Mr. Calvert has retired after teaching in the public schools for 42 years. He and Mrs. Calvert are presently living in Lewiston at 912 7th Ave.; Mrs. Lester Neelson, fifth grade; Mrs. Cecil Gruell, fourth grade; Mrs. Eugene Taylor, third grade; Mrs. Gil Erlewine, second grade, and Mrs. Harley Perryman, first grade.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

An investigation of the cause of the fire on the old Bill Mattoon place July 22nd, has shown that the cause of the blaze was not by contact with any high power line, as no power pole had any fire.

The baler destroyed was a minimum of one-quarter mile from any power pole, and workmen for the George Chicha Co., contractors, did not get any of the lines on which they were working in contact with power lines in that area.

The cause of the blaze probably will always remain a mystery.

Bird Ventriloquist Curious Creature Of Panama Jungles

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In Panama jungles there is a bird ventriloquist.

This curious creature, the gray-headed dove, is described by Dr. Alexander Wetmore, former Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and now Smithsonian research associate, in a publication on the birds of Isla Coiba, Panama. Dr. Wetmore reports an extensive study of the bird life of this Pacific convict island.

The ventriloquist, he says, was one of the most common birds in the Coiba forests.

"They live and feed on the ground," he reports, "usually two or three together, rising to low perches on logs or branches when flushed, if not too badly frightened. Occasionally I had random glimpses of them, walking with bobbing heads among the shadows, or standing completely motionless, when it was difficult to distinguish them in the dim light of their haunts."

"Some of the males were calling, a single hooting note, so highly ventriloquistal that we never succeeded in following it to see the actor perform though we were certain of the source. Usually the birds when calling appeared to rest on low branches near the ground, where they were completely concealed. When we came too near they became silent and flew or walked away."

An interesting little bird was the yerbero, or yellow-faced grassquit. It was a creature of pastures and the edge of the forest, congregating especially where tall grasses have ripening seeds. "They feed," says Dr. Wetmore, "by balancing on the grass heads as they sway and bend beneath their slight weight. At headquarters dozens came to feed about the mill that hulled the rice. They were completely tame and often came hopping about the feet of men sitting on benches."

TV's Effects On Children Not Bad

CHICAGO—Contrary to popular belief, television's effect on school children is not all bad, Northwestern University studies have shown.

In fact, children's strong interest in television may be an asset, if television watching is handled properly in the home, according to Paul Witty, Ph.D., director of the psycho-educational clinic, Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Each year since 1949 the Northwestern clinic has studied the TV viewing habits of more than 2,000 children in the Chicago area. Children, their teachers, and their parents have been interviewed, Witty said.

By the spring of 1950, after TV's first appearance in 1949, 43 per cent of the children interviewed had TV sets at home. In 1951, 68 per cent had them, and in 1952, 96 per cent had them. In one school, only one child did not have a TV set at home.

Wandering Patients Suffer From Syndrome

CHICAGO—Patients who travel from hospital to hospital faking startling symptoms to gain admission may have Munchausen's syndrome.

A case of the syndrome was outlined in the Journal of the American Medical Association by Dr. John S. Chapman of the State University of Iowa College of Medicine, Iowa City. He said his is the first reported American case, although the condition has been reported frequently in England.

In 1951 an English physician "somewhat facetiously" applied the term Munchausen's syndrome to "perennial peregrinating problem patients" because "their wide travels and fanciful histories are reminiscent of the travels and adventures of fiction's Baron Munchausen," Dr. Chapman said.

Accident Rate Rises Among Pre-School Group

NEW YORK—Better protection against accidents is urgently needed for America's preschool children.

The proportion of accidental deaths to the total number of deaths in the 1-4 age group has increased from 12 per cent to nearly 30 per cent in two decades, it has been reported. While the death rate from disease in this age group was being reduced by four-fifths—from 417.3 to 82.4 per 100,000—between 1934-35 and 1954-55, the corresponding decrease for fatal accidents was much smaller—from 56.5 to 33.1 per 100,000.

Our Income High
NEW YORK—The aggregate real income of more than 160 million Americans today probably exceeds the combined income of the 600 million people living in Europe and Russia and far surpasses the total income of the more than one billion inhabitants of Asia.

Wool Contest Winner Joy Trout Says:

"Sewing fall wardrobes is an ideal way for teenagers to fill their summer vacation days."

One of the happiest girls in the world, 16 year old Joy Trout stopped her busy preparations for her coming prize trip to Europe to tell of the wonderful things that can happen to a teenager who enters the "Make It Yourself With Wool" sewing contest in this state. Last January Joy's brown wool suit won the grand prize in the 1952 contest.

