RIDERS AT RODEO

Ray Howard, Juliaetta, was one of nine members of the Cayuse Riders of Calam Temple, of the Shrine, of Lewiston to perform in the Moses Lake annual parade and rodeo Saturday and Sunday.

WEATHER FINE

Residents of this area have been enjoying some of the finest fall weather that anyone could wish — with the thermometer reaching into the high 80's daily, and Sunday it recorded a high of 90 degrees. Monday was almost as warm, with a reading of 89 degrees.

Farmers have been taking the fullest advantage of this condition to push fall work. Bean cutting is in full swing, and in some cases, bean threshing. Clover and certain grasses are also being cut and threshed.

In the case of beans, the farmers are facing something of a dilemma — to cut and thresh now, and lose some due to green beans — or to wait and gamble on the weather for all of the crop.

The rains of last month caused, in many cases, a second growth or crop, the gave promise of being almost as good, if not as good, as the first growth. It's a big problem — some are cutting, some are gambling.

Many are "spot cutting" clover, the crop in general, having been damaged severely in the hot, dry weather of early August, blossoms falling to set, or "buds" being shriveled and dried.

FINAL RITES SAT. FOR EDWARD JONES

Final rites for Edward Jones, 16-year-old son of Mrs. Allie Jones, Kendrick, were held in the Kendrick Assembly of God Church Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock, with the Rev. H. L. Deweber, pastor, presiding.

Edward died Wednesday of injuries received in an automobile crash the preceding Monday evening.

EDWARD JONES

The church was packed to capacity and overflowing onto the sidewalk. The floral offerings, also, told of the many family friends. Organist was Dee Magnuson, a classmate, who played background music and accompanied vocalist Denny Abrams as he sang "Safe In The Arms of Jesus" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Active pall bearers were Larry Helton, Danny Westendahl, Clifford Osborn, Kenny Heffel, Bill Blewett and Jack Sherman. Honorary were Gary Pierce, Douglas Shepherd, Monte Lohman, Jerry Bateman, Freddy Foster, Gene Halen, Jack Nielson and Billy Thornton, all life-long friends or classmates of Edward. Interment was in Lewis-Clark Memorial Gardens, Lewiston, Idaho, by the side of his father, the late Henry Jones.

1943 at Kendrick, Idaho, and passed away September 7, 1960, at the St. Joseph's Hospital, Lewiston, Idaho. He was a junior in Kendrick High School.

Edward was president of the sophomore class both semesters last year. He took part in athletics, playing football, and served on the Student Council.

He took an active part in Boy Scouting, having received a Life Scout Award in 1958, being a member of Boy Scout Troop No. 149 for three and a half years, and had been a Cub Scout prior to that.

His hobbies were sports — hunting and fishing, and he also enjoyed the building of model sports cars.

 Says Roland Portman, extension entomologist at the University of Idaho, "Learning safe use of these chemicals has been as simple as learning to read labels on their containers. RUSSIANS NOT WELL INFORMED SAYS U. OF I. DEAN MARTIN

"How could you, an ally, do things like this to us?"
 vest or marketing time it is to be used, and at what strength it is to be used, Portman declares.
 "We get in trouble when we fail to read the instructions and understand them or when we 'read in' uses that are not there," he emphasizes. "If the label says a chemical is to be used on wheat and barley, use it on those crops and no others. Don't read into the instructions that you can use it on rye. You may find yourself in trouble with that crop if you do use it and your rye finds its way into the interstate commerce."

This sums up the Russian attitude over the U-2 incident as learned by Dean Boyd A. Martin of the University of Idaho College of Letters and Science who returned to the campus following an extensive tour of Europe and parts of Asia.
 In reply to the question about the U-2 from a young Russian, Dean Martin asked, "Don't you know that more than 300 of your people have been caught spying on us?"
 The disbelieving Russian replied, "If this were so, then why haven't you told the world about it?"
 So complete is the censorship in Russia that the people learn only what the state wishes them to know.
 "In talking with people behind the Iron Curtain, I would find them uninformed about events you and I take for granted," Dean Martin added.
 Although Krushchev repeatedly states that 25 per cent of the American tourists in the Soviet Union are spies, the Martins didn't meet a single unfriendly Russian.
 Dean Martin, Mrs. Martin, and their son Archie, traveled around the Continent in a small French car. Their son William, on duty with the U. S. Army in Germany, was able to join them on parts of the tour.
 If you think traveling in the U. S. is rugged, how would you like to be confronted with more than 100 ox-carts strung out ahead of you on the highway, or search for the lone gas pump in the city of Moscow (most of the cars there are state owned), or stay in towns which have no electricity or plumbing facilities or run out of gas 100 miles from the next station? These are a few of the incidents the Martins experienced.
 On the agenda were visits to universities along the route. Soviet universities appeared to be extremely well-equipped with expensive teaching aids, Dean Martin said.
 "There is a much higher degree of specialization than I had anticipated," he explained. "A physics student — for example — would study only physics. That is all."
 The tour began in France and swung through parts of Switzerland, Romania, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey, Bulgaria, Italy, Russia, Finland, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Holland and England.
 One of the main points of the tour was to see European rural life. This was accomplished by choosing routes not often taken by tourists.

