Their names are engraved deep in the hearts of families and friends — those heroes who died in battle, that we may enjoy a way of life rich because of its Four Freedoms — From Fear — Want — Speech — and Worship.

VILLAGE FATHERS MULL WATER PROBLEM, BELIEVE SOLUTION FOUND

As local residents are well aware, the Village of Kendrick has been faced with quite a water problem during the hot summer months, and our village trustees, aware of this fact, have not been idle. Frank Abrams, mayor, has this to say about the situation:

"For the past three years the Village of Kendrick has been running short of water during the hot summer months, due undoubtedly, to increased population and more lawns and flowers.

"When our present well was first drilled it provided us with 100 gallons per minute, but each season since, we have been receiving less and less water. Last year (1958) it was possible to pump only 65 gallons per minute.

"We started to investigate the possibilities of obtaining more water. We found that at certain times our springs would more than supply current needs, were overflowing the reservoir and draining down the sewer. An engineer was contacted on the possibilities of more storage so that wasted water might be saved.

"After surveying the village water system the engineer came up with a 125,000-gallon reservoir which could be constructed at an estimated cost of $15,000.00 — or drill a well at an estimated cost of $7,000.00.

"After consultation and considerable thought, it was deemed the better step to drill a well, the engineer also considering that the most feasible.

"The Village owns a pump and motor from the old well, which would prove satisfactory up to 300 feet in depth. Also, by drilling another well and with this pump, we would have an extra source of water should one motor or pump fail. The new well would be drilled several blocks from the present one, but in a local where connection to a large water main might easily be made.

"In considering financing of this project, it is believed that by adding 50c to the present minimum charge sufficient money can be raised to finance the drilling, pump installation and other attendant costs of a new well. In this way the expense would not prove burdensome to anyone."

Our Note: All are aware of the water rationing for the past two years, and we believe all will agree that more water from some source is a necessity. In years gone by there was no village well, springs alone supplied our needs.

But can't you remember that during those years pretty lawns were few and far between, and the homeowner with a beautiful flower bed was an envied person.

Today, beautiful lawns and flower beds go with almost every home here visitors always commenting on these things. Add to these requirements the water used in automatic washers, evaporative coolers, etc., and then add the population gain — and what do you have?

A great deal of water consumption per person and per home!

BRIDAL SHOWER

Bride-elect Erma Lohman was honored Sunday, May 24, with a miscellaneous shower at the Leland Church. An arrangement of pink tulips, snowballs and tall pink tapers centered the gift table.

A mock wedding and a reading by Mrs. Harold Silflow added to the afternoon's entertainment.

Corsages of pink and white carnations were presented the honoree, her sister Mrs. Ervin Draper, and the mother of the bridegroom-to-be, Mrs. Charles Campbell. They were then seated at the gift table where they helped Miss Lohman open and display her many lovely gifts.

The refreshment table was centered with three decorated doll cakes, resembling a bride, in white, and two bridesmaids in pink. These were served with coffee or punch.

Hostesses were Mrs. Wilbur Tarbet, Mrs. Billy Weyen, Mrs. Lloyd Craig, Mrs. Glen Wegner, Mrs. Harold Silflow, Mrs. Roy Craig, Mrs. Ted Weyen and Mrs. Chester Vincent.

U. of I., Moscow — Among the 885 candidates for degrees at the University of Idaho's 64th Commencement, Sunday, June 7, are:

Bachelor of Arts, Clifford J. Cook, Juliaetta, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Cook.

SEPTIC TANK HOAX PROVES COSTLY

Sheriff Lange of Moscow was in both Juliaetta and Kendrick last week, calling on business firms about checks and to voice concern of officials over the operation of unscrupulous septic tank "inspectors" and "pumpers," who are flourishing in the area.

These are strangers who appear at your home, offer a free inspection of your septic tank, and then after a great show of concern and so-called "examination" will explain how badly in need of cleaning and pumping your tank is. They then offer to do the cleaning without telling how much it will cost. After the cleaning is done they present a bill far in excess of reasonable fees.

The sad part of this story is that these operators usually pick out old people to victimize.

An outstanding example of their trickery was manifested last week when an elderly resident of Juliaetta was the loser of some $400.00 — just because he believed what he was told by the slick operators.

As near as can be learned a young man called on him with a pickup truck on which was mounted a pump, and posed as a septic tank inspector. Next came another man to do the job — and then presented him with a bill for $400.00, saying that they "would have it taken out of his taxes if he didn't pay."

