NO SALES DAY TO BE HELD THIS FALL

Surrounded by announced dates for rodeos and fairs, the Kendrick Community Lions Club could find no appropriate non-conflicting date for the Sales Day, and so, at a directors' meeting held Monday of this week, it was decided to cancel the annual event.

This will come as a shock to most area residents, as Kendrick's Sales Day began back during the depression days, and has carried through until this time.

When first begun exhibits of grain, beans, clover seed, flowers, chickens and like farm products were a part of it, but as various fairs were revived, these exhibits diminished until entries were so few this portion was discontinued — but the auction sale remained.

Coupled with the sale was a day of sports and visiting, which generally concluded with a dance. However, last year no one was found who wished to sponsor the dance — an activity in which the Lions Club has never taken a part.

Just what, if anything, will be brought forward to take the place of Sales Day, and what date will or can be used will have to await the beginning of fall meetings of the Club, which will be the first Wednesday in September.

The Gazette, through its columns, would welcome suggestions on this matter.

K. H. S. CLASS OF '40 HOLDS REUNION

The Class of 1940 of Kendrick High School held a reunion here over the week-end.

Saturday evening, dinner and dancing was enjoyed at the Lewis-Clark Hotel in Lewiston, and on Sunday a family picnic was held here in the park.

The following 17 members, out of a possible 30, were present for the Saturday evening festivities:

Lloyd and Amy Farrington, Kendrick; Kenneth and Doris Wolff, Lewiston; Helen and Boyd Leland, Clarkston; Eileen and Art Needham, Coeur d'Alene; Deryl and Carol Armitage, Greer; Vern Wegner, Kendrick; Ray McGraw, Yakima; Laurene and Arnold Wallace, Ephrata; Pete and Kitty Stump, Winchester; Helen and Bud Allen, Lenore, Marie Mills, Juliaetta; Maxine Bohnsack, Lewiston; Ted and Donna Weyen, Kendrick; Ervin and Odetta Draper, Kendrick; Myra and Judd Lee, Kendrick, for a total of 28.

On Sunday, at the family picnic, two more members of the class and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hoskins and family of Myrtle and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Newman and children of Lenore, and with the children, the group now numbered 57.

One of the highlights of Sunday was a tour through the new Jr.-Sr. High School — and reminiscing as they visited the old building, where all went to school.

Mr. and Mrs. Judd Lee were the organizers of the reunion, and from all we hear it was worth all their effort, for a wonderful time, renewing old friendships, was had.

Though most of the men served during World War II, Lawrence Bidson was the only member of the class to give his life, he going down with the cruiser U. S. S. Indianapolis. All other members of the class are living.

DON WRIGHT HEART FUND HITS $1,094

The Don Wright Surgical Heart Fund climbed from $187.00 last week to a total of $1,094 on Tuesday of this week. The fund is still short of the $1,850 mark by $756.00.

A total of $1,850 must be on deposit at the Sacred Heart Hospital in Spokane before Wright is admitted for surgery on August 23.

Wright is the 34-year-old son of Louis Wright of Kendrick. He presently lives with his family at Genesee. He is a former resident of Troy, where the Heart Fund was started.

Of the total contributed to date, $523 has been donated in Kendrick. A dance at Genesee netted $150, and the proceeds from a cooked food sale and street dance at Troy have been added to the fund.

All contributions to the fund have not come in, Louis Wright said Tuesday, as other donations are expected to be received from Troy, Genesee, Elk River, Helmer, Deary, Juliaetta and Kendrick.

The seriousness of the surgery is not realized by the average person, but to give an example, says Louis Wright, "eight doctors will make up the team, and the operation is expected to last in the neighborhood of ten hours. The excessive amount of blood needed for transfusions in this type of surgery, will be donated by the Carpenters Union, of which Wright is a member."

Contributions to the fund are still needed, and anyone wishing to donate should send their contribution to: "The First Bank of Troy, Don Wright Surgical Heart Fund, Troy, Idaho."

HACKS RATTLER THROUGH WINDOW

Mrs. D. A. Christensen killed a two-foot rattlesnake with eight rattles and a button, under a bedroom window at the family home last Thursday.

