LESSONS VS. LIFE

Anaheim, Calif. — Driving lessons don't make good drivers, says author John Keats. It takes a sense of the value of life to do that.

And the way American children are being brought up, he adds, good drivers are going to be hard to find. Keats whose recent book, "The Insolent Chariots," is a blast at the modern automobile and its makers, broadened his attack to include modern parents and society as a whole in a recent talk to a group of insurance men.

Children get their values from their parents, he said, and today's parents, with their concentration on material values, are unable to inspire the proper moral outlook in their offspring.

The problem of the teen-age driver, he said, is a creation of a society sick with commercialism, an age of "slipshod labor, shoddy goods, lying advertising and asinine praises."

Expressing little hope that parents are going to change, Keats urged drastic measures to cope with the problem of highway accidents. Among his suggestions: Rigid requirements for a driver's license, with annual renewal and examination; irrevocable withdrawal of licenses for the slightest infraction of traffic laws.

And he advised the insurance men listeners to set their rates so they increase sharply according to size, weight and horsepower of a car.

"This would drive our over-powered, overweight, badly balanced monstrosities out of the market place and off the highways," he said.

It's Income Tax Time Again

It's federal income tax time again, and here are a few trouble-saving reminders from the U. S. Internal Revenue Service:

All Taxpayers — Please follow the instruction booklet which fully explains line by line, how to prepare the return. Remember, every taxpayer must have records to prove all deductions taken. Faulty or incomplete returns cause delays, penalties and interest charges. April 15 is the filing deadline date except for farmers.

Farmers — Feb. 15 is the final date for filing, including social security self-employment tax, except farmers who file and pay estimate by January 15. January 31 is due date for the yearly social security tax report on 1956 farm employees.

Employees — Be certain to have all W-2 Forms from every 1956 employer, before making return. Correction work on incomplete returns cannot be done until June 30, delaying any refunds which may be due.

Employers — January 31 is the deadline for issuing W-2's to employees, also for filing employer's tax returns for the last quarter of 1956. Federal unemployment tax now covers employers of four or more employees, instead of eight or more. Social security tax increases to two and one-fourth percent on all payrolls beginning Jan. 1, 1957.

Business and Professional Men — and others whose income taxes are not all paid by withholdings from salaries or wages. Jan. 15 is last date for amending and paying final quarterly income tax estimate for 1956, unless final return is filed and paid by Jan. 31. April 15 is deadline for first quarter 1957 estimate and payment.

