SCOUT TELLS OF JAMBOREE DOINGS

(By Dana Magnuson)

Reville again at 6:00. Breakfast at 7:30. Dishes done by 9:00. In full uniform by 9:15 for colors, and to church at 9:30. Service began at 9:45 in sweltering heat. By the end of the service at 10:45 13 boys had passed out. After church everyone was glad to take a shower, although there's nothing but ice cold water.

Cleaned up camp before lunch and had to do it again afterwards. It started to cloud up about 2:00, but didn't rain. We rested, wrote and showered until 3:30, then rode a bus to the end of the line and back again for a dime. Started supper at 5:00 and ate at 6:00. Had fried chicken, string beans, cranberry sauce, rolls, milk and apple pie. To bed at 10:00 after dishes were washed, camp sites cleaned up and a check taken to make sure everyone was here.

JULY 25 — Up at 6:00 as usual. Devotional services at 7:10 and breakfast at 8:00. Went to the rifle range and the archery range, and then came back for lunch and a shower. After lunch we rested until 2:00 and then went to the angling range where you practice casting. Walked around and traded until 4:30, then came back and started dinner. Got through about 7:00 and went to an Iowa-Idaho Campfire, which lasted until 9:30. Went home and were in bed by taps (10:00 p. m.).

JULY 26 — Got to sleep this morning until 6:45. Breakfast was almost ready when I got up. We had french toast, bacon and cocoa. Got through about 8:00, had colors and their took showers and were on our own by 9:30. Rode the bus and traded till lunch, and at 1:00 the "Blue Angels," a navy jet flying team put on a real show for us. Rested as usual till 2:30, then hiked the "Red Trail," a five-mile endurance hike, and when we got back we were really tired out. Ate dinner and then went to sectional talent search which lasted until 9:00. Hit the sack as soon as we got home, and were soon asleep.

JULY 27 — Woke up with a sore throat, so after breakfast went to the Health Lodge and got some medicine. Had to stay in camp all day except for a shower and right after dinner (7:00) went to bed. Woke up about 10:00 and really felt horrible. Our Scoutmaster and I went to the Health Lodge again and found out that I had "strep throat". Spent the night in sick bay in a real bed.

JULY 28 — Feeling a little better this morning. Had a roll and juice for breakfast. There's not much to say about today except that it's sure hot here and I saw the President as he whizzed by.

JULY 29 — Got out of sick bay at 6:00 and got back to camp in time to leave with the rest. First we went to the Manitou Springs Chair Lift, which is almost straight up. After that we visited the Cave of the Winds, which are real neat caverns. From there to Seven Falls and at the bottom of them is a pond full of 12 to 14 inch trout. We ate lunch at Seven Falls and then drove through the Garden of the Gods, which has some most unusual rock formations. Soon we were at the Air Force Academy, which we toured. All the buildings there are really modern and the planes surely are big. We got back to the Jamboree ground for dinner and then had to pack up.

JULY 30 — Left the grounds for good at 6:00, and went into Colorado Springs for breakfast. We drove to the Cheyenne Mt. Zoo and saw lots of neat animals. One boy from Lewiston was spit on by a chimpanzee and another got an apple thrown at him. From the zoo we drove to the Royal Gorge, over which is the highest bridge in the world. There is an inclined cable car there, and it's built at a 45-degree angle. We ate lunch there and rode the train until 3:00. We drove to Durango and ate dinner there at 10:30. We had ham, eggs, fried spuds and milk. We were still 60 miles from where we were supposed to spend the night, so stayed at the V. F. W. hall in Durango.

JULY 31 — Went from Durango to Manco where we were supposed to have spent the night, and ate breakfast there. The Protestants attended church in the Manco Methodist Church while the Catholics went to Mass. Got to the Mesa Verde National Park about 10:00 and toured it until noon. The main attraction there are the ancient Indian cliff dwellings, and they're really something. They also had some early Indian tools and some mummies on display. Ate lunch at Cortez and then started for Salt Lake City. The distance between Cortez and Salt Lake was further than expected, so we ate a 1:00 o'clock dinner at Price, Utah. Finally we got into Salt Lake about 3:45 a. m. Then we hunted for the Scout Camp at which we were scheduled to stay until about 4:30. Finally Friends and relatives gathered in the Kendrick park Sunday afternoon to honor Mr. and Mrs. Ben Westendahl with a pot-luck dinner in observance of their Silver Wedding Anniversary.