She said she probably would never have seen the reptile had it not been for the cat, which sat at a safe distance, watching the snake, which was coiled and rattling. The family Dalmatian dog was also setting up a real alarm.

Playing it safe, and not wishing the snake to escape, Mrs. Christensen grabbed a lawn edger and going into the house, opened a bedroom window directly above and dealt the snake a lethal hacking blow.

Mrs. Christensen says they have not seen any snakes there for years, and felt perfectly safe in letting their little grandson crawl around the yard, when someone was out there with him — but not so any more!

Lightning Strikes Here

Some rain fell last week during the height of the electrical storm which struck here last week. Residents were alert in case our area should be hit, but we were fortunate, at least so far as fire is concerned.

The Darwin Tarry home was hit, the bolt striking their pump, washing machine and hot water tank.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom King, returning from a fishing trip, found that a small twister must have gone through their farm, as a three-stall machine shed had been moved about three feet off its foundation.

A transformer was also hit at the Hines' ranch.

FIRES BLACKEN 3000 ACRES IN KENDRICK FIRE PROTECTIVE DISTRICT LAST WEEK

Beginning last Tuesday night, lightning started fires blazed through the entire Northwest, with several being reported in the Kendrick Protective District. A total of more than 3,000 acres of brush, grass and timber were burned. The largest, approximately 2,500 acres, occurred at Arrow Junction, running up the canyon.

The only remaining smoke in the district is at a 425-acre fire on the North Fork of the Clearwater river above the Bruce Eddy site (old Ah-sahka grade). Here three men are still stationed and watching that the blaze does not erupt again.

A small fire (one acre) on Moscow Mountain, in timber, is out. Another small fire on the North Fork (one acre) is out, and the Arrow fire is extinguished.

"However, the fire condition remains critical in the district, as it does throughout the entire area," Deputy State Fire Warden Norman Lewis told the Gazette Tuesday.

Federal Aid (financial) has arrived to help in the critical condition, Lewis said, and also added that this permits authorization and addition of another smoke chaser at the Kendrick station.

Mr. Lewis also noted that many areas have been closed to campers, fishermen and berry pickers. These areas include the Waha to Salmon river sections, and large sections around Bovill and Elk River. It is suggested that you check before attempting to go into the woods.

Lewis said that he would like to thank the Kendrick and Juliaetta business men, along with the many other volunteers who were so willing to lend a hand during the critical stages of fire fighting. He said that the volunteers who relieved the regular fire fighters, thus giving them a chance to rest, are to be thanked for their cooperation.

WATER REGULATION TO CONTINUE HERE

For at least another week, water restrictions are to remain in Kendrick, it was announced Tuesday.

"By the end of next week we should know for sure whether or not the new well is going to stand up to the heavy demands of the town," Mayor Abrams said. "At the present time we are keeping well ahead of the demand, and we are confident that the new addition to the water system will be capable of meeting the needs," he added.

At the end of another trail week the village plans to drop the restrictions and see what will happen.

MANY GO OUT TO FIGHT FIRE

Following the lightning strikes of Wednesday night, which set innumerable fires in the Pacific Northwest, a call for any able bodied men to fight the blazes was issued Thursday — and that night and Friday, many from Kendrick and Juliaetta business firms joined the fighters.

Almost every business firm in Kendrick was short-handed Friday, the weary fighters being either "sleeping it off" or on the lines.

By Friday night, local fires were either extinguished or under control and Saturday business firms were up to full strength.

STILL IN HOSPITAL

From Mrs. E. M. White, who is in Boise attending a Hot Lunch Training School in Boise, comes the following brief note under date of July 24:

"Bill will be in the hospital at least another week, and following that his address will be: E. M. White, Larson A. F. Base, 821 Cannon Drive, Moses Lake, Wash."

At a previous report received from Mrs. White, she said Bill was doing nicely, but the type of surgery he had undergone would require more time in the hospital than was first anticipated.

TEMPERATURE IS NOW LIVEABLE

Following almost two weeks of intense heat, when the mercury column climbed to a high of 105 degrees, it began cooling off last Thursday, the high reading being a mere 101 degrees.

Friday was lots better, with a high of 95 degrees.

Saturday was still cooler, with a reading of 92 degrees.

Sunday it again hit 92 degrees.

Monday's high was 90 degrees.

