NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS

Members of the Kendrick High School Glee Club will soon be knocking at your door in a concentrated drive for new subscribers to the Kendrick Gazette.

Of the $3.00 subscription price the Glee Club will receive $1.00, which they will use toward the purchase of robes for their school choral group. In this drive only bona fide new subscribers will count. Transfer of subscription from one member of the family to another or a renewal brings them no remuneration — only the new subscription.

It is the first time in many years that the Gazette has been a part of any such drive—but the school wants the new robes — we want the subscribers.

JULIAETTA DOINGS IN PAST WEEK

CAR DOES FLIP-FLOP ON MAIN STREET; VISITING; DINNERS

Car Does Flip-Flop
A late model car owned by John Cuddy, Southwick, and driven by his step-daughter, Caroline Skaggs, was extensively damaged Monday morning about 9:00 o'clock in a freak accident.

Caroline had driven the car to Juliaetta and into the driveway at the Wally Fleming home. She stepped out and into the house, leaving the car in low gear. It apparently sat there long enough for her to enter the house, then left the driveway, picking up speed as it went — dove over the steep embankment and landed on its top on the highway. It was damaged extensively. Luckily no one was approaching from either direction on the road below.

The exact cause of the car's runaway is not known, but it is thought it was left in over-drive and the brake was either not put on or had slipped.

CLASS PRESIDENT

THIS AND THAT IN LOCAL HAPPENINGS

GRANGE ELECTS

The Kendrick Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening in the Fraternal Temple.

Preceding the business session an opening meeting was held telling of and explaining the proposed Zoning of Latah County. Slides were shown and a most interesting talk given on some of the possibilities and advantages of County Zoning. Members of this county committee present were: Gene Thompson, chairman; R. K. Bonnett, Harry Colwell, Eugene Taylor and Tom Long.

In the regular business session the following officers were chosen: Master, Herman Johnson; Overseer, Wilbur Corkill; Lecturer, Jo Benschoter; Steward, Gene Taylor; Assistant Steward, Bud Fey; Chaplain, Elsie Onstott; Treasurer, Manning Onstott; Secretary, Aileen Johnson; Gate Keeper, Dave Clayton; Ceres, Millie Corkill; Pomona, Delores Polunsky; Flora, Emma Kent; Lady Assistant Steward, Connie Fey; Home Economics Chairman, Margie Eldridge; Executive Committee, Dick Cuddy.

The evening closed with delicious refreshments served in the banquet room.

PEANUTS GROW HERE

Mrs. Walter Benschoter, on American ridge, whose hobby is flowers, has added a side line. For the first time (as far as we know) peanuts have grown to maturity here, and under her "green thumb."

Mrs. Benschoter said that she had tried them before, but this was her first crop. To produce it she sent to the coast for a special seed adapted to our Pacific Northwest climate. She brought in a vine, with the peanuts attached — and it can be seen in the N. E. Long & Sons window.

The tiny tubers attracted much attention, especially from the grandchildren, Mrs. Benschoter said, and each time they came there was a race to the garden where they would dig away the dirt to see how the peanuts were growing!

Since this was just an experiment, there won't be enough for roasting — just for seed this coming year!

NARROW ESCAPE

Ronald Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parks, Fairview, had a very narrow escape from serious injury if not death Saturday evening.

He was descending the Sperry grade in the family pickup truck when he saw the lights of an approaching vehicle below. He applied the brakes, as the road is quite narrow at that point, and the right front wheel grabbed, throwing the pickup to the right and over the steep bank.

The vehicle rolled once, then landed on its wheels, held there by heavy underbrush and small timber.

Ronald, who stayed inside the pickup all the way, suffered numerous bruises and scratches, but no serious injuries. The pickup was damaged extensively.

As near as can be ascertained at this time a small rock had gotten into the brake control on the wheel.

CARS MEET HEAD ON

A 1957 Studebaker Commander sedan driven by Harry Benschoter, and a 1941 Chevrolet sedan driven by Rayner Havens, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Havens, met head-on in the sharp turn just below the Havens ranch (in front of Ernest Andrews' gate) Tuesday morning about 7:00 o'clock.

No one was hurt — just bounced about with minor bruises — but the cars suffered considerable damage. It was estimated $250.00 on the Studebaker, but both were covered by insurance.

The accident was investigated by a state highway patrol officer, who did not place the blame on either party, saying it was just one of those unfortunate accidents — when you drive.

