NO DOUBT ABOUT IT, WINTER'S STILL HERE

If anyone had any doubts about winter still being with us — they were rudely awakened last Wednesday night, when the temperature hit a "bone chilling" 10 degrees above — under skies that fairly sparkled with stars!

However, Thursday morning the temperature began a steady climb — and Thursday night stood at 27 degrees. It was just right to snow, and snow it did, but just enough to whiten the ground, with perhaps a half inch falling.

Friday, with interludes of sunshine, the "official" thermometer hit 40 degrees, and all the snow in the canyon disappeared. However, on the north slopes, the white coating remained.

This temperature and weather were just what the loggers wanted — and loaded trucks rolled through town in an almost continuous stream — logging roads being frozen and operations went ahead on a full-shift basis.

In contrast with a year ago — when area streams were on a rampage — the Potlatch river and its tributaries are extremely low. This level is probably the lowest for this time of year in many years.

Late Saturday afternoon snow began falling, and the storm continued on a more or less intermittent basis until late Sunday afternoon, when skies began to clear and the temperature dropped with about three and a half inches of snow on the ground here in the canyon, and five to nine inches being reported on the ridges.

Monday morning, under cloudless skies the reading here in the canyon on the "official" thermometer was 21 degrees.

Monday night, still under cloudless skies, the temperature dropped to 10 above, then later in the night, as clouds moved in, it rose to 21 degrees for a Tuesday morning reading, with just enough snow having fallen to "whiten the ground."

TIGERS SURGE TO DEFEAT MUSTANGS

The Kendrick Tigers, trailing by 10 point with just four minutes left in the game, pulled ahead 63 to 56 to win over the Deary Mustangs in a high school basketball game at Deary Tuesday night of last week. Deary lead at the half-way point 30 to 23.

Scoring leaders for Kendrick were Bruce Vincent with 21 points and Gary Pea with 14. Ron Zimmerman of Deary hit for 12 points; David Johnson for 11 and Lonny Olson for 10.

Kendrick won the Jr. Varsity contest 63 to 45.

KIRK WILSON, AREA PIONEER, DIES SUN. AT SPOKANE, WASH.

Kirk D. Wilson, 59, a life-long resident of the Kendrick area, and a former employee of Potlatch Forests, Inc., for 28 years, died following brain surgery at the Holy Family Hospital in Spokane at 3:30 a. m. Sunday, January 23.

Wilson, who had been employed on various part-time jobs in the Kendrick area following his retirement from Potlatch Forests, Inc., last year, was injured Saturday when he fell from a scaffolding while painting in a ranch building near Kendrick. He was rushed to the Gritman Memorial Hospital at Moscow by the J-K Ambulance, and after examination there, was taken by ambulance to the Spokane Hospital.

Mr. Wilson was born Feb. 6, 1906, at Kendrick, a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. (Scotty) Wilson. He attended schools on Cedar ridge and Kendrick, and later was employed as a woodworker in the area.

He joined the P. F. I. woods crews in 1937, working first as a sawyer and later as a tractor operator.

He was baptized into the Presbyterian Church.

He married Hazel May Bartlett Jan. 27, 1930, at Lewiston.

Survivors in addition to his widow include two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Watson, Pierce, Idaho, and Mrs. Rose Marie Betts, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; three brothers, James A. Wilson, Clarkston; Bruce Wilson, Elk City, and John Wilson, Kendrick; and four sisters, Mrs. Eva Nelson, Garfield, Wash.; Mrs. Olive Thomas, Deary; Mrs. Grace Cox, Grangeville, and Mrs. Coral Wolf, Kendrick. He is also survived by four grandchildren, David and Duane Watson of Pierce, and Gail and Jay Betts of Coeur d'Alene.

The family suggest a memorial preference to the J-K Ambulance Fund.

Funeral services were held at 1:00 p. m. Wednesday at the Brower-Wann Chapel in Lewiston, with interment in the Lewis-Clark Memorial Gardens, Lewiston.

Further details are lacking at this time.

MALTING BARLEY DEVELOPED BY U. RELEASED FOR USE

U. of I., Moscow — A strong-strawed, two-row malting barley that yields as well as most feed barleys is now approved for production in northern Idaho and eastern Washington.

The variety, Pirolone, was approved jointly by the University of Idaho and Washington State University after the Malting Barley Improvement Association found it to have acceptable malting and brewing qualities.

