The next meeting, the start of the seventh year, will be held the third Wednesday in September.

of any within the district during the past year, and a high attendance record, Peterson said.

"The Kendrick Community Lions Club is an outstanding example of what a small community can accomplish by joining their efforts in an attempt to have a better community," he said.

New Officers Installed
With the ending of the sixth year of the club the new officers took their positions. They include:
F. C. Schmidt, president
Bud Eichner, first vice president.
Dean Hollenbeck, second vice president.
Bob Watts, third vice president
Dick Benjamin, secretary-treasurer.

Bill White, Tail Twister
Bob Magnuson, Lion Tamer
Bob Meserve, director.
One hundred percent attendance pins were also presented for the past year by Dick Benjamin. They were awarded to Bill White, Bill McCreary, Dick Benjamin, Gerald Ingle, Bob Magnuson, Dennis Racicot, and George Brocke, Jr.

The highlights of the previous year were also reviewed, with the achievements of the club during the past season. The retiring district governor commented that the Lions Club projects probably topped those of any other service group in the district.

The projects of the local club during the 1958-59 season included: Presentation of a survival film; concrete pouring and painting in the village park, which included the bandstand and fireplace; moving and cleaning of Armitage field twice, with the aid of other townsmen; aided financially on tonsillectomy; aided in hearing and sight tests for two children; sponsorship of the Community Day; Christmas program; athletic dinner for the high school athletes; fact finding meetings for the special school election; new band uniform; sponsorship of the Boy Scout Troop and Little League; installed poles for the street lighting and special Christmas decorations, and aided in the painting of the Kendrick Assembly of God Church.

The new president, Rev. F. C. Schmidt, commented that the progress of the Club this past year was due largely to the fine leadership of the immediate past president, Elmer Stitzlein, and Dick Benjamin, as secretary-treasurer. He also added that young blood had a lot to do with the success of the organization, and commented that he wished he were 30 year younger — so he could give the past president a "run for his money."

FORMER RESIDENT CHOSEN OFFICER

George-Anne Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jones of Kendrick, and former residents of Kendrick, was chosen as a Grand Officer for the next year at the Grand Assembly for Rainbow Girls, held in Port Angeles, Wash., last week.

She is Grand Patriotism of the Grand Assembly of the States of Washington, Idaho and Alaska, Order of the Rainbow For Girls. She is also Past Worthy Advisor of the Kennewick Assembly, and was recently awarded the Grand Cross of Colors (an honorary degree for outstanding service in Rainbow).

George-Anne is eighteen, and a graduate of the Kennewick High School this month. She was a member of the National Honor Society and has been active in Tri-Hi-Y and Jr. Red Cross. She is in her sixth year of 4-H, having been enrolled in sewing and cooking projects, and a Junior Leader for three years. As a result of her 4-H record she won the Carl Raymond Gray Scholarship, (a 4-H Club scholarship) of the Union Pacific Railroad for 4-H boys and girls who are going to W. S. C. to major in Home Economics or Agriculture.

George-Anne is a granddaughter of E. H. Jones of Big Bear ridge, and also of Mr. and Mrs. Wade T. Keene of Lewiston.

COLOR MEANING

Frank Abrams and Jud Lee have taken a great deal of good natured kidding about the yellow color the Abrams Hardware building has been painted, so perhaps an explanation is in order.

The canary yellow and chocolate brown colors the building wears are the copyrighted colors of the "Home-town Hardware" dealers, and there are approximately 350 such dealers in the northwest.

Those colors mean that the hardware is independently owned and not a part of any hardware chain. The organization is banded together for the purpose of buying in quantity lots so that lower selling prices may be possible.

LOSES FINGER END

George Jones, who is employed on the road construction job near Southwick, cut the end of his right index finger so severely that it had to be amputated at the first joint.

The accident occurred Monday while he was engaged in helping to change a blade on a bulldozer.

HONOR MOTHERS

The Willing Workers 4-H Club honored their mothers with a luncheon on the lawn of the Andy Cox home, Tuesday, June 23. The menu was planned and prepared by those having Food Projects, assisted by the other members.