A daughter, Mrs. Tom Bain, baked and decorated the beautiful three-tiered wedding cake. It was topped with a pink and silver ornament to designate the 25 years of married life.

Mrs. Bob Magnuson sang several lullabies, and was accompanied at the piano by her daughter Dee. A guessing game followed in which the guests were given slips of paper to record their guesses as to the time and date of the baby's birth. A prize will be given later.

The honoree opened and displayed the gifts for the wee one, after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

ANNUAL PICNIC
Says Eva Smith, Lewiston — The second annual Cedar Creek Picnic will be held at Beachview Park in Clarkston, Sunday, Aug. 28. There will be a covered dish pot-luck dinner for anyone interested, at 1:00 p. m. All "Cedar Creekers," far and near, are urged to attend.

STREET CLEANING
Despite the high heat Ed. Nelson, village custodian, has been working steadily cleaning Kendrick's "Main Stem," with load after load of trash and dirt going out.

Heavy truck traffic, machinery parking and the general harvest rush, not to mention regular travel, have all added to the need for cleaning — and they're getting it. A vast improvement is to be noted.

HARVEST ROLLING
A steady "parade" of grain trucks can be seen on our Main Street these days, as the high heat ripens the grain, lentils and clover even faster.

Warehousemen estimate that the harvest in this area is from 50 to 55 percent complete. It seems that most wheat coming in tests 63 to 59 — with the quality said to be very good.

IS IMPROVING
Jack Travis, who visited with his wife, a patient at the Grangeville Hospital, Sunday, reports her as steadily improving.

MORE JAMBOREE

we got to bed at 5:00 and slept till 9:00.

AUG. 1 — By driving so long our bus drivers had completely exhausted their company's driving time allotment, so the next day we toured the city in City Tour busses, and I think we saw a lot more. We saw and toured the Utah Capitol building, I swam in the Great Salt Lake, and listened to an organ recital in the Mormon Tabernacle. Stayed at the Scout Camp again that night.

AUG. 2 — Up at 7:00 for breakfast at the Scout Camp, then an all-day ride to Boise with a stop at Burley, Idaho, for lunch. This was our hardest day, because it was all riding and no touring.

AUG. 3 — Up at 5:00 and breakfast at Boise. On the road by 7:30 and to Grangeville by noon. We let off the Grangeville Scouts here, and also ate lunch. On to Craigmont where the Nez Percé Scouts got off, then on into Lewiston by 4:00.

This Jamboree was an experience I'll never forget — and I hope to go again in 1964.

About the paper that's coming out next week — the annual

HISTORICAL EDITION OF THE KENDRICK GAZETTE

will make its appearance on Thursday, August 18th — and will feature Julietta — 50 years ago!

It will be complete with write-ups and pictures of those times — and by golly we believe that everyone will enjoy it!

Now we recommend that you place your orders for those extra copies that you will want to send friends immediately — so the printer will know how many to print.

And, due to the fact that this is the edition that provides vacation time for the Gazette force, this paper will be printed on Friday, August 12 — which means that the advertising copy will have to be in by Thursday, August 11.

Of course every businessman and merchant will want an ad. in that issue — for it's the biggest circulation number of the Gazette for the year!

Man, I really go for the Gazette's annual historical issue!! . . . Now don't forget . . . order those extra copies early!

CARAVAN TO VISIT OLD MISSION

Boise — Historically minded residents of the northwest are invited to join with the Idaho Historical Society on a field trip to the Old Mission of the Sacred Heart on Aug. 15. On that Monday a motor cavalcade will leave North Idaho Junior College in Coeur d'Alene at 9:00 a. m. to attend the annual celebration of the mass and hear historical discussions at the old Mission building south of U. S. Highway 10. Informal groups will attend from Kellogg and Wallace. According to the Historical Society, the structure with its famous columns is the oldest building remaining in Idaho.