Pirolone is recommended as a malting barley only in the malting barley growing areas of northern Idaho and eastern Washington. Dr. R. D. Ensign, associate director of the Idaho Agricultural Experiment Station points out. Although it is also one of the best barley varieties grown in eastern Idaho. It is recommended there only as a feed barley.

Long-time tests conducted by U. of I. agronomist K. H. Klages, show Pirolone yields 6 to 10 bushels an acre more than Helms, Hanna and Hannchen, the standard malting barley varieties grown in this region. Similar results have been obtained by Washington State University.

Pirolone has the highest average yield over the past six years in Nez Perce and Idaho county tests, and is tied for the highest in the Latah county plot after seven years, Klages reports. In all three locations Pirolone has yielded as well as Gem, a standard feed barley variety.

Pirolone also has exceptional straw strength and good resistance to lodging, both advantages over currently grown varieties.

An introduction from Germany, Pirolone is a medium-tall variety that matures slightly earlier than most two-row barleys in northern Idaho. Test weight is equal to or better than either the two-or-six row barleys in the Idaho tests. It is moderately resistant to yellow dwarf disease and powdery mildew. Seed supplies of the variety are adequate for demand this spring, Dr. Ensign estimates.

About 1,500 bushels of Foundation Pirolone seed grown at the University of Idaho's Tetonia Branch experiment station in 1965 will be available in northern Idaho. This seed is being distributed to seed growers by the Idaho Crop Improvement Association. Commercial Pirolone growers will find a good supply of 1965 Certified seed from southern Idaho seed growers. In Washington, about 6,000 bushels of registered seed will be available to growers through the state and county crop improvement associations.

Agronomists of the two universities believe the good quality and high-yielding characteristics of Pirolone will encourage growers to select it as the single malting barley variety for northern Idaho and eastern Washington. This would eliminate the various mixtures that have discouraging malting barley buyers in parts of the area.

INSTALL ESCAPE

Ed. Deobald, assisted by members of the Masonic Lodge and Kendrick Grange has been busy for a couple of days installing a fire escape on the Fraternal Temple Building on Main Street.

The escape, designed and built by Ed and helpers, begins at one of the large front windows, to permit easy access. Then turns the corner of the brick wall, to avoid interference with the big display windows of the Kendrick Table Supply, and descends to the sidewalk on the east side of the building.

It is neat in appearance, solidly built, and will meet any emergency that may arise.

Weather Details

Heavy snow blanketed our area over the week-end, leaving us about seven inches of the white, fluffy stuff. It is a nuisance, as it fills and drifts our driveways, making travel difficult, but no one can deny the fresh, clean beauty it portrays on the mountains and in the fields. Several farmers in this area have been very thoughtful in plowing out driveways, and we all wish to say "Thank You" to them.

LOW BLOOD SUGAR FROM MISSED MEALS

She was a lovely blonde with big, trusting brown eyes and long golden curls. She sat on my knee and believed every word I told her. She was two years old, and inclined to be a bit chubby.

Later, when she was in high school, she was still blonde and lovely, but she wasn't chubby any more. She was, if anything, a bit inclined to be thin. I asked her one day what she had for breakfast that morning.

"I didn't have any breakfast this morning," she said.

"What did you have yesterday morning?"

"I didn't have any breakfast," she answered in a small voice.

"When did you last have breakfast?"

"I can't remember," she whispered, giving me a reproachful glance from those lovely brown eyes.

"All right," I said in desperation, "skip breakfast!"

"That's what I do," she said, and skipped away with a giggle before I could question her further about her dreadful eating habits.

A Bad Habit

Girls, much more than boys, tend to go without breakfast, though boys are sometimes guilty, too. Skipping breakfast is an easy habit to slip into, and it is not a good one — for that matter, for any member of the family.

The number of meals a day varies with custom and circumstance. In some countries to-day, five, six or seven meals a day are eaten; these are usually smaller meals than the three-a-day customary in this country. The number matters less than does the regularity.

The body requires a regular supply of food in order to maintain the supply of nutrients available to the tissues at an adequate level. This is true especially of the blood sugar (sugar in the blood) which is the immediate source of energy. When the interval between the evening meal and the first meal the next day is as long as 18 hours, as happens when breakfast is omitted, the blood sugar may fall lower than it should.

