

New School Construction Bids to be Opened Tonight

DIRECTORS CALL SPECIAL MEETING TO OPEN 17 BIDS

Seventeen contractors are expected to be on hand tonight (Thursday, Sept. 3) for the opening of the sealed bids for the construction of the new Joint District No. 283 Junior-Senior High School at Kendrick.

District 283 directors have set tonight as the time to find out who is the low bidder on the general construction contract for the new school building.

Robert Meserve, superintendent of schools, reports that the Boise architectural firm of Dropping, Kelly & Finch notified the board that 17 contractors have procured blue print forms from them at a cost of $25.00 each. "With this many contractors interested in the job, we are hoping for low bids on the previously estimated $300,000.00 construction program," Meserve said.

Meserve also added that if a bid is accepted by the board of directors tonight, the actual work on the school could begin within the month of September. "A deadline date has not been set as yet, but we hope to have the building completed and ready for the starting of school next year at this time," the superintendent added.

"There is, of course, the chance that none of the bids will be accepted, but only if they all range over the estimates or if the directors feel that contract bids are insufficient in a way that would not provide the best school for the money."

AT THE SCHOOL HOUSE

Enrollment was higher than expected at the Juliaetta and Southwick elementary schools, and the Kendrick Junior High — but lower than expected at the Kendrick High school Monday, as classes began in this district.

A total of 141 students reported for classes at the Juliaetta Elementary school; 34 at Southwick, and 65 at the Kendrick Junior High. In High school, where 101 were expected, the total was only 95. It was believed that some of the students still holding summer jobs, will be reporting soon.

Only 12 boys have turned out to date for the school football team. The last two seasons Kendrick has been the champions of the eight-man football league, and the lack of turnout is quite surprising.

During the summer five new typewriters and Science equipment worth several hundred dollars were acquired for the school.

At Southwick new electric wiring is being installed, and at Juliaetta a fence is being built around two sides of the playground to protect children from a steep embankment adjoining.

PUSHED PLUNGER

Rickie Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rogers got the thrill of a lifetime for a small boy Tuesday, when he was allowed to push the plunger that set off the 700 pounds of dynamite used in a rock blast.

The charge, used to blow a point just above the Kendrick dump ground on the Little Bear ridge road, was a shallow one, and quite spectacular, as rock and flame flew.

The road is to be widened at this point, with the loosened rock used as fill.

OLD TIMERS PICNIC

About 90 "Old Timers", former and present residents of the Gold Hill area, met at the Clarkston park on Sunday, August 30, for a picnic and get together.

Those present came from Caldwell, Idaho; Spokane, Milton, Oregon; Paradise, Calif.; Genesee, Idaho; Lenore, Idaho; Fort Lewis, Wash.; Gold Hill, Juliaetta, Lewiston, Clarkston, Kendrick and Southwick.

A sumptuous old-time picnic dinner was served at 2:00 o'clock. Many pictures taken during past years of former classmates and old neighbors were on display, and furnished one of the high lights of the day.

The two oldest old timers were both 81 years old, one traveling from Walla Walla, the other from Clarkston.

