

New Jr.-Sr. High School to be Dedicated Sunday

Program Set For 2 p. m.; Engleking Is Guest Speaker

Sunday, August 29, the new Joint District No. 283 Junior-Senior High School building will be dedicated at 2:00 p. m.

The new school was made possible by the passage of a $335,000 bond issue, April 3, 1959. The contract was awarded on September 15, 1959, to the Hollibaugh Construction Co. of Greer, Idaho, and work was begun at once. The building was completed and accepted by the school directors on August 1, 1960.

The total cost of the structure, including architectural fees was only $10.63 per square foot. The building contains 31,500 square feet, and has seven classrooms, plus a Home Economics Department, Commercial room, Science laboratory, Vocational-Ag. Shop, Music room, Cafeteria-Study hall, Library and office. School, September 6

The doors of the new school building will open for classes on Monday, September 6, just 20 days short of a year from the day of its beginning. The old school, built in 1911-12, has been evacuated, and will remain idle until such time as it is purchased for another use or is torn down. Bids were called for earlier this year for its removal, but all were rejected by the district supervisors, as too high.

Some landscaping work remains to be done about the new building, but the Kendrick Grange has volunteered their services for this portion of the work, as a civic project. All the rough grading has been completed.

The public is invited to attend the dedication of the new school, which will feature an address by D. F. Engleking, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. A tour of the building will follow the ceremonies, and refreshments will be served in the school lunch room.

The new school is a beauty point in the district, and a great addition to its educational system.

ARMITAGE FAMILY BID FAREWELL

The Ross Armitage family was honored at several farewell parties last week. The Rebekahs and the Grangers bid them farewell on their regular meeting nights, with special festivities, refreshments and gifts.

On Saturday evening friends and neighbors gathered in the park for a pot-luck supper and to wish them happiness in their new home.

The Armitage family moved last week to their new home at Winchester, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Max Clemmehagen and children moved into the Armitage home Saturday.

The Armitage family took an active part in community activities — both in the Kendrick Grange and P. T. A.; she in the Rebekah lodge and he in the Kendrick Community Lions Club and Village Council. They will be greatly missed.

This was the first part of her journey to Teheran, Iran, where she will be a teacher-missionary in the Presbyterian Community School. Her assignment is for a five-year term. She held a similar position there for a three-year term, 1953-1957. For the past two years she has been a teacher in the Junior High School at Dishman, Wn.

The purpose of the Community School is to teach Christianity and democracy; to provide a sound education for foreigners in Iran, and for certain nationals who obtain permission from their Ministry of Education to attend. Its purpose also is to offer its pupils a definite and positive alternative to Communism.

Connie Howell Is Bride

Miss Connie Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Howell, Juliaetta, and Justice Taylor of Lewiston were united in marriage last Friday evening, Aug. 19, at 7:30 o'clock in the Methodist Chapel in Lewiston. Rev. Bruce Groseclose, pastor, read the service in the presence of a very small group of young people and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Arnold were their only attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Eggers were among those present.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony, at the El Rancho Motel. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left Saturday for a week's honeymoon trip to California.

Mrs. Mable Wayland Passes

Mrs. Mable Wayland, 77, Juliaetta, died at 3:40 a. m. Monday at the St. Joseph's Hospital in Lewiston. Death was due to a heart condition from which Mrs. Wayland had suffered for several years. She had been hospitalized since Friday.

Mrs. Wayland was born June 26, 1883, in Nebraska. She married Geo. Wayland in Oklahoma, March 4, 1904. In 1909 the Waylands moved to the Kendrick area, settling on Little Bear ridge, where they farmed until retiring and moving to Juliaetta in 1943. Mr. Wayland died last summer.

Mrs. Wayland continued to make her home at Juliaetta before she was hospitalized last week. She was a member of the Juliaetta United Brethren Church.

Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Nelson Horner of Arnett, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Agnes Rader of Miles City, Mont.; one brother, C. A. Squires of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and one grandchild.

MISS PAT LONG HOME FROM SCHOOL TOUR IN ENGLAND

Following a one-year teaching tour in England, Miss Pat Long returned home to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Long, before returning to Portland on Monday, Aug. 29, where she will resume her teaching position there.