Mild Insulin Shock

Low blood sugar creates late-morning inefficiency, drowsiness, fainting and proneness to accident through ineffective coordination. This is a mild form of the insulin shock which happens to diabetics when they get too much insulin or exercise, and too little food. It was what happened to one of my secretaries who responded to my buzzer signal by jumping from her desk and starting to enter my office. On the threshold, she collapsed, in a faint. She had taken a ballet lesson the night before after her supper, gotten up late and skipped breakfast, and had come to work with, literally, hungry blood.

A good breakfast should include fruit, eggs or bacon or both, enriched bread or rolls, milk, butter and jam or jelly, and a beverage. And time enough to eat without gobbling!

PLANNING SESSION

Boise — Annual planning meetings such as this one are shaping up the 1966 programs for the management of Idaho's fish and game resources. Here (from left to right) are Levi Mohler, research coordinator of the Fish and Game department; John R. Woodworth, director of the department; Dr. Kenneth Hungerford, University of Idaho; Dr. Ernest Wohletz, dean of the U. of I. School of Forestry; Roger Williams, chief of game division of Fish and Game department; Errol Nielson, game supervisor; and Dr. Paul Dalke, leader of Idaho Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit.

IMPROVEMENTS SET FOR N. IDAHO PARKS

Seattle — Grants totaling $170,000 from the Land and Water Conservation Fund for six outdoor recreation land acquisitions and development projects in Idaho were announced last week by John A. Carver, Under Secretary of the Interior. The federal grants will be matched by an equal amount of state money.

Sponsored by Idaho's Department of Parks, and Fish and Game, the projects cover the cost of construction, renovation, rehabilitation and expansion of state park facilities. All will aid in meeting the state's increasing demand for water-based recreation and camping areas.

Development aspects include tent and trailer camp sites, boat launching ramps, docks, roads, parking areas, sanitary facilities, utility buildings and water systems.

The areas covered by the projects are: Indian Creek in the Priest Lake area; Ponderosa State Park on Payette Lake; Heyburn State Park on the south end of Lake Coeur d'Alene, and Winchester Park and Recreation area in Lewis county.

The Winchester Park project will include rehabilitation by the fish and game department of a reservoir for public fishing that formerly was a sawmill log pond.

It's A Known Fact!

A CLEAN SWEEP CAN BE IMPORTANT - INDOORS OR OUT - BUT IN THE LONG RUN, IN BUSINESS, A CUSTOMER'S SATISFACTION MEANS THE MOST!

And that's the reason Kendrick's business and professional men don't make use of the many so-called "Sales Gimmicks" that are a part of so many types of businesses today!

They believe that a bargain should be a real bargain — and so carry with it true value — not only to the purchaser, but to the seller — for repeat business is the business on which towns are built — and built to stay!

Money spent at home stays at home! It builds schools and churches, roads, homes, business firms—and pays the taxes that maintain a community. In short — it builds a nation!

SCIENCE COURSES AT U. FOR TEACHERS

U. of I., Moscow, Idaho junior high and high school teachers will have an opportunity for intensive training in their fields next summer through five National Science Foundation and National Defense Education Act institutes provided at the University of Idaho, it was learned today.

Grants totaling $281,464 have been provided to support 201 teacher-students in the summer institutes, which include areas of science and mathematics, educational television, geography and history.

The university received a grant for $100,130 to sponsor a Summer Institute in Science and Mathematics for 75 teachers of those subjects. This NSF institute, directed by Dr. E. F. Raunio (of chemistry), has been provided annually since 1957. It will run during the regular eight-week summer session — June 20-August 12.

A Summer Institute in Mathematics supported by an NSF grant for $45,931 will provide 35 participants eight weeks and eight credits of advanced training. This is the seventh consecutive summer it has been offered. D. J. Walker, associate professor of mathematics, is director.

Thirty-six educators within the immediate broadcast coverage area of KUID educational television may enroll in a six-week NDEA institute for Advanced Study. A grant for $53,150 will support teachers and administrators in the study of educational media, design, production and utilization of educational TV lessons. Assoc. Professor Gordon Law, acting head of communications, is the director.

A $46,000 NDEA grant will support the second Summer Geography Institute for Teachers of Geography and Social Studies. Dr. Harry H. Caldwell, chairman of geography, will be the director. A seven-week institute, it runs from June 20 to August 5 with 30 teachers and supervisors of grades 5 through 12 participating.

Also offered for the second year at the University of Idaho will be a Summer Teacher Training Institute in History with emphasis on Latin America. Dr. Stegfred B. Rolland, professor of history, will direct the training of 25 participants. The NDEA grant totals $36,253 for the operation of the institute.

