TRAFFIC CITATIONS ISSUED

Two Lewiston Orchard residents were given traffic citations by Village Marshal E. M. White Saturday afternoon.

The driver of the vehicle, Johnnie Boten, was found to be driving on a revoked driver's license, and was fined $100.00 and $3.00 costs. His passenger, Leroy Snider was charged $17.00 and costs for being drunk on a public highway. The fines were levied by W. A. Campbell, in Justice Court here.

The car failed to make the corner on the State Highway 42 at the west edge of Kendrick and careened through a fence on the Lester Wallace property, tearing out fencing, rose bushes and shrubbery, and doing an estimated $50.00 damage.

This is the third time cars have gone through the fence and into the Wallace yard at that point.

GRANGERS FEED 200 AT SMORGASBORD

The Kendrick Grange fed approximately 200 (not counting small children) at their smorgasbord in the Kendrick High School cafeteria last Friday evening. The menu ran the gamut of fried chicken, baked ham and roast beef — together with all the appropriate side dishes — and those who failed to partake truly missed a "fine feed."

Door prizes for the children went to Carolyn Holt and Denise Brammer. For the adults to Eddie Corkill and Mrs. Irene Millard.

JANICE HEIMGARTNER BRIDE OF RICHARD GROSECLOSE IN CHURCH CEREMONY

Janice Merlene Heimgartner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Heimgartner, Kendrick, and Richard Earl Groseclose, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Groseclose, Juliaetta, were united in marriage Friday evening, Nov. 23, 1962, at the Kendrick Community Church.

The Rev. F. C. Schmidt officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony in a setting of lighted candleabra, flanked by baskets of white and gold chrysanthemum and autumn leaves.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a gown of white lace and net over taffeta, with fitted lace bodice and long sleeves. The sweetheart neckline was trimmed with sequins and pearls. The full lace and net skirt extended into a short train. Accordion-pleated Chantilly lace panels fell to the floor on the sides and front of the skirt. Her shoulder-length veil was attached to a crown of pearls and crystal. She wore her mother's crystal earrings and the traditional blue garter. Her oval-shaped bridal bouquet was of white baby mums and centered with a white orchid.

Nadine Heimgartner, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and attendants were Sharon, Lynda and Janie Fey, all cousins. All wore identical blue satin ballerina-length dresses, matching headbands and pearls, and carried white and gold nosegays.

Candle lighters were Ray Heimgartner, a brother of the bride, who wore a dark suit, and Jannie Lou Feucht, a niece of the groom. She was dressed identically with the bridesmaids. Both served as attendants following the candle lighting ceremony.

The groom chose his brother, James Groseclose, as best man. Ushers were Harold Heimgartner and Eldon Fey, both cousins of the bride. All wore dark blue suits with blue boutonnieres.

Mrs. Glen Stevens, the bride's first music teacher, played the wedding marches, and accompanied Sharon, Lynda and Janie Fey, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "God Gave Me You."

The bride's mother chose a two-piece pastel blue brocade dress with white accessories for their daughter's wedding. The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories. Each wore a corsage of white and gold rose buds.

The reception room was decorated with candles and bouquets of white and gold mums.

The wedding cake, baked and decorated by an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Wayne Heimgartner, was four-tiered and topped by a miniature bride and groom under a trellis of flowers. After the traditional first piece had been cut by the bride and groom it was cut and served by Mrs. Wayne Heimgartner, assisted by Mrs. Elton Ankey of Lapwal. Mrs. Eddie Corkill, a cousin of the bride, poured, and Mrs. Don Groseclose, a sister-in-law of the groom, served punch. Pamela and LeAnne Feucht, small nieces of the groom, passed the groom's cake.

Mrs. Dale Lawrence, a cousin of the bride, had charge of the guest book. Mrs. Frankie Bencoter and Mrs. Wayne Davis opened and displayed the many lovely gifts.

For her wedding trip the new Mrs. Groseclose chose a winter white wool dress trimmed in gold, with white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride graduated from Kendrick High School in 1960, and from the Lewis-Clark Normal School last June. She is teaching the first grade at the Lapwal Elementary School. Mr. Groseclose is a graduate of the Lapwal High School and is employed at the Juliaetta Mill.