Speaking from her home in Tolleson, Ariz., last week, Joy said: "Winning the two-week trip to Paris, London and Rome was just about the most exciting thing that ever happened to me. But the thing that I believe gave me the greatest pleasure was being able to make dozens and dozens of new friends among girls my age who were in the contest."

"I expect to be breathless in New York and Europe seeing all sorts of famous sights—like Radio City, the Champs Elysees in Paris and the Changing of the Guards in London—and I'm right now making some of the dresses I'll take with me."

Easy to Join
Joy felt that all teenagers should spend some of their vacation time making their fall wool apparel. "Sewing is an ideal way for young girls to fill their summer holidays," she said. "And I believe that everyone who sews should enter the 'Make It Yourself With Wool' contest. It's easy, and you'll have a wonderful time."
If you're between the ages of 14 and 22 all you have to do is write for a contest form and enter a suit, dress or ensemble made of all-wool fabrics. If you're 13 to 16 you can enter a special sub-deb division with either a skirt or a jumper. It's as easy as that."

In Idaho the state contest director is Mrs. Roy Laird of Dubois.

For contest entry blanks and full information, girls may contact her, or the Wool Bureau at 16 West 46th Street, New York 36. Or they may write to the director of their local contest district as listed below.

Mrs. Roy Laird

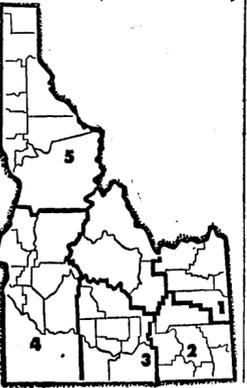

The Idaho contest is sponsored by the Idaho Women's Auxiliary, Idaho Wool Growers Association, European Trip Top Award

Top national award is a two-week tour of Europe's fashion centers via Pan American World Airways by courtesy of the Wool Bureau and Pendleton Woolen Mills. This is for two girls, one in the contest's junior division and one in the senior division. Other prizes include two trips to the national finals to be held in Portland, Ore., courtesy of F. W. Woolworth Co., scholarships, U.S. savings bonds, Singer sewing machines, wool fabric lengths and many other valuable awards.

Awards in the contest will be presented by Clauss Cutlery Co., Coats and Clark, Inc., Colorado Woman's College, John Dritz and Sons, McCall's Patterns, Singer Sewing Machine Co., Simplicity Patterns and the Woolite Co. Mills contributing awards are the Dorman Mills, Forstmann Woolen Co., Pendleton Woolen Mills, Sag-Nor-Mor Jersey by Wyner, Standard Felt Co. and Strathmore Mills.

MANY FACTORS

U. of I. — No single factor can be held wholly responsible for the lower yields and in some cases shrunken wheat kernels in this year's harvest, according to J. M. Raeder, plant pathologist with the University of Idaho College of Agriculture.

Many farmers, Raeder reports, have felt that rust has been causing all the trouble.

"There is no question but that rust is present," he explains. "Actually, there are two rusts in the wheat fields — leaf and stem."

A survey from Canfield in Idaho county to Copeland in Boundary county, however, produced only a scattered few instances where evidence pointed to rust as the factor directly responsible for damage to wheat. During this survey, Raeder visited nearly 60 wheat fields and made 47 rust collections.

"Several factors are involved and, in combination have resulted in lower yields and in some cases shrunken grain," the plant pathologist reports.

"Leaf rust appeared early in the season and was widely distributed. Appearing as it did on the leaves in such severe degree, the ability of the leaves to produce food for the developing grain was materially reduced. This, coupled with the hot weather of May, hastened the maturity of the grain at least three weeks. How many old-timers can recollect when as much harvesting and plowing was completed by August 1 as there has been accomplished this season? Stem rust then appeared and added its bit. This rust, however, in many locations, came too late in the development of the grain to cause much damage. In some instances, foot rot aggravated the situation. These rots have been responsible for much of the lodged grain."

A Penny Saved

The businessman was fast asleep in his hotel room when the phone rang. It rang for a full minute before he awakened. He picked up the receiver sleepily.

"Long distance calling," an operator sang out. "Here is your party."

"Okay," yawned the businessman. "Hello."

"What's that?" cried the voice at the other end.

"I said 'hello.'"

"Oh," said the voice. "Hello." The businessman paused.

"Well," he demanded. "What do you want?"

"Nothing," answered the voice. "Absolutely nothing."

The other saw red.

"What!" he roared. "If you didn't want anything, why do you call me at 3:00 in the morning?"

"That's simple," replied the voice cheerily. "The night rate is cheaper!"

