

June is Idaho Dairy Month by proclamation of Governor Robert E. Smylie. With milk in hand, presented by Joe Hall, manager, Idaho Dairymen's Association, he officially salutes the state's dairy industry, whose daily work and dedication contribute so much to the health and prosperity.

The Governor's proclamation stated: WHEREAS, we propose a toast to MILK, the beverage that has helped our children grow taller, our young adults more vigorous, and our senior citizens to enjoy the longest, most productive lives in the history of the world.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, ROBERT E. SMYLIE, Governor of the State of Idaho, do hereby proclaim the month of June, 1965, as DAIRY MONTH, and do encourage all our people to enjoy milk and other dairy foods, and to cooperate in this observance in order that we may enjoy improved health and increased prosperity.

Bridal Shower

Miss Judy Benschoter was honored at a bridal shower Saturday evening in the home of Mrs. Bob Smith. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Perry Mattoon of Troy; Mrs. Wayne Davis, Mrs. Dick Benschoter and Mrs. Norla Callison.

After the playing of fun games the bride-to-be was seated at the gift table, which was gaily decorated with yellow candles flanking a bowl which held red roses, and a miniature bride and groom.

Miss Benschoter was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Walter Benschoter, and a sister, Mrs. Tom Greene of Lewiston, in the opening and display of her many lovely gifts. One item noteworthy was that all of her sisters were present for the shower. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the afternoon.

Lots of Rattlesnakes

Several rattlesnakes have been killed on the ridge this past week. The ones of which we have learned are: Harley Eichner killed four last week; Bob Smith killed one in his barn; Mrs. Rudolph Smith killed one by their back door; Andy Cox killed one by his calf barn, and Wayne Davis one by their front door — and there may be others of which we have not heard.

Better be on the watch this year — as they seem plentiful!

JUDGING CONTESTS BEING HELD AT U.

U. of I., Moscow — More than 400 Idaho Future Farmers and their advisors are now on the University of Idaho campus for the State FFA judging contests (June 16-18).

High school youths from most of the 68 Idaho FFA chapters have entered the annual competition, reports Prof. H. A. Winner, head of the Agricultural Education department. The contests are arranged each year by Prof. Winner's department in cooperation with the State Department of Agricultural Education.

Seven judging contests — livestock, dairy products, farm mechanics, dairy cattle, poultry, crops and meats — and a special tractor driving contest are scheduled during the three days. Chapters may enter three-man teams in any of the judging events, and one contestant in tractor driving.

Teams winning the livestock and meats judging contests will be eligible to enter the National FFA contests at Kansas City next fall. State winners in poultry, dairy products and dairy cattle classes earn trips to Waterloo, Iowa, for the nationals in these events.

Top award of the contests — the high team award — goes to the chapter whose teams make the best overall score in the seven judging contests. Fruitland high school won this title last year.

In addition, three team prizes and three high individual awards will be presented in each event.

University of Idaho staff members will serve as official judges.

GARDEN CLUB

The Hill & Valley Garden Club will meet on Wednesday, June 23, at 2:00 p. m. at the Big Bear Ridge Community Hall. The executive meeting will be at 1:00 p. m.

The lesson will be on "Iris Culture" given by Mrs. Hattie Sparger of Clarkston. For rides contact anyone in the car-pool committee, Mrs. Darrell Brocke, Kendrick; Mrs. Eddie Galloway, Mrs. Frankie Benschoter or Mrs. Gilbert Sproul, the latter of Julietta.

U. OF I. TO TRY THE SEMESTER SYSTEM

U. of I., Moscow — The University of Idaho is today looking to a modified semester system which may eventually lead to classes on a year-around basis. Voted by the General Faculty, the new schedule was approved by the Board of Regents which met here during the commencement week-end.
The Regents also approved the honoring of three persons in the naming of units of the Wallace Residence Center. One two-story unit in the new six-story addition, which will be known as Louise Carter Hall after the retired dean of women, who served from 1944 to 1957. The new addition will house women, and two names from another section of the center will be transferred to the addition — Marguerite Campbell and Maude C. Houston, both former Regents.

