Nearly 10,000 Canada Geese like these were counted wintering in Idaho during the recent state-wide waterfowl survey conducted by the State Fish and Game department in cooperation with the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service. Five airplanes were hired and game biologists made census flights in their districts and coordinated this work with land counts in adjacent areas. A total of more than 650,000 ducks were tallied, along with 258 of the rare trumpeter swans and about 230 whistling swans. At least 200,000 more waterfowl were observed than normally winter-over in Idaho, probably because of unusually moderate weather this year.

NOTHING, INDEED

Mother, hearing a great clattering and banging on the porch where lit-

the Bobby was playing, called out, "What are you doing?"
"Nothing," answered Bobby.
"What are you doing it with?" demanded mother — and a small voice answered: "With a hammer."

THANK YOU I would like to thank my friends for the lovely rememberances of cards and gifts on my birthday anniversary. — Mrs. W. M. Huff. 9-1 THANK YOU, FRIENDS I would like to take this means of thanking all those who remembered me while I was in the hospital. I received so many cards and flowers, and I want you to know I did appreciate them. — Leonard Eldridge. THANK YOU Many thanks to all of you for the gifts, visits, cards, letters and flowers while I was a patient in the hospital and nursing home. They were really appreciated. — Mrs. T. E. OUR DEEPEST THANKS

An important part of a wellequipped home and farm workshop is a bench grinder that keeps all the cutting implements sharp for the best results in repair and maintenance projects.

A good example of the kind of tool we mean is an electric bench grinder that is portable and has milled-in angle guides for sharpening drills, chisels and planes. This SpeedGrinder has reinforced eyeshields that make every grinding job safe.

Use bench grinder to keep cutting implements sharp.

One of the advantages of these bench grinders is the fact that they are portable. This means that they can be set up on the workshop bench, on a service truck, in the basement, wherever there is electric power. Weight of various models range from 6% pounds to 19½ pounds.

' Here are just a few tool sharpening hints for the handyman using an electric bench grinder: For putting a keen edge on chisels and drawknives, grind at an angle of 25 to 30 degrees. For plane blades and spokeshaves, grind the inside bevel on a round edge wheel at an angle of 25 to 30 degrees. The length of the bevel should be two times the thickness of the blade. Grind twist drills against the edge of the wheel at a 59½ degree angle.

For that complete grinder scheme, you can utilize small electric hand grinders as well as grinder attachments on elecsuch as the versatile FarmTool.

There are a lot of sawing tasks in farm and home repair, maintenance, and workshop projects. And it wasn't too long ago that the home craftsman had to search through a pile of hand saws. looking for the proper one to cut in wood, metal, plastics, and other materials.

But thanks to the research and development work on the portable electric tool industry there are portable electric jig saws today that do the job of several different hand saws-and do it almost effortlessly on the part of the user.

Versatile electric jig saws perform all types of sawing tasks.

The two old standby hand saws are, of course, the crosscut andrip models. Used to cut across the grain, the crosscut is held at a 45-degree angle and has teeth bent alternately on each side. The rip saw, used for cutting with the wood grain, has more chisel-shaped teeth.

But with the development of lightweight new electric jig saws. the home and farm craftsman can depend on them for cross cutting, ripping, notch and scroll cutting-virtually all types of sawing in practically every kind of material.

Some of the newest pertable jig saws are lightweight (a mere 4 pounds!) come with metal and wood cutting blades. Low-priced models have oilite bearings, tric drills or impact wrenches higher priced ones have ball and needle bearings.

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, we've hammered away at you for so long about the fine quality of our Union Products of all kinds, and our excellent service both from our wholesale plant and service station, that we've decided to just devote the rest of this space to fun. We hope you enjoy

A Scoutmaster, noticing that his rookie Scouts were having difficulty organizing their first cook-out, asked whether they had forgotten any essential equipment. replied one, "my mother."

On her way to bed a maid looked into her employer's room. "The mister's locked up for the night, ma'am," she said. Her employer looked puzzled. "Really, Jane?" she said, "I did not hear him come in."
"He hasn't ma'am," explained the girl. "The police station just phoned."

Displaying her wedding gifts the bride came to one of the groom's old army buddy.
"I just adore these personalized gifts," she said. "We received lots of towels and wash cloths with His and Hers on them, but," she blushed, "this is even more personal." And she held up an olive-drab blanket with the letters US woven in the middle.

A psychiatrist ran into one of his lady patients, who introduced her husband to him: "Doctor, this is one of the men I've been telling you about."
