WANTS TO CLOSE JULIAETTA STAT'N

N. P. SAYS INCOME NOT GREAT ENOUGH TO JUSTIFY EXP.

The Northern Pacific Railway Co. has filed an application to close its station at Juliaetta, and the Idaho Public Utilities Commission has set a deadline of July 10, for protests.
Word of the action was received here (Lewiston) Monday in the form of a P. U. C. order signed at Boise on Friday.

The P. U. C. said it had placed the matter under its "modified procedure," in which a 20-day time limit is set for the filing of written protests by persons having an interest in the matter. Normally, a hearing is held if serious objections are raised.

The company claimed in its application that the service provided at Juliaetta "is not required by railway patrons and the cost of the station's maintenance is not justified from an economic standpoint."

It said that the Mead & Howard Lumber Co., and the Lewiston Grain Growers, Inc., the largest carload shippers and receivers of freight at the Juliaetta station, "have expressed in writing no objection to the proposed discontinuance of the station."

The Mead & Howard Mill and retail sales yard at Juliaetta, and the Lewiston Grain Growers maintains a large elevator there.

A Northern Pacific spokesman said the company's passenger depot and freight handling facilities would be maintained but the affairs of the station would be conducted by the agent at Kendrick, three miles away. Juliaetta would become a passenger flag stop on the Lewiston-Spokane line.

An agent would no longer be in residence at Juliaetta. The station is now one of 12 agencies on the Spokane-Lewiston line. The others are: Spokane, Rosalia, Oakesdale, Garfield, Palouse, Pullman, Moscow, Troy, Kendrick, Arrow and Lewiston.

The company said in its application that from April, 1957, through March of 1958, operating expenses at the station totaled $5,166.62, and "total business" in 1958 aggregated $31,087.00. The N. P. spokesman said that revenue from the station was far less than $31,087.00, but he cited no figures.

The application gave these revenue figures from the station for the five and a half year period from Jan. 1st, 1953, through March 31st, 1958: Tickets sold, $2,780 (18 cents a day); express, $1,067 (6.8 cents a day); and Western Union messages, $1,067 (5.6 cents a day).
It said that during this period it received 106 carloads of freight and forwarded 2,070 carloads. — Lewiston Tribune.

TEMPERATURES CLIMB

After a rather cool first-of-the-week start — last week — temperatures began a climb that has given this area its hottest weather of the season to date. Below we list the readings from the "official" thermometer:

Wednesday, 94
Thursday, 96
Friday, 93
Saturday, 94
Sunday, 96

Monday, 96, to be followed about 7:00 o'clock in the evening by a real old-fashioned Columbia river dust storm. The dust was, at times, so thick it was almost impossible to see across the canyon.

Early Tuesday morning a warm rain began falling, that turned into a real downpour about 6:15 — although temperatures continued quite warm, being in the low 70's.

CROCKER RETURN FROM VACATION TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Crocker and granddaughters Pat and Debbie arrived home Saturday evening after a three-week vacation trip that took them 5,250 miles.

Going south by way of Tucson, Ariz., they report a wonderful trip, sprinkled with fabulous scenery. On the way down Bryce Canyon, Zion National Park and Mormon Tabernacle in Utah were the most outstanding. They saw the Grand Canyon and said it was "big," but not as colorful as Bryce. While visiting the Harry Amelings in Tucson, many side trips were made.

From there they went down into New Mexico and then to Los Angeles, where they visited relatives and did some sightseeing — of which Disneyland was the most spectacular. Harry Ameling accompanied them this far.

In San Francisco they visited two days with their son Danny and saw the "high spots," Fisherman's Wharf, Chinatown, Golden Gate Park and Flyshackers Zoo. After leaving San Francisco they stopped to visit Mr. and Mrs. Loring Miller at Stockton, Calif. (He is a cousin of the late Don Miller).

Enroute home over the coast highway they report the trip through the redwoods most inspiring. They stopped at Vancouver, Wash., to see Mrs. Crocker's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Howell. Then drove on to Seattle to drop off Mrs. Ed. Ohman, Mrs. Crocker's sister, who had made the trip with them. The next stop was Spokane where they picked up their granddaughter, Debbie, who had spent the time with her paternal grandmother — all arrived here Saturday evening.

