

Clinic On Diseases of Wheat and Barley Scheduled

A clinic to answer farmers' questions on wheat and barley diseases will be held aboard Union Pacific's Agricultural Improvement car at Lapwai, January 13, and in Lewiston on January 16. University of Idaho and Soil Conservation Service specialists will also talk about soil erosion, which starts with billions of raindrop explosions such as the one magnified in the inset photograph.

FARM FACTS
"Cow Sitting" is a new job in the farm field. Men with dairy experience hire out to milk and care for cows so the farmer can take a day off. Dave Thacker, assistant superintendent of the University of Idaho branch experiment station at Caldwell, says pasture can be the most valuable crop on the farm. The university recommends a pasture mix of one legume and one grass.

Winter Food Problem

Wintertime is often the critical time for wildlife. Here deer have eaten needles from all the lower branches of this tree, and have reached higher than a man's head in search of food. One of the big problems of big game management is the scarce winter range where there are deep snows.

Three Faces of Crippling—and One of Hope

THE FACE OF BIRTH DEFECTS: This is wistful Richard Farmer, 9, of New York City, who was born with an open spine. He represents some 250,000 U. S. youngsters who are annually born malformed.

THE FACE OF ARTHRITIS: Cheerful Gwen Burdick, 7, of Cleveland, Ohio, has already undergone four years of intensive therapy for rheumatoid arthritis. With her is Nurse Nancy Holland.

THE FACE OF POLIO: This is 6-year-old Andrew Lange of Compton, Calif., whose braced legs are vivid reminders that polio is still a problem to meet.

Andrew, Gwen and Richard are three bright youngsters you won't find riding bicycles in front of your house. You won't find them climbing trees or playing ball in the corner lot. More likely you will find them in hospitals.

When you look into their faces, the three faces of crippling, you know why your support for the March of Dimes now is more urgent than ever. Together they symbolize why the National Foundation has undertaken a new, expanded health program. Medical care and rehabilitation can help them. But the great promise is medical scientific research.

POLIO

Andrew Lange is six. He has been a patient in the March of Dimes-supported Rancho Los Amigos Respiratory Center in Downey, Calif. He symbolizes the crippling that polio holds in store for many of its victims.

During the past few years polio incidence has declined sharply, thanks to Salk vaccine. But what about Andrew? Modern rehabilitation can help restore something of his birthright to health. During 1958 about 50,000 polio victims received this kind of aid from the March of Dimes totaling $18,900,000. Such aid will continue in 1959.

Andrew needed and received the attention that special medical skills can give. These skills are now being applied to aid in the solution of other crippling diseases.

ARTHRITIS

The face of arthritis doesn't always show. The symptoms come and go for some; but when they are present the pain is great. Gwen Burdick, seven, dark-haired, has always been an independent little girl. She doesn't want anyone to do things for her. That spells courage. She's got lots of it.

When Gwen was three years old she developed stiffness of the neck. She had trouble moving her knees and hips. Diagnosis: rheumatoid arthritis. In a Cleveland hospital she was in traction for weeks, then in a plaster cast. For eight months she had to wear braces 24 hours a day, then at night only for another six months. When her mother first heard she had rheumatoid arthritis, she exclaimed: "What? in a child?"

Statistics show that about 16,000 child victims are likely to seek treatment in any given year for rheumatoid arthritis and Still's disease. The National Foundation plans to offer March of Dimes assistance to patients through 18 and will push research that will be meaningful to sufferers of all ages.

BIRTH DEFECTS

Richard Farmer is only nine, but he has been admitted 12 times for treatment in the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York City. The Institute receives financial grants from the March of Dimes for various phases of its work.

Richard has birth defects that affect the spine and the head, which go by the medical terms of spina bifida and hydrocephalus. He has had four operations. Now he can walk with the aid of braces and crutches.

Statistics show that each year some 250,000 American infants with some form of birth defect (congenital malformation) come into the world. The National Foundation has pledged patient aid to victims through 18 with birth defects involving the central nervous system, such as spina bifida, hydrocephalus and encephalocoele.

Half of these cases are believed to be hereditary; half may be due to injury or infections affecting the embryo in early pregnancy. Research offers the only real hope for a solution, all-out research of the kind that produced the Salk vaccine in less than 20 years. Medical scientific research is the core of the National Foundation's new and expanded program.

THE FACE OF HOPE: This is Miss Carolyn Dale of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, who symbolizes the vast effort being undertaken by the March of Dimes on behalf of all children affected by the Three Faces of Crippling.

THE HOPE

The research program financed by the March of Dimes covers the problems of polio, arthritis, birth defects, and basic research in various diseases and disorders of the central nervous system. As new leads are discovered, they will be pursued with vigor. The underlying aim of the new program is the improvement of man's health. The speed with which the program develops depends in large part on results of the 1959 March of Dimes.

W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, now that 1959 is with us, and the ensuing New Year's headache has subsided, and cold weather is here, it's time to think about that fuel oil tank. Is yours "comfortably full"? Would it carry you through should a severe storm develop? Better go out and measure it right now and then call us at 1251. Say: "Fill 'er up" and we'll do the rest. Or better still, how about taking advantage of our "Stay Full" service? Then we are the ones who have to do the worrying!

A floorwalker, tired of his job, gave it up and joined the police force. Several months later a friend asked him how he liked being a policeman. "Well," he replied, "the pay and the hours are good, but what I like most is that the customer is always wrong."

Car hard to start these winter days? If so, bring it in and let us fill the crankcase with Royal Triton Motor Oil and the gas tank with Royal 76 Gasoline. Then you'll be set for quick, easy, sure starts. One trial will convince you!

Just as an elderly man stepped from the curb, a huge dog knocked him flat on his back. He had barely struggled to his feet when a small foreign car brushed against him and knocked him down again. A passerby rushed over and helped the old boy to his feet. "Are you all right?" he asked.

The old man steadied himself, then replied, "That dog didn't hurt me any, but that danged cat tied to his tail nearly killed me!"
