Mrs. E. M. White thanked all for the many hours given the canning projects this summer - 900 hours being given by the patrons of the district. Special thanks went to those donating food, as everything processed was donated, and it totaled 1,283 quarts up to date.

Gerald Ingle reported on the plans for the proposed new high school for the district.

Mrs. Robert Nelson, president, was voted delegate to the state convention at Nampa in November.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Tomlinson, Latah County Public Health Nurse, would be in Kendrick this Tuesday, and needed mothers to help with the "Vision Screening" in the Kendrick and Juliaetta schools.

On the program Mrs. Howard Hoffman cleverly introduced the teachers with musical selections played by Mrs. Bob Magnuson. The names of tunes were guessed and to whom each referred.

Mrs. Gerald Ingle introduced the new Kendrick Community Church pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Gates.

Mr. Meserve talked on the legislation now pending, to be presented at the P.-T. A. convention in Nampa, and the group voted on whether or not to approve the proposed legislative agenda of the State Trustees Assn., and the Idaho Educators Association. The latter two organizations, with the Congress of Parent-Teacher Association, form the Unified Educational Council, which must approve the legislative agenda before it is sent to our state legislature.

Delicious refreshments were served by the Big Bear Ridge ladies.

GAME TAGS HERE

The Abrams Hardware has received a shipment of the 1958 big game tags - and they are now on sale.

The tags are very similar to the old "pre-paper" ones with which all are familiar, and should prove reasonable satisfactory, despite the fact that they are accompanied by a "Report Card" which must also be carried. However, most anything is preferable to the "paper monstrosities" with which we were saddled last year.

It is to be hoped that the department will see fit to again establish checking stations - one of the greatest deterrents to game violations.

CLAUDE STANTON DIES SEPT. 12TH

Claude Wesley Stanton passed away at his home in Seattle, Wash., Friday morning, Sept. 12th, following a year-long battle against cancer of the bone. By his side were his wife Ethel and daughter Susan.

Claude was born in Kendrick, May 20, 1906, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Stanton. He attended grade school and high school here, graduating with the Class of '24. He enrolled at the U. of I., but was called home by the sudden death of his father in 1925.

He enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps in 1927, and was a member of that Service for 10 years. He was with an expeditionary force in the Orient for several years. While there he was captain of their championship baseball and wrestling teams.

While stationed at Bremerton, Wn., in 1935, he met again his boyhood sweetheart, Ethel Woodward formerly of Elk River, Idaho, and they were united in marriage at Seattle.

In 1937 he was severely injured in an auto accident. Following his discharge from the Marines, and his recovery - except for a few years in Spokane, Seattle has been his address, but Kendrick was always home to him. Claude loved these hills and to him the streams and rivers were still full of trout and the fields and woods with game - as they were in his boyhood.

During his illness his courage and kindness have been an inspiration to those near him.

In respect to his wishes there was no funeral. His ashes will be brought home to Kendrick some time in the future.

Survivors other than his wife are their daughter, Susan; granddaughter Robin, and two sisters, Mrs. George Kolasa of Orofino, Ida., and Mrs. Harley Eichner of Kendrick.

Tigers Defeat Nezperce

Gary Browning of Kendrick and Red Marker of Nezperce did most of the scoring as the Kendrick Tigers won an eight-man football scoring duel with Nezperce here Friday evening, 41-33.

Kendrick scored first and from then on never trailed, but also could seldom stop the Indians' scoring thrusts. Browning scored three times in the first half, once taking a 20-yard pass from Robin Magnuson and going over also on runs of 60 and 70 yards. Marker kept Nezperce in the game with dashes of 30 and 70 yards.

Kendrick led 21-13 at half-time.

In the third quarter a 30-yard dash by Kendrick's Reggie Wegner was offset by another Marker touchdown. Kendrick widened its lead after a 65-yard jaunt by Wegner. Robin Magnuson carried over from the three. A fourth quarter run by Browning put Kendrick ahead 41 to 20. Marker scored twice for Nezperce before the gun sounded.

THE WEATHER

Volumes have been written about the weather, be it good bad or indifferent. And the old saw "Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it" comes in for frequent use and sometimes discussion.

However, following some rather chill and dust-laden winds, we finally got the rain we have been watching for, for so long.

Sunday night it rained steadily almost the entire night — not hard — but steadily. It wasn't enough to soften the hard ground the farmers are turning up with their plows, but at least it did lay the dust and clear the air.

Tuesday was a beautiful fall day — and more of them will undoubtedly follow, although the official weather man is predicting rain.

SCHOOL'S OPEN DRIVE CAREFULLY

Boise — The opening of school signals the need for greater alertness on the part of motorists, the Idaho State Automobile Association warned this week, with a reminder that special speed limits are in force again at school zones.

Many motorists, with the closing of school in June, become accustomed to driving at regular speeds and without the required degree of caution through school and playground areas. In the fall it is necessary to abandon these habits, as the youngsters troop back to school.

A total of 1,150 school-age children were killed in pedestrian accidents during 1957. There is good reason to believe that many of these deaths could have been prevented if all the motorists had observed speed limits and driven with proper care through school zones and play areas.

