WEATHER COOLS, BUT IS BEAUTIFUL

The heat wave of last week has passed on — but still with us is beautiful Indian Summer weather! The days have been almost cloudlessly sunny, and comfortably warm — but the tiny droplets of rain that have fallen haven't even put down the dust.

Farmers say they are almost completely helpless so far as fall work, particularly plowing and seeding are concerned, and rain is badly needed.

Wednesday morning as we go to press it is raining — noth hard — but as though it meant it. This brings a smile to the face of the farmer, but will probably stop logging operations.

NATIONAL SCHOOL LUNCH WEEK NEXT

Boise — Proclamation: Whereas the national school lunch program helps make it possible for our young people to enjoy a lunch rich in the essential elements of a delicious and good diet, and helps them to learn the benefits to be derived from good nutrition; and

Whereas the serving of a nutritious lunch to 67,500 children daily, in 476 schools, entails the consumption of foods from the entire range and variety of items that are so abundantly produced by our farmers, and the employment of the unexcelled skills and the techniques of our highly developed food-marketing system; and

Whereas the National School Lunch program represents one of the nation's best examples of a cooperative local-state-federal partnership for the benefit of a most important segment of our population;

Now, therefore, I, Robert E. Smylie, Governor of the State of Idaho, do hereby proclaim the week of October 13, 1963, as National School Lunch Week in Idaho, and I urge our people to increase their understanding and awareness of the significance of the school lunch program to the child, to the home, to the farm, to industry, and to the nation.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Idaho, at Boise, the capital, the 17th day of September, in the year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-three, and of the Independence of the United States the One Hundred and Eighty-eighth.

ROBERT E. SMYLIE,
Governor of the State of Idaho

Moscow — Effective Oct. 1, 1963, farmers will be able to graze the acreage they diverted under the 1963 Feed Grain and Wheat Stabilization program, Clarence A. Jensen, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County committee, announces. This applies uniformly throughout the county.

He stresses that this particular provision applies only to grazing the feed grain and wheat diverted acres. Hay may not be harvested from such acreage.

Further, the soil bank acreage may not be grazed or hay harvested therefrom for the entire year.

CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN DATE HAS BEEN SET

Moscow — Noted Idaho authoress, Mrs. Grace Jordan, has been named Honorary Chairman of the 1963 Christmas Seal Campaign, to be launched here Nov. 15th by the Idaho Tuberculosis Association.

John Ikeda, chairman of the Latah County Tuberculosis Committee, was notified of the appointment this week by Rulon Dunn, president of the state association. In a statement emphasizing the reasons for the choice Mr. Ikeda said: "During the coming year, more than ever in the past, our counterattack against disease will focus not only on TB but on the entire spectrum of respiratory diseases, and disorders of breathing.

"When we realize that this group of ailments is the fourth largest killer in the United States, it's obvious that a tremendous job is waiting to be done in addition to our continuing campaign to wipe out TB.

"To help meet that challenge, the importance of this year's Christmas Seal Campaign must be clearly emphasized to every resident of this state. We feel that Mrs. Jordan is eminently qualified to fulfill the task and have complete confidence in a record outcome of the drive under her guidance."

Mrs. Jordan said: "I am confident that the people of this state will want to give us 100 percent support."

Ninety-three percent of the funds collected are used to combat these diseases in this state.

STRIPE RUST IS REAL THREAT TO WHEAT

U. of I., Moscow — A stripe rust threat that could be more serious than any previous, hangs over winter wheat seedlings being made in southern Idaho this fall. Wheat farmers who have learned from experience that stripe rust can cut yields by 40 to 70 percent will plant resistant varieties. But many of the growers are staying with Itana and Columbia wheats. These varieties are easy targets for the rust organism.

Wide use of rust susceptible winter wheat varieties plus heavy concentration of stripe rust inoculum on host plants across southern Idaho promises a 75 percent chance of serious economic loss to wheat growers. This warning comes from Harry S. Fenwick, extension plant pathologist with the University of Idaho.

Fenwick's suggestion to growers is that they use wheats resistant to stripe rust for remaining fall plantings, and plan to use resistant varieties of wheat for spring seedlings. The new Gaines wheat shows good resistance to stripe rust once the weather warms in the spring — at temperatures above 75 degrees. Most of the hard red winter wheats are also resistant. In fact, most wheats other than Itana, Columbia and the soft white clubs have fair resistance. As for spring wheat, Idaed-59 shows good resistance to stripe rust, but it may not be desirable from a millers' standpoint.

Cereal disease specialists who have seen severe rust losses in wheat fields caution that a good crop of feed wheat is much more profitable than a 40 to 70 percent loss on milling wheat.

