MEET THE TEACHERS OF JOINT DISTRICT 283

EDITORS NOTE: The following article is the fourth in a series which is designed to acquaint the people of Joint School District No. 283 with the teachers of the district, in a brief resume of their work and their educational qualifications. The series is slated to cover all of the teachers now employed by the district.

GEORGE HENRY MERRICK
Junior High School Principal

Mr. Merrick was born in Mount Pleasant, Utah, and attended grade school in Farnum Idaho, in the southern part of the state. After completing grade school, he attended and graduated from Ashton High School, Ashton, Idaho where George was an outstanding athlete.

After high school, Mr. Merrick attended Ricks College on an athletic scholarship. Ricks College had a good team and George Merrick was their first string quarterback. That spring he also was their star miler. He attended Ricks one year and then laid out a year and then entered the University of Idaho where he received his Bachelors of Science Degree in education in 1929. After receiving his degree he taught school for a while and he also farmed. George was a good farmer and at one time he had 1800 head of sheep and at the time he sold his farm to go back into teaching he had 100 head of cattle and 108 sheep.

In 1955 George Merrick received his Master of Science degree in education from the University of Idaho. He has also completed work at Idaho Tech, we call it now Idaho State College at Pocatello, Idaho.

Mr. Merrick married Doris Wright in 1928 and they have three children, Harry, Marianne and John. John Merrick is a graduate of Kendrick High School. He is now teacher at Genesee, Idaho.

George is a very good fisherman and it is not a bit uncommon to see him fishing anywhere in the state of Idaho. One of his favorite places is in the Clearwater River. Second to fishing comes travel. In the summer time and on weekends, Mr. and Mrs. Merrick take a number of visits and short trips.

Mr. Merrick teaches in the Kendrick Junior High School and is also the Junior High Principal. Besides his teaching duties he coaches Junior High School basketball and track. George has been in Kendrick since 1954.

Mr. Merrick is a member of the Kendrick Lions Club and Phi Delta Kappa.

We take this opportunity to salute George Merrick for his devoted effort in the field of education and his exceptional ability as a school teacher.

Committal services were held on Tuesday at Orofino. The family has suggested memorials may be sent to the Clearwater Valley Memorial Fund.

JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

To open their season, the Kendrick Junior High Kittens traveled to Genesee to play a double-header basketball game Friday afternoon.

The seventh grade, using a full-floor press, brought home a victory of 25 to 13. They also did very well on the back boards.

The eighth grade did not do so well, being defeated 20 to 17. Genesee did very well on set shots — but the score was tied three times during the course of play.

Both teams displayed good sportsmanship and enjoyed good support from the spectators.

The next game scheduled for Kendrick will be Friday, when the team will accompany the High school to Elk River, to play the opener of the evening.

RIDGE RIDERS CARD PARTY

The Ridge Riders Saddle Club is holding a card party on Friday, Jan. 12 at 7:30 p. m. in the Leland school. The public is invited. There will be games for the children. Please bring table and cards.

RAIN AND SNOW NECESSARY ITEMS

Boise — Fish and Game department engineers Ivol E. Sies, state improvements supervisor (right) and Frank Lanham, engineer in charge, check blueprints with spillway of the nearly completed Spring Valley dam near Troy in background. Rain and snow, which seriously hampered construction all fall, now are wanted so that spring run-off waters will fill the 50-acre reservoir next year. This will be stocked with game fish and used for angling and other recreational purposes. Estimated cost is in the neighborhood of $96,500.00.

REAL WEST CAN BE FOUND IN IDAHO

Boise — The Department of Commerce and Development's 1962 tourist ads will plug the idea that vacationers can still find the "Real West" in Idaho.

Louise Shadduck, secretary, says the new ads, which will appear in national magazines, metropolitan newspapers and on billboards will carry the theme, "The Real West is Still Here." Miss Shadduck says a lot of western states have been publicizing their cities and amusement centers, but almost neglecting their scenery and natural wonders.

"We know that one of Idaho's greatest selling points is its rugged outdoors," she says. "We want vacationers throughout the country to know that they can still find true western conditions in Idaho."