Mrs. Crocker said while they were in California she called Mrs. Frank Rider and she said her daughter Alene had just returned from a month's trip in Europe, and her son, Frank, was just out of the hospital following an appendectomy.

The Crockers said it was a wonderful vacation — but there's no place like home!

It will pay you to remember this and do your shopping early — be it for a week-end of entertaining, picnicking, fishing, loafing, or whatever you may have planned.

Below we list those who will be closed for the three-day week-end: N. B. Long & Sons, Red Cross Pharmacy, Dick's Barber Shop, Burt's Confectionery, Kendrick Variety & Gift, Blewett's Grocery Market, Abrams Hardware, The Farmers Bank, Kendrick Gazette and the Kendrick Cleaners.

ESSAY ON HAIRCUTS

Yes, sir-e-e-e! We remember the day of the "long pompadour," the Jim Corbett and like haircuts for men — and in later days the "Shawnee," the "Hay Mow," the "Butch," "Duck-tail" and others, but in vernacular, the 'one that taketh the rag off the bush,' is the Yule Brenner style being worn these days by Louis Maio and Marion Rowden.

The "grapevine has it," that these two (brothers-in-laws) got to bantering about the quantity of their hair, the quality, length, etc. Then the conversation got around to the "I'll do it if you will" stage — and bingo — a couple of haircuts by Dick, at his tonsorial parlor — that are going to cost him money — for that pair won't need another for some weeks!

"But one thing you 'gotta admit' — they're really haircuts!"

AERIAL VIEW OF AN ISLAND PARADISE

Hawaii, America's semi-tropical paradise in mid-Pacific, is just overnight by Northwest Orient Airlines for winners of the Inland Empire Electrical League, "Trip to Hawaii" contest, or other residents of the great Inland Empire.

Five nights a week, NWA's giant DC-6B transports wing westward across the Pacific from Seattle-Tacoma and Portland, with connecting flights from throughout the Inland Empire, and arrivals in Honolulu early the next morning.

Sea, sun and scenery highlight the Hawaiian vacations, according to Robert S. Thompson, Northwest's district sales manager in Spokane. "Everyday worries drop away as your flight clears the Mainland and heads across the Pacific," said Mr.

Thompson, a frequent island visitor himself. "When your plane lands at Honolulu, the swaying palms, the gentle trade winds, the lovely, dark-skinned girls who drape you with fragrant flower leis, all combine to put your thoughts in another world, although you haven't left American soil.

Hawaii, the Island paradise, offers a variety of vacation pleasures for every age group. Swimming, sunning, sight seeing, through picturesque island scenery or historic Pearl Harbor, surf-boarding in sleek outrigger canoes or swift sailboats, eating exotic island or Oriental foods, or just relaxing on the sunny beaches — which never are too warm because of the constant trade winds.

Because of its lack of seasonal weather change, Hawaii is equally popular as a vacation destination at all times of the year.

4-H PROJECT BURNS TO GROUND, FRIDAY

Rickie Keene, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Keene of Prescott, Wash. (well known former residents) lost his entire flock of some 300 chickens by fire about 2:00 o'clock last Friday morning.

Rickie was raising chickens as a 4-H project, and had them well on the way to producing. In fact, the pullets were beginning to lay, and he was planning to dress roosters for the market this week, when the tragedy happened. He had them housed in a school-owned building just at the rear of the Keene home — and it is not known what caused the blaze. The fire siren was their first warning — and the flames had advanced so far to save anything by the time the fire department arrived.

The Frank Abrams family, who visited there Sunday, brought back this story, and said Rickie was heart broken over his loss. His 4-H leader, however, is lining up some lambs for a summer project, which will help to fill the gap.

Bird Ventriloquist Curious Creature Of Panama Jungles

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In Panama jungles there is a bird ventriloquist.

This curious creature, the gray-headed dove, is described by Dr. Alexander Wetmore, former Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and now Smithsonian research associate, in a publication on the birds of Isla Coiba, Panama. Dr. Wetmore reports an extensive study of the bird life of this Pacific convict island.

The ventriloquist, he says, was one of the most common birds in the Coiba forests.