The WEEKLY Handyman

By Don Burrowbridge, Director Thor Research Center for Better Farm Living

A rather common repair job around any building, with windows is replacing a broken pane. While not a difficult job, it can cause a little trouble, as it did for the reader who asked: "Is there any easy way to remove old putty around a window glass that must be replaced?"
 Answer: With one hand run a hot soldering iron along the putty to soften it. Chip off the putty

Run a hot soldering iron along the putty to soften it.
 in the wake of the iron with a chisel or jackknife held in the other hand. An electric soldering iron that retains heat a long time is best for this job.
 Chip off only a little putty at a time to avoid ripping off strips of wood. After removing old glass, glazier's points and all traces of old putty, cover all wood surfaces involved with linseed oil with an old paint brush.
 Q.—"After filing on soft metal, I notice that the file accumulates tiny shavings that are tough to clean off. How can I avoid this?"
 A.—"Before filing, run a candle or wax stick over the file. Afterwards, melt the wax off with a flame or torch and it will carry the filings along. Don't overheat the file."
 Q.—"I want to join two boards at the side edges to form an extra wide shelf, using dowels and glue. How can I mark the boards so the holes I drill for the dowels will line up perfectly?"
 A.—"Simplest way is to pick inexpensive 'dowel centers' at a hardware store, specially made for this purpose. Or else clamp the two boards together in a vise, all edges even, with the surfaces to be joined facing up. With a tri-square, mark lines across both boards. Then use a depth gauge to make cross lines on each board the same distance from edges. Make a hole where the lines meet with an awl to center the drill bit."

The WEEKLY Handyman

By Don Burrowbridge, Director Thor Research Center for Better Farm Living

Many handymen, seriously bitten by the do-it-yourself bug after working with manual tools, turn to power tools to do more work faster and with less elbow grease.

The power drill boasts the title of "first bought" power tool in most American home and farm workshops. The reason is that this tool is really a small power plant that can operate some 30 attachments to perform dozens of jobs.

The drill also is an inexpensive tool tutor. By trying out the economical drill for varied uses, the inexperienced handyman becomes familiar with tools he might need to best accomplish any project he tackles.

ELEPHANT BRAND FERTILIZER PAID FOR THIS CAR

This is not an exaggeration. By the proper and effective use of Elephant Brand fertilizer thousands of farmers have been able to make the money for something they wanted, such as a new car or new farm machinery.

With Elephant Brand fertilizer you grow bigger crops. Your cost of growing the crop is spread over more crop units (more bushels, bales, tons or pounds) so you grow each unit for less. Lower production cost per unit means you increase the difference between cost price and selling price — that difference is your profit.

Using Elephant Brand will mean more money for you in three ways: first, your better-grade crops bring higher prices; second, your bigger yields give you more to sell and third, you get a greater profit on each crop unit of whatever you grow.

GET A BIGGER PROFIT "SLICE"

WITHOUT FERTILIZER WITH FERTILIZER

Think of this "pie" as the money you get for every crop unit you grow. The darkened portion is your profit. Fertilizer helps you get a bigger profit "slice".

A power drill is "handiest" of all farm shop tools.

Just a few of the uses of the portable drill and accessories follow:

- Drilling in wood or steel. The primary application is making holes for screws. A drill of a quarter-inch capacity in metal will drill up to half-inch in wood.
- Grinding. You can sharpen knives, drill bits and other tools and finish metal work.
- Wire brushing. Remove tarnish, rust and peeling paint. Clean up pots and pans. Remove grease under cars to find repair spots.
- Sanding, buffing and polishing almost everything from furniture to silverware.
- Sawing wood or metal with rotary slitting saws, back-and-forth saber saws and tubular hole saws.

Half the fun of owning a drill is finding new applications for it. There are only a few important rules to follow. Heading the list is one that applies to any power tool—don't force it. Too much pressure actually slows work and can damage the tool. Keep bits and blades sharp.

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, here we are, with fall plowing staring us in the face — and you, Mr. Farmer, want to get it done in a hurry. So, when you think of diesel fuels and gasolines think of us. Call us at 4251 — and we'll be there in a hurry with Union Products.

"Why are you stopping?" she inquired as the car came to a halt on the country road.

"I've lost my bearings," her date replied.

"Well, at least you're original," said she, "most fellows run out of gas."

Have you tried the new Union Gasolines lately — 7600 and Royal 76? If not, why not come in for a tankful today. You'll like the get-up-and-go they give your car, pickup or truck.

"So your fourth daughter is getting married, eh Jock? You must be very pleased."

"Aye," responded the Scotch father of six girls, "but the confetti is becoming a bit soiled."

Let us lubricate your car, pickup or truck. Drive a squeak-free vehicle for a change!

Employee: "How about a raise, boss? I was married yesterday."

Sarcastic Boss: "Sorry, but I am not responsible for accidents outside the plant."

Teacher: "Your theme on 'Our Dog' is identical to that of your brother's."

Little Tommy: "Yes'm, I know — you see, it's the same dog."