Tetanus Deaths Unnecessary, Says AMA Health Official

Despite the outpouring of new "wonder" drugs, man's ancient enemy, tetanus, has not yet succumbed to a cure.

Even so, death from tetanus, or "lockjaw" as it is commonly called, is "almost entirely unnecessary," says Raymond L. White, M.D., Director of Environmental Medicine for the American Medical Association.

"As a disease, tetanus is completely preventable," Dr. White noted. "The only reason it persists is that people fail to get immunized, or fail to maintain their immunity. Out of sheer neglect, three-fourths of the people don't have the protection they need."

Puncture wounds are a common cause of tetanus.

"If it weren't for medicine's continual concern over the possibility of tetanus—if practically every time a physician saw a wound he didn't take precautions against tetanus—the disease would rank much higher among human killers."

Tetanus is caused by a deadly poison emitted by certain bacteria which contaminate certain types of wounds—especially puncture wounds, or wounds with imbedded dirt.

The bacteria itself cannot survive long enough in the open air to infect wounds. But its seeds or spores can.

Tetanus spores are usually produced by bacteria growing within the air-free intestinal tracts of mammals, including man, and reach the ground in animal manure. Within the intestines, bacteria cause no harm to their host, other than to serve as factories for the production of spores.

Once on the ground the spores, which are unaffected by air, and are borne great distances on the wind, can survive for as long as 11 years. Besides cultivated land, they are commonly found in household dust and the grime of city streets. Some have even been detected in hospital operating rooms—tracked in on street shoes.

The spores in some sections of the country are nearly as common as dirt, and await only the right kind of wound to start their chain of infection.

Because of its peculiar nature, tetanus has never been a mass killer like some infectious diseases. It is, however, a vicious enemy, killing 60 per cent of those it strikes.

Development of immunity against tetanus, says Dr. White, requires a series of inoculations

—three injections four weeks apart, followed within six to twelve months by a booster dose. To maintain this protection, additional booster shots are necessary every four years.

"Protection," he said, "should begin early in life—one to two months after birth—for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities.

"But adults need protection too. With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase and with the spore of tetanus in the dust and dirt all about us, we can only look forward to an increase in this deadly disease unless we make better use of our good sense, get immunized and keep immunized."

COMBINE FUN AND LEADERSHIP IN 4-H

In view of what 4-H members report, youthful projects might well become life-long hobbies or even careers.

A high school graduate, who received a 1962 scholarship to start him in college, developed his talent for drawing. Besides helping to promote 4-H in his home town, his art work has benefited school and church. He has completed over 1000 sketches and paintings.

Two other scholarship winners already in college plan to expand hobbies pursued in 4-H. One is a singer of local acclaim and the other a capable leader of games and group activities.

Latest recreation program enrollment figures total nearly 370,000 boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 years. This is an increase of 24,000 over the previous year according to the Extension Service.

New Old-Fashioned Baked Beans

Out of Idaho's bean bags and your scrap bag comes Beanie the Clown with a partner or three. Fun to make while dinner's Pot-o-Beans slow-bakes unattended, sending its tantalizing fragrance all over the house. These Baked Beans have something which cannot be bought—the flavor of Home!

