JULIAETTA DOINGS

MRS. ERVIN MABBOTT Phone 8-2254

Member of Exclusive Club Mrs. Minnie Hicks celebrated her 16th birthday anniversary, Saturday, Feb. 29, at the age of 68. She had to wait eight years for her first birthday anniversary, since she was born in the year 1896. The reason for this was that in arranging the calendar it was found that the year is a little bit longer than 365 days. In fact, the earth takes just under 365 days and 6 hours to make its journey around the sun. To compensate, every fourth year a day is added to February, making what is known as "Leap Year." Enogh minutes are over-estimated to make a further adjustment necessary. By omitting the "Leap Year" in three centuries out of four, all those which cannot be divided by four, the cal-endar comes out even. The years 1800 and 1900 were not "Leap Years" but 2000 and 2400 will be.

Virgil Stone of Riverside, Calif., started a club known as "Eight Years Without a Birthday" to find out how many other people were as unfortunate as he was. So far there are 72 members from all over the United States, Norway and Sweden. Mrs. Hicks is the only resident from Idaho belonging to the club.

They settled at Juliaetta and lived land in the Teakean area, moving given the trees, saying they will just there and farming in that area until 1952, when he sold his farm and returned to Juliaetta. He lived here for the next three years, then in 1955 returned to Virginia, where he had since made his home.

He attended schools at Lapwai, Spalding and Fix ridge. He never married. He was a member of the Juliaetta Methodist Church.

He is survived by three brothers, Marion, Huse and Edward, all of Juliaetta, and numerous nieces nephews and cousins in the Juliaetta area, and in Virginia.

Burial will be in the Ceres, Va.

FOREST RESERVE PROVIDES GRAZING

Missoula -- A total of 144,491 cattle and 154,060 sheep harvested tons of rich forage last year on the 16 National Forests of the Northern Region, Neal M. Rahm, regional forester, reports.

Rahm said the cattle and sheep grazed on an estimated 6 million acres of National Forest range land under 2,335 paid grazing permits.

Paid grazing permits in the U.S. Forest Service's northern region returned approximately $395,700.00 to the U.S. treasurer in the fiscal year 1963. Twenty-five percent of this amount is returned to the counties where earned, for use in building and maintaining schools and roads.

An additional 10,596 animals grazed on these national forests without charge. Most of these were horses and mules used by recreation visitors in remote areas of the national for-

"Livestock grazing on national forests is important to the local economy," Rahm pointed out. "The grazing permits for these public land aid in stabilizing the rural economy.'

Range improvements on these national forests in 1963 included 132 new water developments; 177 miles of new range fences; 29 miles of stock driveway and construction of 58 other range improvements. Prior to 1964 there were 3,650 water developments; 3,070 miles of range fence and 535 miles of stock trails and feedways on northern region ranges. Range fences maintained on National Forests of the northern region would more than reach from Seattle to New York (2,900 miles).

Forage production in recent years has been increased by aerial spraying to control big sagebrush. Last year 11,500 acres were sprayed by helicopters to control sagebrush, and 1,400 acres were re-seeded to desirable forage grasses.

WINTER WEATHER LIKE MARCH

For a solid week this area enjoyed some of the finest spring weather that anyone could wish. The days were bright sunshine, the nights rather cool (readings of about 24 to 28 above) being commonplace.

However, Saturday night rain began to fall here in the valley, and snow on the ridges, and in some areas it reached a depth of four inches. Sunday, about noon, the skies began to clear and it turned into a beautiful day. Here in the valley folks took advantage of it to rake lawns, burn trash, and otherwise get outdoors.

Monday morning a few flakes of snow fell - but then, the last snow of the season always falls during the basketball tournament.

We might add that here in the valley daffodils are up from two to five inches, tulips are poking their heads above the ground, lilac buds are really swelling, and crocus are in bloom. The Potlatch river is carrying a goodly volume, but it is clear, and holding very steady.

THOR RESEARCH CENTER FOR BETTER FARM LIVING

You'll have much more peace of mind when working from ladders if you'll take a few minutes each year to check your ladders and make sure they are in condition.

It's surprising how many people risk their lives on step and extension ladders which experienced carpenters, who use ladders virtually every working day, wouldn't go near. You should make a periodic check of your ladder steps or rungs and the supporting frames to catch any dangerous deterioration before it is too late.

Ladder rungs can be reinforced with wood or metal.

As added precaution with steps and rungs, before they have had time to become loose or weak, it frequently is advisable to reinforce the ladder with wood or metal. This can be done with wood by nailing a support board to the inside of the ladder frame, after wedging the board between two rungs or steps. Or you can use flat stock steel, in the case of a runged ladder, nalling the steel to the side frame and bending the ends of the metal so they fit the contour of the rungs. For a protective finish, we do not recommend paint, but, a clear lacquer instead. This will leave the wood visible so defects can be easily detected.

REPORT FOR FEB.

Moscow — The snow depth on the Moscow Mountain snow course is 44.1 inches more than last year. There are 57.7 inches of snow this year compared with 13.6 inches last year. The records show this month's snow depth is 17.7 inches above the previous 6-year average of 40 inches.

The water content on the Moscow Mountain course shows a substantial increase over last month and also over last year: 16.7 inches more water than last year, and 2.8 inches more water than last month. Although there is 4.3 inches less snow than last month on the course, which had a 61 inch record depth.

The other snow courses on Moscow Mountain are: East Twin, West Twin, Crumarine Creek and Howard Creek. The snow depth on these courses varies from 49.2 inches of snow on East Twin to 31.2 inches at Howard Creek. There was no snow reported for these four courses last year. Water content on these four courses varies from 19.5 inches at East Twin to 10.2 inches at Howard sex crime causation. Text books are filled with them. However, sex criminals for the most part strike knowingly and with deliberate intent. No amount of maudlin rationalization can hide this fact.

The real tragedy of sexual atrocities lies in the suffering of the innocent victim. Unfortunately, in many instances the victims rights are never considered. The sexual degenerate, shielded by an array of technicalities and loopholes, bares his wrist for a light judicial pat, and is soon free to resume his assaults, rapes and murders. - J. THOR RESEARCH CENTER FOR BETTER FARM LIVING

Summer months provide an excellent opportunity to check the condition of the "crowns" on your buildings - the roofs of the house, garage, and, for farmers, the barn, toolshed, and other structures.

Here are some general suggestions and things that can be done for specific kinds of roofs: Sweep the roof valleys clean of leaves, twigs, and other debris. Check these valleys for any signs of rust or holes. A thin coat of roofing cement usually takes care of these troubles.

Roofing cement can be used for temporary gutter repair,

If there are leaks between the valley flashings and the roofing, close them with a coating of roofing cement daubed on the flashing and under the shingles. Remove excess cement to keep it from forming a dam that will drive water under the shingles.

On wood shingled roofs, loose shingles should be nailed tight with galvanized shingle nails, Replace rusty nails with noncorrosive ones. Dab all the nail heads with roofing cement. Leaks in wood shingled roofs can be fixed by slipping a piece of copper flashing all the way around under the shingle. Gutter leaks can be temporarily patched with roofing cement and heavy roofing paper.