Tuesday Old Sol again began "living it up" and the mercury recorded a high of 103 degrees. Tuesday night was also a scorcher, the low being 72 degrees!

Wednesday, as we go to press, all indications are for another hot day, but high clouds may help, although the humidity is climbing.

RANDY WALLACE ABORD NEW MISSLE FRIGATE SHIP

In a recent letter from LC 3/c Randy Wallace, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wallace, he tells of being a crew member of the newly commissioned Frigate Ship, the USS Coontz, which went into duty July 15th.

Randy tells of being put in charge of the automatic telephone system, which is sound powered, and the closed circuit television.

The ship, the newest of its kind to be commissioned into the United States Task Force, is specifically designed and built to operate with a fast carrier striking force. It is a completely new concept in naval weapons systems — the inclusion in her armament of the deadly surface-to-air guided Terrier missile.

The ship has an over-all length of 512 feet, 6 inches, and has a beam of 52 feet, 5 inches. Construction began on the ship, January 2, 1957.

Randy adds that he is proud to be a member of the new sleek ship, which is comparable in size to a destroyer, but is somewhat larger and faster.

SCOUT TELLS OF CAMPOREE TRIP

Dana Magnuson has written the Gazette the following account of a portion of the Scout trip to the National Jamboree at Colorado Springs:

Wed., July 13 — Got on the busses at Lewiston at 8:45, and got a smooth start. Ate lunch at Coeur d'Alene which was provided by the Star Guild Lodge of St. Maries. Were delayed about 15 minutes. Went on to Kellogg where we stopped for gas and drinking water, and stayed about 45 minutes. In Kellogg a boy had a pet raccoon and a flying squirrel, which were the center of attraction and strange to the Japanese boys on our bus.

After several rest stops along the way we finally got to Missoula. Here we were rained on a little, and saw some lightning, which caused great excitement between the two Japanese Scouts. We ate dinner in a Lutheran Church, and are staying there. Went swimming in the University of Montana pool, where our visitors proved they liked us by telling the Scoutmaster they wanted to stay on our bus when he asked them to change the next day. It's now 10:00 p. m. M. S. T., and "lights out."

Thursday, July 14 — Got up at 4:00 a. m. and were served a 4:30 breakfast by the Missoula Scouts. Left at 5:30 and got to Anaconda at 9:45 for a 10:00 o'clock appointment to go through the copper, zinc, manganese and phosphate refinery. It was really educational. We saw red-hot copper being poured into molds, and many other very interesting things.

We ate lunch at the Opportunity Country Club, which is close to Anaconda. From there we went to the Lewis & Clark Caverns, which really took us from one extreme to the other, the refinery temperature being about 120 degrees and the caverns about 60.

After the two-hour tour we traveled to Bozeman, where we ate in a Christian Church, went swimming in a public pool, and slept in the huge new M. S. U. field house.

July 15 — Ate breakfast at the same Christian Church, and then drove to Mammoth Hot Springs, which we toured, and boy — did they stink! We ate lunch here and then went on into Old Faithful Lodge and saw the geyser — once in the daylight and once illuminated at night. We ate dinner in the cafeteria and slept in the camper's cabins. We saw lots of bears, and they really scared the Japanese boys. — More soon — Dana.

July 16 — Rise and shine at 6:00 a. m. Took complete tour of Yellowstone and saw the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone Fishing Bridge — lots of mud pots, wild animals and beautiful scenery. Ended up at Old Faithful, where we stayed in the Campers' Cabins again.

July 15 (Sunday) — Got up at 5:30, attended church services at 6:00 (Catholics went to 8:00 o'clock mass). Ate breakfast and were on our way to the Grand Teton National Park. We stopped twice to take pictures of the beautiful Tetons, and went through a museum. Ate lunch at Jackson Hole, then traveled on through to Rock Springs, where we ate at a restaurant, went swimming in the high school's indoor pool, and spent the night in the National Guard Armory.