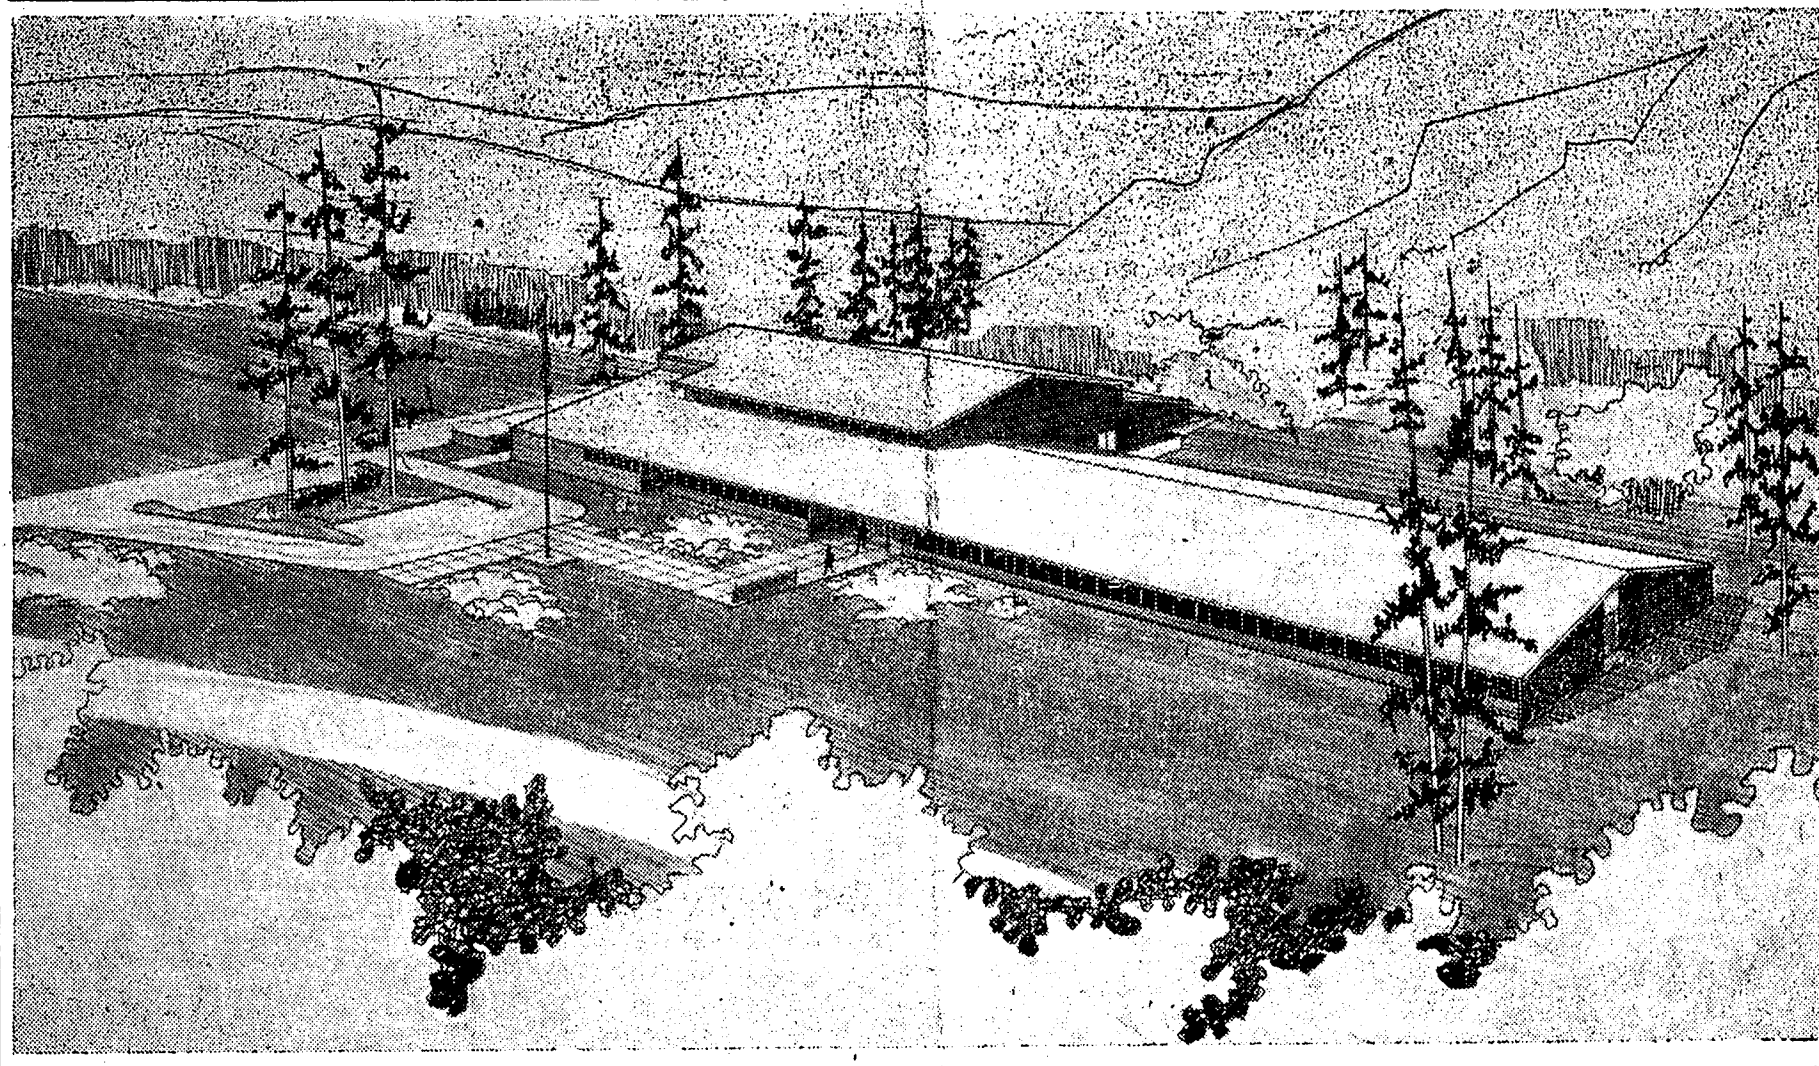

All had such a wonderful time it was decided to make the picnic an annual affair.

SCHOOL CANNING

Thursday, August 27, apples were donated to the Hot Lunch program by Herbert Schwarz. Pickers were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. White and Mrs. Herbert Schwarz (four boxes).

They were processed for use by Mrs. Howard Hoffman, Mrs. George Brocke, Jr., Mrs. Robert Watts, Mrs. Ed Dammarrell, Mrs. Robert Osborn, Mrs. Dean Hollenbeck and Mrs. E. M. White. Yield: 93 quarts of apple butter. Man-hours totaled 31.

Dynamite Shot Snaps City Water Main

ARCHITECTS DRAWING OF PROPOSED DISTRICT 283 JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL IN KENDRICK Construction Bids to be Opened Tonight, Hope to Begin Work This Month

Well Pump Works Day and Night

The dynamite explosion of Friday night that ripped loose 6,000 cubic yards of rock for the Kendrick diking program, also snapped the town's main supply of water, leaving the town with a critical water shortage. Discovery of the broken line was not made until Tuesday morning, following three days of a near-dry reservoir.

Kendrick's mayor, Frank Abrams, said that the village well pump has been working night and day since the Friday night shot — but a break in the line was not expected.

Tuesday morning E. M. White reported that workmen from the Canaday and Van Winkle Construction Co. heard water trickling through the rocks in the blast area.

Abrams also said that the village pump, working night and day as it has been, withstood the strain very well. In the event that it had stopped, the village would have been virtually without water. He added, however, that there would have been sufficient spring water for drinking and household use.

Workmen are now busy laying a by-pass line around the blasted area, and as soon as this connection is made the village will again have its normal supply of water. The by-pass line is being laid in the creek bottom, 300 feet in length, and is of 2-inch pipe.

This by-pass line will have to serve until the 6,000 cubic yards of rock loosened in the blast can be removed, which will be ten days at the earliest.

MILL SUPT., WIFE IN NEAR TRAGEDY

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Nelson of Moscow were the principal parts of a near tragedy on Fend Oreille Lake last Sunday. Nelson is the manager of the Mead & Howard sawmill at Kendrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson were overcome with carbon monoxide gas while on board a cabin cruiser with ten other persons, and on a pleasure cruise about the lake.

