"The Only Thing Left on This Place Is An Appetite!"

-FELIX SUMMERS-

Soil Conservation Society of America

The crows are happy for they eat insects — but what about the scrub cow and one blade of grass? Regardless of the cause — drought, destructive farming practices, wind or water erosion — a great improvement can be made by the adoption of proper land use practices. Your local soil conservation district is organized under state law to help you do this now!

J. EDGAR HOOVER SPEAKS OF CRIME

Washington, D. C. — To All Law Enforcement Officials: Nothing discourages and disheartens law enforcement officers more than the knowledge that their efforts in apprehending criminals are too often no more than useless expenditures of time and money — useless because unwarranted leniency makes a mockery of good police work.

Assuredly, we must continually strive to rehabilitate those persons who have strayed from lawful ways. On the other hand, consideration must be given to protecting society by isolating depraved individuals who have no respect for law and order or the rights of others. The scales of justice must be balanced.

Certainly, the principles of parole, probation, and other rehabilitative measures are good, but maladministration can nullify their worthwhile aspects. Conscientious, hard working parole and probation officers, frequently underpaid and seldom able to discharge the heavy burdens that are placed upon them by the archaic clemency systems still existing in some areas, are just not equipped to cope with the ever-expanding caseloads. Adding to their dilemma are some misinformed and misguided jurists and an apathetic citizenry who cause and condone the release of hardened criminals, who gloatingly accept society's softness and repay it in the coin of treachery.

The realm of vice, which is the breeding ground for crimes of greater violence, is winked at in far too many instances. A recent preliminary survey on courts in a large city revealed, for example, that of almost 30,000 individuals arrested for lottery, numbers racket, gambling, bookmaking, prostitution, and operating a disorderly house, 73 percent were discharged by magistrates! Out of well over 800 gamblers who pleaded guilty, only 12 percent ever went to jail! Fifty-eight percent were ordered to pay fines or costs — which have been correctly described as nothing more than license fees for gamblers. Two hundred and fifty others were given suspended sentences or placed on probation.

When vice, the very fountainhead of crime, is treated lightly, it is not difficult to understand why criminals do not fear the "wrath" of some of this nation's courts. Inveterate criminals, who prey on honest men and still escape punishment are encouraged in their disdain for law and go on to commit depredations of even more heinous proportions.

America is not a vengeful land, it is not a cruel land; but certainly something must be done to make it an internally peaceful land. Crime in 1960 rose 12 percent over the previous year, and in the first quarter of 1961 our country appears headed for a new all-time high annual record. The first part of this year shows an increase of 10 percent in crime in American cities, with a 9 percent jump in murders, a 2 percent rise in forcible rapes, and a 3 percent increase in aggravated assaults.

Between March, 1950, and June, 1961, there have been 154 individuals on the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" list. Of this number, 130 previously received either suspended sentences, parole, or probation. The leniency granted these vicious criminals resulted in untold suffering by their innocent victims.

For a peaceful and wholesome society, it is imperative that the rights of law-abiding citizens be given at least the same respect and consideration as the rights of lawbreakers. We can never hope to see crime abate until the perpetrators of evil deeds are taught the full meaning of the old adage, "Crime doesn't pay." Such a lesson can not be taught by words alone; only stern action in our courts, involving a philosophy of making the punishment fit the crime, and realistic administration of rehabilitation measures can force back the criminal plague. — J. Edgar Hoover.