Their wedding trip was a tour up the Lewis & Clark Highway into Missoula, Mont., and home via Lake Coeur d'Alene. They are now at home to their friends in an apartment at Juliaetta.

LIONS MET WED. EVE, NOV. 28

The Kendrick Community Lions Club met in regular session Wednesday evening of last week, with an excellent attendance. Members of the K. H. S. eight-man football squad and the four cheer leaders were their guests.

Following a delicious chicken fried steak dinner served by the School Foods Association ladies, the program of the evening got underway.

In the absence of Coach Andros, scheduled speaker, Bud Riley, assistant football coach, gave an interesting talk. He told of the problems football coaches face, and their hopes and expectations. He then showed two reels of films in which Idaho was battling various opponents — all adding up to a pleasant evening.

The next meeting of the Lions Club will be on Wednesday, Dec. 13, at which time a part of the evening will be spent sacking treats for Santa's coming on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 22nd.

CAR LICENSES SOLD SATURDAY

Quite a number of local residents availed themselves of the opportunity to purchase their car light truck and light trailer licenses at Burt's Confectionery, Kendrick, last Saturday — but there still seem to be many to avail themselves of the privilege.

Eugene Taylor, county assessor, reminds everyone that this coming Saturday, Dec. 8, will be the last and only day left in which the licenses can be purchased at Burt's for area owners. They will be on sale from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. this Saturday.

Mr. Taylor also reminds the local owners that they save by making the purchases here — safe a trip to Moscow or a mailing fee of 50c per set of plates.

ROAD WORK CLOSES DOWN FOR SEASON

According to unofficial information, but apparently quite reliable, operations by Murphy Bros., prime contractors on the Southwick-Kendrick road, operations were suspended as of Tuesday evening, due to "freezing conditions," which do not permit satisfactory "compaction" of the road bed.

We understand that crusher operations will proceed with the gravel being stockpiled. Resumption of the general work will await arrival of good weather next spring.

TIGERS DROP FIRST 'SQUEAKER' GAME

In the first game of the 1962-63 basketball season, played on the local court, the Kendrick Tigers dropped a real "squeaker" to the Lapwai Wildcats, 49 to 48.

The score by quarters: First: Lapwai 13, Kendrick 8. Halftime: Lapwai 27, Kendrick 23. Third: Kendrick 39; Lapwai 33. Final: Lapwai 49; Kendrick 48. The winning score for Lapwai came in the final second of play — the ball being in the air when the gun sounded!

High scorer for Kendrick was Ross Magnuson with 18. Roberts had 10. For Lapwai: Jack Walley 22; G. Taylor 7.

It was a fine game to watch from start to finish — and the spectators enjoyed every minute of it.

In the Jr. Varsity tilt which began at 6:30 Kendrick bowed to Lapwai 51 to 31. At the half-way point in this game the score was 21-16, Lapwai.

HUNTING SEASON ENDS WITH WET, STORMY DAY

Sunday, December 2 marked the end of the 1962 Idaho big game season, and from all reports the two-day extended season might just have well been forgotten — for rain began falling early Saturday evening and continued unabated until about 5:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Of course, on the higher elevations this moisture came down in the form of snow, depths of up to six inches being reported in some of the sections near Bovill and Deary.

All in all, this season was without a doubt the poorest in many, many years so far as big game kill was concerned. Many of the local hunters (and we mean hunters, not green horns) completed the season without a kill, and others found themselves lucky to bag a deer or an elk — not both.

Roy Glenn, who takes as large an interest in big game as anyone in the area, says it is his belief that the slaughter allowed in this area some four years ago, and the one that occurred last year have seriously depleted local supplies of both elk and deer, and that it will take several years to again bring the herds back up to standard.

We were informed on good authority that the Fish and Game department considered extending the season some 15 days into December, stating they wanted a "600 kill" in this area! Local land owners fought this move and were able to stop it.