Both drivers were proceeding slowly, which accounts for the fact that no one was hurt.

FIRE SEASON ON

By official proclamation Gov. Robt. E. Smylie this week extended the Idaho fire season indefinitely — all of which means that if you wish to burn slashings, stubble, etc., a permit must be obtained.

The unusual dry season with a high condition of flammability in the woods and grasslands made necessary the extension of the burning season. All hunters, campers, fishermen, are warned to be very careful with camp fires.

If you wish to burn slashings, brush, stubble, etc., it is suggested that you call the local fire warden, Norman Lewis for a permit. Mr. Lewis states that considerable rain or snow will be required before a safe burning level can be reached.

ROOF PAINTED

The metal roof on the Kendrick Garage received a couple of coats of aluminum paint last week at the hands of Carl Mattoon and helper Robert Wahl. It's really shiny!

HUNTING REPORTS

Hunting reports drifting back from local camps, or from returned hunters seem to indicate that the hunting conditions are far from being at their best. Woods are very dry and noisy, causing the animals to "shack up" in thickets during the heat of the day, and as a result, have to literally be "dogged out" by the hunter.

Heat, combined with flies, makes the fast movement of a kill to the cooler a must — and this takes a lot of the fun out of hunting — substituting work.

However, local hunters have done very well, on the whole, with a goodly number of animals having come into Kendrick.

DAD'S DAY NOV. 15

U. of I., Moscow — Contrary to reports, the annual Dad's Day event at the University of Idaho will still be held on Saturday, Nov. 15, when Idaho plays Utah State, Gale Mix, associated students general manager, said this week.

It has been reported that Idaho and Washington State College students will both honor their fathers when the schools meet in the "battle of the Palouse" in Neale stadium in Moscow on October 11. Officially, it is Dad's Day for W. S. C., but not for Idaho.

"While we hope a great number of Idaho dads will attend the Idaho-W. S. C. game," said Mix, "we wish to remind them that their own special day will be held about a month later."

The annual home coming event on the Idaho campus has been scheduled for October 18, when Idaho plays Oregon State College.

SHOW ENJOYED

The show "Survival on the River" sponsored by the Kendrick Community Lions Club and given at the K. H. S. gym. last Wednesday evening, was very well attended, the Lions realizing about $35.00 after all expenses had been paid.

Mr. Bjerkie, one of the two appearing in the film, was present in person to show it, and after the film answered questions.

The film, more of an educational than pleasure type, contained something of interest for everyone, young and old, man or woman. It is a show that everyone who loves the outdoors should see, but particularly those who hunt and fish. It is also of deepest interest to every Boy Scout or Scoutmaster.

CLOSE FIRE CALL

The Kendrick Garage had a narrow escape from a possibly serious fire Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Deobald were in the office going over accounts when a lady motorist drove up at the gas pumps. Just as she stopped she noticed flames shooting up inside the curb pump. She called to Mr. Deobald, who shut off the flow of gas to the pump from an inside line, grabbed a fire extinguisher and in just about a "split second" had the flames extinguished.

The wiring for the pump's electric motor and lights had shorted, and gasoline fumes inside the pump took fire. It all was timed so nicely that the blaze was extinguished before it could get a real start or do serious damage.

BANK TOTALS UP

The latest report call for Idaho banks, under date of September 24th, shows a splendid increase in deposits and resources for the Farmers Bank at Kendrick, Idaho.

In the previous report, dated June 23rd, the local bank showed deposits of $1,945,825.94 and total assets of $2,200,287.36.

The Sept. 24th call shows deposits of $2,355,934.64 and total resources of $2,618,081.02.

To us this speaks highly of the solidarity of the Potlatch section which the bank serves, and to excellent management on the part of all connected with the bank. In our mind it also speaks approval of the so-called "independent banks," rather than "chain".

THE RAINS CAME

Tuesday night the rain for which farmers have been waiting began falling — and it really came down for several hours, tapering off into a drizzle shortly after daylight Wednesday morning.

With temperatures in the high 60's, wheat already in the ground should really begin to grow, and for those who have not yet planted — this will supply the needed moisture.

According to the Lewiston weather bureau .75 of an inch fell.

TEACHERS ATTEND 100%

The entire staff of teachers in District No. 283 attended the two-day session of the Teachers' Institute, held in Lewiston Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Geo. Merrick was in charge of the Junior High section Tuesday afternoon, when Dr. John S. Helmick discussed the Value and Use of Standardized Tests in the Instructional Program.