Rudy said that he was overcome, and that his wife fainted while they were aboard the boat. They were met at the dock by a doctor. "We were both pretty sick for a couple of days, and still feel quite weak, but we will suffer no ill effects," he said.

RE-DECORATING JOB

The interior of the Farmers Bank is being redecorated this week by Carl Mattoon and Bob Wahl — the work beginning (of all times) Saturday, when the bank was closed for business, and continuing through Sunday and Monday.

Carl and Bob (and the bank staff) have all taken a lot of good natured ribbing about being inside the bank when it was closed for business.

Anyway, a soft shade of Sandlewood is being used and results are most attractive.

OPEN HOUSE

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Craig of Leland will be the guests of honor at a Silver Wedding Open House on Sunday, Sept. 20, at their home, between the hours of 2:00 and 5:00 p. m.

Hostesses for the occasion will be Mrs. George Baugh, Orofino; Mrs. Jesse Thornton, Mrs. Roy Craig; Mrs. Wesley Pike, Lewiston; Mrs. Oral Craig; Mrs. Melvin Freshman and Mrs. Charles Craig.

A "Silver Money Tree" is planned for the occasion.

IDENTIFIES PICTURE

Under date of Aug. 29, from Colton, Wash., comes the following very interesting letter:

"Dear Mac: We surely did enjoy the fiftieth year edition of your paper. It brought back memories of days gone by. I think I can tell you the harvest scene. It was taken on the Chris Miers farm, now farmed by Andy Cox.

"The machine was the first combine in the Potlatch country and the first I ever saw. It was manufactured at Moscow, and pushed by horses like a header or binder. The threshing part was about the size of a large fanning mill.

The man in the picture was Fred Davidson, my brother (the sack sewer). He also had a copy of this picture. I might add that the machine did not prove to be successful.

"With kindest regards to our Kendrick friends — Byard W. Davidson, Colton, Wash."

J. B. Harkey suffered a stroke last Friday afternoon and is now a patient at the Gritman Memorial Hospital in Moscow. Reports are that he is improving.

Roy Craine, Mrs. Dallas Groseclose and Nancy attended the funeral services in Moscow Friday for the late Mrs. Mary Day.

Right now, the big news is that school has begun — so other news takes a back seat while everyone is so busy — in fact, it is very scarce.

HARVEST NEAR END

Harvesting operations in the Potlatch river area are close to their end, and would probably have been all but completed this week had it not been for the rains of last Saturday and the drench rain of Monday of this week.

Warehousemen say that almost all fall wheat, oats and barley are now under roof (some late sown fields being the exception), and harvesting of clover, peas and lentils would be in full swing.

George F. Brocke & Sons, Seedsman, report that the quality of clover and lentils is higher than that of last year — although yield reports are not yet available.

Beans give promise of an average yield. Had it not been for the searing heat of late July and early August, which caused unprotected "top beans" to shrivel and fall, the yield would undoubtedly have been above average.

LANDMARK GOES UP IN FLAMES

Monday evening, under the supervision of the Kendrick Fire Department, and following the drenching rains of Monday afternoon, the remnants of the "old Davis house" on the school house hill, went up in smoke.

The old house and an adjoining lot were purchased from Ernest Davis on Friday of last week by Parker McCreary. On Sunday a tractor was employed to reduce the old house to a heap of rubble so that burning hazards could be brought to a minimum.

The building had not been occupied for many years and was a definite fire hazard to the community.

The glow of the blaze lit up the sky and was visible for miles. Some who came to watch said they thought the school house or gymnasium was ablaze.

COMPLETES STUDIES

Stockton, Calif. — Ernest Gates of Kendrick, was one of six honored recently at the annual Western Jurisdiction School for Approved Supply Pastors at the College of the Pacific for their successful completion of the four-year course.

He is now eligible for elders order, and ordination in the Methodist Church. This entitles him to the full rights of a minister at any church he may serve.

