CAMERON HISTORY BOOKLET APPEARS THIS WEEK

A Cameron historical booklet, compiled by the Cameron Homemakers Club, with Mrs. Fred Newman heading the project, made its appearance this week.

The booklet, mimeographed, is 8 1/2 by 11 inches in size, and is complete with six pages of old-time pictures — the latter printed. There are 15 pictures on the six pages.

Many, many hours of painstaking work was put in by the group in compiling, assembling, editing and authenticating the contents — and we predict the limited edition — 100 copies, will literally "sell like hot-cakes."

The booklets are obtainable today (Thursday) at the home of Mrs. Geo. Wilken, Kendrick, where the club is holding an all-day meeting. The women say it was a lot of work, hard work — but a lot of fun, too.

forage plants to see if they are available in sufficient quantity and variety to meet the herd's wintering needs. Trend counts are designed to learn whether herds are increasing, decreasing or holding steady, rather than to learn the exact number of animals. The department reports that big game animals in most areas came through the long winter and deep snows in good shape, but there were also local losses on some poor quality winter ranges.

"somebody is getting mighty rich, and you guys let then get away with it."

We could have shrugged her call off, but instead got to wondering why is it that a steer sold by the farmer for 26 cents a pound on the hoof, for example, is retailed to the customer at more than $1.00 a pound.

So we did some research at the library and found an explanation by Irvin R. Rinehart, assistant general director of purchasing for a mid-west grocery chain. This is the way he figures it:

A 1,000 pound steer at 26 cents a pound would bring the producer $260.00. When the packer slaughters the animal, it will produce a 600-pound carcass. This is the weight of the edible carcass after dressing away the viscera, hide, head and feet.

The packer could sell the 600-pound carcass to the retail store for $260 that it cost him, as he would have left the hide, bones, head, viscera, pharmaceuticals, and fertilizer ingredients.

So the present value per pound for the 600-pound carcass at $260 is 43 1/2 cents a pound, rather than the 26 cents it brought the farmer.

The cost of operating a retail meat market is 10 cents a pound for every pound of meat going across the counter. This 10 cents includes 5 cents a pound for labor, 3 cents a pound for supplies, refrigeration or equipment, and 1/2 cent a pound for advertising and promotion. This then leaves 1 cent a pound for profit if everything moves out before shrink, conversio, or mark-down eats away that 1 cent a pound.

With this 10 cents a pound added to the cost of the carcass, the new value of the 600 pounds of meat is 53 1/2 cents a pound, or $320 for the 600-pound carcass.

How are we going to get our $320 back?

One-third of the 600-pound carcass of beef is thrown away as waste fat, bone, and moisture shrinkage.

We now have left only 400 pounds of meat for which we must get $320 to break even, so the new value of the carcass is 80 cents a pound.

About 150 pounds of this 400 pounds goes into the competitive ground-beef category, which sells for around 40 cents a pound. The ground beef portion brings us $60. This gives the remaining 250 pounds of salable beef a value of $1.04 a pound.

Of this 250 pounds, 100 pounds are sold over the $1.04-per-pound value and 150 pounds are sold at less than $1.04 a pound.

Does this give you a better understanding of why steaks sell for $1.10 a pound when the farmer gets only 26 cents a pound for his 1,000 pound steer?

PRICE OF MEAT OF IMPORTANCE TO EVERYONE

From Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, operators of "Jones' Frozen Foods," at Kennewick, Wash., came this item from the Tri-City Herald — entitled "Price of Meat."

A lady telephoned the other day and suggested — somewhat belligerently, we thought — that our newspaper "get on the ball" and "look into" the high price of meat.

She wasn't at all happy, it was pretty obvious, when we were unable to offer any kind of an explanation and she hung up the receiver muttering something to the effect that Idaho woman is one of a million!

"I WAS NEVER AFRAID OF CANCER, because I never imagined it would happen to me." But Hattie Pauline Gesner (above), director of Student Union building at Boise Junior College, had read and remembered the "seven danger signals" listed by the American Cancer Society. When one signal appeared in 1953, she went immediately to a doctor. The diagnosis was cancer, and surgery was performed. As result of prompt action nine years ago, the 67-year-old woman is healthy and active—one of the more than one million Americans cured of cancer. Idaho woman is shown above with one of national posters for 1962 Cancer Crusade, being conducted during April with slogan: "To cure more, give more."

RIVER RISES OVER WEEK-END

The Potlatch river showed a sharp rise over the week-end, although still a considerable distance from flood stage. The winds of Friday night and rain did the trick, the rain adding to the run-off, and the wind cutting into the snow which is still piled deep in the hills of the East Fork area.

The wind littered the streets with dead limbs and twigs, blown from the big locust trees which line Kendrick's Main Street, as well as several of the side streets. It also put several phone lines out of commission for a short time, and caused the power to "blink," although it did not go off.

Farmers were beginning to think seriously about spring work — but now it will be some time before they can get into the fields.