Each year on the Feast of the Assumption there is a pilgrimage from the present site of the Sacred Heart Mission in DeSmet to the old site. This year the Rev. A. J. Ferreri, S. J., of DeSmet is in charge of the services. A large number of Coeur d'Alene Indians are expected to attend. The historical tour will attend the services, which will begin at 10:00 a. m.

Following the services, the Rev. Paul Sauer, S. J., of Mount St. Michaels in Spokane, will explain the historical background of the old Mission. H. J. Swinney, director of the Idaho Historical Society in Boise, will discuss the architectural background of the building itself, which was assembled before 1850 out of hewn logs pegged together. State Representative Joe Garry of Plummer is also expected to talk with the historians. A picnic luncheon is provided by the Ladies Guild of the Sacred Heart Mission.

STAY HOME TO DO THAT FARMING

U. of I., Moscow — "Don't go west, young man, if you want to farm. Stay close to home."

So says Roland Bevan, agricultural economist at the University of Idaho, as he discusses the problem of how the young man of high-priced 1960 can get into the farming business.

Says Bevan: "The high cost of farm equipment as well as the high price of good land form an almost impossible barrier to the young man who is trying to get started in farming. To ease the first investments, it is often possible to use machinery and equipment belonging to his parents if he can stay within five to ten miles of the home place. Many young men get their start this way. Then pay back the loan of the equipment later on when they are financially able to do so."

Bevan points out that present investments in Idaho farms run from $30,000 to $200,000.

UNIVERSITY ADOPTS PLAN FOR SPEED-UP OF COLLEGE STUDIES

Looking to the development of students to their full capacities, the University of Idaho has adopted an advanced placement program, President D. R. Theophilus said. "Students may earn university credit for certain basic courses without taking them in college, providing they successfully pass examinations indicating they already have the knowledge."

The University of Idaho program is similar to that recently established at Harvard and Columbia universities and other leading institutions of higher learning.

"Under this system, which I consider one of the most important advances in American education, it is possible for a student to complete a four-year college program in three years," Theophilus pointed out. "But, more important, students have new opportunities or challenges to tax their abilities to the maximum, which is vital to American progress."

The president added that it has been found that relatively few students in institutions with the advanced placement program plan to finish in less than four years. Students who have earned college credits via the special examination route have enriched rather than accelerated their education programs by taking more advanced work. Too, many of the students in the advanced placement program have become so interested that they are looking forward to higher degrees.

Under the program, a student can actually earn college credits while still in high school.

4-H COOKS PROVE THEY CAN DO IT

Despite the popularity of prepared mixes for baked foods and the increased use of commercially frozen foods in American homes today, there are about a half million young cooks learning how to bake homemade bread and freeze home grown products.

They are 4-H Club members enrolled in baked and frozen food programs arranged by the Cooperative Extension Service and the National 4-H Service committee. New highs were reached last year with 418,000 engaged in baked food projects. More than half participated in a special bread demonstration program. Some 120,000 carried a frozen foods project.

Many club members raise vegetables, fruits, poultry and meat for freezing, and add to the assortment the bread, cakes, pies and rolls baked in the foods projects. As a result the family eats better and cheaper, according to the youthful food experts. They also maintain that an appetizing assortment of foods in the home freezer enables them to whip up a complete meal on short notice.

The work is supervised by local 4-H Club leaders and county extension agents. At the end of the club year, awards are presented to members for superior achievement. Among them are $400 college scholarships, trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, U. S. savings bonds, and gold-filled medals.

PRESSURE CANNER BEST SYSTEM

U. of I. Moscow — The pressure food canner is still the "iron guard" against food poisoning in canned foods.

"Low-acid foods or meats canned in the oven or by the open-kettle process are just as likely to furnish botulism poisoning to the family of today as they were in the past," says Miss Barbara Branthoover, extension nutritionist for the University of Idaho. "The pressure canner in good working order and used according to directions can cut the chance of such poisoning almost to zero."