As supply pastors, the school participants are called on to serve at churches for which fully ordained ministers are not available. At present, supply pastors are filling the pulpits in 6,000 U. S. Methodist churches.

The Supply Pastors School on the Pacific, Stockton, Calif., campus was set up by the Methodist church five years ago as an in-service training program for those who have entered the ministry without formal training.

FAIR SEPT. 10-12

The attention of everyone is called to the Latah County Fair, Moscow, which will be held on September 10, 11 and 12 — beginning at 10:00 a. m. on the 10th with 4-H and FFA livestock judging contests and dairy judging contests.

The greater part of the afternoon of the first day is devoted to 4- and FFA projects and exhibits.

That evening, at 7:00, there is scheduled a county wide talent show, crowning of the Latah County Queen, and the Coronation Ball.

And so it goes, throughout the three days — something doing all the time for young and old alike.

New events added to the program are a Photography Contest; Herdsmanship Contest; Grand Champion 4-H Livestock Showman Contest, and a free "Record Hop," the latter beginning at 9:00 p. m., or the conclusion of the Fair Saturday evening.

FARMERS ANXIOUS

Local farmers — with the long range weather prediction calling for more rain — are sitting on the edge of the "anxious seat", at least so far as those with crops yet in the field are concerned.

However, the local warehousemen joined in issuing a warning: "Please be sure that your grain is dry and ready before you resume cutting."

A few loads came in Tuesday, but we understand that they had been cut on Sunday, and not since Monday's downpour.

HONORED SUNDAY

A. O. Kanikkeberg was honored on his birthday anniversary, Sunday, when his children and their families gathered at the family home for dinner.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Jud Lee and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lohman and children, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Souders, Jr., and children and Jordon Kanikkeberg, the latter of Genesee.

DO YOU KNOW

The Seattle-Tacoma Key last month in an editorial points out that a municipal power system paid $1.60 per year to operate a motor vehicle on country roads, while the business-managed power company a hundred yards away was compelled to pay up to $286.30 per year to operate a motor vehicle. It's no wonder public power claims to have cheap rates. Somebody else makes up the difference.

Report from the GOVERNOR

KENDRICK, IDAHO

They have school boards and them. They have school boards and city councils and even county commissioners in Russia. They call them by different names but the functions seem very similar to ours. These officials run for their jobs in an election. But there is a difference. There is only one nominee and he gets all the votes. The Russians call this a free election, but the truth of the matter is that they do not understand free elections as we know them.

It is difficult to discuss the structure of any government with brevity. The Russians government is an even greater challenge to someone trying to be brief. There are not less than fifty books in English totaling upwards of 25,000 pages which deal with the subject.

I was in possession of a vastly inadequate fund of knowledge about Russia, its government, its people, its history and culture prior to this trip. I am currently taking steps to correct this deficiency, and other deficiencies in my knowledge of world affairs, of which I have become painfully aware in these last months.

The American correspondents in Moscow told us that Khrushchev was not a dictator in the same sense that Stalin was. I would have to agree that you sense the existence of a collective decision making machinery of some kind, and that the paraphernalia of one man rule is not very evident.

In our conversations with Khrushchev, he used the collective pronouns many times in discussing government planning. You got the distinct impression that he shared policy decisions with others. And you also got the impression that he did not mind this a bit.

The government of the USSR is difficult to compare or contrast with the government of the United States. The all-union government is the structural counterpart to our federal government. They have a so-called legislative body named the Supreme Soviet of the USSR. There are about 450 members.

The Russian Cabinet is composed of about thirty-five ministers, but is really run by the thirteen-member presidium, or executive committee, of the Council of Ministers. This body has coordinate membership with the Presidium of the Central Committee of the Communist Party, USSR. This is probably the Shadow Government with which the Party exercises direct and positive control over the formation and execution of all governmental policy.