It is our prediction that unless the so-called "sportsmen" who hunt this area begin really cooperating with land owners they may well find themselves with no place to hunt. For example: Reliable reports have come to us of "No Trespassing" signs being torn down. A padlocked gate was forced, and portions of the gate driven over by a four-wheel drive vehicle, driving it deep into the mud — and then left open. A house (vacant but in A-1 shape) was entered and doors left open. Fences were cut and fall wheat fields used as "hunting grounds" by so-called sportsmen with four-wheel drive vehicles, severely damaging the tender green wheat and cutting deep ditches in the ground. These later will undoubtedly cause washing and erosion. Others report alfalfa fields used as hunting grounds by vehicles, men too lazy to get out and hunt!

We predict area ranchers and land owners are going to reach the end of their patience pretty soon — and when they do there will undoubtedly be some real trouble!

The policy of the State Fish and Game Department in making this area a "late season" one has never been very popular, and it is growing less and less so!

The 22-minute movie was produced in cooperation with the Oregon and Washington fish and game departments. It shows a family group with the son going on his first deer and pheasant hunting trips. Proper and safe gun handling are emphasized throughout the film.

J. EDGAR HOOVER WRITES ON USELESS TRAFFIC DEATHS

With deliberate contempt, a cold chill of death in the form of traffic fatalities will again hover over our land at Christmastime. Instead of a season of reverence and joy, to many it will be an occasion of grief and sadness. Based on past statistics, we may expect a shocking toll of approximately 600 motor fatalities during the four-day holiday week-end.

According to the National Safety Council, 38,000 lives were claimed by traffic accidents during 1961. Some 1,400,000 persons were seriously injured, and motor vehicle accidents cost our nation approximately $6,900,000,000. Traditionally, December was the leading month and Christmas led the major holiday periods with 523 immediate deaths and an estimated 177 later deaths as a result of injuries sustained.

Where will this perennial mass slaughter stop? How long will our people tolerate this senseless waste of human lives? Why is not something done to erase the dread of highway carnage which haunts every community during a national holiday? The answers, to a large degree, rest with the potential victims — the motoring public.

The privilege of driving a motor vehicle is no mean responsibility. An alarming percentage of motorists apparently feel they are immune from traffic laws. Many who are model citizens at other times become veritable maniacal monsters behind the wheel. Not only do they violate the rules of the road, but also a goodly portion feel they should be allowed to do so with impunity. Such ridiculous reasoning is a prime example of the obstacles preventing a marked reduction in traffic deaths.

One of the great achievements of our age has been the advent of the motor vehicle. It is indeed ironic that a society which owes so much to this significant accomplishment is unable to cope with its devastating side-effects. Long since recognized as a vital necessity in the complexities of our work-day world, the automobile in the hands of speeding or drunken drivers is also a mortal weapon.

Traffic authorities consider drunk driving and excessive speed the two greatest menaces on the road. The statistics bear them out. Some of the studies show 50 per cent or more of the fatal accidents involved drinking drivers or drinking pedestrians. In 1961, excessive speed was a contributing factor in 33 percent of the fatal accidents.

Another perplexing aspect of this nation-wide dilemma is the unrealistic approach by the average driver to basic safety measures. For example, a father who spares no expense in providing security and care for his loved ones will bundle them into a mechanically faulty automobile and race along the highways with no sense of guilt. Oftentimes, in an emergency, the car fails and tragedy results. Needless to say, the father has also failed. Last year, one out of every six vehicles given safety checks was in need of maintenance and attention for safe driving.

As the fleeting days of 1962 wing by, American motorists should make one New Year's resolution early. Let each driver resolve that the joyous holiday season ahead will not be marred by deadly traffic accidents due to carelessness and negligence. Those who rebel, those who flout and violate traffic laws should be dealt with sternly.

Let the Christmas spirit of "peace and good will" prevail along our nation's highways, and let all citizens strive to make Christmas, 1962, a holiday free from traffic deaths. — J. Edgar Hoover, Director F. B. I.

WHAT TO DO FOR HEART ATTACK

Boise — How can you help someone who seems to be having a heart attack if you are the only person on hand?

The first and most important thing to do in case of a heart attack is to call a doctor at once, says the Idaho Heart Association.