Each mother was presented a corsage, and the group presented their leader, Mrs. Wayne Davis, with a gift.

It was a most enjoyable affair for all concerned — the 4-H members "learning by doing."

DIKE PROJECT IS DELAYED BY YARDS OF GOVT. RED TAPE

Legal complications and yards of government red tape again have appeared to delay the starting of the Kendrick dike and dredging operations.

Kendrick's mayor, Frank Abrams, was informed this week that the starting date for construction on the project has now been set for July 5th, which automatically means Monday, July 6th.

The latest word from the construction firm of A. L. Canady and W. L. Van Winkle of Ontario, Oregon, is that they were only notified Tuesday morning that they were to move to the construction site.

A total of 12 days is given each construction company who contracts for the Corps of Engineers, to be on the job after they receive official notification that the final approval of the contract has been made.

"What seems to have caused the delay this time is that clearance had to be made on the performance bond that was posted by the construction company," Abrams said. "A performance bond is 10 percent of the amount of money bid by the contractors to be held by the primary company, in case of a default," he added.

Abrams said that he felt sure, barring more legal complications, that the contractors would be on the job by the second week in July. He also added that if they were not on the job the company would be considered in default and would lose the contract and the performance bond.

A company spokesman told Abrams that their hands were tied until this week when they received the "go ahead" from the Corps of Army Engineers, and are to be at the work site within 12 days.

CUB SCOUTS TAKE SEVEN MILE HIKE

The Juliaetta-Kendrick Cub Scouts embarked on a seven-mile hike last Wednesday morning, which took them on a round-trip to the Bud Fey ranch northeast of Kendrick.

Considered by the "Den Mothers," Mrs. Dick Cuddy and Mrs. Onal Cope as one of the highlights of the day, was a ride in a "hot-rod" for each of the boys while at the ranch.

The Cubs, with the Den Mothers, left the Kendrick park about 8:00 a. m. Some 16 Cubs from the area were present for the hike.

The Den Mothers commented on the spirit of the boys and said that although there were a lot of "my feet hurt, I'm tired, and I'm sure thirsty," the boys withstood the trip quite well.

After a short rest in the Kendrick park, there was a hot dog feed for the Cubs, which seemed to heal most of the aches and pains, and all started inquiring "when can we make another trip?"

"I think the seven-mile hike will be remembered by all 16 of the boys and the two Den Mothers as a most enjoyable trip," said Mrs. Cope.

AH, WEATHER

This section got its first real taste of summer this past week. It all began on Wednesday, when the mercury hit a high of 85 degrees.

Thursday the indicator went a bit higher, recording 92 degrees. Friday, and Saturday readings of 95 degrees were reached; Sunday it was 92 degrees; Monday 88 degrees, and Tuesday 88 degrees, and Tuesday evening about 8:00 a warm rain began falling, which continued for a good share of the night. It was welcomed by farmers and townsfolk — but temporarily stopped local logging operations.

Saturday gave promise of really being a scorcher, but a breeze came up and made living quite comfortable, despite the high reading. The Potlatch river is dropping steadily and clearing, it having been quite roily for the past several weeks due to the heavy rainfall.

"COUNTERFEIT?" HECK NO, IT'S A GOOD OLD LEWISTON, IDAHO $10 GREENBACK

A VALUABLE LEWISTON, IDAHO, $10.00 BILL SHOWS UP Ahsahka Girl Receives "Bonus" Currency in Pay Envelope at Lewiston

Idaho "10-Spots" are just as valuable as those that are printed by the U. S. Treasury Department, and sometimes even more valuable. Mrs. Clifford Parks, a resident of the Ahsahka area found out last week.

Over a week ago Mrs. Parks's daughter Judy, who works in Lewiston, returned home for the week-end with her pay, which she received in cash, in her wallet.

Upon examination of the money, she discovered that she had, so she thought, a counterfeit $10 bill.