July 18 — Out of bed at 6:00 and over to a restaurant for breakfast. On our way at 7:30, and pushed on to Medicine Bow for 1:00 o'clock lunch. On into Denver at 6:00 and checked into the Shirley-Savoy Hotel (real swanky). After checking in we went to dinner and found 15c hamburgers! Wandered around buying souvenirs until 9:30. We then began looking for the hotel and this occupied a half hour (10:00 p. m.) Check-in time was 10:15, so we got frantic and walked around the block — there was the hotel on the other side of the same block. Were in our room by 10:10 and finally to sleep.

July 19 — Got up at 6:15, downstairs at 7:15, and got to the Denver

Mint at 7:45. Toured it and found that they don't print any paper money, and are now producing only pennies. We saw $600,000.00 worth of gold bars, and $50,000.00 worth of pennies. Went back to the hotel for breakfast and had till 10:30 p. m. free. Went to two shows, "Ben Hur" and "Pollyanna." Ate lunch at the theater during Ben Hur, and dinner between the two. Got in at 10:15 and were really POOPED!

July 20 — Got up at 7:00, and all ate breakfast in the hotel dining room. Had till noon free, and ate an early lunch. Left for the Jamboree site at 1:00 and got there about 4:00. Had camp set up by 6:30, then ate dinner and were free from 7:30 to 9:50. Saw more Texas boys than any others. "Taps" sounded at 10:00 and we were in bed by 10:15.

July 21 — Reville at 6:00 and up at 6:20. (It sure feels good to get up and not have to get on a bus). By 7:00 we had started breakfast, with a menu of french toast, cereal, milk, tomato juice, strawberries, butter and syrup. At 9:30 breakfast was finished, the camp cleaned up and the dishes done. From then until 11:30 we built a fence around the camp. At 11:30 lunch was started and the fire built. We ate lunch at 12:15 and had things cleaned up by 1:00. Rested and wrote letters for an hour after lunch. Took showers and then went and traded from about 2:45 till 5:00. Came back and helped clean up camp site. Supper was ready at 6:00. Ate till 6:30, then went to a sectional campfire which lasted until 9:00. Came back and sat around or traded till 10:00, then taps.

The trading post and commissary here are really something, and there are always lots of people there. At the commissary they sell hot dogs, burgers, pop, poppicles, equipment, and lots of other things. The trading post is a great big tent with picnic tables for the kids to spread out their trading material. People have all kinds of trading stuff, and it's really a big thing.

July 22 — Up at 6:30 and went for water. Had to stand in line and got back at 6:30. Breakfast at 8:00 after colors, roll call and orders of the day. At 9:00 there was tent inspection and at 11:00 we started lunch after trying our tents down all over again. Ate at noon and were done eating and washing dishes by 1:30, and rested until 2:00. Traded until 4:00, and then came back to start dinner. About 4:30 it began to rain, and when it rains here it pours!! It rained until about 6:00, but didn't clear up. At 6:30 we went to the Arena Show, and it was really neat. They had Jim Arness (Matt Dillon) there, and he narrated the depiction of early American History. After that they had the most spectacular fireworks show that anyone there had seen — and probably ever will see. We marched back to camp and went to bed at 9:45.

July 23 — Up again at 6:00 and ate breakfast — hotcakes, eggs, milk and toast. Dishes washed by 8:30, and after a shower went to the trading post until noon. Lunch at 12:30, then a rest, letters and mail call. Back to "Post" at 2:30, and dinner at 5:30. More rain, so there is not much to do, and finally it's bedtime.

So goodbye, and more next week. — Dana Magnuson.

Practically 97% of all farms in America now have electric power. Loans to the farmers from REA to provide electricity starting back in 1935 has been eminently successful. The big job from here out is not more REA loans, but encouraging farm users to enjoy the many labor-saving appliances available. Manufacturers of appliances, investor-owned utilities, and many rural co-operatives are joining resources to improve electric use on the farm.

The Census Bureau reports that in 1940 there were 3,850,000 college graduates in the U.S. In 1960, there will be 8,000,000 and by 1970 there will be 15,000,000. Great things are in store for the home-owner tomorrow, thanks to college training. Incidentally, the college trained man will demand about $100,000 more in his lifetime in earnings.

usually agrees closely with radio temperatures and is believed accurate, registered 118 degrees at 4:30 p. m. Monday. Another thermometer nearby, but more shaded, registered a mere 112.