HYDRO HARNESS PRODUCES

Boise, Aug. 28 — First electricity streamed into the Pacific Northwest today from Brownlee dam, Idaho Power Company's new 360,000-kilowatt hydro project in the controversial Hells Canyon reach of the Snake river. This aerial view of the huge multi-purpose project shows its world's second-highest rock-fill embankment at center, flanked on the Idaho side (left) by powerhouse, and on Oregon side (right) by concrete spillway.

Upstream in the reservoir are the costly downstream-migrant fish facilities, first of their kind, to conserve salmon and steelhead fingerling runs. Brownlee is first of three dams the Idaho Power Company is licensed to build in Hells Canyon reach to produce an ultimate 1,200,000 kilowatts. Other projects are Oxbow dam, already under construction, and Hells Canyon dam.

YOUR CATEGORY?

"Drive in haste, repent at leisure" This new version of an old proverb was quoted this week by Harold Davis, director of the Idaho Traffic Safety Division.

"Anyone who is unimpressed by the 'Drive in Haste, Repent at Leisure' warning should pay a visit to some of our local hospitals," Mr. Davis said. "There are many patients within their walls who are suffering the results of traffic accidents, many of which occurred months ago. A good proportion of these people would not be suffering now if they had not been in too great a hurry to get somewhere."

Mr. Davis cited National Safety Council figures that show that exceeding the speed limit or driving too fast for conditions is a factor in over one-third of the fatal traffic accidents reported annually. He explained that this does not necessarily mean break-neck speed, it means any speed that is unsafe for the condition of the road, the weather, the vehicle or the driver.

What may be a reasonable speed on a certain road on a clear day may be altogether too fast on the same road if the weather is rainy or foggy. And a speed that is safe when the driver is alert and physically fit may be too fast when he is fatigued or suffering from some ailment.

Drive at a speed that will enable you to stop in the assured clear distance ahead.

Slow down before you get to curves and intersections.

At night, drive at the speed which will let you stop within your headlights range.

Drive with traffic. You are probably going too fast if you are passing many cars; too slow if many cars are passing you.

When children are playing, be able to stop in a car length or less.

When you are tired or inattentive, stop. If you must go on, walk about for a time, drink a cup of coffee or a cold, soft drink — wake up!

Facts Worth Remembering

The jackrabbit of western America is not a rabbit, but a hare. The Belgian hare is not a hare, but a rabbit. El Paso, Texas, uses Mountain Standard Time, although all of Texas is officially in the Central standard time zone.

Corn is the nation's top money crop, according to the Department of Agriculture. The value of corn raised in 1957 was more than $4½ billion.

It is more than 2,340 miles by water from Duluth, Minnesota, at the head of Lake Superior, to the mouth of the St. Lawrence river.

The geographic center of North America is near 'Devil's' Lake, North Dakota.

Electric Heat Ideal for Modern School Design

New Imperial Lanes Second Spokane Bowling Alley to Install Modern Electric Heat

One of the Inland Empire's business bright spots this year is the electric heating industry. Manufacturers, distributors and contractors report substantial gains. Home builders are noting a growing interest in electric heat for new homes. Conversions of old heating systems to modern electric have set a new six-month sales record for the industry this year.

Although electric heating is nothing new, it is just now gaining rightful popularity in this area. It has always been accepted as the most nearly perfect heating, but only in the last few years have homeowners become aware of its economies. Because Washington Water Power Co. rates are among the lowest in the nation, the cost of electric compares favorably with other heats. And installation cost is usually considerably lower.

Homeowners make other savings, too — such as less cleaning, painting and redecorating cost — fewer doctor bills because electric is such healthful heating. The air is fresh and clean — the heat is even, controlled by individual room thermostats. Although health and economy are important factors, cleanliness and convenience are the main reasons why so many choose electric.

Now's the time to consider modern electric heating for your home. Phone your local WWP office for complete information. A representative will call at your convenience. No obligation at all.

Mrs. McTavish looked out the window as the family was preparing to sit down to dinner, and then wailed, "Och, Jock, here comes company, and I bet they haven't eaten yet." "Quick," ordered the Scotsman. "Everybody out on the porch with toothpicks!"

Heavy work means heavy wear on your machinery. Protect it the very best way with those famous Union Oils, Greases and Lubricants. Phone us at 1251. We deliver.

"Mary, you should be doing your piano lessons."
"I am, Mummy. I'm practicing the rests."

Is your stove oil tank full and ready for that chilly morning that is bound to come soon? If not, call us at 1251. We deliver — all Union Stove Oils!

Police Officer: "Hey, slow down that truck. Don't you have a governor on it?"
