ABOUT WEATHER

For the past week this area has been enjoying about as wonderful winter weather as anyone could wish. The nights have been sharp, the thermometer dropping to below the freezing point, but the days have been filled with bright sunshine. The loggers and farmers have been making the most of it, too.

Today (Wednesday), however, the sky is overcast and a storm seems in the offing.

25 WESTERN STATE FORAGE GROWERS MEET AT IDAHO

Agricultural research constantly is producing instances in which small investments are paying big dividends observed Dr. H. M. Laude of the California agricultural experimental station while at the University of Idaho for the regular meeting of the Western Forage Crop Research committee.

Attending were about 25 representatives of the 12 Western agricultural experiment stations and the U. S. department of agricultural.

"Long the nation's principal source of supply of forage crop seeds, the Western states are very much interested in maintaining that leadership," commented Dr. Ensign. "To a large degree, therefore, the future of the West's forage seed industry rests upon the research workers who are in this regional cooperation."

One of the latest major contributions in forage research has been Moapa alfalfa, developed two years ago by Dr. Oliver F. Smith, federal-state cooperative breeder at the University of Nevada. The new variety, Dr. Laude indicated, already is adding several million dollars a year in forage values in Nevada, Arizona and California.

"It is a safe guess that in one year new alfalfa is returning more than 10 times the amount spent on all forage crop research in the 12 western states," he commented. "Best of all, Moapa isn't the first new alfalfa to come out of the regional research. Nor is it likely to be the last. The financial record for Lahontan, a variety developed in the cooperative research work some years ago, has been even better. Promising new alfalfa are under observation in several states."

During their three days on the University of Idaho campus the forage crops research men concentrated on projects aimed to maintain and improve both forage and seed production. Under the cooperative plan, each of the 12 participating states may have one or more projects in the fields of forage crop breeding, forage crop seed production, and forage crop physiology. This latter category, explains Dr. Ensign, might be called "long range research," since it deals with basic factors affecting the future of the industry.

Being studied are factors such as temperature, length of day and others that are basic in forage crop improvement. Conditions in the newest state, Hawaii, it was brought out at the sessions, are both unique and ideal from the standpoint of the forage crop breeder. There, within a few miles, studies can be conducted anywhere from sea level to 7,000 foot elevation with from 10 to as high as 200 inches of rainfall. With light and temperatures so constant, in many locations the conditions amount to an ideal "outside laboratory" for forage crops research, explained Dr. Ensign.

The best measure of a man's mentality is the importance of the things he will argue about.

TAKE THE GOLD BUT PUT THE WATER BACK

When the provocative cry of "gold!" brought a stampede of miners to the "gulches" of Idaho, rules were soon established for the use of the most vital ingredient of placer mining . . . water. Early "water rights" required that a miner could do as he would with any creek passing through his claim so long as he put it back into the stream bed as it left his claim.

This same philosophy of fair play and respect for the rights of others survives to this day as a part of life in the west. The right of each individual to a free choice, whether it be to use free water or to choose a glass of beer for refreshment is a proud tradition of Idaho history which we still enjoy today.

Today in Idaho the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly throughout the beer business to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions.

Beer belongs in the free west. Enjoy it.

Standard Oilier Jack Sindall, and wife Carolyn, introduce their silver poodle to the sparkling wonders of modern detergents.

From deep in the earth...the world's best cleaners

Less than 15 years ago, the first package of modern detergent was sold to a dubious housewife. Today, two-thirds of the nation's cleaning is done by synthetic detergents.

This has been made possible by a chemical ingredient found in petroleum. Standard pioneered production of this substance and today produces more than half of all that is used in the United States.*

As every woman knows, synthetics can do any cleaning job better. They make water "wetter," have greater cleaning power, cause dirt to come out fast and float away.

Detergents work in hard or cold water, leave no scum or bathtub ring, and allow dishes to drain sparkling dry.

To make detergents even better, our scientists are continually testing new formulas, which they try out on stacks of dishes, bundles of scientifically soiled laundry samples, piles of dirty white shirts.

As a result, the detergents you use get better every year. And they become useful in more and more ways, from washing railroad cars to making water wetter for fighting fires.

In this way, by continually working to bring you better products . . . the people at Standard are planning ahead to serve you better.

SEA-GOING TROUT BEING COUNTED ON UPSTREAM TRIP

Steelhead trout in excess of 33,000 have been counted over the Lewiston dam as they migrate from the Columbia and Snake river to upstream spawning beds in the Clearwater and its tributaries. This is the number tallied in the last July 1 to June 30 fish year, the largest since counting facilities were installed almost a decade ago.

This figure is some 12,272 fish more than the record-breaking run of the 1957-58 migration over the dam.