MISS PAT LONG

Pat returned to the U. S. by plane, landing at McGuire Field, New Jersey, on July 27. She remained in New Jersey for four days, then flew on to Portland, Oregon, to pick up her car, which had preceded her by ship, and then drove home to Kendrick.

During her tour in England, Pat was a teacher at Weathers Field Air Base, a dependent school for the Air Force.

While in England, she toured most of that country, Scotland, Spain, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Italy. She described England as a beautiful green country with lovely flowers, and the people as polite and friendly, but reserved and hard to get to know. Pat also noted that the average standard of living is much lower than here. "Most homes have no central heating, but are heated with fireplaces, in which they burn coal. There are very few washing machines, and refrigerators are a luxury. Hot water is at a premium," Pat said.

The price of food is much less than in the states, and of course the income is also lower. She added that the weather is much like our own here, with the exception of being a little milder, with very little snow.

In returning to Portland to teach, Pat will be instructing the second grade at the Harvey Scott Elementary School.

Bobby Humphreys of Lewiston was the winner of the third prize, a wrist watch.

Wednesday morning of last week the fund totaled $2,334.52.

FIRST PRACTICE CALLED AUG. 25 FOR TIGER GRIDDERS

Kendrick High School Athletic Director Dennis Racicot announced this week that any high school boy who intends to turn out for football practice this fall, and those who plan to play in the first game, against Elk River, on September 9th, should be at the new high school building on Thursday morning, August 25th, at 10 a. m.

The first scheduled practice has been set for August 29. Thursday morning has been set for the issuing of equipment and lockers, and Coach Racicot said that if time permitted there would be a short practice.

The reason for the early practice, Racicot explained, is due to Idaho State law, which requires a certain amount of supervised practice before a student may play in competition.

Racicot is hoping for a good turnout this fall, and is expecting a returning letterman, who has been out of school for over a year.

This year's eight-man football schedule is as follows:

- September 9 — Kendrick at Elk River.
- September 16 — Kendrick at Weippe.
- September 23 — Kendrick and Troy, here.
- September 30 — Kendrick at Deary.
- October 7 — Kendrick and Nezperce, here.
- October 14 — Kendrick and Pierce, here.
- October 21 — Kendrick and Genesee, here.
- October 28 — Open, in case of play off.

COOKS LEAVE WED. FOR HAILEY, IDAHO

Ben P. Cook left for south Idaho and a new teaching job at Hailey, Wednesday morning after having taught 20 years in Latah county.

With 31 years of teaching to his credit, he has spent six years at Southwick; 9 years at Genesee, and four years at Craigmont — and 12 years at Kendrick. Along with teaching he has done coaching and administrative work.

In making the change Ben says he would like to see and teach in another part of the state.

In addition to his school work he is a licensed "Ham Radio" operator, and as such has acted as local coordinator in communications for Civil Defense. His "Ham Shack" has been a meeting place for other hams in the area. He has helped a number of young men to become interested in the field of radio. He taught Morse Code and radio courses in addition to mathematics at school, which stimulated interest in the field. He has also served on the Boy Scout Troop Committee.

The Cooks are renting their home on the school house hill, and other property to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr and Mrs. John Deobald.

Mr. Cook left Wednesday morning for their new home with their pickup loaded with household goods. He will fly back to drive their car and trailer down, at which time Mrs. Cook will accompany him.

Mrs. Cook has given generously of herself in service to the community and her church. She was the one to inaugurate Kindergarten and has kept it running for the past 12 years. She has been active in P.-T. A., has helped with the Cancer and Red Cross drives and in numerous other civic enterprises. She was superintendent of the Kendrick Community Church Sunday School and taught the kindergarten department for many years.

She was nominated for Idaho Mother of the year in 1959.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cook will be greatly missed, their influence with children through education having definitely left a mark in the community.

BUSINESS, THE UNWILLING VILLAIN

(By J. E. Warren)

Business, through no fault of its own, has lost much of its popularity because the government has made it a tax collector... a thankless, expensive job for which companies never asked, and which has cast business as the unwilling villain in the tax picture.