Young children, going to and from school, are often busy with their own amusements and horseplay, and are perhaps not as mindful as they should be of the dangers of passing traffic. It is the responsibility of the motorist to watch out for them, and thus compensate for the youngsters' lack of alertness.

The AAA cites a number of danger signals to watch for in driving through school and play zones: (1) A ball rolling into the street. It is often followed by a running child. (2) The sound of roller skates on the pavement. (3) A dog crossing the street.

It is dangerous to assume that the youngsters will obey the rules of traffic safety. A safe driver always considers the happy-go-lucky nature of children, and drives accordingly.

THE BATTLE IS ON

U. of I., Moscow — Idaho's football forces, well into their second week of two-a-day football efforts to get ready for Oregon at Eugene on Sept. 20, are shaping up as a fine running and passing team, according to fans who have attended Vandal scrimmage sessions.

The battle rages between a pair of juniors for the vital quarterback spot. They are Gary Farnsworth of Nampa, and Bob Eyer, LaHabra, Calif. On a given day either one can look the better, but Farnsworth seems at this time to have a slight edge. Farnsworth seems surer in the handling of the snap back from the center candidates, Stan Fanning of Pullman, and John Russos of Coeur d'Alene.

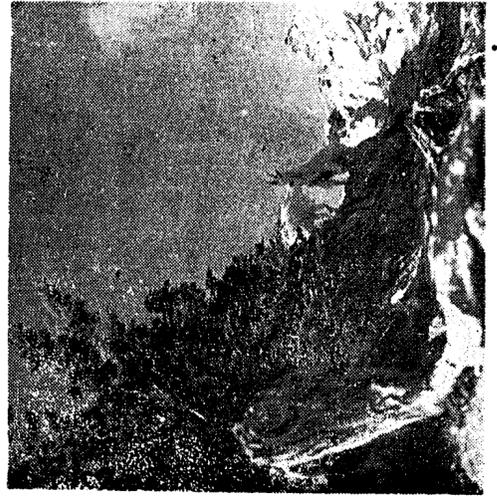

Big Pete Johnson, senior tackle, from Stockton, Calif., was the unanimous selection of the lettermen for the captain's job for the season. Johnson was drafted last fall by the Cleveland Browns, and is expected to be a bulwark in Idaho's offensive and defensive line.

Stahley has been working against the known Oregon style of attack and has been using three teams designed as Red, Gold and Black. The Gold team is rated by fans as the possible first team. It has Wade Patterson of Moscow and Bud Dowling at ends; Johnson and Jim Prestel at tackles; Dale Hill and Dave Andress, guards, and either Russos or Fanning at center. The quarterback job alternates between Farnsworth and Eyer. The fullback spot is also a battleground for two seniors, Ken Hall and Dick Pickett, Caldwell. Pickett has returned from Marine duty and has the defensive edge over Hall. Theron Nelson, Jerome, gets the call at halfback with Bob Dehlinger, a starter from last year in the flankerback spot.

Stahley said this week would see intensive scrimmage work but he would not name anyone as having particularly clinched his starting spot.

There is no substitute for good food, and you will find every kind to tickle your palate at Blewett's Grocery in Kendrick. 1-adv

MOUNTAIN GOATS live among high, rocky peaks of central and northern Idaho during summer and late fall months, descending to lower elevations during the winter. Practically all of the state north of the main Salmon river has been opened for general hunting this fall for nine days, with 10 controlled hunt units established in more accessible regions to the south with longer seasons. Goats are a prize trophy and their flesh is good to eat if the animal is properly cleaned, cooled and cared for. Care of the meat is exactly like that of a deer or elk.

OUTDOOR MANNERS

There's grandeur in the mountain's rugged face, Fantastic patterns never shaped by man —

Naught but God Himself could do this wonderful thing; But who, oh who, left that tomato can?

I see the rippling stream, cold, clear and swift, Leaping and bounding over crystal rocks.

I stoop to taste its nectar and I see Two bottle-tops, a shoe, an old lunch box.

Why spend a million years to build a world, To mold it, shape it, give it tone and punch,

When one poor thoughtless picnicker can spoil The whole she-bang with what is

— Author Unknown

YEAH, MAN!

Oh, for the good old days when Lebanon was a sausage, Morocco was a leather, and the summit was the top of a mountain!

It's not a cheaper car that people want. It's an expensive car that costs less.

The difference between gossip and news is whether you hear it or tell it. — Changing Times.

GRASSHOPPER TREATMENT

Fifty-three thousand acres of Idaho were treated for control of grasshoppers this year. The state was one of the lightest hit in the worst western outbreak since 1949.

GARY FARNWORTH
Idaho Quarterback

Gary Farnworth, a junior, from Nampa, is considered the top contender for the vital job of quarterback for the Vandals this fall. Farnworth weighs 179 pounds and stands an even six feet. He is a fine runner and passer and kicks fairly well, but needs actual game experience. He saw but little action last year with the senior, Howard Willis, as the regular signal-caller.

HOMEMAKERS NEED LOTS OF EDUCATION, TOO!

