GAME DEPT. JETS

Boise — Roaring white water such as Tappan Falls, shown here on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River is a popular Idaho sport. To keep up with increased river traffic on the Snake and Salmon rivers, and to give better water transportation for fish and game management work, the Idaho Fish and Game department now uses two jet boats and large rubber rafts capable of getting through to many places that formed impassable barriers in years gone by. Jet boats are not used on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River, since it lies in the Idaho Primitive Area, where motorized transportation is taboo.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Erwin of the U. of I. spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Benschoter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Heimgartner and Ray were Sunday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Groseclose in Juliaetta.

Mrs. Tom Greene and daughter Debbie of Lewiston were Saturday visitors of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Benschoter, and their house guest, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Erwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bigham of Coeur d'Alene were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Andrews. Mr. Bigham returned home Sunday evening but she remained for a longer visit.

There is no substitute for good food, and you will find every kind to tickle your palate at Blewett's Grocery in Kendrick.

RESEAL AVAILABLE ON FOUR GRAINS

Moscow — Reseal has been announced for four farm-stored grains after 1966 maturity dates, according to Clarence A. Jensen, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee for Latah county.

The reseal program will enable farmers to continue price support loans and earn storage payments on 1965 crops of wheat, grain sorghum, barley and oats. In addition, loans on 1964 crops of the four grains and on 1963 crops of wheat and grain sorghum now under reseal may be extended for another year. Loans on 1962 crops of wheat and grain sorghum and on 1963 crops of barley and oats now under reseal will not be extended.

Under the reseal program, price-support loans on farm-stored grains are extended beyond the maturity date. The loan maturity date for wheat and for grain sorghums was March 31, and farmers should notify the ASCS county office immediately if they wish to reseal these crops.

For the barley and oats loans will mature April 30, 1966.

No reseal program is planned for 1965 crop soybeans in 1966-67 since carry-over stocks probably will continue to be small relative to utilization.

Storage rates will be set later, and will be available at ASCS state and county offices. If a farmer delivers or redeems his resealed grain before the end of the 1966-67 storage period, his storage payment will be based on the number of months the grain is in storage. As in the past, resealed loans are subject to call by the Commodity Credit Corporation at any time.

Current reseal loans on 1962 crops of wheat and grain sorghum and on 1963 crops of barley and oats will mature upon demand by the CCC, but not later than the end of the 1965-66 storage period for each of the crops. As a normal practice in the reseal operation, the older crops are periodically dropped from the program to lessen the probability of deterioration and put the grain in position for movement into various outlets before loss or deterioration occurs.

Mr. Jensen points out that the reseal program facilitates the holding of stocks of grains on the farm for feeding or shipment as demand develops, without unnecessary handling or freight charges. It is also important to have some supplies available in such decentralized storage for disaster or defense reasons.

MAKING CHICKS GROW IS SIMPLE

U. of I., Moscow — Add a small amount of dried egg yolk to poultry rations and chicks will grow 10 to 15 percent faster. The same thing happens if you add whey or fish solubles to the ration.

Agricultural scientists have known this for a long time. But they don't know why. They still haven't separated from these natural products the specific factor that stimulates growth.

Scientists in the University of Idaho College of Agriculture believe they are getting closer to identifying the elusive factor. Using a series of fractional crystallizations at low temperatures and a process known as liquid-liquid extraction, they have attained a 150-fold concentration of the dried egg yolk factor.

Working on the project are Dr. A. C. Wiese, head of the department of agricultural biochemistry and soil; C. F. Peterson, head of the department of poultry science and L. W. Stillway, graduate student in agricultural biochemistry.

When they started their work, the Idaho scientists needed to add 1,500 grams (3.3 pounds) of crude egg yolk to a ration to feed 20 chicks for four weeks. Now just 10 grams of the purified concentrate will give them the same growth response in the chicks.

The University scientists believe the growth factor, once identified, may have value not only with chicks, but in other areas of nutrition as well.

CONTROL WORMS IN LAWNS NOW

U. of I., Moscow — If you're bothered with earthworms in your lawn, spring is the time to control them, University entomologists advise.

Earthworms move to the surface in the spring when moisture fills the air pockets in the soil, notes Roland W. Portman, Idaho extension entomologist. This is also the time when they will cause most lawn damage — damage which ranges from destruction of grass to ruining the surface of the lawn.

You can use one of two chemicals to control earthworms. Use either one-half pound of chloradane or one-fourth pound of actual dieldrin for each 20 by 50-foot area of lawn. These can be applied as sprays or dusts.

Control is effective only when the worms are near the soil surface, so soak the lawn thoroughly before you apply the chemical. Sprinkle the grass again after you use the chemical. This will flush all of the pesticide into the soil and will eliminate any possible health hazard.

One thorough treatment of your lawn should keep earthworms under control for three to five years.