Instead of a counterfeit, the customary lettering on the left side of the face of the bill, it read, "The Lewiston National Bank Idaho will pay to the bearer on demand TEN DOLLARS." The bill was dated 1929, and had a serial number of D 000339A.

Judy showed the bill to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Parks and they also thought that the money was counterfeit, but they decided to make a trip into Orofino and find out if the bill really had any monetary value, or whether it was a "fake."

When the bill was presented at the bank in Orofino, the first comment was, "where in the world did you get this bill?" and when asked if it was worth the paper it was printed on, the reply was that it most certainly was, and possibly a good deal more than was shown on the face value.

Elated with the knowledge that the bill was not a fake, but real "Dough," with some monetary value, the Parks set out to find a little of the history of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks found out that a few of the bills were made both in Lewiston and Grangeville in 1929, with a purpose as novelty items only.

The face of the bills were printed in Lewiston, Idaho, and then they sent to the United States Treasury Department in Washington D.C., where the backs were printed and the numbers registered with the Treasury Department.

All of the bills printed were signed by E. W. Lutz and F. J. Miller of Lewiston. Only a week ago Miller celebrated his 50th wedding anniversary in Lewiston.

The Parks family had no further information on the number of bills printed, but it is believed not more than one thousand.

Mrs. Parks said that they already had been offered a sizeable sum for the bill, but said they would find out its true value before they would try to sell it.

Mrs. Parks said that "Idaho 10 spot" had become a family project, as Judy's financial position would not warrant holding the bill out of circulation, so Mrs. Parks reimbursed Judy, and thus the "Idaho 10-Spot" became community property, so Judy now becomes a shareholder in her own find.

Judy's boss at Erickson's in Lewiston has been the only unhappy person connected with the find. He is the person who paid Judy with the bill, and he is quite disgruntled to think he let a "valuable" Idaho $10 bill slip so easily through his fingers.

LOCAL L'IL LEAGUE DROPS GAMES TO DEARY AND BOVILL

The Juliaetta-Kendrick Little League lost a hard fought game to Deary's Little League nine, 3 to 2 last Friday evening, and then fell easy prey to Bovill 7-2 Tuesday evening.

The local squad retained their consecutive scoring with two runs in each game played so far this season. The Juliaetta-Kendrick squad has yet to win a game.

Bruce Vincent and Tom Rowden were the batterers for Kendrick when they met Deary, and Eldon Fey, Dana Magnuson and Tom Rowden were the batterers against Bovill.

The Deary game saw Eldon Fey pick up two of the local's hits as he flouted out a double and homer for Kendrick's only scores of the game.

Deary	3	6	1

BE PREPARED

An attractive young girl, visiting in Connecticut, went driving one night with one of the local Romeos. As they pulled onto a lonely section of the local beach, the car suddenly stopped. The boy gave a resigned shrug. "Out of gas," he muttered.

Nonchalantly, the girl opened her purse and pulled out a flask.

"Hey, you're all right," exclaimed the lady killer, "Scotch or burbon?"

"Gasoline," she said sweetly!

DO YOU KNOW

Out of nearly 4 million business concerns in this country, 21,000 are worth a million dollars or more. This 21,000 employs more people, pays more wages, and spends more to develop new products than the 3,979,000 other firms combined. America would lose much world importance if our larger firms did not exist, working hand in hand with our vital small businesses.

Every week employes of the Washington Water Power Company in the Inland Empire pass along to local business firms, professional people, for professional services, etc., a payroll amounting to $138,000. Each well-managed business firm in the community helps to maintain the prosperity of customers it serves.

Racing is the nation's No. 1 sport, attracting 53 million fans, compared with football's 19 million.

In Europe, only 1 family in 5 owns an electric refrigerator and one in four owns a car. On the other hand, 98% of Inland Empire families have a refrigerator, and the entire local population could ride in autos at one time if they want to, and sometimes we think they do.

Drop in to see your electric dealer when convenient. Ask him to show you some of the amazing features on new appliances which make housework easy and pleasant. You'll be surprised.

