WEATHER TURNS FRIGID - BUT FAST!

At the close of almost three weeks of the finest winter weather that anyone could want — a stretch that saw new high temperature records set at the Lewiston weather bureau — cold descended with a vengeance Thursday morning, Feb. 22, beginning with a snow and wind storm. The snow in the canyon was just enough to whiten the grass, but on top the hills reached a depth of almost three inches in some areas.

The thermometer began dropping from that minute on. Friday morning a high of 17 was recorded; Saturday morning it was 14, and Sunday morning 13.

Monday morning the reading was 4 degrees above (for a new record low says the Lewiston weather bureau.) There was no snow on the ground, and as a result tulips and daffodils, which were up as much as three inches, and snowdrops were in full bloom. Also, lilacs were leafing!

The cold shut down operations at the Mead & Howard sawmill at Kendrick, due to the fact that they could not keep the millpond open, and machinery properly lubricated.

Many farmers fear that the unseasonable cold, with no snow cover, may damage winter crops severely. There is no doubt but what they will be injured — but just how much only time can tell!

Tuesday morning the thermometer read 3 degrees above zero — with a wind blowing from the west. Farmers are expressing grave fears for winter crops, particularly barley.

Fresh and cured meats of all kinds are obtainable at Blewett's Market in Kendrick.

4-H'ERS TO OBSERVE NATIONAL WEEK

U. of I., Moscow — Idaho members of 4-H Clubs will observe National 4-H Club Week, March 3 to 10, in expectation that a new enrollment record will be set.

Last year 17,492 boys and girls took part. Dan Warren, state leader of club work in the University of Idaho Extension Service, said that is the largest number to date. He added that a bigger total is likely in 1962. Membership last year increased more than 1,000 over 1960. This group was guided by 3,152 adult volunteer local leaders and 212 older boys and 540 older girls, serving as Junior Leaders.

During National Club week, the youth organization engages in a variety of activities calling public attention to the program. Many clubs begin their new schedules at that time, enlisting new members and getting oriented for spring and summer.

The membership last year included 11,795 girls and 5,695 boys. Canyon, Bingham and Ada counties had more than 1,000 members each.

SLASH DISPOSAL PROGRAM CHANGED

Boise — The State Forestry department and the U. S. Forest Service have agreed that henceforth the state will accept direct responsibility for the management and supervision of fire hazards resulting from logging on state and private lands within the National Forests of north Idaho. Actually, the state forester has had this responsibility since 1946, but the work within the National Forests of north Idaho has been done by the U. S. Forest Service.

Generally speaking, this means that effective immediately, slash disposal compliances and clearances on operations on state and private lands within the National Forests, will be issued by the nearest State Forest Warden serving the state or a timber protective association. In some areas remote from state forest headquarters, the U. S. Forest Service will continue these services as a convenience to the logging operators. Any Ranger or State warden can advise the operator which office he should contact.

The state will, when requested by the operator, contract the hazard management work on state and private land within the National Forests. Likewise, any work required by the state, for both as a result of defaulted holdbacks will contract and hold-back slash handled by the state, the rate will remain at $1 per 1000, as it has been in most areas for a number of years. The state is doing everything possible to hold down costs of forest protection and hazard management so as to help our industry compete in the national markets. — Roger Guernsey, State Forester.

M. Y. F. SUB-DISTRICT HOLDS MEET HERE

LOAD LIMITS OFF

Lewiston — Effective immediately all load limits will be lifted on State Highways in District 4. The routes on which load limits have been imposed and where load limits are being lifted are as follows:

U. S. 95 Alternate - Potlatch to Benewah County Line

State 43 - Bovill to Harvard

State 62 - From junction of State 7 and 62 to top of Seven Mile grade

State 99 - Kendrick to Troy

State 8 - Troy to Deary

This action is being taken because freezing weather has increased the load bearing capacity of the highways now posted. It is anticipated that load limits will have to be placed on these same sections of highway and possibly other sections of highway in District 4 as soon as the weather warms to above freezing.

HOMEMAKERS AND THEIR KITCHENS

Pullman — There is a growing demand for better organized kitchens and laundries from the individual homemaker's standpoint, according to John Payne, manager for the Washington Water Power Co. Easily installed custom styled electric appliances that do not have to be "built-in" inspire the homemaker's arrangement instincts.

These arrangement instincts, many builders find, are so strong that sometimes the smartest way to sell a new home is to give the prospective buyer a choice of appliances and let the new owner decide where to put them. Apparently women devote as much thought in arranging their kitchen appliances, storage and work areas as they do in deciding where the living room sofa should go.