You should also help the patient take a position most comfortable for him or her (usually half-way between lying and sitting), loosen tight clothing and see that he or she does not become chilled. Do not attempt to carry or lift him or give him anything to drink without the doctor's advice.

In a leaflet entitled "Heart Attack," the symptoms of heart attacks are listed and an explanation given on how atherosclerosis, the condition responsible for most heart attacks develops. For a free copy drop a postcard in the mail addressed to: "Idaho Heart Association, 320 Eastman Building, Boise, Idaho." Be sure to specify "Heart Attack" and include your full name and mailing address.

YEAH, CLEAN CUP!

Three elderly ladies were stranded in a tough neighborhood by car trouble just at tea time, so they reluctantly stopped in at a local greasy spoon and ordered from the grizzled waiter.

"I'll have a cup of strong tea," said one, "and no lemon."

"Some weak tea and lemon," said the second.

"Tea for me, too," said the third,

"but be sure the cup is clean."

The waiter dutifully wrote down their instructions and returned in ten minutes with their orders.

"Okay," he grumbled, "who gets the clean cup?"

ELECTRICAL GIFTS ARE PLEASING

Christmas shopping "electrically" can cut down pre-holiday exhaustion and step up your gift-giving success, according to Dorothy Smith, Home Economist for the Washington Water Power Co.

"A small electric appliance that you've chosen carefully," Mrs. Smith said, "will show the receiver that you like him or her well enough to give something useful as well as attractive."

When you shop at the housewares counters you'll see today's small electric appliances are newly designed and color-styled to be as handsome as other contemporary home furnishings. They are equipped with improved automatic controls, they operate more efficiently and are easier than ever to use and clean.

It's a good idea, Mrs. Smith points out, to first list all the people to whom you're giving Christmas gifts, and then to make another list of all electric housewares you can think of from blankets, blenders, bottle warmers and toasters to skillets, shavers, toasters and waffle irons. Chances are that when your list is complete you'll have decided on the right gift for "most everyone." After that the shopping will be easy. Here are some suggestions from Mrs. Smith to help you choose the perfect gift.

For homemakers: Electric blender, broiler, coffee grinder, coffee maker, pan, skillet, steam iron, toaster, waffle iron, vacuum cleaner, table radio.

For a man: Electric blanket, knife sharpener, clock, shaver, drill, sander, sander, builders saw.

For the senior citizen: Electric blanket, fan, heating pad, massager, vaporizer, wall or table lamp.

For young people: Electric blanket, clock, corn popper, ice cream freezer, shaver, electric iron, hot plate, coffee maker, toaster, griddle.

TELLING THE IDAHO STORY TAKES LOTS OF MAIL

Boise — Three and a half million pieces of specially directed mail — that's what world interest in Idaho calls on the state's Department of Commerce and Development to have out by the beginning of Idaho's Centennial Year, 1963. "And in the past seven years of the department's existence — as of October, 1962 — the department has mailed out 3,338,265 pieces," says Louise Shaduck, executive secretary. These go all over the world answering individual inquiries and supply the demand for information about Idaho as required by travel-promoting centers and authorities. In addition, the department's personnel also carries on a large volume of correspondence on a person-to-person basis, furnishing answers which require special attention and study.

"Three and a half million is a big count. It's seven times Idaho's population; more than the population of many of the nations of today's world. Inquiries come from all the fifty states and seventy-two foreign countries, even from several behind the Iron Curtain!

California, New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois show top interest among the states, but Texas is showing increasingly big interest in a typically Texas way. Our big neighbor, Canada, is tops in the inquiries from other lands. But Argentina, Brazil and England show interest from the Atlantic ocean side, and impressive inquiries come from Australia, Indonesia and New Zealand on the Pacific side.

Most inquiries come in as a result of the department's advertising and publicity campaigns. The letters and publications sent out in reply include over 200 separate items — everything from folders on cities, towns, resorts, motels, camps, etc., to guide books, souvenirs, maps, statistics — even requests for re-locating businesses and purchasing farms, and inquiries about Idaho cooking."