Miss Branthoover explains that the bacteria causing botulism can live through temperatures of boiling water and come up smiling. When they do so and are sealed in airtight cans of low-acid foods, they multiply and produce their fatal toxins. So dangerous are the poisons that even small amounts can cause death in humans and other warm-blooded animals.

The nutritionist points out that botulism is not the only dangerous poisoning found in spoiled foods. Other organisms may enter the food processed in open kettles as the foods are transferred from the cooking kettles to jars. Although poisoning does not occur in many such foods, spoilage causes loss of food, time, labor and fuel used in the canning process. Covered canners and the boiling water bath method of canning prevent such loss in high acid foods. Safe processing of vegetables and meats comes only through wise use of the pressure canner.

The open kettle method of canning has one place left in food preservation according to the nutritionist — one only. It is a good way of canning jellied fruit products and for pickles that do not rely on heat processing alone for their keeping qualities.

DO YOU KNOW

The communists have been gaining territory at the rate of 1,000 square miles a day since World War II, and none of it has been taken back yet. The communists believe that people exist to serve the government, to do as they are told. So when you hear fellow Americans argue against individual initiative, private property, and private enterprise, just remember they are carelessly contributing to an attitude that accepts communist rule.

Public power promoters, who advocate government control of electricity and certain other industries, argue that rates can be cheaper if electricity is sold at cost (without profit). They close their eyes to millions of people over the nation who depend upon profits for dividends, and earnings which are put aside for taxes, expansion, etc. In other words, they oppose our American system of private enterprise, and argue for the socialist state.

At the beginning of 1948, there were about 200,000 television sets in use. At the end of 1957, there were 41,600,000 sets. At the same time, viewing hours increased from 1,000,000 per day to 250,000,000 per day. After while, will the nation just sit and stare? Heaven help us!

Since 1935, R.E.A. has used some $3.5 billion in loans to bring electricity to farms. Today, 96% of America has electric service. A good job well done!

The Federal government this year spends 119 millions for agriculture research, where there are surpluses. Yet in education, where there is a shortage of teachers, our schools cannot lay hands on more than six millions for research. We wonder if more of us should give more thought and more help to education?

Now is the time to install Gas Heat!

NEW NURSERY TO PROVIDE TREES

A large new nursery able to grow 12 to 15 million trees a year for use in three states is being developed near Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Purchase of the 220-acre nursery site north of Coeur d'Alene was announced this week by Chas. L. Tebbe, regional forester for the northern region of the U. S. Forest Service.

Tebbe said that purchase and development of the new nursery will give the Northern region a nursery potential of about 25 million trees a year. The Savenac Nursery, operated at Haugan, Montana, since 1909, has a potential of about 12 million trees a year he said.

Trees from both nurseries will be used to reforest national forest lands in Montana, northern Idaho and in northeastern Washington. Some trees are also furnished to state nurseries in Idaho and Montana for planting on state and private forest lands.

Six million trees have already been planted on the new Coeur d'Alene site, and production will increase as the land and facilities are developed, the forester said.

He said that ponderosa pine and Douglas fir will be the main species at the new nursery. It will also be used to grow smaller numbers of white pine, spruce and cedar.

Present plans call for a new well and a 40-acre irrigation system this fall. A tree packing and storage building may be built on the new site next spring.

Establishment of the new nursery is one of the first steps toward fulfillment of the new program for the national forests. The forester said that the program calls for re-forestation of more than 700,000 acres of national forest land in the northern region.

The new nursery will complement the Savenac Nursery. Trees from the Coeur d'Alene site can normally be moved and planted earlier in the spring and later in the fall. Some species will grow better at one nursery than the other, Tebbe said.

The Forest Service has been growing trees on leased land near the new nursery site for several years.

4-H CANNING CLUBS MARK 50TH YEAR

Tomato canning clubs were the first "girl projects" in 4-H, following closely on the heels of corn clubs established in 1910 for boys. These clubs were the forerunner of the present day 4-H educational program now benefiting some 2,250,000 rural and urban youth.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the 4-H canning club, and the 150th anniversary of the discovery of a successful canning process. Methods and utensils have changed, but the end product remains the same. Young homemakers as well as experienced ones strive to turn out sparkling, wholesome, nutritious jars of food which can be stored for safe eating later on.

