PLANS SHAPING RAPIDLY FOR BLOSSOM FESTIVAL

With the appearance this week of the big advertising posters for the Locust Blossom Festival at Kendrick on Saturday, May 27 — Queen candidates were announced by Kendrick High School as follows:

Faye Cowger, Southwick
Alice Wright, Southwick
Rona Armitage, Southwick
Judy Benscoter, Kendrick
Dee Magnuson, Kendrick
Sally Glenn, Kendrick
Ann Dagefoerde, Kendrick
Judy Clark and Irene Schmidt, both of Kendrick, and Junior Class members, are selling tickets, but are not queen candidates.

Purchase your ticket for the day from the Queen candidate of your choice.

Each ticket sold carries a section entitling the holder to one vote for the queen, which will crown at the Gymkana, to rule over it and the other activities of the day.

At a recent committee meeting it was decided that for families at the noon barbecue dinner, where all members did not hold tickets, the following prices would prevail — Toddlers, free Pre-school children, 25c; children through the sixth grade 50c; sixth grade through high school, adult price.

Plans for the Parade are advancing rapidly, says Bill White, parade chairman, and a convertible car will be the Queens "portable throne" during the proceedings. Almost to a dealer, Lewiston automobile dealers will have parade entries — and it is hoped to have several antique cars in the parade.

Bob Watts heads the Booth Coordinating committee, and any organizations desiring space on Kendrick's streets, see him.

Bob Magnuson is chairman of the Barbecue committee (one of the most important for the day), and says that plans are taking shape nicely. Ticket holders will be fed!

Dean Hollenbeck heads the Ticket Committee, anyone from out of town, not contacted by a Queen candidate, may write to Dean for tickets — at $1.00 for the day.

Elmer Stitzlein heads the Music committee.

Gordon Peters has charge of the Gymkana — and says that a real show "is rapidly taking shape." See him for information on this line.

Bill Rogers is the general chairman — and the whole community seems solidly behind this one big day — as almost every firm has pledged support. This day is an effort of the entire community — and should be one long remembered.

Biggest worry, as least publicly expressed about the entire celebration, is the fact that chill damp weather may hold back the blossoming of the big locust trees which line Kendrick's streets. Under normal conditions they should be in bloom — but will they?

RAIN, RAIN, MORE RAIN, IS WEATHER

Many things are being said about local weather, and most of it highly uncomplimentary — for everything has been in a soggy conditions for the past week, and no improvement can be noted as we go to press.

The days have been rainy, chilly and dreary, with only occasional brief periods of sunshine to break the monotony. Lawns are bright green (and most of them need mowing). Illacs are coming into full bloom, apple trees are blooming — but that's about all that can be said on the "credit side".

It's so soggy that even if the weather should change, it would be some days before farmers could go into the fields — and it's getting desperately late!

Loggers, too, have been completely stymied by the mud, and last week the Mead & Howard Sawmill at Kendrick was forced to close for lack of logs — the first time in its history! Ordinarily, say Jack Mead and Ray Howard, logs are coming in steadily at this time of the year, permitting full operation. The mill will resume as soon as the weather clears and loggers can bring in timber!

AREA STUDENTS WIN HONORS

U. of I., Moscow — Leonard Eldridge, Jr., a sophomore majoring in agriculture, from Kendrick, has been tapped for membership in Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity.

Kenneth Steiger, a junior in the college of agriculture from Juliaetta, is one of 40 students who earned straight A grades in all his first semester classes while carrying 14 or more credit hours.

BIDS ACCEPTED

Boise — Bids for reconditioning and constructing an asphalt treated base and plant mix bituminous surfacing on 10.025 miles of S. H. 8, Deary - Bovill, in Latah county have been opened.

Apparent low bidder of the two bids received was Inland Asphalt Co., Spokane, Wash., with an offer for $368,890.50.

LIONS CLUB HOLDS ELECTION WED.