REALLY BURN FUEL

Four-engine cargo jet transports burn an average of 1,859 gallons of fuel an hour, but they can carry a ton of cargo at a cost of only a nickel a mile, says the Federal Aviation Agency.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT YOUR PRESCRIPTION:

The investment behind it

Each year the drug industry invests millions of dollars in research to support the nearly 800 million prescriptions filled yearly by pharmacists throughout the country. This investment results in new "wonder drugs" which let us live our lives longer, healthier. Of the 275 million dollars invested last year more than 130 million dollars went for quality control research. Improved precision measuring and compounding instruments were developed to make even more certain you receive exactly what your doctor prescribes. And the investment also went for developing improved methods of production. As the methods of manufacturing improve, the price of the bulk drug decreases. This saving is passed on to you in lower prescription prices. The "gold pill" of yesterday is purchased today for a nominal amount. Thus, a conscientious, developing industry works to improve the service and quality of the pharmaceuticals you receive today and tomorrow.

For the highest pharmaceutical standards, low prices consistent with quality and the personal attention you can always depend upon, bring your prescriptions to

STATE FUNDS AT HIGH LEVEL

Boise — The First Security Bank of Idaho, N. A., of Kendrick this week received a check from Marjorie Moon, state treasurer, representing its share of the yearly re-portionment of state funds placed in banks throughout Idaho. The local bank received $2,878.00, to be credited to the state account maintained here. This sum was figured on the amount of capital and surplus of the bank as compared to that of all banks in the state eligible to receive state deposits under the Public Depository Law. This brings the total in the state account in the bank here to $46,320.00.

A total of $2,000,000.00 was divided among 112 banks, she reported. Not all banks of Idaho are eligible to receive deposits, only those which put up the necessary security required by Idaho law may receive a state account.

The new allocation brings to $14,000,000.00 the amount of state funds in non-operating accounts in Idaho banks, the treasurer reported.

"We hope to be able to maintain the dormant balance, as long as possible," Miss Moon said, "since such balances play an important part in the economic well-being of an area. During 1965 we were fortunate in that we were able to maintain our dormant balances in the banks throughout Idaho without at any time having to draw in funds for the state's operating accounts in Boise."

IDAHO LITTER LAW

Back in February of 1957, Idaho passed a "Litter Law" which reads as follows:

If any person shall wilfully or negligently throw from any vehicle, or place, or deposit upon or alongside of any highway, street, alley or easement used by the public for travel, any debris, paper, litter, glass bottle, glass, nails, tacks, hoops, cans, barbed wire, boards, trash or garbage, lighted material, or other waste substance — such person shall upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not to exceed $50.00 or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ten days.

For the purpose of this section, the terms "highway," "street," "alley" or "easement" shall be construed to include the entire right-of-way of such highway, street, alley or easement. The Highway Department is directed to post along state highways at convenient and appropriate places, notices of context of said law.

LOTS OF WATER

About 326 million cubic miles of water exist on this planet, but more than 99 per cent of it is in the form of brine and ice in oceans and inland seas, reports the Department of Interior.

KEEPING FOOD QUALITY HIGH

To say that this fortunate country has the finest food supply in the world is not to boast, but merely to state an established fact. How did it get that way? What keeps up the standards? To begin with, we have a highly developed scientific agriculture, which is the backbone of your food supply. We have wide-ranging fishermen. We import exotic foods from all corners of the earth, and we help feed a large percentage of the more needy people around the world. Our Nutritional Wealth. The steady development of scientific farming and stock-raising, and of milk, poultry and egg production, is the beginning of our nutritional wealth. Transportation and distribution also play a large part in the regular availability of almost all foods in and out of season. So do canning, freezing, curing and other processing methods which keep food from deterioration until it is needed. The food producers and processors of the country have played a large part in making food available, palatable and safe. Take milk, for example, an ideal yet delicate food which is subject to spoilage. Today, your milk comes to you from disease-free herds, promptly cooled, expeditiously handled, pasteurized and bottled without the touch of a human hand and delivered to your door.

Manufactured Foods. Manufactured foods like soups, cereals, mixes and the wide range of so-called TV frozen foods ready to heat and serve, are all manufactured under strict regulations. What is more important is the conscientious effort of leading manufacturers to improve and safeguard their product in every way. For the occasional purveyor who might lack a proper sense of responsibility in these matters, there are two potent substitutes — competition, and health department or Federal government inspection. Homemaker Has A Responsibility. The homemaker has a responsibility, too, for keeping food quality high, right in her own kitchen. Milk should be kept refrigerated except when a portion is actually being poured. Meat should be kept frozen or refrigerated until needed. Cereals and other packaged foods should be kept shut while not in use. Fruits and vegetables should be washed and most need refrigeration if they are to come to the table safe, and tempting.