The modern 4-H canning program — like its predecessor emphasizes home grown food preservation as a means to improve the family diet. The 4-H "learn by doing" method stresses importance of using bacteria-free products and utensils to guard against spoilage and possible food poisoning.

Back in the early 1900's, 4-H girls demonstrated canning skills and exhibited their products in competition with others. For this they received local recognition and in many cases valuable awards. The 1960 program also offers awards for superior achievement.

For the 32nd consecutive year the Kerr Glass Mfg. Co., sponsors of 4-H canning awards, will offer $400 college scholarships to six national winners to be selected next November. In addition, county winners will receive medals of honor, and the state winner an all-expense trip to the 39th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 27 through Dec. 1.

The Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that well over 150,000 club members will turn out approximately 4,500,000 quarts of canned food this year.

TESTS MADE ON VACUUM CLEANERS

What's the best way to clean a wool rug?

A western state recently compared 12 vacuum cleaners. The sweeper type removed more dirt than the others, according to the report received by Ruth J. Shane, Latah county home extension agent. The study showed the greatest quantity of dirt was removed during the first runs — the first ten minutes for a 9x12 rug.

The report said that although manufacturers advise emptying the dirt container after every cleaning, this is not always done in home practice — and the researchers pointed out that as the bag fills with dirt the cleaner is less efficient. This is because all air entering the cleaning nozzle must be sent out through the bag. As the bag fills with dirt, less air and dirt are drawn in.

Mrs. Shane also points out that rugs with deep pile often need protection from the sharp legs of tables and chairs to prevent wear. Little cups called carpetmats or carpetguards are effective in distributing this pressure. They are made of plastic and have teeth on the underside that reach through the pile and support the furniture on the backing rather than the upper substance of the rug.

ISN'T IT ODD

Isn't it odd how each family wonders how its neighbors can consistently live beyond their means?

Have YOU kept up with the times?

In just about 20 short years the average householder on W.W.P. lines has quadrupled his number of electrical appliances.

Reminded of this, most people find it hard to believe they get so many jobs done electrically for so little cost.

Today, more than ever, Washington Water Power Service is your biggest bargain.

SCOUT BEHAVIOR IS OUTSTANDING

Colorado Springs, Colo. (July 31) — "Friday morning after the Boy Scout Jamboree was over and most of the Scouts were preparing to leave, Charles M. Heistand, Assistant Scout Executive and Jamboree director, was asked for his opinion on the general deportment of his 56,000 charges.

"This has been the most successful jamboree ever," Heistand said. "We have been very fortunate.

"Usually if there is a real case of discipline it is brought to me," he added. "So far I haven't had any!"

Another Scout official commented that he had not heard of or seen a single fight during the entire Jamboree.

"Of course we can't say that there have been no arguments," he said, but nothing serious ever developed. On the whole, I think the Scouts showed amazing discipline and self control."

This discipline was in evidence on Thursday evening at the closing ceremonies. As the first groups of Boy Scouts were given the direction to move out of the arena where the ceremonies had been held, the official giving the order asked for complete silence. Among over 56,000 Scouts and visitors — a total, all told of about 70,000 — there was not a sound.

Not only did the Scouts exhibit good behavior, but also showed that they could observe safety rules. The most common ailments treated at the hospitals and first aid stations were dehydration and heat exhaustion.

Jamboree Director Heistand said he knew of only one broken foot and one broken leg when asked if there had been any serious accidents.

"There was one boy who somehow managed to get the porcupine quill that was part of his neckerchief decoration into his eye," he said, "but he was sent to the hospital at Fort Carson and then home."

The general census of opinion among those asked was that the Scouts who came to the Jamboree were well chosen and a credit to those they represented.

The above item was sent the Gazette by LaRue K. Ebersole, a cousin of the McCrearys, and a resident of Colorado Springs.

How about the tires on your pickup or truck? Will they take the harvest beating? If not, come in and see us. You'll be surprised at how cheaply you can drive out on new ones.
