FOREST SERVICE SETS UP TWO NEW SCENIC AREAS

Missoula -- Two new National Forest scenic areas have been established near the Canadian border, in northwestern Montana, Neal M. Rahm, northern region forester, announced this wek.

Ten Lakes Scenic Area covers 6,541 acres in the Kootenai National Forest. In the Galton Range of the Whitefish mountains, with small glaciated basins, clear lakes and mountain meadows, it is about nine miles northeast of Eureka, Mont.

Northwest Peak Scenic Area covers 6,544 acres in the Kaniksu and Kootenai National Forests. Located in the Purcell mountains, the area is approximately 38 miles north of Troy, Montana, and 30 miles northeast of Bonners Ferry, Idaho.

"The areas were established under U.S. Department of Agriculture regulations as areas of outstanding, matchless beauty, which require special management to preserve these qualities," Rahm explained. "The areas will be maintained as nearly as possible in an undisturbed condition.

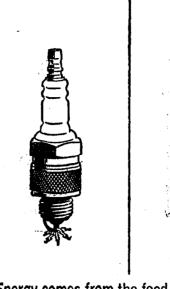

Prominent mountain peaks in the Ten Lakes Scenic area are Green Mountain (7,830 feet), Poorman Mountain, Independence Peak, Ksanka Peak and St. Clair Peak. The area provides summer range for mule deer and a few elk, Grizzly bear and mountain sheep have been reported in the area.

Small game includes blue grouse, Franklin grouse, marten, marmots and rock rabbits. Rainbow and cutthroat trout can be caught in Bluebird Lake, Wolverine lake and Rain-bow lake. There are five perma-nent lakes with a total area of 45

Chief recreation attractions in the Ten Lakes Scenic area are fishing, camping, hunting, horseback riding and hiking. Forest Service trails in the area will be improved. Unloading ramps and hitching racks have bird and Wolverine trails. Garbage and toilet facilities will be installed at popular camping and picnicking

The Northwest Peaks Scenic Area is high ridge country, embracing the headwaters of the West Fork of the Yaak river on the east and American Creek on the west. There are seven lakes in the area, extending over a total of 64 acres. Production of water and recreation are the two primary uses of this area.