In modernization of kitchens and laundries in older homes women are, in a sense, experts. Having worked in their old kitchens they are very thoroughly aware of space limitations and basic faults. All some women need when they remodel an existing kitchen, some planners have discovered, is a warning about left and right hand refrigerators and whether or not an oven door will be in the way when it is opened.

There is a great demand in remodeling kitchens to provide space for daily meals or a work table. Personal tastes also dictate the number of cabinets, racks and spice shelves — or whether another window is desirable. Even better lighting and additional outlets have been carefully considered by the time the modernization is underway.

Electric appliance salesmen find homemakers window shopping with a tape measure before the modernization begins. Many manufacturers now vary the size of major electric appliances to accommodate both large and small areas.

What appliances are usually added when the kitchen or laundry is modernized? In kitchens, according to Mr. Payne, dishwashers and food disposers. The surprising new addition is an air conditioner. A cool kitchen, homemakers reason, is a clean kitchen. Foods do not become messy, insects can be kept out, curtains stay fresh, grease stains do not spread. Such items as salads and desserts prepare better in an air-conditioned room.

When laundry areas are remodeled it is usually an electric clothes dryer that is added.

What is the homemaker's greatest worry when remodeling? They want appliances that will "hold up" as they say. Kitchen planners find that part of their role is now "overseeing" to insure correctly installed appliances by experienced workmen and also seeing to it that the book of instructions for each appliance is carefully ready.

CAMPGROUNDS IN IDAHO TO RECEIVE WIDE PUBLICITY

Boise — The Department of Commerce and Development is getting ready to distribute a new color leaflet which tells about Idaho campgrounds.

Louise Shaddock, secretary, says the leaflet, prepared cooperatively with the Department of Public Lands and the Department of Highways, will be mailed to 1,000 travel agencies in various parts of the country, and to motels and chambers of commerce in Idaho. A map on the inside of the leaflet pinpoints the location of state parks and campsites, boating and swimming areas, golf courses and ski areas.

Miss Shaddock says that many of Idaho's yearly visitors, particularly those from eastern states, are interested in camping out. "Before they visit a state, they want to know where its campgrounds are, what they are like, and whether they are close to recreation facilities.

The new leaflet is designed to answer the questions of prospective Idaho visitors, Miss Shaddock explains. Symbols on the map tell whether the campground has tables and drinking water, and whether it has facilities for trailers.

At a cost of less than 4c each the department had 150,000 of the new leaflets printed. More than half of them will be mailed to travel agencies around the country which request campground information. The rest will be used in the state to help answer on-the-spot tourist questions.

photographs give an idea of the state's scenery and the kind of recreation available in Idaho. The scenes include a pack string in the Sawtooth Mountains; a girl water skiing on Payette Lake, a road winding around Lake Coeur d'Alene, and Mesa Falls on Henrys Fork of the Snake river.

The new campgrounds leaflet is an example of the kind of publications the department prepares. "Our campground leaflet gives specific information," Miss Shaddock says. "It isn't just a lot of general facts. Tourists want and need useful information if they are to vacation in our state. That's what we propose to provide them."

IT INCOME TAX TIME AGAIN

Moscow — The end of the year brings a time of decision for farmers. They have a choice of dates for filing federal income taxes. Before tackling the job, Virgil Kennedy, farm management specialist of the University of Idaho Extension Service, suggests they get a copy of the 1962 edition of the Farmers' Tax Guide, a free publication that explains the regulations and includes samples of problems worked out on tax forms. Copies of the Guide are available at the office of Homer Futter, county agent.

Kennedy said it is to the advantage of farmers to analyze their individual situations now so they will know which filing procedure best suits their circumstances.

Farmers have two choices in making their returns. They may file an estimate by January 15, then file a return and pay any balance due by April 15. Or they may file the return and pay the tax by February 15.

MEYER SISTERS TELL OF WORLD TRAVELS IN PAST YEAR

Editor's Note: This concludes the very interesting series of travel reports written by the Misses Dorothy and Hermina Meyer, Lutheran Missionaries in India.

Airbourne again we flew to Port Moresby where we were joined by Mario Reitz. After only a short stop we flew on to Brisbane, Australia. The following morning Ruth Grope called for us at the hotel. It was good to see her again and she took us driving down the famous gold coast of Queensland. In the land down under it was good old summertime. The drive of 50 miles passed through places such as Surfer's Paradise, and on to the New South Wales border. A perfect day, and after having lunch we drove back to Brisbane, stopping at St. Peter's College to meet Pastor Grope before proceeding to Toowoomba. We were glad to have the opportunity to see this college (equivalent to our high school) as this is where the missionary children attend school. Arriving at Toowoomba in the thick fog we were met by Peter and Andrew, the two Grope boys. Toowoomba, at an elevation of 2,000 feet, is about 90 miles from Brisbane. It was wonderful to be in their home. Peter, the youngest, was in a Christmas drama which we attended the first evening. They have a beautiful new church. The church has a window of four large colored glass panels which portrays the four periods — Coming of Christ, His work, His crucifixion, and His resurrection.

