the Census shows that farm operator families had an aggregate non-farm income of $6.9 billions in 1955 out of a total income of 19.3 billions in that year. Thus nonagricultural income represented 36 cents of every dollar of income of farm operators and their families in 1955.

20 Years Added To Lifespan Since 1900

NEW YORK—About 20 years have been added to the average lifetime of the American people since the turn of the century, according to statisticians. The expectation of life at birth on a nationwide basis has increased to 69½ years.

Figures from the National Office of Vital Statistics indicate that the chances for a white man of age 20 surviving to age 65 increased from 514 to 686 per 1,000 between 1900-02 and 1955.

At the same time, more than three-fourths of the men aged 50 may now expect to reach the normal retirement age of 65. The expected lifetime of those reaching 65 also has been extended somewhat, the chances of living to age 75 having increased from 545 to 605 per 1,000.

Mortality Up Slightly During Past Year

NEW YORK—Reflecting largely the widespread outbreak of Asian influenza, the general mortality in the United States increased moderately in 1957.

The national death rate for 1957 is estimated to be 9.6 per 1,000 population, compared with 9.4 for 1956. It is the tenth year in succession to record a rate below 10 per 1,000.

Since the beginning of September, the acute upper respiratory diseases, including Asian influenza, disabled about half the population for at least one day, according to information available from the National Health Survey.

One Dominant

CHICAGO—Just as we are right-handed or left-handed, most of us are either right-eyed or left-eyed. Figures show that in 60 per cent of the people, the right eye dominates the vision. The left eye takes over in 25 per cent of the cases. The remaining 15 per cent alternate.

Unmitigated Truth
A father had been telling his son what a good shot he was and probably exaggerated the truth somewhat. However, to prove his point, he took the boy out duck hunting with him one day in the late fall. Ducks were scarce, but finally a lone drake flew overhead, and the father took careful aim and fired. The duck kept right on going.
Turning to the boy he said: "Son, you've just witnessed a miracle. There flies a dead duck."

It All Depends
The candidates for the "best all-around boy" had been narrowed down at a Virginia college, and the final decision hinged on the answers to such campus subjects as dating and opinions of the opposite sex.
The leading contender was asked: "What is the first thing you notice about a girl?"
"That," he declared, "depends upon which way she's going."

A PERFECT LOAF OF BREAD IS AIM OF 4-H CLUB GIRLS

Chicago — A poet long ago said, "back of the loaf's the snowy flour, and back of the flour the mill, and the wheat, the rain and the sun." Today the lines could be extended by adding, "and a bright 4-H girl who is learning how to bake that loaf."

Proof can be found in some 400,000 club members enrolled in baked food projects, and around 180,000 participating specifically in the 4-H Bread Demonstration program, according to the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work.

The bread demonstration program has among its objectives: (1) Learn the values of baked breads in relation to dietary needs; (2) Acquire skill in making and demonstrating baked foods; (3) Learn how wheat and other grains are converted into bread; (4) Improve personal and family health through better food habits.

After achieving these goals, plus abiding by the 4-H ideals, club members may submit their records to be judged for special county and state awards. In 1957 U. S. bonds worth $4,775 and nearly 2,000 medals were awarded to 4-H Club members, the national committee reports.

The Cooperative Extension Service directs the program. Additional information may be obtained from the County Extension office.

TRIES OUT NEW SAW

A brand new chain saw and its enthusiastic Indian owner brought disaster to a portion of the Washington Water Power Co's lines last month.

The scene was near Kimiah near the Twin Feather Lumber Company sawmill. The would-be woodsman, over-eager to test his new saw, took down a cottonwood tree which fell across two phases and the neutral of a line but did not break the conductor. The impact, however, was terrific enough to break the junction pole.

Three spans away, in the opposite direction, a pole was broken just below the transformer. To still further complicate the job of replacing the pole, the river crossing depends on the first pole.

Since the Indian chose a time of about 3:30 in the afternoon for his Paul Bunyan act, Lewiston crews worked long into the evening to repair the damage. — The Illuminator.

Outside Employment Has Effect On Student's Grades

CHICAGO—Outside employment has a definite effect on a college student's grades.

Students working more than 12 hours a week have somewhat lower grades than those working fewer hours or not at all, it was revealed in a survey conducted at Illinois Institute of Technology.

More than one hundred students, representing a cross-section of the student body, reported their work activity for a typical one-week period in the school year, according to William D. Diemer, mechanics instructor who made the survey.

"Half of the employed students surveyed worked more than 12 hours a week," Diemer pointed out, "and one-fourth of them put in more than 20 hours a week in outside employment."

Thirty-five per cent of these students were employed from four to 40 hours a week, or an average of 15 hours, he said. The proportion of working students among seniors was 50 per cent, slightly higher than the 30 per cent figure for employed undergraduates.

"Presumably, the student who is working a greater number of hours each week does not carry as heavy an academic program," commented Diemer. "Although the data shows that this is true, the difference is slight."