FAMILY REUNION — Several relatives of the Charles Enger family visited last week with them, included were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Currier of Elk River, she being a sister of Mr. Enger. Their son, Aaron Currier, home on leave from the Air Force at Little Rock, Lancaster, Calif., was also a guest.

HARVEST CHANGES — Strawberries had a short season this year, so picking ended just in time for haying. All of the hay in park is cut and residents are hoping the fine weather will last until it is hauled. Pie cherries are ripe, but other fruit will be later.

HOME ON LEAVE — Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Ringsage are visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steiner Ringsage, for the duration of his 10-day leave from the Coast Guard. They are enroute to new duty in Hawaii. During their stay they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gudmundsen. The Gudmundsens were in Moscow Saturday, and later in the day went to Texas ridge to visit Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zimmerman. Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Steiner Ringsage visited. They have a home in Portland, but he comes to Park each summer to farm.

OTHER NEWS — Eddie Kirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kirk of Deary visited over-night with his uncle and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Baumgartner Wednesday. His mother and an aunt, Mrs. Bill Baumgartner, also of Deary, visited Thursday and all returned home together.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lawrence, son Earl and daughter Amy were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith.

4-H YOUTH JOIN BATTLE ON BUGS

Killing bugs can mean reaping a rich harvest to a farmer. But saving the right bugs can be just as important, as 4-H club members enrolled in the 4-H Field and Crops Entomology programs can tell you.

Under the direction of the Extension Service, boys and girls in the field crops project learn everything, from how to test, fertilize and till their soil — to how to harvest, store and market quality crops. In between, the preparation of soil for planting in the spring and the fall harvest, comes some practical entomology, like learning to control crop destroying insects and to save and use the beneficial ones.

Relationship and application of scientific research to agriculture is demonstrated by these two educational programs, says the Extension Service.

The young 4-H entomologist need not confine himself to crops. He is ready to tackle such annoying pests as mosquitoes, too. Along with bug

PAPPY MUST SUPPORT FAMILY

U. of I., Moscow — The "runaway pappy" no longer has a place in the United States to which he can run and legally escape support for his family, and the man largely responsible for this is Dr. W. J. Brocklebank, college of law professor at the University of Idaho.

Just off the press is Dr. Brockle-bank's book, "Interstate Enforcement of Family Support," published by Bobbs-Merrill. The book has a complete history of the Uniform Reciprocal Act, commonly known as the Runaway Pappy Act. This act, now adopted in all states and all territories, has become part of the accepted pattern of American life in the recovery of support for a destitute family across state lines.

Brocklebank, who is uniform law commissioner for the State of Idaho, conducted original studies leading to the writing of the act, and worked to have it adopted nationally.

Be glad we have plenty of food to share!

... and be glad our little citizens eat so well... that in America an hour's pay buys more food and clothing than it did 40 years ago... that farmers produce abundantly, even though they get only 37 cents out of the dollar you spend for food.

But will your children and grandchildren live so well a few short years from now? In just 20 years, say the experts, every farmer must produce for 50 people... twice as many as he feeds today.

He'll do it, too, providing he has plenty of low-cost electricity. As help becomes scarcer, he'll use more electric power to do more of the jobs still done by hand. He'll flip a switch to feed more cattle and hogs, milk more cows, care for more chickens.

And supplying plenty of low-cost electricity is the job of America's Rural Electric Systems... built, owned, and operated by the people they serve so well.

Best of all, rural electricians pay their own way. Already, these systems have paid more than $1 billion in principal and interest on their $3 1/2 billion REA loans... added proof that this is one of the soundest investments our Nation has ever made.