One evening in Toowoomba we visited the Lloyd Anthonys, former missionaries in India in our area, and they were eager to hear news of India. The flower city of Toowoomba is surrounded by rich agricultural land. Some of the best farming land in the world is said to be in this area because of the rich, deep top soil. Our visit with the Gropes was over too quickly and we were on our way to Brisbane by bus and then by air to Sydney. Sydney, the largest city in Australia has two million people. A lovely city on a beautiful harbor. The mountains rise sharply from the water's edge, yet people build their homes on these steep cliffs. No one dreamed that 173 years ago that rocky wasteland would become Sydney's residential area. The fabulous wealth of Sydney could be seen in these homes. Our visit to Taronga Zoo, one of the largest in the world gave us an opportunity to see kangaroo and other animals of Australia. The Kola Bear is found only in Australia along with the gum trees. We saw many tropical fish and the beautiful birds, which to us was one of the most interesting parts of the zoo. Monkeys seemed to be one of the attractions, but we had no time for them.

Next we were bound for the Fiji Islands on a Pan Am jet. A smooth flight and we were in Nandi. Here the colorful island music played at the airport welcomed us. One quick look around and we thought we were back in India. Fifty percent of the Fiji population is Indian. A car ride about 60 miles from Nandi gave us a little idea of the countryside of Fiji. The clean villages of the Fijians was outstanding. Another interesting characteristic was that the Indians all lived in separate farm villages. Shells seemed to be the leading attraction for souvenir buyers. The flight from Nandi via Quantas jet was six hours and one of the best. Arriving in Honolulu we cleared immigration and customs. It was good to be back on American soil. When the custom officials learned that we had been out of the states for many years they gave us a warm welcome. What a good feeling to be home again where we do not need to carry passports or to be called foreigners. Our taxi driver was a character and acted as quite a guide to Honolulu. We had heard all about free-ways, Kaiser Aluminum million dollar projects, the fabulous shopping center and the revolving dining rooms before reaching our hotel, which, by the way, was on Waikiki beach. Christmas shopping was a delight here as we had not seen such elaborate decorations for a long time. The MuMu dress in the shops and on the streets really caught our attention so much that the next day we joined our fellow Americans by dressing in this comfortable garb. Visiting a typical Hawaiian village, attending a Christmas concert by the University of Hawaii, and wading on Waikiki beach more than kept us busy. Before boarding the plane for Seattle we bought our mother and older sister an orchid each for Christmas.

FAIR FEATURES POSE — Two of the highlights of this year's Seattle World's Fair are seen together here: the 600-foot Space Needle looms through the concrete beamway of the Alweg Monorail System. The Space Needle — topped by a 40-foot natural gas torch — has a revolving restaurant and observation deck on top. View port elevators traveling on the outside of the Needle's central core will give fairgoers a breathtaking thrill. The Monorail — the nation's first high speed, mass transit monorail system — will carry up to 10,000 persons per hour to and from the fairgrounds on two four-car trains, one straddling each of the two beams seen here. The trip to the downtown terminal of the Alweg Monorail in the heart of Seattle's business district is 1.2 miles — and, at speeds up to 70 miles per hour, will take about a minute and a half. The Seattle World's Fair opens a six-month run on April 21 of this year. People planning to attend the fair should write Expo-Lodging Service, Seattle World's Fair, Seattle 9, Washington, for reservations.

Since we arrived at 6:40 a. m. instead of the scheduled 7:40, there was no one to meet us. After a phone call to Loeda it did not take long for everyone to arrive. Several of our cousins, Em, our college friend, Albert our Indian student, Loeda, and several of her college friends all gave us a hearty welcome. The last part of our journey was made by car with Duane Meske, our pastor's son at the wheel. By evening we reached our home in Idaho — and that wonderful, exciting reunion can only be imagined by those who have been away from home for a long time. We had only time to catch our breath before Christmas was upon us. Our nieces and nephew had really grown.

After the 55 hours of flying time we are not sorry to stay put for a while. In closing we again extend our wishes for a Blessed New Year. Sincerely — Dorothy and Hermina Meyer.

TRUCK TAX DUE

Boise — Many heavy truck operators again face penalties for not paying highway use tax, according to Calvin E. Wright, Internal Revenue director. Wright said the tax was due last August 30, on trucks used during July. Then for trucks put on the road later, the tax must be paid within the following month. For example: On a truck first used in January, the tax is due by Feb. 28. Any truckers in doubt as to their liability should obtain information booklet from Internal Revenue offices nearest them.