The news ads were approved by the department's advisory council in Boise last month. The group okayed the spending of $73,333 for tourist promotion activities. Miss Shadduck says most of the money will go for advertising costs. Ads will be placed in seven national and three regional magazines during March and April at a cost of $29,000. The total circulation of the magazines that will carry Idaho ads amounts to more than 12,000,000, she says. Other spending will be for newspaper ads and billboards. Most of the billboards will be in west coast and western cities.

Miss Shadduck says most of the magazine ads will be printed in two colors. "This is the third year that we've budgeted enough funds to pay for two-color ads," she said. "In previous years we bought only black and white, but to compete with other states we've got to have colorful ads," she points out.

FARM PRODUCTION COST EDGE UPWARD

Farm production expenses crept up during 1960 and 1961, but not nearly as much as they have in past years, according to Homer Futter, Extension Agriculture Agent, in Latah County. Production expenses in general for the U. S. as a whole in 1961 were only one-half percent above 1960 as compared to the annual average increase of around 4 percent during the period 1954 to 1960.

A major factor in the upward trend in recent years has been that farmers have been purchasing a larger and larger share of the items used in production. More important, prices of manufactured items used in farm production has risen further than other production items.

The largest price increases, in 1961 were those of farm machinery, seed, and wage rates, which were up more than 2 percent from 1960. Prices of fertilizer and motor supplies, were only slightly higher than in 1960, while prices of building and fencing materials, feeder and stocker livestock, and motor vehicles were down slightly. Prices of pesticides and feed were essentially unchanged from a year earlier. Among the overhead costs, taxes and insurance contin-

Fish and Game department men (above) are installing a large barrier net in Magic reservoir north of Shoshone in an attempt to prevent fish from migrating out of impoundment because of low water conditions.

The net, 285 feet long and 25 feet deep, was put in place last July in front of reservoir outlet gates, following a decision of the irrigation company to drain the reservoir.

The big net was used as a seine in the pool below the dam to salvage some 1,300 trout.

ded their upward climb while interest charges declined slightly. Taxes on farm real estate in 1960 (payable largely in 1961), increased 6 percent over 1959. Advance reports from 1961 levies indicate another increase of about 6 percent. Taxes on farm personal property have also been rising slightly.

A further rise is expected in farm production costs in 1962 because of higher prices of non-farm produced items and high overhead costs (taxes, interest and insurance). Government economists expect only a moderate rise in farm production in 1962. However, Homer Futter points out that the general business situation and the round of wage increases granted in industry last summer suggests that prices of manufactured items that farmers use in production could easily reach the 4 to 5 percent upward trend that has prevailed since World War II.

For plucky Stevie Vardol, 10, life much of the time is just an unhappy succession of giving samples of his body to science.

But Stevie, who would rather be swimming and roller skating in Minneapolis (if he only could) than spending endless hours in the Children's Rheumatic Clinic of the University of Minnesota Medical School, doesn't feel sorry for himself. He knows he is doing a job that must be done; that the doctors' appraisal of the tissue samples from his swollen knees, specimens of knee-joint fluid, and of his blood may in time prevent in other children the affliction that befell him three painful years ago.

Stevie has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis in the knees, hands, wrists. Throughout the nation, another 30,000 Stevies—or their small sisters—also suffer each year from this excruciating disease. With March of Dimes funds, The National Foundation (which made possible development of the Salk polio vaccine) is today supporting the University of Minnesota's Children's Rheumatism Clinic with a research grant. Other arthritis research projects are under way at the Rockefeller Institute, at New York University, the University of Buffalo and at other famed scientific institutions, all financed by the March of Dimes.

Additionally, The National Foundation has established arthritis study centers at Columbia University, the University of Rochester (N. Y.), the University of Texas at Dallas and the University of California at San Francisco. The doctors confidently tell Stevie they will solve the enigma of rheumatoid arthritis