Clarence A. Jensen, chairman of the Latah ASC County committee urges producers to attend one of the 7:30 evening meetings as scheduled and listed below:

ON CHRISTMAS TREE CUTTING

Boise — As the Christmas season draws nearer and nearer — the thoughts of Christmas trees and their cutting enters the mind of the average American, especially in the rural and semi-rural areas.

The State Department of Forestry reminds those who cut for themselves or commercially — that a permit is required if any trees are to be cut on state or federal lands and with the cutting goes, in most cases, supervision of the cut.

There is a heavy penalty for violation of regulations.

In the same vein private timber owners should watch for the indiscriminate cutter. They have the right to make "citizen arrest" and prosecute those who trespass.

Therefore, if you wish to cut your own tree, or cut commercially, be sure you have the proper right before taking that step.

WHEAT MEETINGS ARE SCHEDULED

Moscow Nov. 29 — The Latah ASC county committee will explain the 1963 wheat program, and some details of the barley program, in scheduled meetings throughout the county. The fall sign-up for 1963 wheat diversion ends December 14, 1962. However, there will be a spring sign-up for both wheat and barley, the dates to be announced later.

Clarence A. Jensen, chairman of the Latah ASC County committee urges producers to attend one of the 7:30 evening meetings as scheduled and listed below:

Farmington, Dec. 3 — Ladies Aid Hall.

Deary, Dec. 4 — Grange Hall.

Kendrick, Dec. 5 — Firemen's Hall.

Moscow, Dec. 6 — Latah County Grain Growers.

Cornwall, Dec. 7 — Gun Club.

Troy, Dec. 8 — Grange Hall.

Kennedy Ford, Dec. 10 — Grange Hall.

Genesee, Dec. 11 — Genesee Union Warehouse Co. building.

Remember — Happiness multiplies as you divide it with others.

TRUE, VERY TRUE!

It has now been proved beyond doubt that smoking is the major cause of statistics.

Let him that would move the world first move himself!

Burning the candle at both ends is one way to go out like a light!

Remember — Happiness multiplies as you divide it with others.

Who Pays For Schools?

In Washington, the investor-owned electric companies paid school taxes that averaged $7.61 per pupil. In contrast, the PUDs paid only $2.40 and the municipal utilities $1.11. The astonishing unevenness in the way this tax load is spread has been detailed in the Lock Research report just released. The comparative smallness of public power's "payments in lieu" shows up clearly.

It is true, taxes collected from customers by both public and investor-owned utilities help pay for public schools. The big difference, however, is the fact that investor-owned electric companies pay about three times as much out of each revenue dollar collected from customers as do PUDs.

If investor-owned paid taxes of only $2.40, instead of $7.61, they could reduce electric rates and in addition continue dividends to many thousands of stockholders (something PUDs don't believe in), continue good service, community helps, steady payroll, and local purchases.

To put it another way: if PUDs and other public power in Washington were required to pay a fair share of taxes now being collected from customers, but withheld, our schools could be improved by $3,000,000 annually.

Children Thrive on Compassion In March of Dimes Arthritis Fight

"We study the child, not the laboratory report."

When Dr. Jane Borges, director of the March of Dimes-financed Arthritis Special Treatment Center at the Home for Crippled Children in Pittsburgh, Pa., says this, she isn't trying to put the laboratories out of business.

But she is trying—and succeeding—in putting children stricken with rheumatoid arthritis back in the important business of leading nearly normal lives.

Juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, which afflicts 30,000 youngsters in the United States, is a cruel disease which comes and goes like a thief in the night. Seemingly healthy children suddenly contract high fever, swollen and aching joints, rash, anemia, and severe involvement of body organs. Many suffer deformities of the limbs. Total or partial disability often occurs.

Despite continuing research, neither the cause of juvenile rheumatoid arthritis nor the reason for its unpredictable cycle of recurrence is yet known.

Prevent Side-Effects

What Dr. Borges and a growing number of experts in the treatment of rheumatic diseases do believe they know is how to prevent much of the permanent physical, mental and social scarring which have been agonizing by-products of this disease for so long a time.

Rejecting old theories of prolonged bed rest and virtual isolation, these innovators have introduced the rheumatoid arthritis child to programs of intensive therapy and close contact with children of the same age group. They encourage regular school attendance.