"They live and feed on the ground," he reports, "usually two or three together, rising to low perches on logs or branches when flushed, if not too badly frightened. Occasionally I had random glimpses of them, walking with bobbing heads among the shadows, or standing completely motionless, when it was difficult to distinguish them in the dim light of their haunts."

"Some of the males were calling a single, hooting note, so high a ventriloquist that we never succeeded in following it to see the actor perform though we were certain of the source. Usually the birds when calling appeared to nest on low branches near the ground, where they were completely concealed. When we came too near they became silent and flew or walked away."

An interesting little bird was the yerbero, or yellow-faced grassquit. It was a creature of pastures and the edge of the forest, congregating especially where tall grasses have ripening seeds. "They feed," says Dr. Wetmore, "by balancing on the grass heads as these sway and bend beneath their slight weight. At headquarters dozens came to feed about the mill that hulled the rice. They were completely tame and often came hopping about the feet of those sitting on benches."

TV's Effects On Children Not Bad

CHICAGO—Contrary to popular belief, television's effect on school children is not all bad, Northwestern University studies have shown.

In fact, children's strong interest in television may be an asset, if television watching is handled properly in the home, according to Paul Witty, Ph.D., director of the psycho-educational clinic, Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Each year since 1949 the Northwestern clinic has studied the TV viewing habits of more than 2,000 children in the Chicago area. Children, their teachers, and their parents have been interviewed, Witty said.

By the spring of 1950, after TV's first appearance in 1949, 43 per cent of the children interviewed had TV sets at home. In 1951, 68 per cent had them, and in 1957, 96 per cent had them. In one school, only one child did not have a TV set at home.

Wandering Patients Suffer From Syndrome

CHICAGO—Patients who travel from hospital to hospital faking alarming symptoms to gain admission may have Munchausen's syndrome.

A case of the syndrome was outlined in the Journal of the American Medical Association by Dr. John S. Chapman of the State University of Iowa College of Medicine, Iowa City. He said his is the first reported American case, although the condition has been reported frequently in England.

In 1951 an English physician "somewhat facetiously" applied the term Munchausen's syndrome to "perennial peregrinating problem patients" because "their wide travels and fanciful histories are reminiscent of the travels and adventures of fiction's Baron Munchausen," Dr. Chapman said.

Accident Rate Rises Among Pre-School Group

NEW YORK—Better protection against accidents is urgently needed for America's preschool children.

The proportion of accidental deaths to the total number of deaths in the 1-4 age group has increased from 12 per cent to nearly 30 per cent in two decades, it has been reported. While the death rate from disease in this age group was being reduced by four-fifths—from 417.3 to 82.4 per 100,000—between 1934-35 and 1954-55, the corresponding decrease for fatal accidents was much smaller—from 56.5 to 33.1 per 100,000.

Our Income High
NEW YORK—The aggregate real income of more than 160 million Americans today probably exceeds the combined income of the 600 million people living in Europe and Russia and far surpasses the total income of the more than one billion inhabitants of Asia.

DANGER IN THE HOME

Four out of five fatal home accidents happen inside the house.

That's the figure of the National Safety Council. It's a report, says Everett Davis, agricultural engineer of the University of Idaho extension service, that deserves everyone's concern. Home accidents can be reduced.

The principal kind of accident is falls. Of the accidental deaths in the home, more than half occur in the bedroom. The living room, kitchen, stairs and bathroom are next, in that order.

Makeshift stepladders are high on the list of hazards. To reach high places, use the kitchen stepstool or a real stepladder in good condition. Never climb on box or chairs placed on tables.

Spilled liquids and slippery floors frequently result in broken bones. Wax applied unevenly adds to the hazard. Stairways are a poor storage area, for cluttered stairs invite falls. They are even more dangerous if they are poorly lighted and have uneven or rough treads.

THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO COMES OF AGE

In just about a year from now the University of Idaho will be offering work leading to doctoral degrees in the arts and sciences and in specialized fields. The Board of Regents has approved the institution's plan to grant doctoral degrees in its Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Education, Agriculture and Forestry. The University then will come of age. By offering advanced study in these diverse fields it can, and should, attract serious scholars to the campus for the pursuit of specialized knowledge. Too many of Idaho's brilliant students have been forced to do their graduate work elsewhere, and leaving

Idaho too few of them ever return to our teaching ranks and to the fields of industrial and scientific work for which specialized training becomes the final, tool for ultimate accomplishment. The University will earn additional recognition through its ability to offer work toward doctorate degrees. This added prestige will reflect to the credit of all students studying at Idaho and all students receiving bachelor and master degrees.