He paid it and the next day a woman called, telling him the check was made out wrong, and asked him to make out another. This he did, but failed to ask for the old one that was supposed to be made out wrong, so he is out both — and the job undoubtedly would not have cost him in excess of $25.00 had he had it done by a reputable firm.

The incident was investigated by the sheriff's office, but there seems to be no clue as to their identity. No one got the license number of the truck, and all that is known about the gyp artists is that they were young — two men and a woman.

Let this serve as a warning to everyone not to be taken in by these so-called "specialists." Unless they can produce the proper credentials, give them the "cold shoulder" treatment.

As there are no septic tank cleaners in Kendrick, Genesee or Moscow, Sheriff Lange has asked some of the honest and reliable ones in the area to advertise in order to give local people an opportunity to learn their address and an idea of what a fair price may be. He adds that $25.00 is somewhere near the price charged by the average honest septic tank service man.

IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Fred Newman entered the St. Joseph's hospital at Lewiston Wednesday of this week where she will undergo major surgery for gallstones.

SCHOOL LUNCH HAS FINE RECORD, HOME CANNING HELPS KEEP COST LOW

In order that residents of this school district may get an inside glimpse of lunch time in the various school cafeterias we publish a sample menu, together with a statement from R. L. Meserve, superintendent of schools.

Menus, May 20, 1959:
Southwick Elementary: Creamed peas and carrots on toast cubes, pickled beets, pig-in-blanket, jello with fruit, ½ pint of milk.

Juliaetta Elementary: Hamburger sandwich, dill pickle slice, jello with strawberries (frozen), frosted graham crackers, ½ pint of milk.

Kendrick High and Jr. High: Mashed potatoes and gravy, oven braised red snapper, carrot sticks, buttered corn (frozen) raisin rolls, strawberry sauce, ½ pint milk.

Says R. L. Meserve
It is difficult for those who are not closely associated with the Hot Lunch to fully appreciate the summer canning program. We certainly could not have had the strawberry shortcakes and pickled beets without the canning program. The Hot Lunch is entirely self-supporting and this canning activity makes the difference between "lunches" and our high quality meals.

Even with menus like the ones above we were able this year to pull our program several hundred dollars out of the red. Operations had "run in the red" last year due to a shortage of U. S. D. A. commodities. We are now operating in the black, and with continued help from the Summer Canning program, expect to operate above the line this coming school year.

We, the people who eat in the School Hot Lunch throughout the school year, deeply appreciate the extra quality and quantity of the meals made possible by the Summer Canning program projects. We hope to have another good visit in the strawberry patches and corn fields again this summer.

Summer Canning Planned
The P.-T. A. Summer Canning chairmen for the 1959-60 school year met in the Kendrick school lunch room Wednesday evening, May 20, with P.-T. A. president Mrs. Bob Magnuson and R. L. Meserve, supt. The summer canning has been such

NO PENCIL

Marilyn ZumHofe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter ZumHofe, suffered a painful but not serious injury last Friday in a bit of "horseplay" at the school.

Wearing jeans, Marilyn was with a group of youngsters on the lawn. Eddie Corkirk grabbed her by the ankles and started pulling her about the grass.

"Hey, wait a minute," said Marilyn. "I've got a pencil in my hip pocket."

Eddie released her, she put her hand in her hip pocket and found it covered with blood. She retired to the sick bay and examination revealed a cut about two inches in length and rather deep, evidently caused by glass imbedded in the lawn.

She was taken to Dr. Christensen's office where the wound was sewn up. She is recovering nicely — but finds it a bit difficult to sit down.

NEXT YEAR'S FIRST GRADERS EAT IN SCHOOL LUNCH ROOM

Here Kindergarten children get a taste of what lunch time will be like when they go to school next fall.

Beginning at the left side of the table and working to the back and forward to the front, they are:

Boyd Candler, Billy Hudson, Donnie Parks, Eric Taylor, Paul Phillips, Ray Heimgartner, Rodney Hollenbeck, Judy Porter, Barbara Farrington and Brenda Thornton.

Standing on chairs are Becky Stitzlein, Cynthia Osborn, Leslie Meserve and Christie Johns.

Working forward: Pete Wahl, Dick May, LeAnn Rogers, Vicki Gilliam, Debbie Johnson, Nancy Hutchison, Douglas Clayton, Lowell Hoffman, Carol Weyen, Louise Arnett and Steven Thornton (Steven is from Peck).

To say that the youngsters enjoyed the day is putting it mildly — "it was a ball!"