At the same time, education of the family in all aspects of the illness is begun early by the physician with diligent follow-up by the social worker.

Successful Results

In most cases, successful results have been achieved.

At the March of Dimes-supported center in Pittsburgh, for example, Dr. Borges last September admitted a 12-year-old girl who could not move her shoulders, elbows, or arms. She contracted rheumatoid are still the same. The disease is still there. But the individual is not the same person we saw in the beginning.

"By also treating the emotional and environmental problems associated with juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, not just the physical ones, we are often able to change attitudes of despair to ones of cheerfulness and hope."

A prominent Canadian physician and specialist in juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, Dr. William M. Gibson, recently described the ideal treatment setting as "an area where personnel acquainted with the problem of arthritis in children are present every time the patient is seen."

Arthritis Special Treatment Centers, supported by local chapters of The National Foundation with March of Dimes funds, are already providing this service in Pittsburgh through Dr. Borges, and through her colleagues in many other American cities.

Additional centers are planned—centers of hope where parents can read the future in their children's faces, not in the laboratory reports.

RIVER GOES ON RAMPAGE

Last Sunday afternoon and evening following the heavy rain of Saturday night, the Potlatch river was running thick with mud, and was without a doubt at its highest point in many months. Its roar could be plainly heard on the old schoolhouse hill.

When the rain ceased, the river dropped almost as rapidly as it rose, and by Monday morning was down to about regular winter flow — although still heavy with mud.

It is said that most of the mud is coming from logging and slash roads, rather than from fields, as to date very little field damage has been reported.

WANT SPRING FLOWERS IN WINTER?

U. of I., Moscow — Spring bulbs blooming indoors in mid-winter? Quite possible, according to William H. Snyder, University of Idaho horticulturist. It can be done with careful planning and a little work.

Snyder recommends shallow pots or bulb pans, but ordinary deeper pots can be used. Fill with a mixture of one-third each good soil, sand, and compost or peat moss. If peat moss is used, add a teaspoonful of a complete garden fertilizer for each six-inch potful of the mixture. Arrange a few pieces of broken pottery over the hole in the pot for drainage. Set the bulb points up so the tips are about one inch below the surface of the soil.

After planting the bulbs, the pots should be placed in a cold area such as a root cellar, a window well outside a basement window, or in a foot-deep trench outside where the pots are covered with soil and then mulched deeply to prevent hard freezing. The procedure, Snyder explained, is necessary to promote the growth to the point where the bulb's roots fill the pot.

Check the pots a month after planting. If the roots fill the soil, the plants are ready for forcing into bloom indoors. But this should be done carefully: First in subdued light, then gradually into a full-sunny window. If plants are short and stubby, make them taller by placing over the pot an opaque paper cone with the top open. Keep them well watered.

As for good bulb varieties for indoor forcing, here are Snyder's suggestions: Narcissi — King Alfred, Beersheba, Mt. Hood, Cheerfulness, Texas. Tulips — Keizerskroon, Goya, Prince Carnival (both single earlies), Orange Nassau, Peach Blossom and the spectacular and showy Darwins.

Bring in a pot of bulbs every week or two, and you'll have blooms in your home through April, Snyder concluded.

SMYLIE TO GIVE ADDRESS

U. of I., Moscow — Gov. Robert E. Smylie will give the Commencement address, June 9, at the University of Idaho, it was announced by D. R. Theophilus, president.

Smylie's speech will mark the first time in university history that a governor has given the Commencement address. For many decades it has been customary for Idaho's governor to be an honored guest and give brief remarks at the exercises, but he has never made the main address.

The first address was given in 1896 by William E. Borah, then a prominent Boise attorney. Since then the address has been given by national figures from many different walks of life.

Two dimwits each had a horse, but had a terrible time telling them apart. They cut the mane off one horse, but it grew back. They cut the tail off the other, but it grew back. Then they measured both horses and found the white horse was four inches taller than the black one.

Winter tires? Yes, a must in this area. Come in and talk it over with us. We'll trade, and you can drive out on new ones for just a mighty little bit.