AGRICULTURAL PROJECT HARVEST

Chicago — The 1961 crop of winners in the national 4-H Agricultural Project is literally ready for harvesting. And judging from last year's yield, the crop should be one of the best, according to the National 4-H Service Committee, which recently released a report on the 1960 results.
This 4-H program, which embraces farm management, livestock, crops and equipment, is offered to boys and girls. Based on a record enrollment this past year, the 1961 participation should reach the million mark.
Up until 1960, the program had been only for boys between the ages of 10 and 21. Then the Cooperative Extension Service which directs the 4-H work, and International Harvester, donor of the agricultural awards, extended the enrollment to include the fairer sex.
And their judgment was well founded, because one of the six national scholarship winners last year was an 18 year-old miss from Larimer county, Colorado. She and three other girls also won state honors.
Club members in 50 states and in Puerto Rico are engaged in the project, built around eight specific goals set up by the Extension Service. Besides the practical lessons learned, the youthful farmers develop leadership ability and practice good citizenship. They keep informed, too, of the opportunities afforded in farming as a lifetime career and in the many facets of agricultural business.
The awards now include medals for local winners, paid trips to the big national congress for all state winners, and six national scholarships of $400.00 each.
The highest number of 4-Hers ever to receive the county agricultural medal was reported last year. The number reached 7,104 compared to 2,274 in 1955.

4-H'ERS HAVE FUN

Chicago — It's just as important to use leisure time productively as it is to make the most of hours spent on the job or in school, say Extension recreation specialists. Those who are working with 4-H youth and volunteer 4-H Club leaders are striving for a recreation program that will educate members and leaders in profitable use of extra time.
At a meeting held recently at the National 4-H Club's service committee headquarters in Chicago, plans were made to broaden the scope of the national 4-H recreation program.
The 4-H recreational specialist of Michigan State University, Arden Peterson, was among those attending the Chicago meeting.
"We have tried to spell out specific areas of participation for both adults and youth," he said. Examples of things to do have been classified into six areas: Social, performing arts, community service, arts and crafts, outdoor recreation and literature," he revealed.
Another nationally known recreationist, E. H. (Duke) Ragnier, extension specialist in Illinois, took part in the sessions. Mr. Ragnier has just completed a survey on recreation education in the extension programs soon to be published.
He points out that through the 4-H program, boys and girls are being coached in recreational work so that they in turn can "serve as resources people to train other 4-Hers and become leaders in their own communities." They actually learn how to have fun.

WORK BEGINS ON HUGE DAM

Armed with drilling rigs and blasting powder, workmen are driving a modern access road toward this rugged site in mile-deep Hells Canyon, where Idaho Power Company will build its Hells Canyon Dam. Work on the pioneer road leading into North America's deepest gorge began July 27, officially launching construction of the final huge project in the three-dam, 1-million kilowatt development started by Idaho Power in 1955.

Hells Canyon Dam, indicated by white outline on this aerial photo, will be a 320-foot high concrete gravity structure capable of generating 400,000 kilowatts of electricity. Its construction is expected to be one of the most challenging projects in dam building history, due to the narrow canyon's steep terrain.

The access road construction — the first step in the Hells Canyon project — will be a major task in itself as workmen push the two-lane route some 23 miles downstream in rocky mountainsides high above the Snake river. The road begins at a new bridge now being built across the Snake near the company's Oxbow Dam, to replace the existing outmoded Ballard Interstate bridge.

HUGE ADDITION TO S. U. B. PLANNED AT U. OF I.

U. of I., Moscow — Construction plans for a $1,725,000 addition to the University of Idaho Student Union building have been announced.

"The new construction, which will nearly double the size of the present building, will satisfy different types of needs of our students and others using the building," said Charles O. Decker, dean of students. "Demand for facilities at present necessitates turning away many groups. The new addition was designed with an enrollment of 5,500 to 6,000 students in mind."

Total cost of the project, to be paid for with student fees, will be $2,113,800. This includes $1,725,000 for the addition, $142,000 for movable equipment; $240,000 for the call of the present bonds, and $6,800 for miscellaneous expense. Architects are Dropping, Kelley & Finch of Boise.

It is planned that the project will get under way in September of this year. It will encompass construction of the addition, renovating the existing building and razing and rebuilding the Bookstore. December of 1962 is the completion date of the addition, at which time work will start on the renovation of the existing building. It is to be complete in the fall of 1963. Work will begin on the Bookstore in April of 1963. Bookstore operations will move to the basement of the Student Union building to continue service to the students during construction.

To finance the project, student fees will be raised $12.50 per semester, which will go directly to the Student Union for building and operation. Total fees will be $77.00 per semester, starting in September of 1961, as compared with the present $64.50 per semester.