THE GUY'S A GENIUS

A young man applied to a finance agency for a job but he had no experience. He was so intense that the manager gave him an account to collect with the promise that, if he collected it, he would give him a job. "He'll never collect it," he told his secretary. "It's that mechanic down the street who's owed us money for three years." Much to his surprise the young man came back with the entire debt in his pocket. "This is amazing!" said the manager, "just how did you do it?" "Easy," replied the young man. "I just told him if he didn't pay up, I'd tell all his other creditors he had paid us!"

RIVER DROPPING, FREEZING
 Since the onset of cold weather last Thursday, the Potlatch river has been dropping steadily, and in the quieter areas is freezing steadily. It has also cleared considerably as run-off from woods roads and fields ceases. It is very doubtful that the cold snap will provide any skating, however, as the steady decline in flow has left the ice hollow along the stream edges.

HEART DISEASE CLAIMS MANY LIVES
 Boise — Heart and blood vessel diseases claimed more Idaho lives in 1960 than the three other major causes of death combined, figures released from the state Department of Vital Statistics show.
 Dr. Bernard Coppel, Boise, president of the Idaho Heart Association, said the 1960 figures are the latest available and closely parallel those for the entire country by the national Bureau of Vital Statistics. According to figures, he said, heart and blood vessel diseases caused more than 54 per cent of all deaths.
 Cardiovascular deaths in Idaho totaled 2,725 during the 12-month period ending Dec. 31, 1960. The total number of deaths from the three other major diseases was 1,369. Records show that cancer was responsible for 678 deaths in Idaho during the same 12-month period; accident took 524 lives and pneumonia and influenza, 167.
 "Thus heart diseases accounted for over 66 per cent of all deaths in the state in these four major categories, and this Idaho figure is 12 per cent higher than the national average, which is 54 per cent."
 Dr. Coppel pointed out that with research, improved techniques for the early diagnosis of cardiovascular disorders have been discovered, giving to the heart disease victim the hope for recovery and return to work.
 New drugs and surgery can control high blood pressure in most cases. Rheumatic fever, forerunner of the rheumatic heart disease, now can be prevented, strokes are no longer hopeless and invalidism can often be reduced and even prevented.
 Much of this progress has resulted from scientific research made possible by the millions of dollars the public has contributed to the Heart Fund since 1948; the year the Heart Association became a national voluntary organization.
 The 1962 Heart Fund Campaign in Idaho continues through February, reaching a peak Feb. 28, Heart Sunday, when more than 9,000 volunteers in Idaho will call at homes and ask for contributions to assist in the battle against heart diseases.

SIGHT TO BEHOLD
 A mountain gray-beard watched slack-jawed as an "outlander" couple driving a midget sports car, dressed in blazing sports attire, and accompanied by a tiny Mexican dog paused at the general store for an amused look-around, excused by the purchase of soft drinks.
 As they departed the storekeeper asked the older: "What do you think of that for a get-up, Uncle Jeb?"
 "Well, sir," replied the mountaineer, "it's the strangest sight I ever seen — sober!"

NATURALLY!
 Woman (at service station) "Hurry up, please, and give me a quart of red oil."
 Attendant: "A quart of red oil?"
 Woman (snappily): "Yes, of course — can't you see that one tail light has gone out!"

HOW IT'S DONE
 A tourist was being shown around a zoo in Russia by a guide. They came to a cage in which were a tiger and a lamb.
 "That's an amazing example of co-existence," said the tourist. "How on earth is it managed?"
 Replied the Russian: "We put in a new lamb every day."

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS:

Well, by golly, the spring that everyone was looking for, seems to have "done went," rather than arriving. So better go out and check that fuel oil tank and then give us a call at 4251. We'll be there in a flash, with Union!

A sensitive man (not John Glenn) descended to earth recently and came face-to-face with a piano in a store window. "Okay, you," he snarled, "wipe that nasty grin off your face!"

Have you seen the new Union Minuteman tire? The first one good enough to bear our name! It's modestly priced — fully guaranteed! Sure, we'll trade. Come in today.

"Where are some good places to stop on this trip?" asked the tourist. "Well," drawled the farmer, "I reckon I'd stop at all the railroad crossings."

Let us drain and change that thin, winter-worn oil. You'll like the performance you'll get with Royal Triton. Try it, now!

Haughty Woman: "My husband has no idea what I go through when he snores."
Practical Friend: "Mine never misses his change either."

When you come in for the tournament, stop for a tank of Union Royal or 7600 gasoline. You'll like the performance you get.

There are no better products than Union. Try them.