You are looking at a time machine

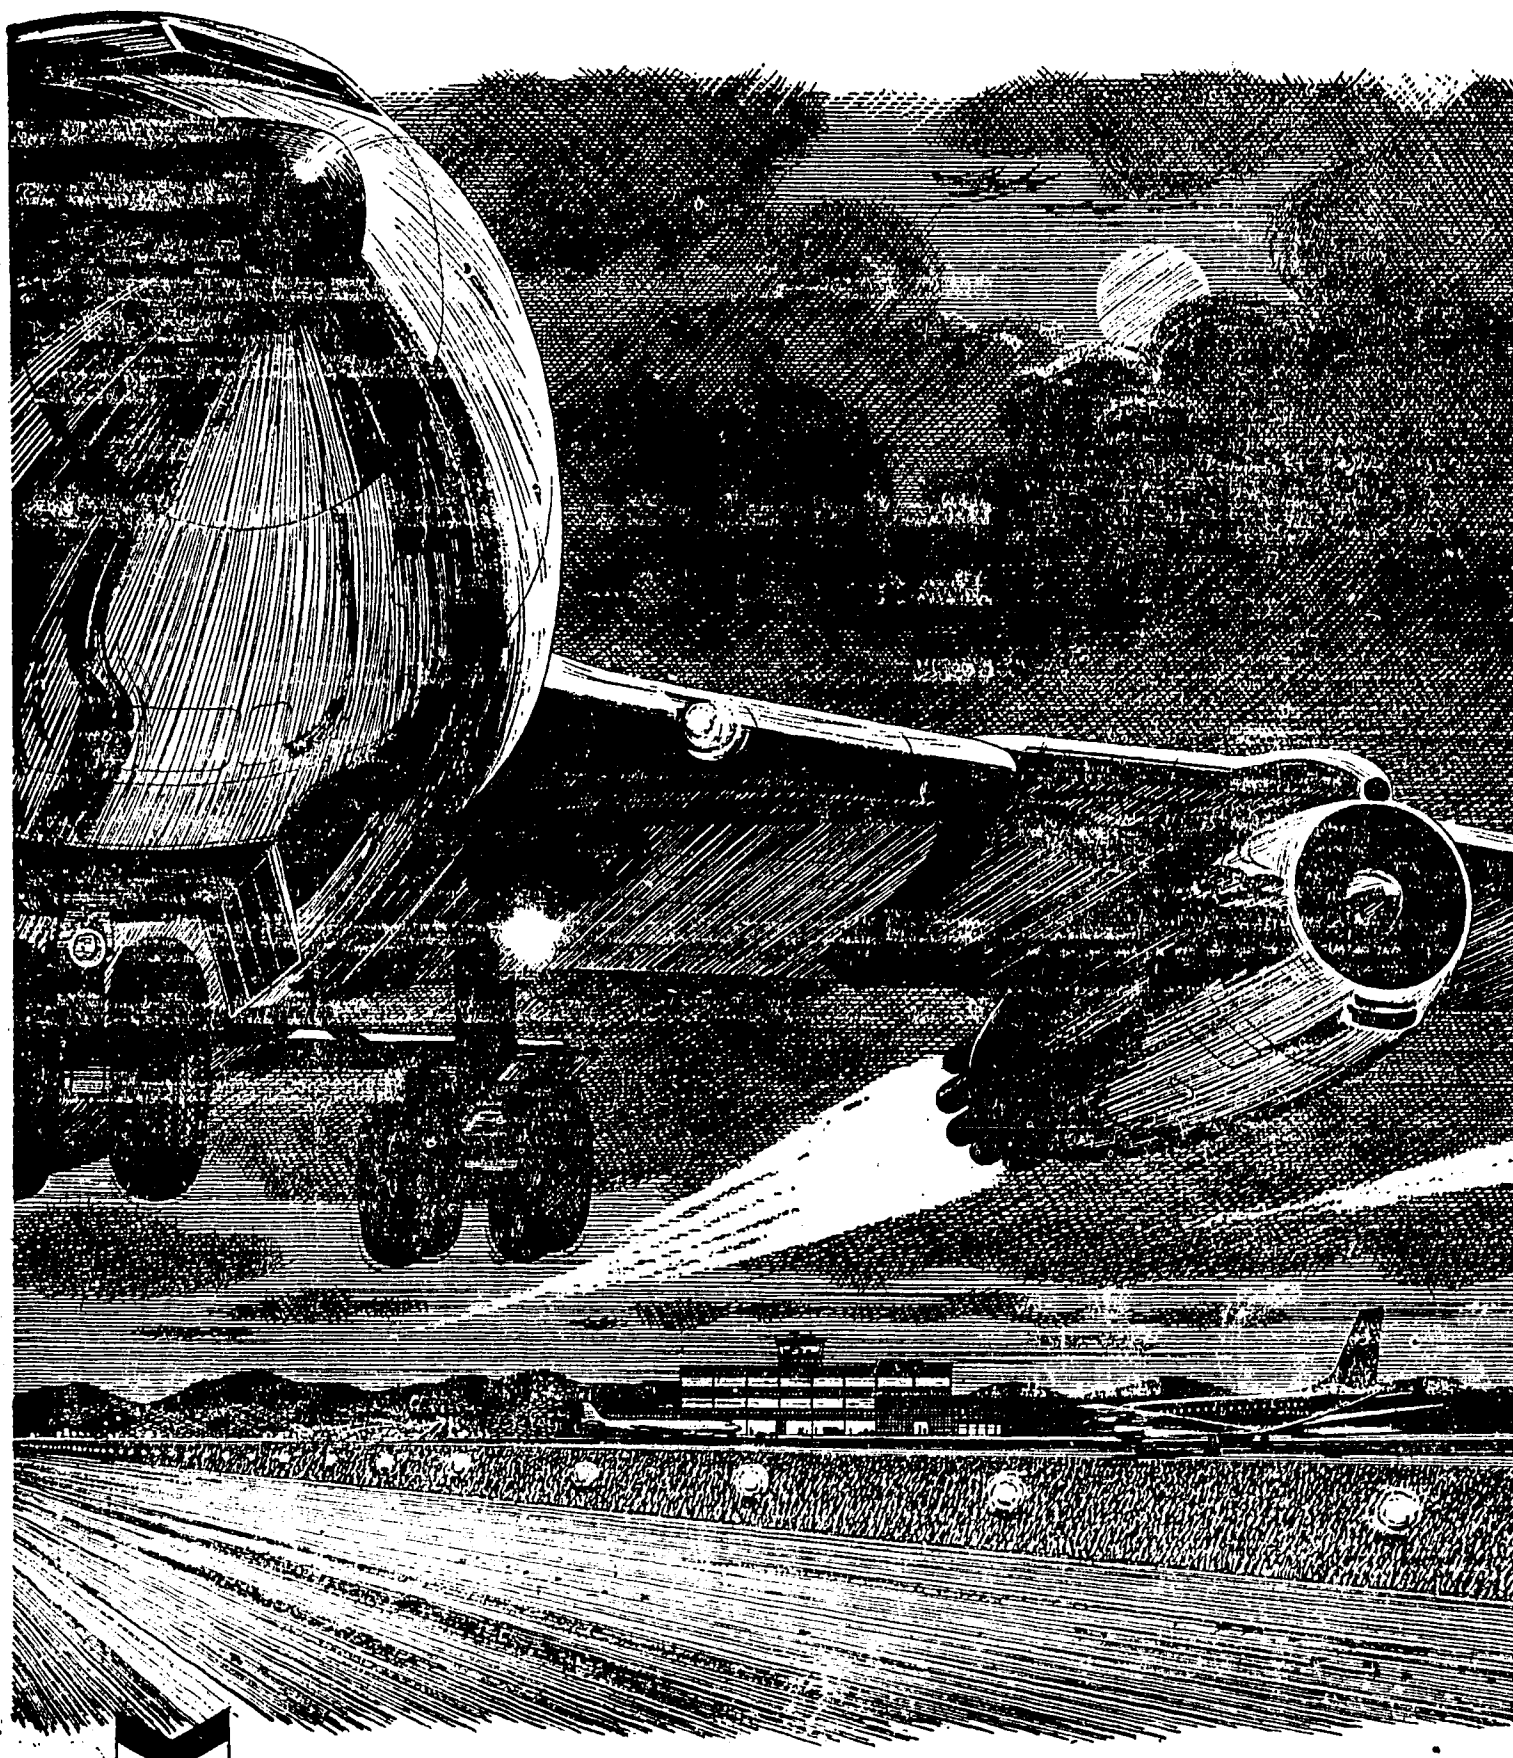

It sounds like science fiction: traveling across the continent in 4½ hours, New York to London in 6½, cutting airline schedules almost in half.

Yet these are routine for jet liners in the jet age — an era people at Standard's research laboratories have been working toward since the day seventeen years ago when we fueled the first U. S. jet flight.

Since then our scientists have worked with the armed forces to perfect fuels and special lubricants for planes that fly faster than sound, or cruise non-stop around the world. They've also helped engine designers solve problems of heat and cold; aided airlines with faster airport fueling systems.

The sum of these years of development has been to add hours to the traveler's day, days to the tourist's week. In helping to harness time, as well as putting petroleum to many other uses for you, the people at Standard are planning ahead to serve you better.

mostly at night, eating a wide variety of plants. They are particularly injurious to succulent seedlings.