U. of I., Moscow — How much education does the homemaker need? "All she can get, all she can beg, buy, borrow or steal," says Miss Hilda Frederick, home management specialist for the University of Idaho extension service. "She will need it, an education as well as experience, if she is to run a successful home in our present world of income tax reports, farm and home records, and the management it takes to make a home a going concern," Miss Frederick declares.

The home management specialist points out that at one time the homemaker had the simple life of keeping house and raising her children. Today she is the family's purchasing agent, secretary-treasurer and bookkeeper, the plant manager, personnel executive, and public relations director. She makes a big share of the plans for the family, makes the decisions along with her partner.

When she gets all that done, or at the same time she does some of these chores, she cooks the family's meals, does the laundry, cares for the children and manages to keep herself attractive. She gets paid in board and room and hopes for the future, and the chances are pretty good that she likes the whole business.

How much training does she need before she starts all this activity? "All she can get, sir, all she can get," says Miss Frederick. "No amount is too much."

Standard seeks oil in strange places...

23½¢ of every dollar we take in goes to meet your future oil needs

On frozen plains, in the desert, in the jungle, on ocean floors—our search for oil has spread far afield as discovery becomes increasingly difficult and more costly.

The United States has less than 10% of the free world's population, but we use 55% of its oil production. Consumption is rising at a rate that will call for as much oil in the next 15 years as we produced in the last hundred.

In answer to the challenge of keeping America supplied in the future, Standard last year invested more money than ever before in oil exploration, development of producing fields, research and construction of facilities—or nearly one-fourth of every dollar we took in.

Year after year, Standard is reinvesting a big share of its income in the never-ending search for petroleum to meet the growing needs of motorists, industry, home owners, farms and the Armed Forces.

Progress in petroleum means...

Oil companies will have to invest more than 80 billion dollars in the next 10 years in the U.S. alone to find and develop the oil you will need.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA

FIGHT THAT FLY
Boise — When a fly seeks you out as a special friend, it is annoying to say the least. But most persons don't realize that, in addition to being pests and carriers of disease and are capable of transmitting such conditions as typhoid fever, dysentery, cholera, diarrhea, tuberculosis and food poisoning.
Flies are a public nuisance and a menace to health. They are filthy-borne, deriving their nourishment from contaminated food and water. Flies multiply rapidly, but they need moisture to breed. Fresh manure is their favorite hatching place. Another is fresh grass cuttings.
Once born, they fly to all spots where there is an accumulation of filth. Garbage is their delight, as is any polluted or waste material excreted by humans or animals. The fly is a hairy little creature, and as it feeds, the contaminated material clings to the hairs. Wherever the fly lights, it leaves bacteria-infected deposits in the form of fly specks.

The Weekly Handyman
By Don Burrowbridge, Director

for Better Farm Living

A minor household crisis sometimes seems in the offing when cherished but aging dining room chairs begin to come undone at the joints.
Often they reach the stage where glue just won't do the job. In such instances a bit of home craftsmanship can solve the problem quickly, neatly, and permanently.

Chair repair is simple with proper tools.
It's a simple job with a portable electric drill equipped with countersink bit, and a flathead screw long enough to go well into the chair rung. Drill a pilot hole with the drill to make it easier to drive the screw. The rung is set in the joint in wood putty and the screw is driven while the putty is still soft. If the rung isn't packed in snugly after the filler has hardened, line the hole with additional putty.
Fill the countersink screw head with wood putty a little over the top of the hole. When all putty has hardened, apply your electric sander, then touch up the areas with paint or stain and varnish to match the chair.
This brings up another screw-setting problem that occurs in outdoor furniture. Recently a reader asked what can be done to stop steel screws from rusting in outdoor and patio furniture.
Just dip such screws in a thick mixture of linseed oil and powdered graphite. Though steel screws are preferred for heavy pieces, lighter fastenings can be made with non-rusting aluminum and brass screws.
(Readers are invited to send questions about do-it-yourself problems to Thor Research Center, Marengo, Ill. The questions will be answered by individual letter and some in this column.)

THE Bull itin

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

We'll bet you get tired of reading our "yak-yak" about gasolines and diesel fuels — but you'll get tired yet sitting on that tractor seat plowing, when you machine is not developing full power for the hard soil of today. So pick up that phone and call us at 1251 for Union Products — gasoline or diesel fuel — for full power from your tractor motor.

Lawyer: "Here's my bill for services. You can pay me $400 down and $50 a month for the next 24 months."

Client: "Sounds like buying a car."

Lawyer: "I am."

Going hunting? If so, don't start out on a bunch of "banana peel" tires. Come in and let us show you how cheaply you can drive away on a new set of mud and snow tires.

Police Officer: "Here' here, just what's the big idea? You can't walk down the street clothed in a barrel like that. Are you a poker player?"

Truck Driver: "No, but I just thought I was!"

How's that stove oil tank? Is it full and ready for winter? If not, call us at 1251. Say "fill 'er up" and we'll do the rest!

Crystal Gazer: "I see a buried treasure."

Client: "Yes, but never mind that. It's probably my husband's first wife. I know all about her."

Always travel "Union".