The Kendrick Community Lions Club met Wednesday evening of last week in the Fire Hall, where, following a delicious baked spare-rib dinner served by the School Hot Lunch cooks, a strictly business session was held.

Leading off in the business line was election of officers, with results as follows:

Dean Hollenbeck, president; Bob Watts, first vice president; Bob Magnuson, second vice president; Luther Parks, third vice president; Tail Twister, Dennis Racicot; Lion Tamer, Tom Cox; one-year director, Andy Cox; Dick Benjamin, secretary-treasurer; Robert Meserve, two-year director.

These new officers will take over the second meeting in June.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to business, primarily that of the coming Locust Blossom Festival.

Leading in this department was a discussion of a reserves section for "Old Timers" at the barbecue and concert in the village park at noon.

Committee heads gave reports, with one new one announced — that is: Bob Watts, as co-ordinator of Booths. Permission for this having been given by the village, any person or organization wishing to operate a booth on the streets, should see Bob Watts at their earliest opportunity, for location and/or fee.

STORES TO CLOSE

It has been announced by Kendrick merchants that local stores will be closed on Monday, May 29, preceding Memorial Day, which falls on Tuesday, May 30th.

It was felt that there would be very little traffic on Monday, following as it does Kendrick's Locust Blossom Festival on Saturday. The three-day holiday thus provided will permit a bit of relaxation for the local merchants. We understand that other communities throughout this area are planning similar closures.

MOTHER'S DAY

Again it's Mother's Day, as memories waken
And drift again to me across the years;
To bring my lonely heart — so long forsaken
Remembrances to banish all my fears —

Along the old rail fence the birds are singing
As my heart takes that well-remembered trail;
While calling folks to church the bells are ringing
They're ringing from the chapel in the vale —

I close my eyes as hand in hand we wander
Where April lingered in the lap of May;
While apple-blossom-petals fall I ponder
The debt of love I owe to you today.

— Bert Gamble.

Wednesday morning Kendrick gasoline dealers were busy painting signs and re-setting pump price indicators, to show that the community is going into the price war the originated in Spokane some months ago.

Gasoline prices were listed at 25.9 for regular and 29.9 for ethyl.

The Kendrick dealers had not been included in the price cutting, but one local station dropped prices 4 cents, and "Bang!" the war was on!! The local dealers had felt that the "slash" was a thing to come, as Troy and Deary dealers had been selling their products at reduced prices for some time.

Route deliveries will be made at the same price for gasoline as it is at the pumps: 25.9 for regular and 29.9 for ethyl.

Informative Briefs
 Idaho farmers used 15 percent more commercial fertilizer last year than they did in 1959. The estimate of the increase is based on 150,000 tons registered for use in 1960. Total value of the fertilizer was about $14 million.
 Seed of two new disease resistant dry bean varieties has been released by the department of agriculture. Michelite-62 is a selection from foundation seed grown in Idaho. The other, Saginaw, was developed in Michigan.
 National Farm Safety Week will be July 23-29. The Idaho farm safety committee will arrange program emphasizing safety with farm machinery and improvement of rural traffic safety.
 Remember, keep chicken houses clean and dry. These conditions will mean improved poultry income.

Don't Handle The "Babes In The Woods"

The Idaho State Fish and Game Department this week issued its annual admonition that it is unlawful to pick up wildlife "babes in the woods" and handle them or take them home. This latter can lead to citation for illegal possession of game. Besides, it's dangerous to pick up cub bear, fawn deer, calf elk or moose, because the parents do not take kindly to anyone molesting their babies — and wildlife babies never can be returned to their natural habitat successfully, once they become dependent on human care. Observation of the simple rule of "look but do not disturb" can mean safety for you.

 KENDRICK BAKERY & LUNCH

WHEN A SALE IS REALLY A SALE

When is a sale a "bargain"? Too often we buy on impulse a sale item we can't use yet at a price we can't resist.
 To be an efficient bargain hunter and get the most for your money, take care in planning your spending. A true bargain is described by Mrs. Ruth Shane, extension home agent, as something you can use, have a desire for and can afford.