IDAHO IN LEAD IN SEVERAL CATEGORIES

U. of I., Moscow—Idaho leads the nation in silver and potato production and ranks second with sugar beets. Deaths from motor vehicle accidents decreased in Idaho during the past decade while the national percentage increased.

These varied facts, suspected by many, were gleaned from the 1965 edition of the Statistical Abstract of the United States and published today in the University of Idaho Library quarterly publication, the Bookmark.

"A panorama of progress in America and in Idaho State is unfolded in the Statistical Abstract," write the editors of The Bookmark. "The nation's and the State's steady march into the age of technology and expansion is chronicled in detail in this book. In 1964 there were twice as many people in the United States than there were in 1910, and Idaho State's population more than doubled from 326,000 to 692,000 during the same period. Life expectancy nationwide is up from 51.1 years in 1910 to 69.9 years in 1963."

Other statistics recorded in the December issue of The Bookmark include Idaho's production of potatoes in 1964 — 41.6 million cwt. Maine, second-ranking potato producing state, put out only 39.9 million cwt.

Motor-vehicle accident deaths decreased by 16.5 percent from 1950 to 1963 while the national trend was up 25 percent.

In 1960, there were 102.9 men to every 100 women in Idaho. Per capita personal income in Idaho increased 313 percent from 1940 to 1963 and 50 percent from 1950 to 1963. But Idaho ranks 39th in personal income among the 50 states.

Idaho's manufacturing value rose 94.4 percent from $179 million in 1954 to $348 million in 1963. Principal crops in Idaho in order of value in 1964 include potatoes (first in the nation in production), hay (15th in the nation), wheat (11th in the nation), and sugar beets (second in the nation).

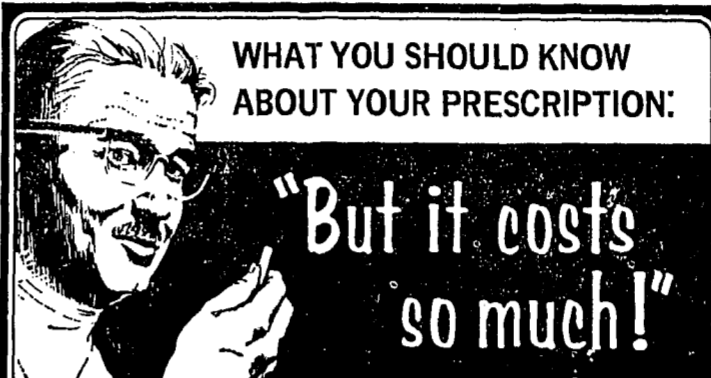

Idaho's production of principal minerals in order of value in 1963 were silver, lead, zinc, sand and gravel. Idaho is the leading producer of silver, producing 16.5 million fine ounces in 1963. This is more than three times the production of second-ranking state, California.

YOU FIGURE IT

Chicago — Licorice is being fed to cattle at the Pennsylvania State university. The cows haven't developed a "sweet tooth," but animal nutritionists have found that the licorice root contains wholesome nourishment. Thousands of tons of the root are imported annually for the few pounds of flavoring that can be extracted. And — what else can you do with used licorice root?

BUSINESS FAILURES

New York — There were 13501 business failures in the United States in 1964, according to financial records. The average dollar loss per failure reached an all-time high of $98,454.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT YOUR PRESCRIPTION:

"But it costs so much!"

Not at all... when you consider the alternatives! Your prescription is one of the biggest bargains in history. The average cost of the nearly 800 million prescriptions filled yearly in the United States is $3.31. What do you receive for that average $3.31?

1. These relatively inexpensive pharmaceuticals may save you and your family hundreds of dollars and perhaps weeks in a hospital.
2. They can help prevent a disease from developing to its most serious and painful point.
3. You are up and around sooner... back to work or play.
4. Less time and wages are lost.
5. And, finally, these pharmaceuticals may have prevented minor, but bothersome, physical impairments resulting from the illness.

Next time you have a prescription filled, consider the medical research and development which went into it... hundreds of years of progress serve you in each prescription... and then consider the alternatives... where else could you buy a better bargain?