J. EDGAR HOOVER DISCUSSES CRIME AND ITS PROBLEMS

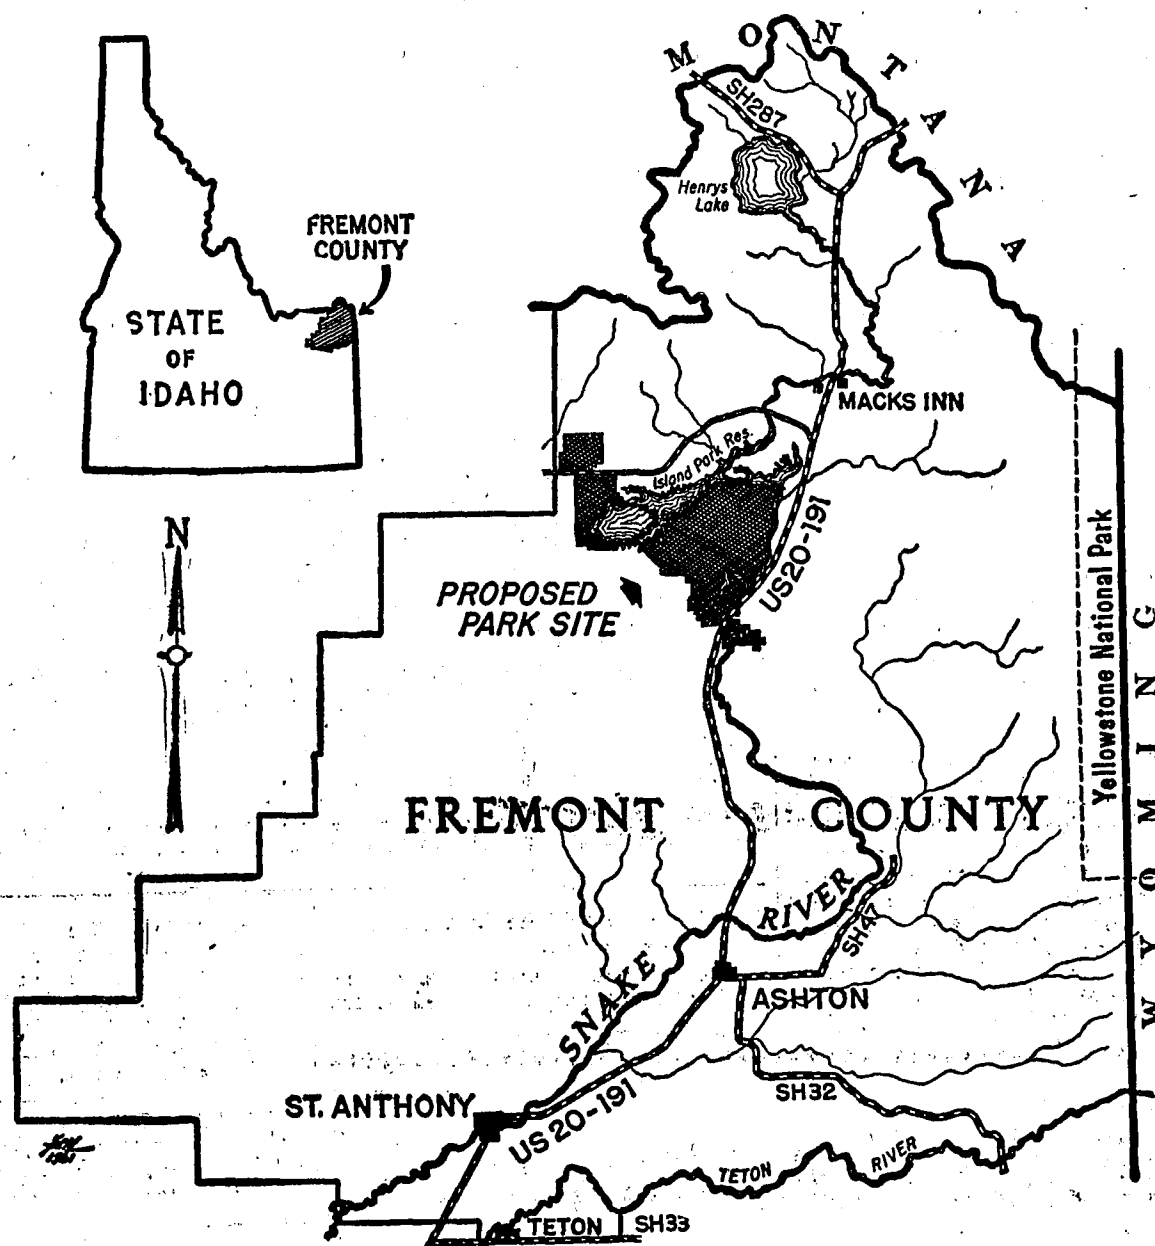

Washington, D. C. — Hoodlums, gangsters and racketeers, who operate with seeming disdain for constituted authority, all share a common weakness — the morbid fear of detection, apprehension, and successful prosecution.