AS I SEE IT

By Frank P. McCreary

Kendrick residents went (or perhaps we should say are going) to the polls today (Wednesday) to determine if they should have an adequate water supply for the community.

True, there is a possibility that additional expense may exceed that now estimated by the village to support the drilling and coupling of another well to the present water system, but the residents of the community can be thankful that there is an opportunity to obtain more water.

Many cities throughout the country (Moscow, Idaho, for example) are in desperate need of water, and are contemplating piping it great distances in order that there may be enough to support the city. These projects are being undertaken no matter how great the expense.

At the present times it looks as though Kendrick residents will be hit for a 50c a month raise in their water rates — but the complaint is that it may go even higher.

Kendrick's water rate is very low. Consider what the basic rate might well be if the water had to be chlorinated, filtered, or treated in other ways for purification. We do not have to face their expenditures, and our rates are "rock bottom." Surely we can stand the small extra bit that is necessary at this time to give the community an adequate water supply system.

The question of "Why not another reservoir, rather than another well?" Stop and think. Just how much reservoir could you build for $5,000,000 or $10,000,000, the estimated cost of the well and installation? And where would the water come from to fill it? The well is the recommendation of the state engineer as well as the findings of the local "Village Fathers."

In order that Kendrick have adequate water it is essential that its residents vote "YES" for bonds to improve the system. It has served us well, but it is now inadequate and needs additions and improvements.

This article was written only as a thought for the betterment of the community, and as a public service.

SMALL ENVELOPES

Postmaster Fred O. Stedman says: "You had better use up all your small size envelopes (under 4 by 2 3/4 inches) by July 1, 1959. After that date any envelope mailed under that size will be returned to the sender as unmailable matter. If no return address appears they will have to go to the dead letter office, which will then make a 10c charge for return."

If in doubt, measure that envelope.

QUESTION: We're anxious to eliminate the opening and closing of our cattle gate by installing a cattle guard. What kind would you recommend?

ANSWER: A simple method of construction for a cattle guard is to weld lengths of old 2-inch pipe across H-beams. The length of the cattle guard should be at least 8 feet. If it is necessary to make it longer than 10 feet, we recommend making the guard in two sections for easier lifting, with a 1/2-inch pipe slipped through the inside of two sections to hold them together. Lifting is essential, of course, in cleaning out the cattle guard. The H-beams should be placed 2 to 3 feet apart and you'll need three to five beams, depending on length of the guard.

Two-inch pipes welded across H-beams make effective cattle guard.

The base for the cattle guard can be recessed cement blocks. Lay them in the ground side by side at right angles to the pipe and H-beams so the blocks will not collapse from weight on the guard. Then place the beams on the blocks.

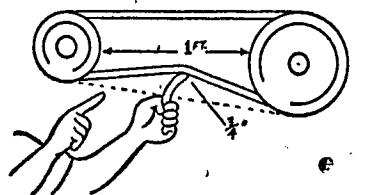

QUESTION: What causes foginess in a barn on cold days and mugginess on warm days? I can't seem to get rid of this condition in my barn.

ANSWER: Such a problem usually stems from lack of sufficient ventilation, a condition which normally can be improved by installing exhaust fans or a ventilating system. Only by maintaining the right temperature and moisture conditions in the barn can foginess or mugginess—unhealthy conditions for livestock as well as for humans—be eliminated. Barn ventilators in most cases can be self-installed if you have the proper workshop tools.

A reader who has been experiencing difficulty with slippage and inefficient operation on his tool grinder's V-belt says, "I never thought a V-belt could give trouble. What could be wrong to cause this sudden slipping? I'd appreciate any suggestions you may have."

V-belt drives require little attention for the most part but they do need occasional inspection for the following factors:

Keep the pulleys and belt free from oil, dirt, and grease by occasional cleaning. Make sure the belt has the right tension—from 1/2 to 3/4 inch for every foot of belt between the pulley shafts.

Correct tension will eliminate V-belt slipping and inefficient operation.