R. L. Meserve was in charge of the Senior High School session when Dr. Roger H. Knapp spoke on "Present Day Demands in Secondary School Curriculum."

Elmer Stitzlein had charge of the organizational meeting for the Music Educators.

HOLD WORK PARTY

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Kanikkeberg and son-in-law Jud Lee held a work party Sunday putting the finishing touches on the new home of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Kanikkeberg on the school house hill.

Ozic Kanikkeberg and Jordan Kanikkeberg, both of Genesee, Jud Lee and A. O. Kanikkeberg, assisted by Walter Sparber, poured concrete walks and a garage floor and apron.

It was a lot of concrete, and a lot of work. However, say members of the family, working together is always fun.

The Kanikkebergs hope to move in in about two weeks.

FINGER PADS CUT OFF

Ed Halseth of Big Bear ridge suffered a painful injury Tuesday morning when he cut off the "pads" on the two middle fingers of his left hand on a disc he was operating.

He was taken to the St. Joseph's hospital immediately where he underwent skin grafting, and was expected home on Wednesday.

BAGS COYOTE

Marion Souders, Southwick, shot a big coyote Monday morning. He noticed the coyote chasing the dog belonging to Alma Betts. As the dog passed by the coyote hesitated and looked at Marion. Result: "Curtains for Mr. Coyote."

Moral: "He who hesitates is lost."

Fruit juices of all kinds at Blewett's Market, Kendrick.

BROKEN LEG

Alva Craig, Cedar ridge, suffered a broken right leg in an accident at the Juliaetta Sawmill, Inc., Wednesday, Sept. 24. The turn-down at the mill failed to catch, and the log thus thrown into the air, struck Alva on the right leg, breaking it just below the knee.

He was taken to the hospital at Lewiston for treatment, and released to return home Tuesday of this week.

OUT OF TRAFFIC'S ROAR!

Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Schmidt, who for the past two years, have served at Metlakatla, Alaska, arrived home Saturday morning — to stay — Rev. Schmidt having retired.

Mrs. Schmidt came out a week earlier and spent the time visiting with her sister in Seattle. Rev. Schmidt joined here there, they picked up their car and left last Friday for Kendrick.

Fred said that after "dashing about the island at the wild speeds of 15 to 30 miles an hour, for two years, the swift Seattle traffic, and general highway traffic, nearly got him down."

However, they arrived here safely Saturday morning — glad to be back in Kendrick with old friends, and the peace and quiet of our valley.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Lester Crocker gave a spaghetti and "hot dog" supper Saturday evening, October 4th, honoring her granddaughter, Pat Johnson on her ninth birthday anniversary.

Guests were Janet and Jean Westendahl, Jeanie, Birdie and Beverly Gates, Deanne Hollenbeck, Kathy Farrington, Shirley Phillips, Louise Hoffman and Debbie Johnson.

Birthday cake and ice cream were served and the rest of the evening spent in playing "bingo" and making original designs from colored pipe cleaners.

BABY GIRL IS BORN

Mr. and Mrs. Don Dammarell of Opportunity, Wash., announce the arrival of a baby daughter, born to them Sept. 7. She has been named Betsy LaRue. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Dammarell.

LARGE CROWD SEES PICTURES

More than 100 neighbors and friends gathered at the Kendrick Community Church basement Sunday evening to enjoy the pot-luck supper and later see the colored slides of Europe taken by the Herman and Otto Schupfer families this past summer.

Mrs. Herman Schupfer and Mrs. Otto Schupfer, acting as narrators, took everyone on a delightful trip into Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Belgium and England. Their Belgian pictures included many of the World's Fair at Brussels.

FIRE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The blaze was extinguished in a few moments by the pump and tank on the truck itself.

Three youngsters were brought in before the juvenile court judge for disturbing the peace. "Now," said the kindly old judge, "we'll take one at a time. What are you here for young man?"

"Just for throwing peanuts in the water," the first boy stated.

"Well, that doesn't seem such a terrible thing," commented the magistrate. He turned to the second boy and asked, "And you?"

"I threw peanuts in the water, too!" "And I suppose," said the judge, turning to the third boy, "you threw peanuts in the water also?"

"No, sir," was the plaintive reply. "I'm Peanuts."