The four-story wing, formerly known as Campbell and Houston halls, will now become James E. Graham and Harold Snow halls. The late Graham was a Regent from Rexberg, serving from 1952 to 1960. Snow, of Moscow, is a veteran state legislator of Latah county, and an alumnus of the institution.
Under the modified semester system, which would go into effect in the fall of 1967, classes for the first semester would begin in late August. The second semester would end in mid-May. Under this arrangement there would be two six-week summer session each year instead of the eight-week session now offered.

"The new schedule is designed to give fuller use to facilities," said President D. R. Theophilus. "Students not continuing on with the summer sessions would get out early enough to have better opportunities for summer jobs."
Funds for the system calling for more teaching hours would have to come from the 1967 Legislature, explained Theophilus.
Beginning classes early in the year would allow the university to move into a tri-semester system if a change was desired after two years of conducting the double summer session. The idea to modify the present two-semester, one summer session schedule is not new.
"Faculty committees since 1962 have been studying various systems now operating at universities and colleges throughout the United States," said President Theophilus. "What may work at one institution, however, may not work at another. Our object is to best serve the needs of the State of Idaho."

of Idaho extension agronomist. Roylance and other Idaho representatives attended a recent meeting of the Pacific Northwest Crop Improvement Association at Pendleton, Ore., at which new varieties were discussed.
The new strain — known as Sib 7 until it has a formal name — originated from the same cross as Gaines. Most of the development was done by O. A. Vogel, a crop scientist of the department of agriculture at Washington State University.
Roylance said the variety is similar to Gaines in most respects and has additional characteristics that make it more desirable. Test weight is approximately one pound heavier than Gaines. Yields are slightly higher than Gaines under favorable conditions. The new variety was included in nursery trials the last two years at Aberdeen, Tetonian and Twin Falls. It had higher yield and test weight than Gaines at all three locations.
Sib 7 has short straw and the same resistance to disease as Gaines. The fact that Gaines resists stripe rust, plus its high-yielding ability, have been major factors in establishing Gaines as the number one soft white wheat in the Northwest.
Eleven acres of foundation seed of Sib 7 will be harvested in 1965 at the Pullman station.

High-pressure oxygen therapy has been used successfully to treat tetanus (lock jaw) patients, report doctors at Loyola University, Chicago. The patients were placed in a decompression chamber and exposed to oxygen pressure 20 times above normal, so that the tetanus toxin was "dextoxified." The researchers said that oxygen inhibits the tetanus bacterium from generating the toxin and that they believe this treatment may be superior to conventional drug therapy where the mortality rate of patients still is 30-50 per cent.
Bacon, sliced, prefried and then canned, soon will be commercially available, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The product will be vacuum-packed by a new process developed by USDA researchers. Dehydration of the bacon before canning prevents spoilage.
Tuberculosis could be almost eliminated if available knowledge were organized and used in an efficient manner, says the American Medical Association, but communities must decide whether they really want to work at the control and eradication of the disease, the AMA says TB can be curbed by instituting prompt reporting methods, isolation and treatment of infectious cases and improved case-finding procedures including increased testing.

WATCH AND TREAT CANADA THISTLE

U. of I., Moscow — Canada thistle is one of the most widespread weeds in Idaho, and ranks first or second in total acreage infested. There's a good reason — it's tough to control. But you can control it if you treat at the right time and often enough, says Clarence I. Seely, agronomist with the University of Idaho Agricultural Experiment station. "If you hit the weed with two or three effective spray applications each season, you can usually eradicate it in two or three years," Seely says. "If your crop limits you to one application, you can only hope for control."

In cropland where Canada thistle infestation is general, 2,4-D is still the best chemical to use. It should be applied when the thistle is in the early bud stage. Rates will vary according to the crop — about 2 pounds per acre for spring wheat and barley; 1½ pounds per acre for oats, Seely says.