Learn to read ads carefully to find good buys. Look for facts on the kind of merchandise, and price including taxes, delivery, service and installation.
 Beware of misleading claims and such words as "value", "worth", "price in other stores", "should sell for", "certified value", "now only", "below cost", and "list price". Generally you can trust ads that list "our regular price", or "our usual price" along with the sale price.

 Look out for "bait" ads. They generally have a product or service at a ridiculously low price. Upon investigation, the salesman tells you he has sold out the advertised item and shows you a more expensive model. If [This happens when you follow up an ad, forget the whole deal.
 Shoppers who refuse to go to the bargain basement out of pride are behind times. A shopper, willing to rummage through the basement, may end up with the best bargain in the whole store.

have an interest in barley, oats, rye, corn or grain sorghums in 1961:

"If any producer, either landlord or tenant, has an interest in any of the above feed grains and wants to be eligible for price support on any feed grain on one farm, he must meet the requirements of reducing corn or grain sorghum acreage at least 20 percent from his base on any other farm in the United States, in which he might have an interest.

"For example: John Jones has a farm in Latah County, Idaho, on which he is producing barley in 1961. He also owns a farm in Iowa on which he gets 1/3 of the corn produced on said farm. If the operator on Jones' farm in Iowa does not reduce his corn by at least 20 percent from the average of 1959 and 1960, Jones is not eligible for a loan on his barley produced in Latah county in 1961.

"Also, if a producer who has no history of corn or grain sorghum in 1959 or 1960, produces any field corn or grain sorghums for any purpose in 1961, he is not eligible for price support on any feed grain — that is, barley, oats, rye, corn or grain sorghum."

A workshop accessory that experienced handymen have been raving about may be what your workshop needs. It is a small (5½" x 7½") steel plate which converts a portable electric jig saw into a stationary tool.

There have been special tables marketed for this purpose in the past, but these presented certain problems. They often crept unless permanently anchored. And if you wanted to anchor them, it often was necessary to build a table lower than your bench top because the added height of these old-style jig saw tables made the saw difficult to use on the workbench.

Steel plate converts portable jig into stationary tool.

The small plate can be permanently attached to your workbench at the same level as the bench top and, if you choose, the portable jig saw can be left in an inverted position, to be removed from this arrangement only when it is necessary to use the saber saw away from the bench.

Because the plate is fastened to your workbench, maneuverability is far greater than the more expensive stationary jig saws with steel working surfaces. This is because your entire workbench becomes a working surface for the material being cut by the jig saw.

If a portable jig saw is not present among your tools, it will be worth your while to investigate this versatile piece of equipment. The jig saw can do many things the standard circular saw cannot—make intricate scroll cuts and circular cuts, start its own hole, tackle straight and angle cutting in most materials with ease.

In fact, the portable electric jig saw is rapidly becoming the home handyman's No. 2 tool behind the electric drill. Some day it probably will be called a must for the home shop as the drill is today!

MORE FERTILIZER USED EACH YEAR

U. of I., Moscow — About 15 percent more commercial fertilizer was registered for sale in Idaho last year than in 1959, according to a summary by Charles Painter, soils specialist of the University of Idaho Extension service. His report is based on figures compiled by the Idaho State Department of Agriculture.

Slightly more than 150,000 tons of commercial fertilizers were registered for use in Idaho in 1960. This is an increase over 1959 of about 19,000 tons. The figures are for fertilizers on which tonnage tax was paid. Leland Fife, director of plant industry, said they do not necessarily show farm use but amount registered for sale. Total value of the 1960 fertilizer was about $14 million.