THE MEMORY LINGERS ON — In their black and orange uniforms, members of the Kendrick High School Band step lively down Main Street as they lead the Pet Parade on Sales Day. At the conclusion of the parade they gave a half-hour concert in the Kendrick park and then went on to Armitage Field, where they helped the Tigers defeat the Genesee Bulldogs. Bringing up the "rear" of the Pet Parade Sales Day are five-year-old tomorrow was destroyed

If it could ever be said that the future could be destroyed before it arrived, then this scene would say it. Fire, when it destroyed this stand of trees, took away the natural production and resources of the forest. Its productivity and the recreational facilities of tomorrow no longer exist. BEAR IS IMPORTANT GAME ANIMAL

Ever since man and bear came to live and dwell in the same places — they have experienced a keen interest in one another. Perhaps this is more than idle curiosity, for the black bear more closely resembles man than any other North American mammal.
 History shows us in the crude drawings of prehistoric man, and later on the awe and respect the Indians had for bears, that humans certainly felt some sort of kinship.
 For example, if a bear wants a better view, or to wrestle with a rival, he stands erect on his hind legs. The female is a good mother and trains her young with affection and discipline that would put a dent in modern psychological methods.
 Perhaps the greatest resemblance to man is always apparent when a hunter removes the shaggy fur coat from the bear he has killed. "Golly, a bear looks just like a human being," is the usual startled remark.
 Journals of early explorers of the west and other historic records, indicate that bears were once present in far greater numbers than nowadays. They were shot for meat and clothing for protection against the winter winds. They were destroyed by the thousands as cattle, sheep and goats were brought across the continent, and being turned to graze in the grasslands, were easy victims as bears hunted their daily food.

 Modern hunters with high-powered, accurate rifles — trappers — professional hunters and the inroads of civilization, all have contributed to the decline in numbers until many wildlife authorities now feel the bear may become extinct in the United States within another century.
 There are bright sides to this dismal picture, however. More has been learned about the feeding habits of bears and we know that all bears are not stock killers. We know that they feed mainly on berries, fruit, stems, roots, insects, rodents and other small mammals.
 Of course, some bears do kill live animals and may develop a taste for sheep or calves when summering herds are brought into its range. It is also assumed that a few deer or elk are killed in a summer, also, but such predation is so rare that the bear is not considered an important predator on game.
 Many sportsmen are also learning the very real value that bears have through the good hunting they afford. Perhaps this is most prevalent among hunters who live outside Idaho. Each year the Fish and Game department receives a number of letters from non-residents who are interested in coming to Idaho, primarily to hunt bear. And, much the same interest is shown by hundreds of hunters in the far northern end of the state where a bear hunting season is enjoyed each fall.
 Idaho probably has a few grizzly bear as they sometimes wander in from Montana or Yellowstone Park. Certainly their numbers are low, and there is no open season on grizzlies in Idaho. The most common specie in the state is the black bear, which may be colored black, rusty or cinnamon brown.
 Black bear usually mate in June with the females producing cubs only every two years. Cubs are born in January while the mother is in hibernation. They are blind, hairless and toothless, weighing only a few ounces at birth. Twins are the most common number.
 Bear usually go into hibernation in November, when the snows come. They curl up in a den, usually staying inside until March or April, depending upon the weather and elevation. Their fur coats are considered in the best condition when they leave the den. Later they start shedding and are rather faded and ragged until a new coat is grown.
 All sorts of stories make the rounds about whether or not the flesh of a bear is good to eat. There are exceptions, of course, when it comes to the taste or condition of any meat, but most of the time the flesh of a bear is tender and has a good flavor, tasting somewhat like pork.
 An old bear in poor condition could be as tough as a section boss. It generally depends on what the bear has been eating. In some places where bear are feeding heavily on dead salmon, you may as well try to eat raw shark's liver! Hunters who have killed bear in Alaska at that time say you cannot get close enough to even skin the bear — let alone try to eat the flesh.
 The fat of the bear is especially valuable. When it is rendered out and cooled, the lard is pure white and without odor. Housewives claim it makes the finest piecrusts and cookies in this world! At one time a number of leading hotels bought all the bear lard they could get — just for their pastry cooking — so the cooks must be right.
 Whether killer or clown — berry eater or honey stealer — the bear is still an important part of our wildlife heritage and contributes much to the sport of big game hunting each year.
 And besides that — think of it — without him we would never be able to tell tall tales or have a song about "The Bear Went Over The Mountain." — Marshall Edson.