There are 32 species of slugs in the United States. The true garden slug is most common in Idaho.

Slugs can be controlled during their active season with baits, dust and sprays. Methaldhyde bait in granular form or pellets, may be placed in slug areas. It lures slugs from their hiding places. The best time is late afternoon. Methaldhyde dust and sprays are also available, but are not recommended for vegetable use.

Chickens and ducks will clean up an infestation in a short time. The greatest natural enemy of the slug is the common toad. Most creatures avoid the slug because of its repulsive slime. Toads enjoy it.

From Anderson, Calif.: We are sure having some nice weather here in northern California. It is the driest it has been for many years. Isn't a bit cold — around 45 to 50. — Mrs. J. C. Kauble, 1733 Shasta St.

From Pendleton, Oregon: We have only had two nights that it was below zero so far this winter. Mother spent a couple of months in California visiting Wayland this winter. Tell everyone "hello" for us. As ever — Verner Davis.

From Yuma, Ariz.: Got your paper and it sure is nice to see what the "Invention" of the wheel was a big day in mankind's history—and it'll be a big day in your farm or home workshop's history when you put the wheel, in this case little 2-inch casters, to work for you!

Four such casters make the handy wheels for a portable tool rack that can be rolled around the floor of your workshop, barn, garage, or basement, possibly even into the yard, bringing your electric and hand tools right to the project at hand. The floor board of this rolling tool rack provides storage space for paint cans, sealed rag containers, and other handy items. The sides provide tool racks.

Portable tool rack also has storage space.

The tool rack is a triangular "tent" with perforated hardboard. Size depends upon your tool supply, but a good average dimension is 2 feet wide, 2½ feet long, and 3 feet high. Determine the size you need and begin by constructing a base of 2 by 4s and covering it with hardboard. Attach the casters to the bottom of this frame, mounting them rigidly on one end and swivel-fashion on the other. This allows you to steer the tool rack while rolling it around.

For the frame uprights use 2 by 2 inch stock, with a top ridge board 1 by 6 inch stock. Cover the sides with perforated hardboard. You can hang your portable electric tools, hand tools, and accessories on metal hooks and brackets mounted on this hardboard.

TO FIGHT SLUGS

Clean grounds are the best defense against slugs. A tidy yard offers few hiding places for the pests, says the county agricultural agent. Although slugs are a warm weather nuisance, winter is a good time, he says, to cut down the potential threat.

Remove loose boards, bricks, stones and trash piles that might give them refuge. Keep vegetable storage and basements dry. Fill crevices in basements to eliminate hiding places. Few slugs survive the winter out of doors, but they live nicely in warm corners. When temperatures go up in the spring and summer they move back to their open haunts, slithering about

HELLO, FOLKS:

Know your license number. We will give FREE GAS next Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday to license No. N 1577. This license gets one FREE TANK OF GAS when it comes to our station one of those days.

The drunk was sitting at a bar adjacent to a man and his wife. Suddenly the man gave forth with a resounding burp.
"How dare you, sir. What do you mean burping before my wife?"
With that the drunk unsteadily got off the bar stool and making a sweeping bow said:
"A thousand pardons, sir. I did not know it was madam's turn."

Don't drive a squeaky, dirty car when you go down to the tournament. Bring it in to us for a wash job, and perhaps a wax job, and a thorough lubrication. We use, of course, those famous Union Lubricants, and we'd love to fill that crankcase with that famous Union Royal Triton Motor Oil — the oil without a peer.

"Terrible about old Harry getting married, isn't it?" said a rail-roader to his friend.
"Why terrible?" inquired the friend.
"Well, he was such an easy guy to borrow money from."

There's nothing more exasperating than a wife who can't cook and won't — unless it's a wife who can't cook, and will!

Quotation from a will: "And so, being of sound mind, I spent every penny I had before I died."