Many new features will be included in the building, said Gale Mix, associated students general manager. The basement will have space for the Argonaut, student newspaper, arts and crafts, dark room, TV room, an area for dancing, four new bowling alleys, a billiard room and table tennis area.

The first floor will have a large lobby complete with information booth, large lounge with an adjoining covered terrace, a music listening room, conference room, and ASUI and alumni offices. The renovated area will feature a new snack bar, small cafeteria and small dining room.

On the second floor will be a large ballroom which can be divided by movable curtain walls into smaller units. The existing building will have a lounge area, banquet areas and meeting rooms. Banquet rooms will be located where the present middle ballroom now stands. The third floor will stay the same.

SPIDERS, SPIDERS!

This area has always been quite a haunt for spiders, their webs being a common-place sight.

However, the hot, dry weather of the past several weeks has evidently been more to their liking than usual, for there are spider webs everywhere! They festoon trees, shrubs, lawns, flowers, building front, window corners — in short, you find a spot — and there's a spider web!

A Service of Thor Research Center
For Better Farm Living

A reader who is building an office within his workshop to serve as farm "headquarters" has requested plans for a two-drawer file cabinet.

The plans for just such a cabinet are included in the Research Center's model office arrangement, which also includes a desk, typing table and small book case.

The file cabinet is 15 inches wide, 28 inches long and 30 inches deep, utilizing common 1x2's in the framework and 3/4-inch plywood in outer construction. The entire assembly can be completed over a weekend with the aid of such standby portable tools as the electric saw, drill and sander.

(Free illustrated instructions for this cabinet may be obtained by writing to the Thor Research Center, 175 N. State St., Aurora, Ill., and asking for Plan FC202.)

From the mailbox:
Q. Should I use sandpaper or steel wool to smooth woodwork and doors when preparing them for water-lok?

A. Do not use steel wool too freely, because it invariably leaves steel particles on the surface and thus tends to harm a good finishing job no matter how carefully the wood is cleaned after using the abrasive.

MUSIC GIFTS MADE

U. of I. Moscow - The purchase of a harpsichord with funds from the estate of a former University of Idaho music graduate will make available a new dimension in music for students and faculty of the department of music this fall, according to Hall M. Macklin, department head.

Charlotte M. Works, formerly of Kamiah, and recipient of a bachelor's degree in music in 1918, named the department of music as a beneficiary in her will, which was recently probated in San Mateo, Calif.

"The harpsichord purchased with the funds will be used for keyboard instructional purposes and as a concert instrument," said Macklin. "Thus a whole new era of music from certain periods, especially the 16th and 17th centuries, becomes available to us with the acquisition of this memorial instrument. It will be featured prominently in the Vandalier Christmas Candlelight Concert this year."

"We are gratified that this former student of the university saw fit to recognize her training at her alma mater in this manner," added Prof.
Macklin.

KENDRICK GAZETTE

THE Bull itin

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS:

We want you to come in and see the new Union Minuteman Tire — a tire made for today's high speed travel — combined with real safety — and yet low in cost. To see it is to want it. Yes, we trade! Try us!

Two men, completely disrobed except for brief surgical gowns, sat in a doctor's office.

"I only want to have my eyes examined," one complained.

"That's nothing," the other replied. "I came to read the meter!"

How about that lubrication job? How long is it past due? And that oil change, too. Better bring in that car, pickup or truck today — and let us service it from end to end. We use the correct lubricant for every spot — and recommend Royal Triton Motor Oil for the crankcase!

The real estate salesman asked his boss if he could refund the money to an irate customer, who had discovered that the lot he bought was under water.

"What kind of a salesman are you?" demanded the boss. "Go out there and sell him a motor boat!"

Try Union Lubricants on those "hard-to-hold-grease" spots — we believe you'll like it!

The telephone rang in the real estate office and a soft female voice asked, "Do you sell maternity clothes?" Without hesitation the salesman replied: "No, madam, but couldn't we interest you in a larger house?"