Most of us realize, of course, that income tax and social security is withheld from our pay checks, but business also collects gasoline, liquor, tobacco, entertainment, sales, and many other excise taxes, both hidden and overt. And business' own taxes must, of course, be passed on to the consumer as part of the cost of doing business, as are the book-keeping and other expenses incurred by companies in keeping the necessary tax records for the government.

Although we are subconsciously aware that we are paying these taxes, it is the nature of the human animal to consider only what we pay for what we buy, and what we receive for the work we do. We don't realize how much we are being taxed on our incomes because we see only our take home pay. Some employers, who resent being cast as unpaid tax collectors — forced to deduct a worker's taxes before he is paid — have come up with a way to bring home to their employees just how much their withholding and social security taxes amount to. They have set up two adjoining pay windows. At the first window, the employee is handed his full pay. But... at the second window, he must immediately hand back his taxes! And one employer says it's surprising how the worker's interest has increased in how the government spends their money! Government, whether purposely or not, has set itself up as the giver and business as the taker.

Since the income tax takes a larger percentage of our money than any other one tax, let's take a quick trip into history to see how it originated. If asked this question, the majority of people would probably reply that the 16th amendment, which reads: "The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on income, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census or enumeration," started the whole thing, and it is true that the present federal income tax was made possible by this Amendment. But income tax goes back much, much further than 1913, the year the 16th Amendment was passed.

SOIL CONVERSATION

"This Field Sure Sprung a Leak!"

The crows advise against such "leaks"! And they can be prevented. Terraces, contour farming, strip cropping, farm ponds, proper drainage, grass waterways — are some of the practices to save the valuable resources of soil and water. If your runoff problem involves more than your farm perhaps a community watershed project is the answer. See your local soil conservation district about the problem.

Income tax, of course, is not an American invention. William Pitt imposed it in England in 1799. And long before that, the Romans imposed taxes on conquered peoples — but not on free men — and there are many other historic instances of taxation. But we are primarily concerned here with taxes in the United States. No provision was made in the constitution for an income tax, in fact, our forebearers fought a war to escape English taxes.

Our income tax in this country dates back to the Civil War, when it was slipped over as a war measure — an emergency step. (This trick still prevails. In World War II, the tax on telephones, for example, was levied as an emergency measure, but although the war ended, the "emergency" tax lingers on). Although the exemption per individual was only $800 in 1861 (as compared with present day exemption of $600), the tax was only 3 percent on everything above $800. And U. S. government securities received preferential treatment, with the tax on interest only 1 1/2 percent. Also, the taxpayer could deduct all national, state and local taxes before calculating income; today no deduction is allowed for federal taxes paid.

Then, as now, one tax begot another, and in 1862, another law was passed to tax banks, trust and insurance companies and savings institutions. And another act in 1863 attempted to tax undistributed profits of banks. The income tax was dropped in 1872, but reared its ugly head again in 1894, when a new federal income tax law was passed, patterned closely after the original legislation. This law was held unconstitutional.

So, we come to 1913 and the 16th Amendment. It looked innocent enough at the start. Tax was at the rate of 1 percent, with a surtax beginning on incomes above $20,000, and reaching a top bracket of six percent on $200,000 of income. Then along came World War I, and the normal tax ranged from 6 to 12 percent and the surtax ran as high as 65 percent. In 1944 the revenue act set the highest rates in history, ranging from 20 percent on lowest incomes to 91 percent above $200,000.

There is no doubt that the income tax is here to stay, but it is to be hoped that a more realistic ceiling will be put on the percentage. The Western Tax Council, whose headquarters is in Chicago, launched a movement back in 1939, to repeal the 16th Amendment and put a ceiling on income tax. State legislatures in 33 states have adopted resolutions supporting such action, and five more are needed to force action. The Tax Council believes (with good reason) that with unlimited power to tax, the federal government spends more and more money, and inflation goes higher and higher. Again, looking back into history, there has never been a government which went in heavily for the welfare-statism, which did not wind up with inflation to the point where earnings and savings were of no value. An historical example of this is reported by the Wall Street Journal, which received two envelopes from one of its readers in Germany. One was mailed on May 23, 1923, and the stamps cost 550 marks. The other, mailed six months later, had stamps on it that cost 220,000,000 marks, that's 220 billion marks.