According to the survey, students working more than 20 hours each week had significantly higher scores on college entrance examinations than those who worked less or not at all. However, students working fewer than 20 hours per week have slightly lower intelligence scores than non-working students.

Conditions Affect Driving Ability

CHICAGO—Even though a person has a good safety record and thinks he's in excellent health, there are certain circumstances under which he shouldn't drive.

Some of the things that make a driver dangerous are:
—The driver's attitude. Some drivers feel the other fellow is always wrong. Some are aggressive and intolerant when they get into a car. They need to be mature.

—Sleepiness. A sleepy driver is as much a hazard as a drinking one. Dozing is not restricted to night driving. When making long trips, a person should rest every two hours, drinking coffee or cola to stay alert. He should not take any medicine that makes him drowsy.

—Medicines. Antihistamines, cold tablets, sedatives, tranquilizers and some other drugs may dull reflexes or impair coordination. Stimulants may make a person nervous. The doctor should be consulted about the side effects of any drugs.

—Faulty vision. A driver needs regular eye examinations; if he notices any change in his eyes between examinations, he should see his eye doctor immediately.

Better Foods To Get Better and Better

NEW YORK—According to the experts, virtually every fruit and vegetable on the market today has been improved by modern plant breeding and this work is continuing steadily.

Today we have seedless grapes and seedless grapefruit, tight packed head lettuce, thicker, crispier bunches of celery, smoother, cleaner skinned potatoes, bigger apples and peaches.

Tomorrow looks even better. Scientists have produced blueberries as large as cherries, sweet corn with a yield many times that of present varieties and plant geneticists are working on thornless blackberry bushes and the perfect peach.

Gas Clouds Occupy Interstellar Space

WASHINGTON—The vast distances between the stars — light from the star closest to the sun takes more than four years to reach the earth—are not empty.

In interstellar space there are enormous invisible clouds composed of gases and "grains," whose nature is completely unknown, out of which eventually new stars are born. Locating and defining these clouds and determining what they are made of remain some of the most pressing problems of modern astronomy.

Power User
WASHINGTON — More electric power is used by the Oak Ridge installation of the Atomic Energy Commission than by the highly industrialized city of Detroit, Mich. Power for Oak Ridge comes from the Kingston, Tenn., steam plant of TVA, which uses 4,300,000 tons of coal a year.

THE Bull itin

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

Doggone wet, ain't it? In fact, it probably will be several days until you can "hit the field work," so we imagine you'll be going fishing. Before you do, however, check your supplies of gasoline, diesel oils, motor oils and lubricants; then give us a call at 1251. We'll have your needs of those famous Union Products at your farm and ready for use when you return!

The middle-aged matron sitting in the night club turned to her still active husband: "My goodness, the necklines of the new dresses are getting lower and lower and the skirts higher and higher. Where will it end?" "I really don't know," replied the husband, "but I sure want to be around when it happens!"

This cool weather is going to be followed by heat — so are the tires on your car, pickup or truck ready to hit the road? If not, just come in and figure with us. You'll be surprised at how cheaply you can drive in safety and comfort on new ones. Trade? Sure we do!

Stell swept into the office with a mink coat draped casually over her arm. "Dearie," asked Mable, "how did you ever get such a gorgeous mink — I've been struggling for years to get one." "Honey," replied Stell, "you hasn't struggle — ever."

We hurry on farm deliveries of those famous Union Products. We are as near as your telephone. Call 1251!

LADIES AID; BIBLE SCHOOL; CHILDREN'S DAY PICNIC

Last Meeting Of Summer

Ten Ladies Aid members met at the hall last Wednesday afternoon for their last meeting until fall. A business meeting was held in the afternoon. Mrs. Ted Weyen and Mrs. Ed Mielke served strawberry sundaes and cookies at the close of the meeting — which were delicious!

Bible School Closes

Bible School at Cameron closed last Friday, after two weeks. Mrs. Emil Silflow and Loeda Meyer had charge of the kindergarten classes; Hermina Meyer had the junior classes; Mrs. Albert Lawrence, Primary, and Rev. Meske the Confirmation Class.

Children's Day And Picnic

The Children's Day program was held at the church Sunday morning with Mrs. Glen Wegner in charge — all of which everyone enjoyed. Following the Services a picnic and dinner was held in the Meyer Grove, with a fair-sized crowd attending. Races and a ball game were the main events, and everyone enjoyed the food and visiting until a storm came up — which effectively closed down the day's program.

Entertains On Birthday

Mary Meske entertained a group of girls on her birthday anniversary at her home last Tuesday — all being over-night guests. Those present were Sherri Schmidt, Betty Blankenship, Jillian Wegner, Loretta Schneider, Carolyn Davis, Judy Lohman, and the hostess. Mrs. Meske took them all to Kendrick in the afternoon where they enjoyed a swim in the pool.

Have House Guest

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyer drove to Moscow recently to meet Miss Elli Rewald of Germany, who is now a house guest in the Meyer home. She is in the I. F. Y. E. program and will be in the states for some time.

Attending Conference
