WATER EQUALIZING

The hot, dry weather of the past few days having brought on unusually heavy water demands, the Village Trustees have decided that there is but one way to bring about a fair distribution of the supply, and yet leave an adequate amount for fire emergencies, so the following watering regulations go into effect on Friday, June 17:

Odd number calendar days on the north and west of Main Street — even numbered calendar days on the south and east of Main Street.

Says Frank Abrams, village mayor: "It had been hoped to have the new well in production by this time, but drilling difficulties prevented this. The distribution system tried out last year proved quite satisfactory, and so was resumed this season."

POWER CAPACITY OF NATION SHOWS STEADY INCREASE

Spokane — Generating capacity of the electric power industry in the United States will reach 170.5 million kilowatts by the end of this year, according to the 27th Semi-Annual Power Survey just published by the Edison Electric Institute. This is an increase of about 7.5 percent over the total capacity recorded at the end of 1955.

The E. E. I. Power Survey covers practically the entire electric power industry of the country, including both investor-owned systems and those of governmental agencies, federal and non-federal.

Kinsey M. Robinson, chief executive officer of the Washington Water Power Co., which is one of the corporate members of the nationwide E. E. I. organization, commented on the survey results:

"This most recent appraisal gives further proof that America's electric power systems are doing an excellent job," he said. "It shows that power supply is not only expanding in step with demand, but is also reinforced by a reserve margin of more than 27 percent, as estimated for next December."

The new survey indicates that electric energy output in 1960 will reach 770 billion kilowatt hours, an 8.6 percent increase over the production figure recorded by the industry for 1959.

Longer-range forecasts bring a startling new figure into the power production figure, with nationwide output estimated at about one trillion kilowatt hours for 1963. Total capacity of the industry at the end of 1963 is estimated to be 203 million kilowatts — about four times that of 1948. For the 15-year period of 1948-1963 the annual increase in capability will average 9.2 percent.

Robinson pointed out that expansion of electric power supply in the Inland Empire is typified by recent additions to Washington Water Power facilities. "When our 400,000 kilowatt Noxon Rapids plant went on the line it approximately doubled our generating capacity," he said.

Robinson added that in 1950 WWP had a total utility plant investment of just over seventy-nine million dollars, while at the end of 1959 the gross utility plant investment had climbed to $237,000,000 — an increase of almost $200 million in the ten-year period.

Commenting in the company's future plans for electric power development, Robinson said: "We are making a long-range study of coal deposits in the area to assess the feasibility of using this fuel for future power development. We are also working with a group of utilities in developing atomic power plants that will be economically feasible. At the same time, along with other members of the Pacific Northwest Power company, we are seeking licenses to build a huge $250,000,000 High Mountain Sheep dam on the Snake river. This project will have an ultimate generating capacity of 2,000,000 kilowatts and would be one of the biggest hydro-electric projects in the United States."

Robinson said that W. W. P. residential customers are now using more than 9000 kilowatt-hours annually per customer, and that rural power use per customer already exceeds 10,000 kilowatt-hours a year. The company's power use per customer is almost three times the national average.

A life or a town that stands still is a monument to the past rather than a promise for the future.

DO YOU KNOW

The next time you think your taxes are getting too high, remember that already $5,500,000,000 — tax money from you and other citizens — has been spent for public power. Lobbyists and pressure groups who promote "public power" want another ten billion dollars. And it's all so unnecessary.

During summer months while your furnace is off, take a little time to investigate the advantages of natural gas. If the old furnace needs repair, perhaps a low-cost conversion unit can be installed on easy monthly terms. Call the WWP Co. for a free estimate.

Where does the State get the money with which to operate its various departments? Well, for example, $189,664,000 comes from retail sales; $10,631,000 from alcohol and beverages; $57,955,000 from motor fuels; $19,217,000 from tobacco and cigarettes; $25,739,000 from motor vehicles; $14,400,000 from public utilities; etc., etc.

Are you headed for a coronary? You may be husky, robust and athletic. You may be conscientious and realistic. But if you fall into violent fits of temper when frustrated and crossed at home; if you drink and smoke more than the average; if you look old for your age; if you are always in a hurry inside, and save time by talking business at lunch; if you forget to relax and take a vacation — WATCH OUT!

Don't you think it a strange state of affairs that the government taxes an investor-owned, business-managed electric company; then takes that money to build a federal dam, giving a PUD first claim on power generated — nothing for the investor-owned utility if there's a shortage; and finally, the Federal Government collects no taxes from the PUD. It doesn't seem fair.

BE CAREFUL ON THE HIGHWAY

Holidays falling on Fridays and Mondays are welcomed by people who have jobs and business that permit time off to observe such occasions as Memorial Day. Unfortunately, the three-day period away from "the old grind" increases the number of automobiles on the streets and highways and, in turn, multiplies the chances for traffic accidents that result in deaths and injuries.