An example of how much taxes have increased in this country was brought home by a letter printed in the Chicago Tribune, which reported that a married man with three children paid a federal income tax of $3.70 on an income of a little more than $5,500 in 1928. Today, a married man with three children and the same income pays more than $400 in federal income tax. Our population has increased less than 40 percent since 1928, but federal government expenditures are 27 times more than they were then! And the tax on a $5,500-a-year man is 109 times more than in 1928!!

Wherever possible, companies should list separately taxes that they are collecting from employees, consumers, etc. This will help to point the finger at the real villain — government — instead of at the unwilling, unpaid and unhappy tax-collecting businessman. — I. N. R. S.

By Mrs. Ben J. Smith

Aug. 15 — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stratton camped over the week-end at Squaw Creek above Avery. Sunday morning their daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rasch and Gerald of Avery, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gudmundsen and children of Colfax drove up for breakfast. Their grandchildren, Carol Jean Gudmundsen and Gerald Rasch accompanied them home for a visit.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Fox and family during the past week were his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Fox of Dryden, Washington, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shepherd of Kallispell, Mont.

Sunday visitors in the Charles Gudmundsen home were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Olson of Spokane, and Gene Gudmundsen and family of Deary.

Mrs. Ed. Lord and children of Spokane were recent visitors here in the home of her brother, Otto Mekus and family. While they were there they also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mekus of Chewelah.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Baumgartner and children were in Lewiston, Saturday, on business.

PLAN ACTIVITIES ON LOWER BUDGET

Boise — The Idaho Wheat Commission has planned its 1960-61 budget on the basis that it will have a 25 percent loss in income because of frost, drought and disease damage to the state's wheat crop.

The commissioners, at their meeting this month, were notified by commission administrator Harold West that weather and striped rust had destroyed an estimated one-fourth of Idaho's wheat, the most valuable cash crop in the state. West noted that the loss would be reflected in wheat commission revenues which come from a levy on each bushel of wheat.

The commissioners determined, however, that all research, marketing and other projects for which funds have been committed could be carried on with the still anticipated revenues, and the fund balance carried forward from the past fiscal year.

The wheat commission and directors of the Idaho State Wheat Growers Association, in joint session, voted to continue full Idaho participation in the foreign marketing activities of the Western Wheat Associates.

The joint session also included planning for presentation of Idaho's opposition to a proposed rail rate reduction for wheat shipped from the mid-west to west coast ports for export. Idaho wheat growers contend the proposed rates would be "discriminatory" to the point where the long haul from the mid-west would cost less than the short haul from Idaho.

DO YOU KNOW

Maurice Stans, director of U. S. Bureau of Budget, who keeps count on $220 million a day Uncle Sam is spending to run the government, says the government is living on a credit card. It spends what it does not have, then borrows to pay its debts. Today, every citizen owes $1,625 which Uncle Sam spent for us. $5,000,000,000 has gone for public power projects, competing with private utilities. Is it really necessary for the government to play on the team as well as referee?

If your old furnace is ready for replacement, get the facts about economical, clean gas heat. Easy monthly terms. WWP will be glad to give a free estimate.

Communism is gaining in the Near East where 70% of known petroleum reserves are located. They gain in the Malay Straits, which have 90% of raw rubber production. They are gaining in Africa, Japan and in another 5 years will have control of 60% of world population. Communism means absolute control by the government. Don't you think we should call a halt to government control of private business in this country?

Total life insurance owned in U. S. in 1960, was $534,000,000. Americans who have an investment in life insurance number 115,000,000. The point we are making is this: Life insurance companies invest part of their capital in private electric utilities, and depend upon utility earnings for their success. That should make private utility operation important to all of us.

You let 30 to 60 gallons of water go down the drain each time you shower. You use 5 to 7 gallons each time you flush the toilet. The per capita consumption in 1960 is estimated at 150 gallons a day. We should be grateful for our good water.

