ELECTRICITY USE
AT NEW HIGH IN WWP CO. AREA

New record highs in average customer use of electricity, sales, earnings and other phases of operation are highlighted in the 73rd Annual Report of the Washington Water Power Co., now being distributed to the firm's 23,785 shareholders.

Color photos of the Inland Empire residents who are WWP shareholders are used throughout the report.

In a letter published in the report addressed to shareholders, company officials point out that 1962 gross revenues totaled $45,206,926, of which $8,948,713 was attributed to the sale of natural gas. Gas revenues were up 12 percent over the previous year.

The company's average residential customer used 9,375 kilowatt hours of electricity last year, an increase of 317 kilowatt hours per customer over the previous year. Commercial power use climbed to a record of 31,426 kilowatt hours per customer. WWP reports that at year-end of 1962, it had a total of 24,010 natural gas customers in sixteen Inland Empire communities.

In January, 1962, the company established a new record for power use when it served a system peak demand of 689,000 kilowatts. However, in January of 1963, a new peak of 717,000 kilowatts was established. The company estimates the peak load will be 1,000,000 kilowatts by the early 1970's.

A ten-year summary in the report indicates that WWP's gross utility plant investment has climbed from $138,821,000 in 1953, to $293,492,000 in 1962 — an increase of approximately $157,000,000 in just ten years.

DENTAL HEALTH
UNIT TO CALL

In cooperation with our local schools and P. T. A., the Idaho Department of Health is bringing the mobile dental health unit to the Juliaetta Grade School on Wednesday and Thursday, April 17 and 18, to conduct a dental health education program. Children who are four (4) years old or in the second (2nd) or fifth (5th) grade are eligible for the program — if accompanied by a parent!

Each child will receive a dental examination which will be discussed with the parent, a rapid polishing of the teeth, an application of stannous fluoride, which helps to reduce tooth decay, a toothbrush, and individual tooth brushing instruction.

If you have children who are eligible, and would like to take advantage of this (if you have not been contacted) please call Mrs. Bob Watts, chairman.

A Service of The Thor Research Center For Better Farm Living

QUESTION: The crawl space under our home has become increasingly damp over the summer and is causing the boards in our paneled kitchen to warp. The floor in the crawl area is earth. Will it be necessary to cement this floor or is there any other way I can reduce the dampness?

ANSWER: If there is no evidence of water on the earth floor, your problem may be ended by overlapping two layers of waterproof roofing felt on the crawl area earth and placing screened vents in the foundation wall about 10 to 12 feet apart to give the crawl space a cross ventilation.

Discourage moisture in crawl space by covering 6 inches of gravel with overlapping roofing felt.

If water vapor rising through the earth is saturating the air to a great extent as may be the case with boards warping, however, it may be wise to cover the earth with about 6 inches of coarse gravel before putting down the roofing felt. Some manufacturers have marketed heavy plastic sheets for this specific purpose. Again, be certain there is adequate ventilation.

The warped panel boards easily can be replaced by matching the lumber and using your portable electric saw to cut the boards to the exact dimensions. Even the new portable electric jig saws with rip-guide attachments now are capable of cutting lengths of board to true dimensions.

READER'S TIP: Recently my hot-water heater sprang a leak, and I was unable to get a repairman on the scene for a couple of days. What I did for a temporary stopgap may be of interest to other Weekly Handyman readers whose water heater or water softener tank spring leaks.

I fashioned a rubber washer from some old inner-tube rubber. Then, I drove a self-tapping screw into the hole, using the rubber washer as a sealer, and the leak disappeared!

(Questions or tips about do-it-yourself problems are welcomed. Send them to the Thor Research Center, Marengo, Ill. They will be discussed in this column or answered by mail.)

DRINK AND DEAD GIVE NO OPINIONS

Boise — Is it worse for a drunk to ignore a stop sign and cause a traffic death than it is for a sober driver to run a stop sign and kill someone?

Is the drunken center-line straddler more of an offender than the temperate middle-of-the-roader if both of them cause a death?

Such questions are touchy and are undeserving of answers.

Only four percent of Idaho's 1962 death car drivers were positively identified on the record as having been drunk. Another eight percent were listed as "Had been drinking," which could mean anything from a nip or two of beer to utter intoxication.

Of the total of 89 imbibing fatal accident drivers, 18 of them were their own victims. The other 21 whose drinking contributed to the deaths of others and lived to tell about it, might or might not have been prosecuted. The record isn't very clear.

It is almost unanimously agreed that the drunken driver should be barred from the highways. The only dissenters are those who like to drink and drive.

Then there's the other 278 fatal accident drivers who apparently were "cleared" of any guzzling at the wheel. At least the record appears to indicate that no alcohol was involved. However, many of them ignored stop signs, drove on the wrong side of the road, attempted to round curves at excessive speeds, passed other cars with insufficient clearance or went to sleep at the wheel without the aid of stimulants or sedatives. Dead are 127 of these sober drivers.

No matter what the transgression, 272 people are dead as a result of Idaho's traffic accident in 1962.

It might stagger the imagination at "what might have been" had not the Idaho State Police record shown that 91 percent of their moving traffic arrests were made before drivers were involved in accidents.

IDAHO FACTS OF HISTORY

On February 14, 1859, Oregon was admitted as a state and later Idaho was included in Washington for four years after that.

E. D. Pierce discovered gold on the North Fork of the Clearwater in early 1860. His discovery was closely followed by another on Canal Gulch at Pierce.

Franklin, Idaho's first permanent white settlement, was founded by fourteen Mormon families, April 14, 1860.

John Mullan completed his wagon road (which crossed North Idaho) from Walla Walla to Fort Benton, connecting the navigable waters of the Columbia and Missouri rivers on August 1, 1860.

Shoshone county, which was created by the Washington Legislature in early 1861, cast the largest vote in that year's election because of the Idaho gold rush.

The George Grimes' party discovered gold in the Boise Basin on Aug. 2, 1862. Grimes was killed by the Indians seven days later. Idaho Territory (including later Idaho, Montana, and almost all of Wyoming) was signed into being by President Abraham Lincoln on March 4, 1863.

Virginia City gold discoveries occurred in Idaho Territory, east of the Rockies in May, 1863. Along with the East Bannock mines, the Virginia City excitement led to the creation of Montana Territory from eastern Idaho, only one year later. Idaho City and Centerville were founded Oct. 7, 1862, by mining parties returning to work after the Grimes killing in the Boise Basin. Judge Ethelbert Patterson Oliphant opened court at Pierce, Sept. 1, 1862, bringing regular administration of justice to the Idaho region.

You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift; you cannot strengthen the weak by destroying the strong; you cannot help the poor by destroying the rich; you cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn. — Abraham Lincoln.

"Mother, daddy's lying on the porch. I think he's unconscious," said the little girl to her mother. "He's holding a paper in his hand and there's a round box beside him."
"Oh, that's wonderful," answered the mother. "My new Easter hat has come!"

Yeah, we know, the weather has given spring work a set-back. So take time out now and check up on your supplies of gasolines, motor oils, greases and lubricants

— then call us at 4251 for Union Products!

Tom: "My, but the girl you just introduced me to is magnetic!"