There is a judicial system of sorts, headed up by a Supreme All Union Court. By our standards this judiciary has little or no independent stature or power.

The Russian Union is composed of sixteen constituent republics. These republics correspond roughly to our 50 states. The Ministry and Presidium structures at the All Union level recur at the republic level of government with minor variations.

There are republic ministers of justice and education, but there are no such ministries at the All-Union level. Each of the republics has a Minister of Foreign Affairs. We met only one of these men. His duties seemed rather vague and undefined. All higher education is administered directly from the All-Union Ministry of Higher Education and no counterpart Ministry exists at the republic level.

The Republics vary greatly in size and population. Kazakhstan, for instance, has nine million people. Geographically, it is eleven times the size of Great Britain. Azerbaijan is about the size of Massachusetts and has about 3 million people.

The 16 Republics are divided into 104 regional governments called Oblasts, plus a separate government city in Moscow and Leningrad, which are unique.

These Oblasts and City Soviets maintain the same structural machinery as the republics and the USSR with the usual lower echelon variations. They have legislative assemblies and court systems, together with the usual interties between the local party and the local government officials. In some instances, again, there is identical membership. The Oblasts would seem to correspond to our concept of a county, although they are larger in size and population — for instance Leningrad Oblast — exclusive of Leningrad City — has about 4 million population.

Inside the Oblasts there is a lower level of government with limited local functions called the Riun. Frankly, I am very vague on its structure and function. We met with none of the multitudinous Riun Councils. There just wasn't time. Apparently, the Riun Council has functions like a township board, a school board, and a small municipal corporation combined.

Much is made of Khrushchev's recent decentralization program. There is a definite movement to decentralize the execution of government policy, both political and economic. There is some evidence that after the basic policies have been developed at the All-Union level, the economic planning actually begins at the local level. It then moves through the Oblast and the Republic levels for final decision at the All-Union level.

However, the central policy on which the planning is based is the real heart of the plan. This policy is developed by a very few people at the All-Union level and obviously controls all later local planning.

This briefly is how the Russians set up their governmental structure. You have to remember that government there also means the total economic system. When they speak of an all-union budget, they are talking in terms of our concept of a gross national product.

The Republic budget is divided about equally between the economy and governmental services, with the exception of Kazakhstan, where 70 percent of the gross republic product was being plowed back into the economy. This is attributed to the fact that Kazakhstan is one of the booming growth areas. They plan in the next seven years to nearly double its population and triple its production.

The head man in the Union, Republic and Oblast governments is the Chairman of the Council of Ministers. He is in effect prime minister and normally has three deputies of differing assignments.

The prime ministers of the Republics and All-Union ministers were an able lot. They knew their business and asked us many questions about our states and about America. Somewhere in this group of thirty or forty men is the next leader of Russia. They all need to know more about our country and the strength of our devotion to our institutions of liberty and economic freedom. This is why I think it is important that some of them visit this country.

If they correctly understand our industrial and spiritual strength they will be less apt, when they come to leadership in Russia, to make the tragic miscalculation that could send the world reeling down the road to war.

To invite these Russians to become informed is not to forgive or forget past Russian behavior. It is simply an attempt to get them to behave a little better.

"Electric heat proved itself to us beyond question. Considering all factors, it's the best heating buy for our building."

—Don Barnett, owner Don Barnett Apartments, corner of 5th and Madison

Maintenance problems go out the door when you go electric. It's the most automatic heat of all. All the advantages of electric heat apply to large office buildings, apartments, small shops or single family homes.

Hundreds of building managers in the WWP area have learned that electric heat is good business. It's easily and quickly installed at comparatively low cost, even in older buildings.

STUMP RANCHER BLUES

If I had my life to live over again; I'd get me some cedar, about a rick; Then I'd whet my knife up keen and slick, I'd find me a stump where my pants wouldn't stick, Then I'd sit down and whittle.

The stumps could stay till they rotted away, I never would plow and I never would hay; I'd never clear land, for that doesn't pay, So I'd sit on my stump and whittle.