Check the pulley grooves to make sure they aren't bent or worn. Such pulleys wear out the belt rapidly. Check pulley alignment by placing a straightedge against the two pulleys. Make sure the alignment is as near perfect as possible.

Be sure the top (wide section) of the belt is flush with the top of the pulley. If the belt is so worn it is riding the bottom of the groove, it should be replaced. There should be clearance at the bottom of the pulley groove and bottom (narrow section) of the belt. If not, friction properties of the side of the groove and belt are lost and slipping can occur.

This looks like a long list but actually all of these factors can be checked in but a little time—and the checking should be done periodically to catch defects before slipping and inefficiency occurs.

Since V-belt drive mechanisms are widely used in general farm and home shop applications with portable motors, it is important to be alert to the simple rules of maintaining them.

CANADA THISTLE CAN BE CONTROLLED

There are practical ways to control Canadian thistle. A former Idaho weed worker, now in Montana, has brought out new evidence that the job can be done. Jesse M. Hodgson of the USDA agricultural research service, Bozeman, Montana, has also demonstrated the financial loss caused by thistles in wheat.

According to a report received this week by Homer Futter, county agent the experiments showed that as few as four Canada thistle shoots in 16 square feet reduced yield of irrigated spring wheat 30 percent.

Where infestations averaged 50 shoots in 16 square feet yields dropped 60 percent. Normal yields were obtained when Canada thistle was removed.

Hodgson formerly conducted weed research at Meridian where one of his chief concerns was whitetop.

In Montana plots planted to wheat each year, Hodgson controlled thistles by annually spraying one pound of 2,4-D amine per acre 26 days after seeding. Nitrogen was applied yearly to increase the ability of wheat to compete with thistles that survived the chemical sprays. In other plots, left fallow during alternate years, he got rid of thistles by cultivating every 21 days after duck-foot sweeps set at three to four inches in depth.

Twice-a-year mowing of alfalfa and use of one pound of 2,4-D per acre sprayed annually on silage corn and on seeded pasture grasses controlled Canada thistle when these crops were grown in rotation with spring wheat. The land was cultivated before planting of silage corn in late May. Nitrogen was applied in seasons when pasture grasses or silage corn were planted.

The same type methods should remove Canada thistle infestations of non-irrigated spring wheat crops planted in rotation, Hodgson said.

Man of Vision

One hundred and fifty years ago, Cyrus Hall McCormick, inventor of the world's first successful reaper, was born on the family farm in Rockbridge County, Va. In observing the sesquicentennial of his birth, International Harvester Company depicts the evolution of farm machinery from its infancy up to today's high standards of mechanization. The above drawing shows McCormick, age 22, at the first public test of his reaper in July, 1831. Below is the company's newest combine—the McCormick No. 151 self-propelled Hillside harvest-thresher. As a comparison, the first reaper could harvest 10 acres a day. Today's modern combine will handle up to nine times as much.

THE Bull itin

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

Got that field work done and planning on a fishing trip? If you have — and you are — good for you. But if you haven't, and are really in a hurry — call us at 4251 for those famous Union Oil Products. We hurry too! And we'll bring you diesel fuel, gasolines, motor oils, greases, lubricants. A phone call will do the trick!

The driver backed his dump truck too far over a fill, and the weight of the load lifted the front end off the ground several feet. "What are you going to do now?" asked a fellow driver. The first driver contemplated his situation, then replied: "I believe I'll grease it. I'll never have a better chance."

How about that 4th of July trip? Are your tires in shape? If you're driving on "banana peels" it's time to come in and see us about new ones. We trade. And while you are here, why not let us grease your car, and change the oil and filter cartridge. Then you'll be set for a safe, comfortable trip.

Teen-age Daughter: "Did you ever hear anything so wonderful?" (as the radio ground out the very latest in swing).

Father: "Can't say I have, although I once heard a collision between a truckload of milk cans and another carrying ducks."

The ACF-Bulletin said: "The stronger sex is the weaker sex because of the weakness of the stronger sex for the weaker sex."