Last year's Memorial Day weekend, when the holiday fell on Saturday and many institutions closed up shop on Friday, was an exception to the contention that a week-end holiday always brings abnormally high accident, death and injury tolls. No fatal accidents were reported in Idaho during that 1959 three-day period.

Not so in 1960. Total figures are not yet available, but there were several death carrying accidents.

At any time you plan a trip you should consider all aspects of the journey and not attempt to drive long distances requiring excessive speed and long hours behind the wheel.

The distance to be traveled should be given thoughtful study. An average speed of no more than 50 miles an hour should be calculated to make necessary no more than 60 miles an hour maximum speed on the open highways. Time for the return trip should be budgeted in the same manner, plus well laid plans to avoid fatigue. The automobile should be in good working order and all rules of the road and traffic laws should be obeyed.

If you're driving either or both ways on the trip and you feel thirsty — make the refresher a non-alcoholic beverage. Remember, too, a heavy meal most often produces a feeling of sleepiness. Eat lightly.

HOME SOON

Korea, May 30, 1960
Dear Bill: It won't be long now until my tour of duty here in Korea will be finished, so please stop sending the paper. I'll be home in July to see everybody, and then go on to Syracuse University to spend nine months studying.

Am leaving for a week in Japan day after tomorrow, so should have lots to tell and show the folks at home after that.

Have been comparing the progress in construction of our new barracks here and the new K. H. S., and K.

H. S. is certainly far ahead. Would you please save me a copy of Mr. Platt's book? See you soon, and thanks for the paper. — Sincerely, Jim Nelson.

TRITE SAYINGS

A lot of women work their fingers to the bone for their families, and what do they get? Sore fingers!

An opportunist is a person who, finding himself in hot water, decides that he needs a bath anyway! Inscription on a "bopster's" gravestone: "Don't dig me man, I'm gone."

Some minds are like concrete — all mixed up and permanently set.

Hangover: "Something to occupy a head that wasn't used the night before."

Arrival of a third child in a family means more than just another tax exemption — the parents become an oppressed minority!

The power of choosing good and evil is within the reach of all.

In human affairs there is no evil that has not some good mixed with it.

What we need now is not a propaganda meeting, but a change in Russian policy.

Your car is no safer than the "nut" which holds the wheel.

There is no substitute for good food, and you will find every kind to tickle your palate at Blewett's Grocery in Kendrick. 1-adv

LOVE TO DAD

God gave us fathers to help us each day,
To teach us and guide us on life's long way;
Filling our childhood with gladness and cheer,
Keeping us safe from sorrow and fear.

So let us be sure on this Father's Day,
That we will all find the best way to say
We would like to make his special day glad,
By showing real love to every Dad.
— Composed in class by the Juniors of the Kendrick Community Church, who hope their fathers will visit the class Sunday and attend church.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN IDAHO

Boise — Vacation-minded national magazine readers are clipping coupons from ads about Idaho and mailing them for further information to the State Department of Commerce and Development.

During May the Department received 3,159 coupons from people who saw ads about Idaho's scenic and recreational attractions, according to Louise Shadduck, department secretary. Since 1956, the first year that the department placed ads in national magazines, a total of 110,107 coupons have been received from readers in the United States and other parts of the world.

This year the department is spending $24,000 to advertise in Redbook, Holiday, Sunset, Field and Stream, Outdoor Life, Sports Afield, Westways, National Geographic and the southern California edition of TV Guide. In addition, $7,540 is being spent on ads in 16 metropolitan newspapers.

The ads play up the fact that vacationers will enjoy themselves in Idaho. An attractive young lady is shown landing a kamloops, one of the giant-sized trout that thrive in the state's panhandle lakes. "Most of our ads are in color this year for the first time," Miss Shadduck says. "Does everyone who sends in a coupon vacation in Idaho? "No," says Miss Shadduck, "but most of them eventually do."

HELLO, FOLKS:

Remember the saying: "Never mind how old you are, it's how you feel that counts?" Of course you do. Now apply that to your car: "Never mind how old it is, it's how it performs that counts!" And you can keep that young car performance with Union Oil Co. products. Come in and try it for your car.

"Look what I got for my wife," exclaimed Jones, as he pointed with pride to a brand new convertible.

"You lucky dog," Smith said with envy. "Where did you make a trade like that?"

How's the field work coming? Need diesel fuel, gasoline, motor oils, lubricants, greases? If so, pick up the phone and call us at 4251. We'll be there in a flash with Union Products. There's one for every need.

Foreman: "This is the end. You are fired!"

Worker: "Fired? I allus thought slaves were sold!"

How about the tires on your car? Are they ready for that vacation trip? If not, come in and see us. You'll be surprised at how cheaply you can drive out on new ones.

The big problem for congressmen this year: Is it more important to get the satellites up or taxes down?