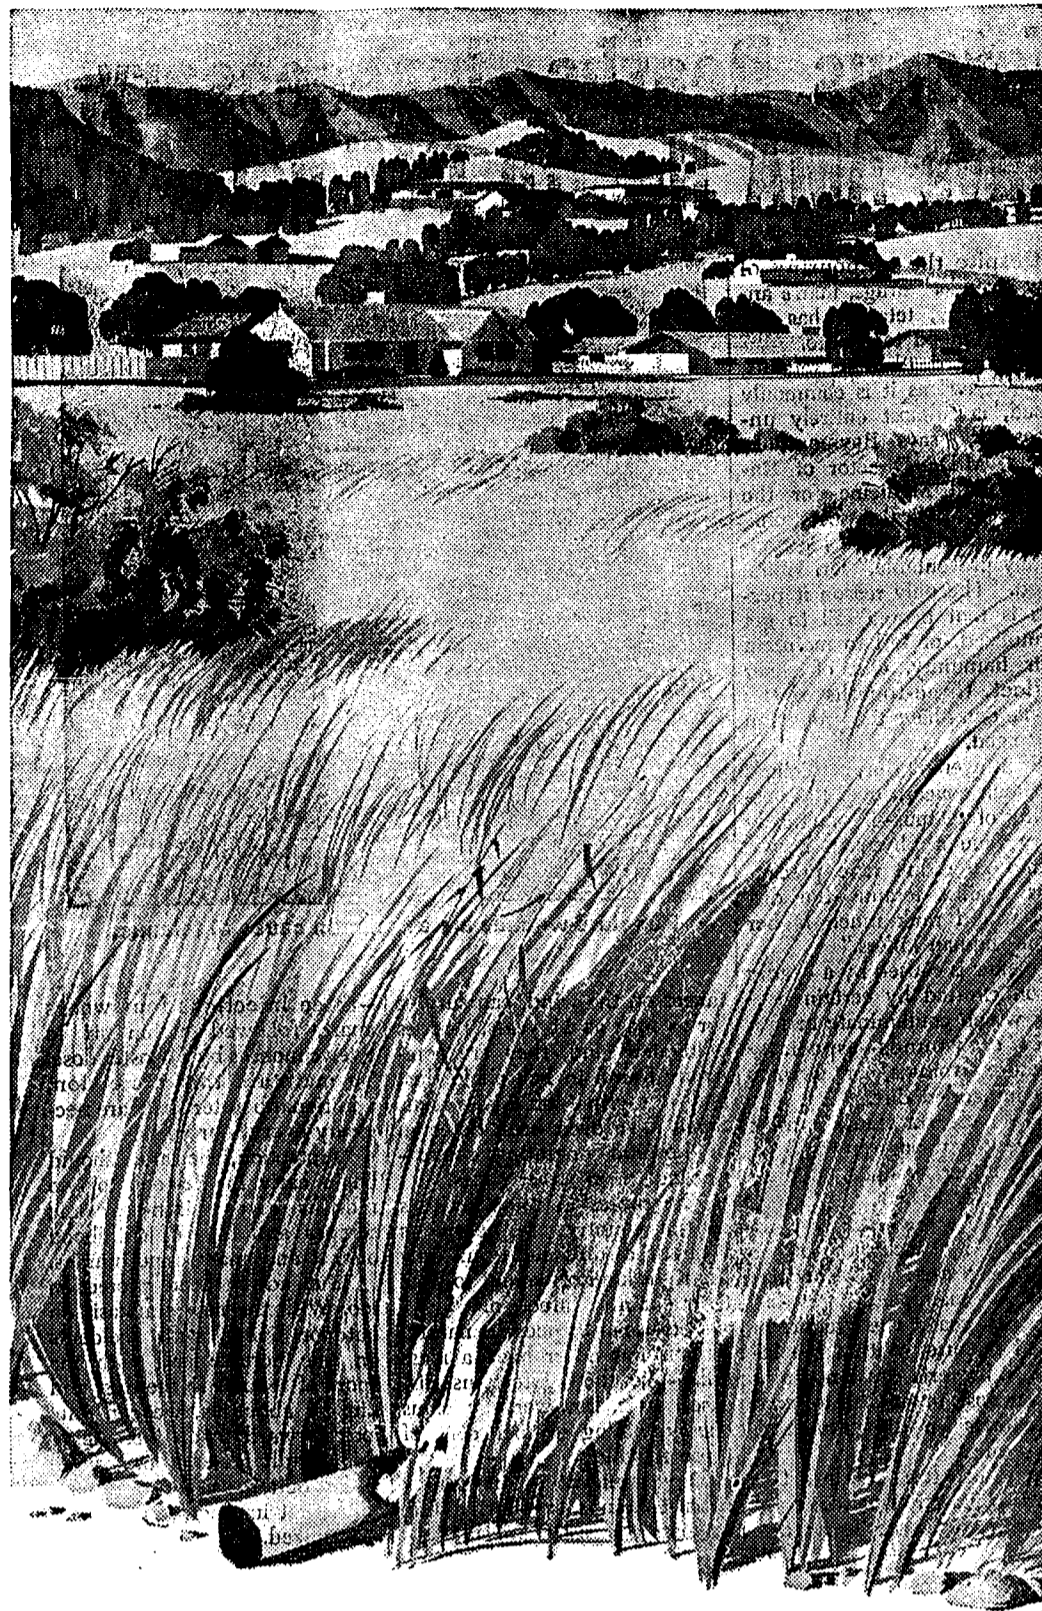

The bean "receipt" is traditional except for the use of Idaho-grown large white Great Northern variety of dried beans. Sometime, break-with-tradition and use instead Idaho's dappled Pinto beans, a flavor treat indeed.