I'd watch the cedar and fir trees grow, I'd watch the chipmunks garner and sow, And the wind might through my whiskers blow, But I'd sit right there and whittle.

I'd not be accused of growing too much Of wheat and spuds and pumpkins and such; I'd build me a cane and maybe a crutch And keep right on with my whittlin'.

And when my trees were ready to cut, The market I know would stage a glut; And I'd find myself in the same old rut, So I'd let them grow and I'd whittle. — Anon.

DIKE PROGRESSING

Work on the Kendrick dike project is said to be making very satisfactory progress, with more equipment on the job including a large drag line, carry-all, etc.

To the "sidewalk" superintendent all appears a "hodge-podge" with a little being done here and a little there.

The removal of the swimming hole bluff did not provide the desired quantity of large rock for rip-rap, so drilling operations are now under way on the rock bluff just above the Clarence Fry home in the east part of town, on Bear Creek.

"If prices continue to climb, I just don't know what we shall do," moaned a housewife.
"Don't worry, dear," smiled her husband. "We'll stay at home and watch the rest go buy."

DYNAMITE BLAST

Residents in the area of the school house hill and adjoining area were jolted Friday evening when a big dynamite blast tore off the bluff just beyond the Clarence Fry home in east Kendrick.

Engineers say that the blast produced some 6,000 cubic yards of rock which will be used in the dike construction along the Potlatch river.

As we understand it the blast that removed the "swimming hole bluff" fell far short of producing the desired amount of large rock, so the bluff at the east edge of town was drilled and blown.

THANK YOU, FIREMEN

I wish to express my thanks to the Kendrick Volunteer Firemen for their help in saving trees and supervising the burning of the old Davis house last Monday evening. Again, thank you. — Frank P. McCreary. 36-1x

RANGE LAND FIRE DAMAGE EXAMINED BY SPECIALISTS

Even Bitterbrush seed is charred beyond any hope of germination in a 10,000-acre grass and forest lands conflagration in critical winter range of Boise river drainage deer herds. Other recent fires in Coeur d'Alene and St. Joe areas were small, but a recent Clearwater river burn was the worst since the early 1930's. These holocausts are not expected to affect the 1959 hunting conditions, although winter range forage has been reduced drastically in certain areas. Above, Game Biologist Wes Shaw, standing, and Hugh Harper, game supervisor, examine ashes in perimeter of hills north and east of Boise, where several thousand deer congregate during winter months. Because of light winter harvests during 1957-58 hunting season and the destruction of this important segment of winter range, Fish and Game Director Ross Leonard says it is hoped that an adequate harvest will be taken as stipulated in 1959 hunting regulations for this management unit, in order to adjust the Boise herd to fit the remaining winter forage.

HELLO, FOLKS:

How about that Labor Day week-end? Are you going on a trip, fishing, or just taking the family out on a picnic? At any rate, better let us service your vehicle completely before you go! Let us lubricate the chassis from end to end, drain out that old dirty motor oil and refill with famous Royal Triton. Then you'll be set for many miles of carefree driving.

Two women who were maneuvering their car into a tight parking space gave up after a valiant struggle when the driver shut off the motor and said to her companion: "This is close enough. We can walk to the curb from here."

Let us wash and polish your car before you take off over Labor

Day. A clean, squeak-free car is a pleasure to drive. We vacuum clean the interior, too. Try us!

Trucker: "Shay, Joe, you've had a li'l too much to drink. Liable to get arrested drivin' home. Why donya take the bus?"
Second Trucker: "Thash a good idee, good idee. Shupposh it'll fit in my garage?"

Need tires for that Labor Day trip? Why wait? Come in and find out how cheeply you can drive out on a new set. You'll be surprised!

G. I. Joe: "They tell me in Mexico you can get three pounds of sugar, a pound of coffee, a quart of whiskey and a wife for $3.00."