Abused Cigarette Was Once Held As Sacred Object

WASHINGTON—The now frequently condemned cigarettes were once sacred objects among Indian tribes of the Southwest.

They were placed by priests in caves as votive offerings. Thousands have been found in cave shrines throughout Arizona.

The once sacred nature of the cigarette—none of the present popular brands of radio advertising, of course—is established by the findings of several archeologists during the past half century, according to the Smithsonian Institution's Bureau of American Ethnology.

Practice of making cane cigarettes survived up to quite recently among the Pima Indians of Arizona. From a reed growing along the banks of the Rio Gila they made a smoking tube the length of the first two joints of the index finger. Around the middle of this was tied a miniature belt woven from cotton and agave fiber, with fringed ends.

These tubes were regarded as male or female, according to certain marks placed on them. Before departure of a war party these tubes were filled with tobacco and smoked toward the four points of the compass, to the tribal fetishes, and to all the objects that were to be used in the campaign. Each warrior smoked his own cigarette.

At the close of the ceremony the tubes were deposited in shrines dedicated to the war god. These generally were in caves. Hundreds of these tubes were found in fireplaces during excavation of the great Indian "apartment house" at Casa Grande, Arizona, in 1907. The surfaces were charred but the objects still were distinguishable. Large numbers of similar tubes have been found in caves through the Gila and Salt River Valleys.

New World Had Lost 'Golden' Age

WASHINGTON—There probably was a lost "golden age" in aboriginal New World culture. Art in aboriginal America may have reached its heights in the jade carvings of Mexico and Central America. This was an art which, by and large, has remained unknown to the rest of the world. The creations achieved by the Indian carvers rival and surpass those found elsewhere in the world.

Such is the conclusion of the late Dr. William Foshag, former Smithsonian Institution curator of geology, in a report on the mineralogy of jade articles recovered from Guatemalan archeological sites.

The artistry displayed in the Guatemalan jade figures, says Dr. Foshag, "presupposes a long and ancient artistic development during a civilization or culture of which we know very little. When the missing chapters in the history of Central American cultures are eventually revealed it will more than likely be found that the development of the art of jade carving will not only parallel that of China but be essentially contemporaneous with it."

Proper Diet Helps Teeth Resist Decay

CHICAGO—The best preventive for tooth decay is the development of teeth with a "high resistance" to decay, according to the American Medical Association Council on Foods and Nutrition.

The child's diet during the formation period should consist of a "generous selection of foods from all the basic food categories." They should be carefully cooked to preserve the original nutrient values.

An ample supply of vitamin D (obtained mainly from vitamin D fortified milk and sunshine) should be provided daily.

A highly desirable factor in overall diet planning for the development of caries-resistance is the growing availability of fluoridated water supplies. Small amounts of fluoride help prevent tooth decay.

After the teeth are fully formed and have erupted in the mouth, the same attention must be paid to the diet. In addition, the eating of sticky, high-carbohydrate foods that adhere to the teeth should be restricted.

Fire Prevention Week Scores Hit In Ankara

NEW YORK—The U. S. Air Force in Europe reported that officials of the Turkish Government encouraged the observation of Fire Prevention Week in Ankara last October. It was the first observance ever held there and was so successful that Lieutenant Governor Baspri Ozpinar is planning to introduce a bill in the Turkish Grand National Assembly which will create a Turkish Fire Prevention Week, coinciding with the American campaign.

The Ankara observance was highlighted by a fire-fighting demonstration.

Knighthood Items From Many Lands Show Similarities

WASHINGTON—A collection of over 200 grand crosses of knighthood is currently on display in the rotunda of the Arts and Industries Building of the Smithsonian Institution. This collection, the finest of its kind in existence, is lent by the Orders and Medals Society of America. It will later become a permanent part of the collections of the Smithsonian.