The latest downpour also put logging operations back at least a week, say those in "the know."

The Clearwater river, too, showed a sharp rise, the reading in the Lewiston area indicating 8-feet above the low-water mark — although it, too, is not at flood stage.

Spring is Garden Time for 4-H'ers

Well-thumbed pages of the seed catalog are among the first signs of spring in 4-H homes across the state where young gardeners abound. Whether it's cabbages or roses they hope to grow, the budding horticulturists all share the same enthusiasm.

The number of ambitious gardeners this year should reach well over 261,000, predicts the National 4-H Service Committee. The estimate is based on 1961 figures supplied by the state 4-H Club offices.

The 4-H garden award program, supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported for the last 17 years by the Farm Equipment Division of Allis-Chalmers, is open to boys and girls from 10 to 21 years old enrolled in a 4-H Club.

Gain Know-How and Cash

Experience gained in the project adds to the business know-how of the "learner" and in many cases adds to the bank account as well, it was pointed out. Profits from roadside stands, selling directly to the local grocer or door-to-door customers have aided countless youngsters in a variety of endeavors.

Vegetables grown for the dinner table or flowers raised to beautify the home have added immeasurably to mutual family benefit and enjoyment, according to the 4-H garden records.

Future careers often open up to the young people who have worked with garden projects over a long period. For example, Jerry Unruh, who will enter

They Grow 'em and Sell 'em

Pictured here (from left) are 4-H'ers Donald Weeks, 20, of Terre Haute, Ind., Carolyn Garrison, 18, of Silverton, Tex., and Jerry Unruh, 17, of Galva, Kans. This trio can't be fooled when it comes to quality and freshness because they are 1961 national 4-H garden champions and recipients of Allis-Chalmers 4-H garden scholarships. They have a combined total of 28 years of 4-H membership.

Kansas State University next fall, plans to major in horticulture. He not only has raised prize-winning vegetables, but has put aside earnings to help meet college expenses.

Gardening is Popular

National champions Carolyn Garrison, who was among the 9,000 Lone Star Staters carrying a garden project last year, and Donald Weeks, a Purdue University junior, one of more than 9,400 Hoosier gardeners, are typical of top-notch producers in the state.

Gardening, it seems, is the ideal project for 4-H'ers no matter where they live. Weeks lives just outside Terre Haute on a 3 1/2 acre farm, while Miss Garrison lives on a sprawling 850 acre Texas ranch.

Again, this year, Allis-Chalmers will provide up to four garden medals for first place county winners; a state winner all-expense trip to the week-long National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago right after Thanksgiving; and eight $400 college scholarships.

Winners will be named by the Cooperative Extension Service, and awards distributed through the National 4-H Service Committee.

CATS ARE SMART

A skunk once challenged a lion to mortal combat. The lion promptly declined.

"Why," asked the skunk, "Are you afraid?"

"Yes," admitted the lion, "for you would only gain fame by having the honor to fight a lion, while for months everyone who met me would know that I had been in the company of a skunk!"

ON LONG CRUISE

Alameda, Calif. (FHTNC) — Dennis K. Spence, gunner's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Spence of Juliaetta, Idaho, is serving aboard the attack carrier USS Midway, which is scheduled to depart her home port at Alameda, Calif., April 6, for a seven-month tour of duty with the Seventh Fleet in the western Pacific.

The coming cruise will mark the fourth to the Far East since the 62,000-ton carrier's re-commissioning in 1957.

The Midway is scheduled to visit ports in Japan, Okinawa, Guam, the Philippines and Hong Kong.

ALMOST ONE MORE

Visitors were being shown around the big battleship that had just arrived in port. The guide paused before a bronze plaque on the deck and with bowed head said, "This is where our gallant captain fell."

"Well, no wonder," said one little white-haired old lady, "I nearly tripped over the stupid thing myself."

Seems as though that "spring has sprung" idea we had a week ago has "gone out the window!" So better check that stove oil tank now and give us a call at 4251 — For Union Burner Oils — best by test!

Husband hunting is the only sport in which the animal that gets caught has to buy the license!

Let us drain that winter-worn oil from your car, pickup or truck — and refill it with Royal Triton — then you'll be set to hear that motor purr-r-r! Come in today.

A man telephoned the police to report that thieves had stolen from his car "the steering wheel, the throttle, clutch pedal and dashboard."

The sergeant said he would send a man to investigate at once, and then hung up. Again the phone rang.

"Don't bother," said the same voice, this time with a hiccup. "I got into the back seat by mistake."

Have you seen the new Union Minuteman Tire? The only one fine enough to bear our name. It's fully guaranteed, modestly priced — top quality. Sure, we'll trade!

Thanks to the drip-dry suit, men now have equal rights on the shower bath curtain rod!

Let us grease and service your car, pickup or truck. We use the proper lubricant for every spot. No hit-or-miss guessing!