RASPBERRIES HAVE MANY DISEASES
 U. of I., Moscow — When we are ill with cursed virus, and pills and shots and doctors tire us, then pity the poor raspberry's fix — whose viruses come in groups of six!
 "For that," says Harry Fenwick, plant pathologist at the University of Idaho, "is about how it is in a good many Idaho raspberry plantings. The plants may suffer from attacks of one to six kinds of virus diseases. Damage may run from light attacks, hard for the owner to notice, on through death for the entire planting."
 When leaves are cupped, crinkled and small and sickly in appearance, it is a good guess that one or more of the viruses has hit the patch. Fenwick says. Small, dry, seedy berries are further evidence. When such symptoms show up, it's time to take out and burn all the affected plants. Give the remaining plants a good application of a nitrogen fertilizer to increase vigor and follow that with all the water the plants can use.
 Fenwick blames insects for spreading most of the virus diseases. They feed on diseased raspberries in a neighboring patch, travel to clean plants, and infect them through the normal feeding processes.
 Trading plants or taking (extra) plants from a neighbor's planting is another common way of bringing in virus infections, Fenwick declares. "It's odd that we do this. The cost of comparatively disease-free plants is not great, in fact, much less than the cost of the labor to set them out if you have to hire it done. The production of clean plants makes them worth hundreds of times more than the doubtful plants, given free, at the neighbors. But we take them, plant them, and then wonder why it is that we fail to have good berries and lots of them. It must be that many home gardeners don't believe plants have diseases."
 The pathologist points out that the best berry production comes in those communities where all growers buy disease-free plants for their plantings and carefully remove all plants that have become unhealthy.

BOATING CAN BE PROBLEM TOO
 U. of I., Moscow — The "hot-rudder" is a growing menace to water recreation, Dan Warren, state leader of 4-H Clubs, said in outlining an accident prevention program for boys and girls. The effort is supported by the Idaho Farm Safety committee. Safe and cautious use of motor boats is essential if the boom in boating is not to develop even greater hazards, Warren said. He noted that thousands of Idaho people operate boats on scores of lakes and streams without knowing or observing the code of careful driving. "Hot-rudders buzz each other to see how close they can come. Shocking accidents cause death and injury."

 W. E. Adams of Eagle, chairman of the farm safety committee, said his organization will work with 4-H Clubs to teach safe operation and relieve a situation that has become alarming.
 Quoting an article in the magazine, Traffic Safety, Warren said that last year 37 million Americans used boats for fun. One person in 25 is now a boat owner. There is no state with less than 7,000 outboards. Motorboat deaths increased 100 percent in the three-year period ended in 1957, and are even more frequent today.
 "Teen-age water cowboys, say dock officials, police officials, and coast guard officers, are the cause of most of the trouble. The wash created by boat "squirreling" can swamp other boats and spill their occupants into the water. We've spotted kids playing "chicken," driving two boats at each other to see who yields first with outboards.
 Many boating experts feel it is more difficult to maneuver a boat than an automobile. A car is always on land, while a boat is on a fluid, ever changing medium. A boat has no brakes. Waterways have no center lines. The operator is prey to the vagaries of wind and wave. The danger of accident is increased by limited access to safety apparatus. Accidents caused by motor boats can be more serious and costly than those caused by autos.

ONE BREED TOPS
 U. of I., Moscow — A single breed of laying hen, the White Leghorn, has almost entirely replaced other breeds that once cackled in America's barnyards and hen houses.
 "The poultry industry demanded a hen with greater laying qualities, and one who could make more efficient use of her feed," says Charlie Peterson, poultry husbandman at the University of Idaho. "Several new applications of breeding principles have been employed which have resulted in major improvements in recent years. Some breeders use the same principles of hybridization and breeding that they have demonstrated in producing hybrid corn for the fields of the midwest. We have only a few really great poultry breeders in the entire nation, all of them very large operators. The laying hens these breeders came up with are the best example of animal improvement in the entire industry. Breeders have produced a phenomenal birds and are still working to make her better."
 Peterson points out that there is no longer a "dual-purpose bird." The laying hen is a special production of the poultry breeder's art. No less so is her ever-more-distant cousin, the meat bird that produces America's broilers and fryers for the year-round market.

In order to be eligible for the contest, entrants must be between the ages of 13 and 22, and must not be a professional seamstress or sewing teacher. The garment must be made of 100 percent wool fabric. It may be made from a commercial pattern or from an original design.

Anyone interested may obtain entry blanks from Ruth Shane, Extension Home Agent in Latah county, at Moscow.

BRUSH CREW

Each summer season, our Forest Service hires a work crew to clean woods, and for fighting fires. Brain and brawn combined, they gather and pile brush; if lightning starts a fire, they stop it with a rush.

We owe them thanks, for help in fire prevention. Their efforts, battling fire, with praise, we mention. Some of the best of our young men, so keen — Striving to keep our luxurious forests green.
