The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floorlength gown of white chantilly lace over taffeta, designed with a fitted bodice and scalloped sabina neckline, embroidered in irridiscent sequins. The sleeves were long and tapered. The skirt of scalloped lace was accented by a series of lace and net ruffles at the back, which extended into a chapel length train. The gown was designed by her mother.

Her fingertip veil of illusion net was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and sequins, which was borrowed from a friend. Her bouquet of white hyacinth and pink rosebuds was centered with a, white orchid from which long ribbon streamers were arranged from a lace-edged white satin fan carried on a white Bible, a gift of the groom.

Sandra Peters, a high school classmate of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length dress of rose pink taffeta with nylon organdy overskirt, and rose pink satin pumps which also matched her dress. Her bandeau was of nylon braid and pearls. Her gloves were white. She carried a bouquet of pink camelias arranged on a white lace fan.

Bridesmaids were Donna Heimgartner, a cousin of the groom, and Sharon Lohman, a high school classmate of the bride. Their gowns, shoes, bandeaus and bouquets were identical double manual organ. Purchased from in style and color to those of the maid of honor.

The Kendrick village council met in special session Tuesday night to discuss a plan of action regarding hazardous and unsightly property within the town limits.

A group of civic minded citizens requested that some sort of action be taken to have the properties cleaned up or razed because of their dangerous fire and health conditions, and unsightly appearance to the com-

The councilmen agreed that some action should be taken to have the areas put in satisfactory condition. They have requested that the fire department inspect the properties and will also have the county health department inspect each premise for livable conditions.

All members of the council agreed that several areas within the village needed to be cleaned up, and also agreed that if action is necessary to have them cleaned, it would be a good thing for the community.

Further consideration will be given the matter at the next council meeting on March 1.

FAIRBOARD MEETS

Moscow — The Latah County Fair Board met at the court house in Mos-cow, Feb. 3rd.

Lawrence Curtis Palouse, was elected the 1960 president, succeeding F. H. Brincken, Garfield, who retires after 14 years of service. Norla Callison, Kendrick, was elected vice president; Mrs. Eugene Thompson, Moscow, treasurer, and Homer Futter, Latah County agent, secretary.

The 1960 Fair Board is comprised of: Leonard Curtis, Palouse; Norla Callison, Kendrick; Mrs. Andy Cox. Kendrick; Phil Greenwell. Genesee: Wayne Mayburry, Moscow; Dan Mc-Kenzie, Troy; Mrs. Wilbur Wright, Potlatch; Chester Fiscus, Potlatch, and Mrs. Eugene Thompson, Moscow. Plans for remodeling the food booth at the Fair Grounds was presented by Gerry Hagedorn, Moscow. The group approved the remodeling of this booth, which has proven inadequate for present crowds, and directed Hagedorn to complete the remodeling plans. Dates for the 1960 Fair were set