For the highest pharmaceutical standards, low prices consistent with quality and the personal attention you can always depend upon, bring your prescriptions to

GEOGRAPHY STUDY TO BE OFFERED

U. of I. Moscow. The University of Idaho has been chosen for the second year as one of 43 colleges and universities in the nation to offer a summer geography institute for teachers of geography and social studies. Dr. Harry H. Caldwell, chairman of geography and director of the institute, announced today.
 The seven-week institute, sponsored by the National Defense Education Act, will run from June 20 to August 5, 1966. Brochures and application forms will be available for prospective applicants shortly after January 3, according to Dr. Caldwell. They should be returned to his office by March 21.
 "The institute is designed to upgrade and update geographic backgrounds with emphasis on analytical and conceptual approaches," said Caldwell. "A faculty of outstanding geography professors will be present at the university for the institute to conduct classes, seminars, laboratory sessions and field trips."
 The 1966 institute will be open to 30 teachers and supervisors between grades 5 and 12, who have a bachelor's degree but less than nine hours of college credit in geography courses. Each teacher selected will receive a stipend of $75 per week plus an additional $15 weekly allowance for each dependent.
 Dr. Caldwell said eight teachers may be selected from Idaho. Preference for the other vacancies will be given to teachers residing in the region between the Great Plains and the Cascade mountains.

HEART FUND DRIVE

Boise — Since diseases of the heart and circulation have become the "Epidemic of the Twentieth Century" the Idaho Heart Fund has become more important to the people of this state than ever before.
 The Idaho Heart Association serves Idaho and its people in many ways — but there are three specific programs:
 1. Drug procurement for the rheumatic fever program of the Idaho Department of Health, supplying over 1,500 residents daily.
 2. Blood procurement for emergency heart operations. Recently 20 of 29 "Heart" operations in Utah were performed on Idaho patients helped by the Idaho Heart Association.
 3. Research — the stroke rehabilitation pilot program at Twin Falls, and the research grants to the College of Idaho are two examples.
 The Heart Fund campaign takes place in February.

ADVERTISING STORY

Spokane — "The Spokane Story," a new 24-minute color slide presentation produced by the Washington Water Power Co. is available for showings before service clubs, community organizations and others in the Inland Empire, according to an announcement made by Gordon F. DeFoe, director of area development for the utility.
 "Even though it is titled "The Spokane Story," the entire Inland Empire is represented in the presentation," DeFoe said. "The slides vividly portray the scenic splendor of the area, existing industries, the abundance of water and the unlimited possibilities for new industry."
 Program chairmen of clubs wishing to see "The Spokane Story" can make all arrangements by calling at their local Washington Water Power Co. office.

PROF. WINS BEE

U. of I. Moscow — University of Idaho Assistant Professor of Journalism, Walter Stewart, emerged the victor in an old fashioned spelling bee at the annual convention of the Idaho Press Association this past week-end in Boise.

 The Spelling Bee was conducted by Mrs. Jamie Thomson of the Publications department of Boise College. The word that Stewart was able to spell that stumped the competition was "entree."

Will Your Chicken Lay a Golden Egg?

Shown here are starting salaries and potential earnings in five of the poultry sciences

The 4-H Club members enrolled in a poultry program soon learn that to raise even a small flock successfully requires some knowledge of the poultry sciences related to feeds, breeds, disease control and production.
 They get this information from extension poultry bulletins, from the local 4-H Club leader and from the extension worker. And applying what they learn often produces the "golden egg" that discloses a future career.
Project Determines Career
 High school students say that experience gained in tending a flock of birds determined their choice of college courses to prepare them for a career in the poultry industry.
 The $6 billion industry in the United States involves scores of specialized fields such as engineering, genetics, nutrition, pharmaceuticals, and large-scale production. And, according to a recent survey made by the Western Poultry Congress, there is a shortage of college trained young people to fill these jobs.
 Among 500 commercial firms surveyed recently, the lowest starting salary for college graduates was $5,000 (see illustration above) and potential earnings over $30,000.
Jobs Go Begging
 What's more, the survey reveals that in one year less than 100 students were graduated with a bachelor's degree in poultry science. There were more than 250 jobs waiting to be filled.
 One prospective employer, Heisdorf & Nelson Farms, Inc., helps to get 4-Hers started in a poultry project, and offers incentive awards along the way.
 Through arrangements made with the National 4-H Service Committee and the Cooperative Extension Service, the firm annually provides six national $500 college scholarships, educational trips to the National 4-H Club Congress and medals for high ranking poultry members in the county.
 Statistics forecast that many boys and girls will leave the farm to earn a living elsewhere. There appears to be a golden egg in the poultry industry.