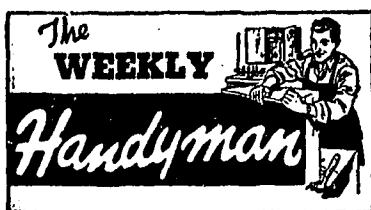

A LA MOWED

That fellow who was trying to develop a one-inch grass seed may have had a good idea — for about two months of the year. Right now when you're getting the mower out and trying to decide whether it will do for another year, the blade should be set for one inch above the ground. This is just right for the first cutting and through April — also for mid-September to late October. But one inch is too short for good sod, deep roots, minimum weeds and lush greenness in May, June, July, August, early September, late October and November.

So, if you're not putting in green concrete, here's the latest advice from Pennsylvania (often called "the lawn-mower state"): Before that May 2-3 week-end, raise the cutter-bar (or the whirling) another half inch off the ground. Inch-and-a-half grass is just dandy for May and June.

But before the not-so-glorious Fourth (only a two-day week-end this year), hike the mower up again to give you a two-inch nap on your lawn until mid-September. Then, drop it down to the springtime inch, but don't leave it too long. Mark Oct. 24 (Saturday) on your seed calendar as the time to hike the mower back up to two inches so your greensward will survive the winter in good shape.

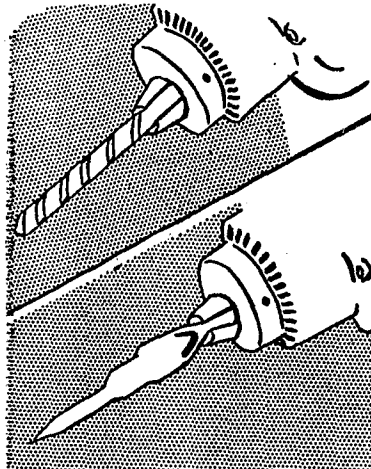

This may sound like a lot of trouble, and besides, there's no law against cutting your lawn any way you want to — or even NOT cutting it. But, in spite of all the griping and wise cracks, we think most men enjoy this task — especially since they now have home lawn mowers you can sit on and just RIDE! We also think that most men pride themselves as much on their lawnmowers as on their golf clubs or fishing tackle or guns — which, of course makes those Pennsylvania experts pretty happy.

Recently a midwestern reader complained that "the hardest workshop task for me is getting screws started properly", and getting them tight. Often I've worked up blisters on my hands by the time I'm finished. How can I make the job easier? Are there any electric screwdrivers available?"

Taking the second question first, there are power tool attachments available for driving screws. These screwdriver attachments fit onto 1/4-inch portable electric drills and remove all the musclework—and the blisters—in tightening screws.

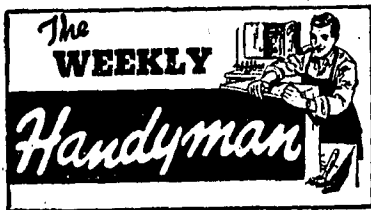

Setting screws properly easy with proper tools.

There are other things you should do, whether or not you use such a power tool attachment, to make screwdriving easy. For instance, you always should drill a pilot hole the size of the root diameter of the screw, measured two threads from the bottom.

If you're using a flathead screw, you should make a countersink hole with a countersink bit chucked into your electric drill. You can get a series of bits which will drill, pilot and countersink holes in one operation, with the bits matched to various sizes of screws.

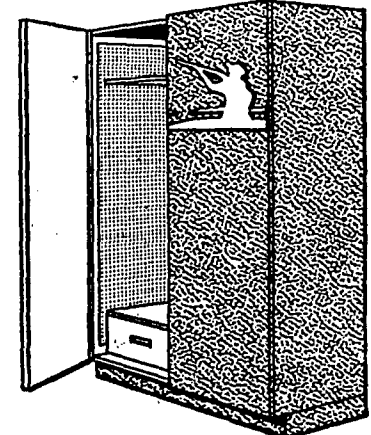

The screws will go into the holes more easily if they are rubbed slightly on a bar of soap before driving. This "lubrication" of the screw, plus drilling of pilot and countersink holes, simplifies the screwdriving task when you use a hand screwdriver. But the easiest way to avoid the blisters, of course, is to utilize your power drill with a screwdriver attachment.

An old problem in most urban and farm homes is to find a place to store hunting and fishing equipment, outdoor clothing, golf clubs, horseshoe and croquet sets, and so on.

An easy solution is to build a "sportsrobe" designed with shelf, drawer, and hanging space for a variety of equipment. The plan we suggest is adaptable to storage of outdoor clothing, even hip boots and hi-cuts; fishing poles and tackle boxes; guns—well, you just build into the "sportsrobe" the features of the plan which fit your family's sports tastes and equipment.

"Sportsrobe" solves your storage problems.