Included are badges, breast stars, and colorful sashes of such great and ancient orders of knighthood as the Garter of England established by Edward III before 1350, the Order of Christ of Portugal founded before 1320, and the Order of the Annunziata of Italy instituted in 1382. Many of the grand crosses were owned and worn by distinguished persons, including the Marquess of Rockingham, Prime Minister of England in 1765; Mary, Queen of George V; Victor Emanuel III of Italy; Carol I of Rumania; Baron Mannerheim of Finland and others.

Orders of knighthood, while having roots in the Ancient World, developed to maturity during the late Medieval Period. They provided a reward for military prowess, a social rank, and a security in return for a pledge of fealty. While the details of the institution varied from country to country and from century to century, certain elements seem to have been constant: (1) Knighthood carried with it an honor that gave the recipient social rank. (2) The honor was conferred in a ceremony. (3) The honor carried with it certain privileges. (4) Rewards of value accompanied the honor. (5) The recipient belonged to a group, members of which had received a like honor.

Natural Disasters Killed More In '57

NEW YORK—Natural disasters were responsible for more than a third of the deaths in catastrophes—accidents in which five or more persons died—during 1957.

Catastrophe deaths in the United States totaled almost 1,700 during the year, or about 400 more than in 1956. The increase is largely a reflection of the unusually heavy loss of life in Hurricane Audrey, which caused approximately 350 known deaths in early June, most of them in Cameron, La.

All five of the major catastrophes—those which caused at least 25 deaths—occurred in the first six months of the year. Other major catastrophes: the fire which destroyed a home for the aged at Warrenton, Mo., in February, causing 72 deaths; the May tornado which struck the Kan. as City area, killing 39; a gas explosion which killed 37 in a Bishop, Va., coal mine; and the March blizzard which killed 29 in the Great Plains states.

Navy Seeks Aid In Chasing 'Gooney Birds'

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—How do you discourage "gooney birds"? The U. S. Navy, which finds them troublesome at its Pacific air base on Midway Island, has requested the help of a Pennsylvania State University zoologist with the problem.

The birds, two species of albatrosses, nest on and near runways and offer serious hazards to planes using the air base. To study the problem, Dr. Hubert W. Fringe and his wife, Mabel, are now on Midway Island. They have done extensive research on bird habits and several years ago devised a method of ridding urban areas of menacing starlings. Because of their size (they have a seven-foot wingspread) the "gooney birds" have no natural enemies.

'Local' News Snubbed In German Papers

LOS ANGELES—Newspapers in West Germany are preoccupied "almost to the point of obsession" with national politics, leaving community news to shift for itself, says a UCLA journalism professor. Professor Joseph A. Brandt, who spent a year in Germany as a Fulbright fellow studying the "miraculous" revival of German newspapers, said local politics is ignored and local news, including the extraordinary achievements of Germany's cities in rebuilding, is told in "the most casual manner."

Depopulation

WASHINGTON—When gold was discovered on January 24, 1848, in California's South Fork American River, San Francisco was suddenly depopulated "as if by plague." One report said that of a population of about 900, all but a dozen left for the diggings. Thousands of easterners soon swelled the city to far beyond its original size.

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick

HELLO, FOLKS:
This rain is going to give the weeds another big lift — which means a lot of field work. Are you ready? Are your supplies of those famous Union Gasolines, Diesel Fuels, Oils, Greases, Lubricants sufficient? If not, pick up your phone and call us at 251. We'll be there — pronto!

Heard in a bar: "This is the damndest depression I've ever seen. Everybody's working, and everybody's broke. At least we didn't have to work in the last one!"

Need tires for that 4th of July trip? Come in today. We trade, and you'll be surprised at how cheaply you can drive out on a new, safe set — nylons, of course.

Free Loader: "I don't like your dog. Every time I come he barks and I don't trust him. I'd come offener if it wasn't for him."

"A dog," said the host without blinking, "is man's best friend!"

Let us service your car, pickup or truck before you start on that 4th of July week-end trip. We do a thorough job, using Union Lubricants — and the cost is low!

Sarg: "Look here, private, this man beside you on this fatigue detail is doing twice the work you are."
"I know, Sarg. That's what I've been telling him — to slow down."

The scene was a teen-age rock 'n roll juke joint. The waitress dropped a tray of dishes and six couples got up to dance!