Old-Time Pot-O-Beans

2 pounds (4 and 1/2 cups) Idaho Great Northern Beans, washed and soaked
 2 medium onions, chopped (1 cup) 2 teaspoons dry mustard
 3/4 pound salt pork 2 teaspoons salt
 1/2 cup brown sugar 1 cup molasses

Wash beans; add 3 quarts water. Bring to boiling point rapidly. Boil 2 minutes only. Add 1/2 teaspoon soda. Cover; let stand 1 hour. Or soak overnight in measured amount of cold water and the soda. Either method—bring to boiling point in the soaking water. Add 2 tablespoons salad oil or butter to cut down foam. Reduce heat, cover and simmer until beans are tender but firm, about 1 hour. Using a slotted spoon, place beans in cooking pot in alternate layers with chopped onions and the salt pork cut in 1/2-inch slices. Mix together remaining ingredients with the bean liquid. Pour over the beans, adding enough boiling water so that beans are covered. Put on the tight-fitting lid or foil and lid. Bake in a 250 degree F. (slow) oven for 8 hours, adding some boiling water if beans are not quite covered. Just before serving, remove lid; raise oven heat to brown surface. Makes 12 hearty servings.

Yours for the asking: If you would like a pattern for the Clown Bean Bag, send a post card to Idaho Bean Commission, 212 Continental Life Building, Boise, Idaho.

A BLAZE IN THE BRUSH CAN CAUSE A FLOOD!

A million-dollar flood can be the offspring of a carelessly caused brush fire—one that gets its start when a careless motorist flips a match.

Perhaps not a board foot of lumber is lost. But something else infinitely valuable is destroyed—watershed—brush, leaves, natural mulch that acts like a giant sponge to hold rain water and return it to underground storage.

Slopes burned bare cannot hold rain water. The runoff becomes a flood; spreading destruction and polluting reservoirs. Rich soil is washed away, leaving barren wasteland. Streams dry up.

So don't measure a fire's cost just in terms of timber burned. Watershed, too, is invaluable. And don't forget: nine out of ten forest fires are man-caused. Wherever you go in the country, follow Smokey Bear's rules: break matches—crush smokes—be SURE all fires are out!

Remember—only YOU can prevent forest fires!

4-H TRAINING PAYS OFF IN MANY WAYS

If dreams came true, every 4-H girl who makes her own clothes would promenade before some 2,000 guests and delegates expected at the 42nd National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago the first week of December.

However, the dream will come true for 51 girls representing all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

The 1963 state winner of the 4-H dress revue award will get an all-expense trip to Chicago and a part in the national revue to be presented in the Grand Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton hotel.

When a girl enrolls in the dress revue program, she already knows how to sew. Scoring is as follows: finished garment 25 points; construction 25; suitability of attire and value for money spent, 50 points.

Participation in the dress revue program is only "doing what comes naturally." There's scarcely a girl who passes up a chance to dress up and gain approval of her friends.

Proof that the girls are really trying is that in 1962, from a total of 3,087 counties in the United States 2,425 awarded 25,772 gold-filled medals to girls participating in county and state revues.

Local volunteer 4-H Club leaders and extension workers show the girls how to model; why accessories must be right; the importance of color and design in making a garment. Helpful hints also are given on posture and grooming.

The national 4-H dress revue is a joint production of Simplicity Pattern Co., the Cooperative Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee. Simplicity also pays for the girl's trips, provides funds for the county medals and entertains the 51 winners at a colorful pre-Christmas party.

Girls interested in joining a dress revue group should contact a local 4-H Club leader or the county extension office.

EXPERIMENTS GIVE BASIC FACTS

U. of I., Moscow — Devising simple experiments to illustrate basic facts in chemistry often poses problems for teachers. When a new experiment is found that doesn't require elaborate equipment, it is welcomed by the profession.

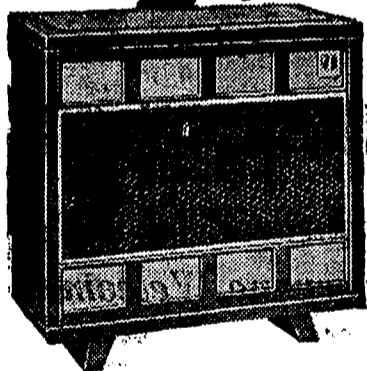

A simple kinetics experiment for the college general chemistry laboratory has been originated by a University of Idaho professor and a graduate student.

A paper explaining a new method that cuts days from the original experiment was written by Professor W. H. Cone and R. A. Hermens, Forest Grove, Oregon, and published in a recent issue of the Journal of Chemical Education.

The paper resulted from research work carried out by Hermens for his Ph. D. thesis under the direction of Dr. Cone.

Hermens received his Ph. D. from the university in June and is now teaching at Millikin university, Decatur, Illinois.