Rates for pasture can be 2 to 4 pounds 2,4-D per acre. The spray may also knock out pasture legumes, the agronomist warns. Pastures should not be grazed for seven days after treatment.

Canada thistle control with 2,4-D is usually successful in pastures because it is possible to spray two or more times and the hay crop competes with the thistle, Seely says. You will also get a high thistle kill in irrigated crops sprayed early in the season and again after the crop is removed. But don't expect too much in winter wheat. The 2,4-D application must be timed to avoid injury to wheat plants. Thistle is usually either too young or too mature to be killed. If you want to eradicate small areas of Canada thistle, several chemicals are available. Seely suggests TBA, a soil sterilant effective when spray applied in the fall at a rate of 10 to 12 pounds per acre. It is too expensive for widespread use, however. Dicamba can be used at a 4 to 6-pound rate, but is also restricted to spot treatment because of cost. Sodium chlorate is still a good chemical for use in spot treating when properly applied. It is especially valuable on waste land or on cultivated land in non-irrigated areas. Clean cultivation is also effective against Canada thistle in smaller areas. Farmers who can keep an infested patch clean through a crop season or two can usually eradicate the weed.

W. W. P. TO MAKE HUGE TAX PAYMENT

Spokane — A tax payment of $980,697.56 representing the Washington Water Power Company's second half-yearly property assessment in Idaho will be paid June 18. This brings to $1,962,439.78 the company's 1964 tax payment in the Gem State.

Of the ten counties in Idaho receiving payment, Bonner county will receive the greatest amount, $317,727.52 for final payment of a $635,455.06 tax bill for 1964.

In 1964 the W. W. P. served approximately 34,000 residential customers in Idaho, which means that its tax payments to the ten Idaho counties is equal to $57.70 per residential customer served. Annual residential revenue per customer served in 1964 was $131.00, indicating that the W. W. P. returns to Idaho almost one-half of the dollars it receives from these customers. Latah county will receive $79,492 for its second half payment, bringing to $158,984 the taxes received from the W. W. P. for 1964.

W. W. P.'s Moscow District manager, Bill Lowry, will make the payment June 18 in the county tax collector's office. Tax payments by county, with the 1964 total in parentheses, are as follows: Benewah, $26,941 ($57,888); Bonner, $317,727 ($635,455); Boundary, $1,582 ($3,165); Clearwater, $29,298 ($58,596); Idaho County, $34,529 ($69,059); Kootenai, $192,648 ($385,296); Latah, $79,492 ($158,984); Lewis, $24,402 ($48,804); Nez Perce, $181,143 ($362,287); and Shoshone, $90,697 ($181,394).

Lowry pointed out that 19c out of each dollar WWP collects from its customers is paid out by the company in various federal, state and local taxes.

INDIAN PORTRAITS GIFT TO U. OF I.

U. of I., Moscow — Portraits of two Nez Perce Indian chiefs hang in the University of Idaho Student Union building, the result of a gift from an alumnus.

The commissioned paintings of Chief Lawyer and Chief Joseph were unveiled at a special luncheon to dedicate the Chief's Room in the Student Union building. Those attending the dedication included three descendants of the noted Indian chiefs, Margaret Nash Rogers and Douglas Nash, both of Cottonwood, and Amy Tilden Chalmers, Lapwai.

The two paintings were purchased with funds provided by Carl P. Clare of Chicago, a 1929 graduate of the university. Clare, formerly of Chewelah, Wash., is president and chairman of the board of C. P. Clare & Co., electrical manufacturing firm.

They take American friendship with them ... everywhere they go!

They're not the kind of men who often make news. But they carry American friendship—and ideas—into some of the most out-of-the-way places on earth. They are Standard Oil geologists, engineers, technicians.

They explore primitive jungles, deserts, tundras, bayous, even the ocean bottoms, for oil.

When they find oil in far-off places, many other benefits follow. The local country gains a new source of energy, new jobs, new revenues, improved living standards. American cooperation makes stronger friendly nations.