Figures on 4-H enrollment for 1959 again show an upward trend. If the increase is reflected in all 50 states and Puerto Rico, this year's final score could well be within touching distance of the two-and-one half million mark, predicts the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

While the number of 4-H'ers is steadily increasing, the annual crop of winners remains about the same, the National Committee points out, because the number of award programs is limited. Thus individual qualifications become higher and competition keener. At the present time the ratio for state and national winners is one member out of 2,000.

The national award programs in which 4-H'ers participate include clothing, frozen foods, entomology, safety, public speaking, and tractor. There are nearly 50 others, according to the National Committee.

All 4-H projects and activities endeavor to show how to improve the individual, the family, the home, farm and community. Every 4-H member pledges "... my head to clearer thinking... my heart to greater loyalty... my hands to larger service... my health to better living, for my club, my community, and my country."

Besides the personal satisfaction of "learning by doing," 4-H'ers take great pride in their accomplishments, and outstanding records are rewarded, the National Committee reports.

Awards are provided annually by individuals and business firms among which are: Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Standard Brands, Coats & Clark, Carnation Co., Simplicity Pattern Co., Hercules Powder Co., Betty Crocker of General Mills, Whirlpool Corp., Montgomery Ward, General Motors, Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

Also John Deere, Singer Sewing Machine Co., Colgate-Palmolive, Homelite, Armour & Co., the Burlington, Milwaukee, and Illinois Central railways, Wilson & Co., and Utah Oil Refining Co.

All 4-H programs are directed by the Cooperative Extension Service, USDA. Arrangements for the national award programs are made by the National Committee.

CAR LICENSE SPECIAL NUMBERS

Moscow — Mrs. Norine Clutter, deputy assessor in charge of vehicle licensing, has announced that those persons desiring 1960 plates of a special number should make arrangements for this privilege at their earliest convenience. Several requests for licenses have already been received. Requests over 1L 100 will be honored.

A new policy will be followed this year in that those requesting the special plates are asked to pay for their license in advance, and to include in this payment a 50¢ charge, which will be used for handling and mailing. These plates will be processed before the regular licensing and will be mailed to the recipient in time for them to have them by Dec. 1st.

Requests accompanied by fees will be honored before requests without fees. First, second and third choices should be made, if writing to the office of the assessor. If a phone call is made it will be possible to ascertain whether or not the desired number is available. Plate requests that do not enclose license cost and the 50¢ fee will not be held after Dec. 15th, because of the fact that consecutive numbers must be accounted for to the State Department of Law Enforcement.

Kay Fell, Latah County Assessor, confirms the fact that the first six numbers will be reserved for Latah County's State Senator, the two State Representatives, and the three county commissioners. The remaining numbers up to and including 100 will be held for those who annually stand in line to receive low numbers in the opening date of licensing.

Mrs. Max Clemmensen will again have charge of licensing in Kendrick. That office will be open half-days during the month of December.

NEW LIBRARIAN

The president of the Latah County Library Board, Mrs. Elvon Hampton of Genesee, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Kenneth E. Bell of Moscow as County Librarian.

The state requires a qualified librarian, and Mrs. Bell can well fill the post. Training at Muskingum College, Ohio State Library, Gallia County High School, having been received by her.

The Library headquarters in the Latah County court house will soon offer Bookmobile service throughout the county. The state's Bookmobile unit, which was loaned to Nez Perce county last year, will be shared with Latah county. Bookmobile plans were discussed at a recent meeting of the Nez Perce and Latah County boards. Henry Derrnan, Idaho State Librarian was in Moscow assisting the board members in organizing their program. The $8 mill for operational expenses was allowed and met by matching funds from the Library Service.

Mrs. Willard Lewis of Deary replaces Mrs. Marvell Granlund, resigned. It is not known at this time who will replace Rev. F. C. Schmidt, Kendrick representative, who is now located near Kennewick, Wn.

Local residents would do well to bear in mind that there is a County Library Book Shelf in the N. B. Long & Sons store, and that it was recently increased by 25 fiction books. If you like to read, the books are there for you.

LUMBERING LOSSES

Decay in living trees causes the greatest losses in the forests of the Northern region. This was the report by Dr. James W. Kimmey, Chief of the Division of Forest Disease Research of the Intermountain Forest and Range Experiment Station, following a general survey late in September of cull and decay problems in standing timber.

Primary purpose of the survey was to determine needs and priorities for research study.

Dr. Kimmey estimated that the forests in this region probably contained as much as 25 billion board feet of cull material. Cull caused by heartwood decay fungi in living trees amounts to as much as 50 percent of the total volume in some timber stands.