The "sportsrobe" is roughly 4 feet wide, 7 1/2 feet high, and 2 feet deep. We'll be glad to send you the plans without charge. Features of the design are back and linings of perforated hardboard, which give perfect ventilation for stored items plus unlimited choice of arrangements for things you want to hang on the walls with metal fixtures. Construction is primarily of hardboard with white pine framework, materials which can be easily worked with your portable electric circular and jig saws, sander and drills to make all cuts, grooves, and fittings quickly.

Final flourishes to the "sportsrobe" are a hunter and flying bird, fisherman and leaping fish, or some other combination traces on hardboard, cut out with electric jig saw, and glued to the doors before finishing the cabinet.

EXPENSIVE TRIP

Boise, May 20 — A mule train was ready to begin the plodding journey from Boise to Los Angeles, today.

Don Lee, a mountain guide, will start the pack train from in front of the Statehouse at 10:00 a. m. The trip is a promotion by Idaho Tourist Enterprises to distribute information about the state's attractions.

Lee will be given a letter by Louise Shadduck, secretary of the State Department of Commerce and Development, inviting Gov. Pat Brown of California to come to Idaho for a hunting trip.

Lee said that his pack train will honor the mule trains of Idaho's early history. He said that among the noted pack strings was one used by Capt. E. D. Pierce in 1861 on his trip into the Clearwater country. Pierce found gold on Oro Fino creek and founded Pierce City. Long pack strings brought supplies up the Clearwater from Lewiston.

Pack strings also brought supplies to all the famous Idaho gold fields at Elk City, Florence, Warren's Meadows, Idaho City, Placerville and Centerville, Lee said.

He recalled a statement of Joe Williams of Elk City, who once said: "Yes, sir, them mule trains run up to 90 animals and five or six packers and it took a lot of pack trains to get in all the things that we needed up here for a winter, big or little, from machinery to tobacco. Streets were jammed from end to end with a dozen outfits loadin' outa here every morning with them mountain mules raisin' Cain and the packers swearin' around." Our Note: The above was given us by John DeHaven, a personal friend of the Joe Williams mentioned above.

TEACHER STANDARD IMPORTANT

Parents everywhere are showing unusual concern about the quality of the instruction their children are receiving in the public schools. This has been stimulated in part by national and international developments which have placed a premium on study and learning in the fields of science and mathematics. However, the concern of parents is more direct and intimate since they know that the quality of the education of their children will strongly affect their entire lives.

A question which is important in the minds of many thoughtful people in our state today is: What is the best way to insure a high quality of education for the children and youth of Idaho? It is vital that an adequate and practical answer be found to this question.

It is suggested that the clue is furnished by the way improved service was obtained in other fields — in medicine, law, engineering pharmacy and architecture. Higher quality in these and similar services was obtained by requiring that persons be adequately prepared before being permitted to enter these fields. In other words, the professional status of the physician, the lawyer, the architect and the druggist was raised far beyond what they once were. In the same way real and lasting improvement in the quality of teaching can be attained, and perhaps only attained, by improving the professional position of the teacher. Public school teaching will have to be made a substantial, highly regarded, adequately rewarded profession, ca-table of attracting and holding persons with the best minds and the most attractive and forceful personalities.

Teachers will have to be both well educated and professionally trained for their important work. This will require at least four years of college preparation. It is to be regretted that it has appeared necessary to use sub-standard teacher certification so extensively in Idaho. The state should scrutinize this practice with greatest care to see whether the continuance of such emergency certification is realistically justified or whether it is not actually based on economy and convenience, and whether it does not actually tend to perpetuate the shortage of qualified teachers.

If the children of Idaho are to obtain the same quality of education as that provided the children of other states, teacher standards must be equally high.

4-H CONTEST ON

The 1959 Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool Contest has begun. Mrs. Roy Laird, Dubois, state director for the home sewing committee competition sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the National Wool Growers' Association, announced there will be three divisions: Sub-teen class, 13 through 16 years; Junior class, 14 through 17, and Senior class, 18 through 22. A district style revue will be conducted in each of the five areas, October 31. Junior and senior winners in each district will receive expense paid trips to the state contest in Boise in November.

National winners will get trips to Europe. An Idaho girl, Amy Beth Loomis of Donnelly, was the national grand prize winner in the junior division last year. She earned a trip to Paris this summer.

Prospective contestants, particularly those in 4-H Clubs, were advised this week by Ruth Shanc, county home agent, to get started early and be sure to follow instructions of the state committee.

The local area chairman is Mrs. Duane LeTourneau, Moscow. Contact your county 4-H Club advisor.