These leaders of the underworld, representing the brains and motivating force of "organized crime," cloak themselves with respectability and circulate in all spheres of our society. However, none is immune to the subconscious dread of one day having to face the bar of justice.

Law enforcement is exploiting this weakness. By the exchange of valuable criminal intelligence information, the FBI and other federal, state and local agencies are successfully penetrating the innermost sanctums of the criminal delinquent. This action, plus the new laws passed by the last session of Congress aimed at big-time racketeers and gamblers, is creating an uneasy stir among professional vice lords.

Experience has shown there is no substitute for on-the-spot dissemination of vital information on the working level. This exchange of criminal intelligence is made among regular, duly authorized law enforcement agencies whose experienced officers understand its nature and are aware of its potential. They make prompt and proper application of it. To my mind, this is a far more logical and practical system than the theoretical national clearinghouse for criminal information. Yet our profession is constantly beset by those who maintain there is a "void" in the exchange of information. They contend it can only be overcome by this catalytic cure-all. Such a contention is without merit and does not deal in reality.

Crime prevention requires timely, cohesive and spontaneous action. There is no margin for procrastination or administrative red tape. In a like manner, dissemination of criminal intelligence must be expeditious. Presently, it is exchanged promptly by agencies involved, and there is no delay in its reaching the proper authorities.

PROPOSED HARRIMAN STATE PARK - IDAHO

RESERVED FOR PARK — Here is the proposed Harriman State Park for Idaho. Governor Robert E. Smylie announced at Boise last week that contractual arrangements have been completed with Roland W. Averell by which the Harrimans will give to the people of Idaho for a state park the 20,000 acre family property known as the Railroad ranch. It is located in Fremont County. Said E. R. Harriman: "Our family has been a part of the Idaho community for nearly 50 years. At the Railroad Ranch we have enjoyed health and recreational facilities that are unequalled elsewhere. Some of the fondest memories of both my brother and myself are centered there. The state of Idaho has a fine record in the administration and conservation of its wildlife resources and we are most pleased to make this addition to the recreational and wildlife resources of the state for that reason."

Daily throughout the country numerous investigations are closed and violators convicted as a direct result of this nationwide program. During a recent 12-month period this bureau disseminated to various agencies over 100,000 items of criminal information. Based on this assistance, the recipient agencies effected some 2,570 arrests during the same period and recovered property valued at more than $1,600,000.

The bitter and greedy struggle in the underworld for controlling power over vice and corruption is a scourge in many communities. But it is a challenge that is being forcefully met. As an example, the FBI has been channeling information to one metropolitan police department relating to organized gangs which are a menace in that city. As a result, a number of arrests have been made. In another case, a tip to local authorities made possible the arrest of a powerful out-of-town numbers racket operator who was surveying the area with designs on spreading his illegal business to that locality. Such graphic examples indicate the effectiveness of this cooperation and are the rule rather than the exception. Reciprocity of course, is a dominating factor, and each participating agency benefits from this workable plan. The FBI is deeply indebted to police authorities and officers across the country who repeatedly pass on pertinent data relating to its operations. The fund of information on criminal activities is swelling daily and the FBI stands ready to place an ever-mounting volume of such information into the hands of law enforcement.

when Jimmy grows as big as his shadow

... the free world he lives in will be using almost a million gallons of petroleum every minute.

That's about 60% more than it uses today — by 1971.

Where will it all come from?

From hundreds of places on earth you might never expect oil to exist. Right now, for example, Standard's exploration teams are probing the ocean floor many miles out to sea ... trekking across Arabian deserts, marked "inaccessible" on maps.

Others are climbing over glaciers in Alaska, pushing through the snow into the frozen interior of Canada, slogging through the jungles of Latin America.

In the last ten years, geologists from Standard and its affiliates explored in 47 countries on six continents.

Is the search paying off?

Yes. In the United States alone, we found two new barrels of oil for every barrel we took out of the ground.

The search will continue to help make certain that Jimmy and his generation will have the oil they need for an ever-expanding number of homes, cars, mechanized farms and industries ... and provide chemicals from petroleum that will help make possible more exciting new products.