More About Gun Registration
 Wash., D. C., Sept. — There is little doubt but that a proposal to revise the Federal Firearms Regulation to provide for additional registration of guns and ammunition has been defeated, says Sen. Franch Church (D. Idaho).
 Along with other senators and congressmen, we entered our wholehearted objection to the proposal at the hearings held in Washington last week. Four hundred persons attended the hearings held in the Dept. of Commerce buildings, and were loud in their applause as speaker after speaker rose to condemn the proposal as unconstitutional.
 Only one witness appeared to testify in favor of the additional registration. His argument that the registration of gun and ammunition purchases would be a crime deterrent brought quick objection from nearly all concerned.
 The plan was called "bureaucratic" in much of the testimony. It was pointed out time and again that a criminal seeking a weapon need not even give his right name to purchase a gun.
 I said in my objections that Idaho has a tradition of keeping and bearing arms, and that from the days of the Mountain Man to and through the Indian Wars, our pioneer society literally survived by that tradition. I also stressed our fine big game hunting and the importance to us of sporting arms.
 "It is an affront to place regulation upon the right of the people of my state to keep and bear their sporting arms," I said. "The fact that they look with an extremely suspicious eye upon any attempt to tamper with that right in any way, and have written to me in great numbers and with such evident sense of outrage, shows the strength of the tradition and heritage of which I speak."
 I feel confident the revision of the Firearms regulation will not be made. positions and misplaced headlines.
 Any modern youngster can readily explain why he needs a better automobile than his parents.

Princeton — Gerald Ingle, Kendrick, candidate for re-election as Latah county commissioner, told a rally here Thursday, Oct. 2, that the three Democratic commissioners now in office had saved the county money in various ways, provided a new courthouse and nursing home, and made it possible for needy to go to their own family doctor instead of a county doctor.

All Democratic candidates were on hand at the first of the series of rallies the Democrats will hold throughout the county before the Nov. 4 general election. R. E. Magnuson, Kendrick, county Democratic chairman, said the meetings are being held so the public can meet and question the candidates.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Oct. 9, at the Deary Grange hall. On Thursday evening, Oct. 16, a meeting and rally will be held at the Kendrick Fire Hall. The public meeting will start at 8:00 p. m.

RIGHT TO WORK

Boise — The chairman of the Idaho Freedom to Work Committee said this week he could refute without any question the charge that retail clerks and culinary workers unions in Utah have disbanded because of that state's freedom to work law.

"The Utah law went into effect on May 1, 1955, and both of the unions referred to were either disbanded completely, or almost so, two years before the law became effective," said Harper, an Emmett farmer, who has headed the Idaho Freedom to Work Committee since its beginning two years ago.

Harper also pointed out that the retail clerks and culinary workers had completely dissolved their unions in Salt Lake City in 1953.

"It is also interesting to note," Mr. Harper said, "that there are more local unions registered with the Utah Industrial Commission now than there were prior to the freedom to work law."

The Idahoan said he again wanted to make it clear that the committee he heads believes that the freedom to work law will strengthen the honest, active union that gives true representation to all of its members.

"We reiterate that there is one basic issue involved in our campaign — the individual's freedom of choice to join or not to join a union," Harper said.

NEW BABY DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bryant (nee Shirley Travis) Grangeville, announce with happiness the birth of a daughter, Sept. 30, at Grangeville. "A Diller, A Dollar..."

SUMMER'S END and the start of another school year is a time of mixed emotions for youngsters. Caught in these photos are two quite different yet typical reactions. An "old hand" at cracking the books (left) frowns dejectedly. To him, school is only a confinement. To the tots receiving last minute instructions from mother (below), however, school is an awesome adventure — their first "away from home."

WHETHER THEY ARE happy about school or not, if you drive you have a responsibility to see children arrive there safely. Watch for signs like this one. Slow down as you approach, ready to stop.

STAY ALERT DRIVING near school buses. Be prepared to stop quickly. More buses like this International are taking to the road now, because more children are attending school than before.

"What did he do now?" asked a neighbor.
"Today is his birthday," Watson replied, "and Jones sent a telegram of congratulations to his mother!"

Yes, we handle Prestone, chains, chain tighteners, etc. See us before you go hunting.

"Your son ordered these photographs from me," said the photographer.

Farmer: "Ah, yes. Well, well, they certainly look very much like him. Has he paid for them?"

Photographer: "No, sir, he has not."
Farmer: "Ah, yes. Very like him, very."