About 80 percent of the materials were dry carriers, and 20 percent liquid, Painter's summary said. Nearly 43 percent were listed as straight nitrogen carriers, 19 percent straight phosphorus carriers, less than one percent straight potash carriers, 26 percent nitrogen and phosphorus carriers, two percent nitrogen, phosphorus and potash carriers, and nine percent miscellaneous such as gypsum, iron sulphate and soil conditioners.

In comparing 1960 and 1959 figures, Painter noted a slight increase in liquid carriers, more tonnage of straight phosphorus carriers, greater tonnage of nitrogen and phosphorus combinations, and a slight increase in three-way fertilizers containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium.

IDAHO ON ITS "OWN FEET"

Wash., D. C. — U. S. Senator Henry Dworshak has recommended to the "growing legion of federal paternalistic planners in Washington, D. C.," that they "read and heed" a resolution relating to the creation of new jobs in Idaho.

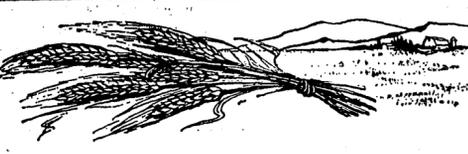

On the Senate floor Senator Dworshak read the Idaho legislative resolution calling for governmental action that would create the best possible opportunity for business expansion. He complimented the legislators of Idaho for their action.

"Faced with the challenge of providing employment for new people coming into Idaho every year, Democrats and Republicans alike in the legislature recognized that Idaho competes with other states for product markets. In their deliberations they did not turn, as is now the vogue, to the federal government for preferential treatment of federal treasury doles. Instead they adopted unanimously a resolution that promises among other things fair legislative treatment for business, equitable tax policies, and fair decisions for all labor-management relations.

"I am proud of the legislators of my state for this action. This sort of an awareness of the factors that encourage or discourage business and industry will be beneficial to Idaho.

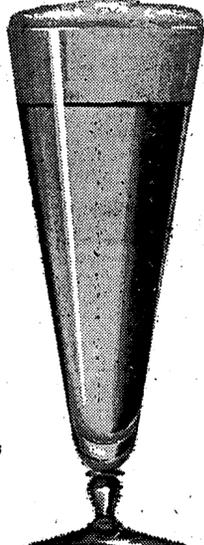

"Only when there is recognition of what high taxes and punitive laws and regulations can do to retard development, can the forces of progress make real headway. The actions and intentions of the Idaho legislators should have a good effect upon improvement of the business climate of our state."

A GLASS OF BEER Means Many Things

INCREASED AGRICULTURAL INCOME

There's more to a glass of beer than the well known satisfaction and cheerful pleasure you get from the golden beverage of moderation. The brewing industry annually buys more than $250 million worth of farm products. These crops come from almost every state in the union; hops, malting barley, corn, sugar, rice and other farm products. The brewing industry is proud of the substantial part it plays in increasing the market for the products of American agriculture.

SURE I MADE IT! says Miss 4-H'er. And she can make many more goodies guaranteed to please any young male's appetite—and female, too. She's learning all about foods and nutrition in a 4-H Club project of the same name.

At least three-quarter million 4-H Club members are participating in the project this year which has a new name and a new awards sponsor. It's called the 4-H Foods-Nutrition program and offers incentive awards for best project achievement at county, state and national levels, the National 4-H Service Committee has announced. The new awards donor is General Foods Corporation of White Plains, N. Y. While local 4-H support is already established in some areas by GF people, the foods program marks the firm's first national 4-H educational program sponsorship.

The Cooperative Extension Service supervises the work done in fulfilling the program's eight objectives. Local volunteer leaders teach the young cooks. Beginners start a project with simple, familiar things such as listing what they like to eat, what they don't like, and foods they've never tasted. They apply the same technique to cooking know-how, and try to enlarge and improve both areas. The more advanced members practice meal planning, cooking, serving and efficient shopping, the Extension Service reports.

Outdoor cooking and party fare, and the three-meals-a-day routine are examined and explored, making the entire project an exciting experience. The member who does the best job will be named state winner, and will be a delegate to the 40th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next fall. All expenses will be paid for by General Foods.