Accurate inventories of sound wood values are necessary to determine the allowable amount of annual cut in sustained yield areas. The difficulty of accurately estimating the proportion of cull in standing timber causes considerable trouble for foresters and timber operators. Dr. Kimmey pointed out that decay in timber not only reduces the volume of sound wood available, but also increases logging and manufacturing costs.

STUDENTS AT IDAHO

Like father like son, like mother like daughter, more than 675 children of former students are attending the University of Idaho this fall, Registrar D. D. DuSault reported today.

A total of 256 new students in this classification enrolled this semester — 25 more than in 1958. The majority of the students come from the state of Idaho. Others come from a dozen states, representing all sections of the nation, and foreign countries.

Traveling honors for the farthest trip to the Moscow campus this year go to Paul Kershnik, a freshman in agriculture, whose parents are in Somalia in East Africa. Others traveling far are George Miller, Venezuela, and Stephen Rice, Kingston, Jamaica.

Of the 256 new students, 122 are women and 134 are men.

SOCIAL SECURITY

The Lewiston District Office of the Social Security Administration processed 68 claims for their service area in October, according to W. V. Nussbaum, Manager. During the same period last year 77 claims were forwarded.

Inquiries at the office during the past several weeks indicate a lack of public understanding of the Social Security program, according to Nussbaum. The Lewiston Social Security office has speakers, motion pictures, and literature explaining the program. These are available without charge for any group, club or business.

To secure one of these services, telephone or write the Lewiston Social Security Office.

SCHOLARSHIPS

U. of I., Moscow — Forty-four University of Idaho students are sharing $10,750 in scholarships provided by the Potlatch Forests Foundation, Inc.

One of the foundation's objectives is the provision of educational advantages and the furtherance of sound learning by the financing of scholarships. These scholarships are open to students living in the service area of the company.

Among the forty-four sharing in the program is Gerald Bateman, Southwick, son of Mrs. Jessie Bateman.

WARNING

There is an "Unlawful Order" against Inter-American Building and Loan Assn., and International American Saving and Loan Assn. of Panama, Republic of Panama.

Letters from these associations have been received in the area and one has been turned in to Postmaster Fred O. Stedman, which was sent to the postoffice department.

These are fraudulent, and have been responsible for wiping out the savings accounts of many Americans. It is a vicious scheme, and such letters should be turned in promptly to Mr. Stedman.

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick

HELLO, FOLKS:

Snappy these morning's, isn't it? And the fire feels "so delightful." And that, of course, is where Union rises and shines — with a top quality stove oil — or diesel fuel, if you burn that. Give us a call at 4251 and try it for yourself!

"Mommy" asked the child, "why doesn't Daddy have hair on his head?"
"Daddy thinks a great deal, dear."
"Why do you have so much hair on your head, Mommy?"
"Be still and eat your breakfast!"

How about those mud and snow tires? Come in and let's swap! Or if you prefer, let us tractionize your present tires. It's better to be safe than sorry!

Then there was the little boy who strayed away from his father at the fairgrounds and cried to the policeman that he was lost.

"What's your father like?" asked the policeman.
And the boy replied: "Beer and women."

Having trouble starting the "old bus" these cold mornings? If so, try a tankful of Union gasoline, 7600 or Royal — and a crankcase full of that wonderful Royal Triton Motor Oil. Then you'll be set for quick starts and smooth driving.

"Why do they call our language the mother tongue?"
"Because a father so seldom gets to use it."

Nov. 9 — The Friendship Club met Thursday with Mrs. Wayne Heimgartner and quilted four small quilts — three for the Cottonwood Creek Missionary Society. The next meeting is planned for November 19th at the Lauren Hoisington home on Big Bear ridge.

Earl Sunday morning (about 7:00 o'clock) Kenneth and Billy Steigers, on their way to Weippe, spotted a wrecked car in a small field this side of Orofino, and stopping to investigate, found Gary George, about 20, badly hurt, and leaning against the car. He had evidently been there since about 2:30 a. m., and was badly chilled, had a broken leg, and possibly other injuries. Kenneth said Gary's condition had not changed Sunday night, according to Orofino Hospital authorities.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Newt Heath were Mrs. Forrest Gibbs and sons of Spokane, and Mrs. C. C. Belknap of Farmington. Other Sunday dinner guests included Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rugg and son Jerry, Mrs. Bill Ingraham and family and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Heath and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Heimgartner and sons called on Mr. and Mrs. Vint Parkins in Juliaetta Sunday, as one family of the many guests to congratulate the Parkins on their 60th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Wayne Heimgartner and Mrs. Marion Stevens accompanied Mrs. Lily McCall of Lewiston to Spokane, Monday.