BEAN GROWERS FACE NEW INSECT THREAT

U. of I., Moscow — Complete eradication of the Mexican bean beetle, new threat in the Jerome bean growing area, is the sole aim of entomologists working on the outbreak.

"Entomologists cleaned up the 1954 infestation of the beetle when it occurred west of Twin Falls, and we have had none of it since that time," declares Roland Portman, extension entomologist at the University of Idaho. "Because of the Jerome county agricultural agent's quick recognition of the pest and the fine cooperation of the Idaho and USDA entomologists who have converged on the area, there's every chance that eradication will be complete. If it can be accomplished for the second time, it will save Idaho's bean growers thousands of dollars and perhaps the industry itself. Growing beans in competition with the Mexican bean beetle is almost impossible once the insects have become well established."

Reports coming to Portman show the beetle is confined to back yard gardens within Jerome's city limits.

But the entomologist points out that the pest is fully winged and capable of traveling long distances to hibernation in the fall and back to the fields in the spring. For this reason such barriers as rivers and short stretches of desert land do not restrict its movements to an appreciable degree. Females of the species are capable of laying 500 eggs in a single season. In northern latitudes about one and one-half generations of the insect are produced each year, enough of the beetles to destroy Idaho's entire bean industry in five years time if left uncontrolled.

How the Mexican bean beetle reached the Jerome area is unknown, Portman says, but conjectures that it may well have come by way of packing material around furniture or other goods. Several other bean growing states are infested. It is possible that a single fertile female could have come in the radiator of an automobile or hitchhiked a ride by flying in the window as the vehicle passed through an infested area.

The beetle feeds on other plants as well as beans, but is known for its damage to beans, wherever it makes its home. The adult is about one-fourth inch long, copper colored, and with rounded back similar to the common Colorado potato beetle, but about half as long. Sixteen black spots give it a polkadot appearance. Larvae are orange-colored, from one-twentieth to one-third inch long and covered with branched spines that give them a fuzzv appearance.

The beetle's feeding habits are peculiar. Both the adult and the larvae scrape the soft covering from the under side of the leaf, squeeze the juice out of it, and then leave the solid material in "windrows" along the leaf. Adults sometimes cut through the upper side of the leaves, leaving a lace-work of dead or dying material that once was a green bean leaf.

The Mexican bean beetle is not without natural enemies, but none of these has been able to control infestations to a degree that makes it dependable. Among the beetle's parasites are the ladybird beetle or lady bug, the anchor bug, and the spined soldier bug. Some of its other natural enemies found in foreign lands do not find that country's climate suitable for habitation.

Several chemicals are effective against the Mexican bean beetle. Entomologists say eradication depends more on finding infestations and knocking them out before they can spread than on selection of the right chemical. Portman urges that farmers, gardeners, or residents having any kind of outdoor plants report without delay any unusual insects. County agents have been alerted to the danger.

ATTENTION FARMERS AND MOTORISTS —

NOW WE HAVE IT! A gasoline with Absolutely No SULFUR CONTENT!

Through a patented hydrogen process, all sulphur atoms are eliminated. This is something that the refining industry has been trying to do for years. NOW WE HAVE IT — and we have a patent on it.

What does this mean to you Mr. Farmer or Mr. Motorist? It means that with no sulphuric acid, your muffler should last the life-time of your car. It means also that "varnish" in motors is at last eliminated. It means no more sulphur contaminating your oil — and along with this it means better engine performance. If you buy Royal 76 you get over 100 octane.

This is the biggest news to hit the petroleum industry in years, and it is all yours — if you buy at the sign of the big 76!!

"So your girl friend jilted you when you told her about your rich uncle?"

"Yeah, she sure did. Now she's my aunt!"

Have you tried Royal Triton Motor Oil? If not, why not?

The only exercise some people get is jumping to conclusions; running down their friends; side-stepping responsibility, and pushing their luck!

Phone us at 4251 for all kinds of lubricants, motor oils, gasolines and diesel fuels. They're Union of course!