National $400 college scholarships are awaiting the six highest scoring individuals selected from all state winners.

ON FAST TIME

Lewiston — The Lewiston Social Security office will be on Daylight Savings time for the remainder of the summer, James Myers, district manager, announced Friday.

The various points serviced by this office (Moscow, Orofino, Kamiah and Grangeville, Idaho), will be opened one hour earlier, due to the change in time. Economy, Wash., will be on Daylight Savings time, so there will be no change in that hour, according to Mr. Myers.

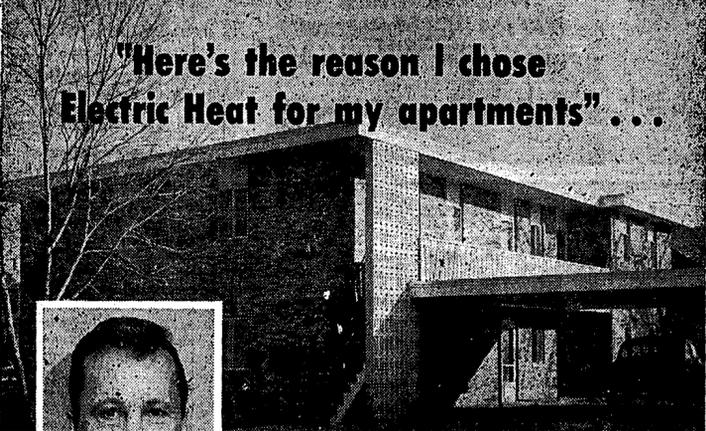

Anyone seeking Social Security information or wishing to file a claim should note the change in time.

Q. Whenever I read through plans suggesting the proper way to tackle a workshop project, I am amazed by the many types of bolts and screws that exist. Could you tell me when a Phillips-type head should be used and just what the different types of heads look like?

A. The Phillips or recessed type of head is commonly found in the construction of radios, television sets, automobiles, and other commercial products for numerous reasons, two being their adaptability to use with electric tools and their neat appearance. The Phillips-type also is less likely to be tampered with.

Most common type of fastener heads found on screws and bolts.

Basically, Phillips-type can be used wherever the standard slot-type fastener head is used. It is particularly suitable for jobs requiring flat-head screws or bolts that must be countersunk. Your hardware dealer can help you select the right bolts and screws for a given job.

Another type with particular purpose is the hexagon-head fastener, used when it is necessary to loosen or tighten with power tools or wrenches at the time of construction or in the future.

These reproductions of fastener heads should help you identify the variety of screw and bolt heads:

- Square head (chamfered)
- Oval head (slotted)
- Flat head (slotted)
- Round head (slotted)
- Flat head (Phillips recessed)
- Truss head (square shoulder)
- Hexagon head (chamfered)
- Phillips head (slotted)
- Truss head (plain or slotted)

HELLO, FOLKS:

You know, we've been wrong about spring coming so many times in this ad, that we're not going to say any more about — just boost our Union Products — because we know they're best! And you will too, when you try them.

A woman was visiting the state employment bureau in an attempt to find employment. She explained that her husband had been in an automobile wreck and suffered "conclusion of the brain."

"Don't you mean 'concussion'?" inquired the state official.

"No, sir," was the emphatic reply, "I mean 'conclusion'. He's dead."

You can't beat Union Oil Co. Products. They're designed to give you the ultimate in performance and satisfaction.

He was of a thrifty turn of mind, and one day he was told that instead of putting money in the gas meter, much the same effect could be obtained by blowing into the slot. He tried the experiment with gratifying results.

At length an inspector from the gas company called to examine the meter. He was puzzled: "What's the matter?" asked the householder.

"I can't understand it," said the inspector. "The company appears to owe you $30.00!"

Let us grease and completely service your car, pickup or truck. A thorough grease job means a squeak-free drive — and that's mighty pleasant driving.
