FEEL BIRDS NEEDED IN THIS AREA

Following the publication in our issue of January 26 of a Fish and Game Department picture of wild turkeys being planted, a well-known local sportsman and land owner, who asked that his name not be used said:

"The planting of those wild turkeys may be fine, I won't say that it isn't — but the crying need in this area is for some Chinks and Huns, so that we may have a little hunting.

"Since this discontinuance of the Lapwai Game Farm, said to be an 'economy move', we have gone steadily down hill, and for the past two or three seasons Chinks and Huns have been as 'scarce as hens teeth'. Lucky is the hunter who gets one or two during the entire season.

"We are told there are many factors involved. But in my book there is but one — no birds planted!

"In the years gone by when the Lapwai Farm was in operation, we had many bird plants. Many of the 4-H youngsters were given clutches of Chink eggs to put under hens, and given a token amount of money for their efforts, and this produced a lot of birds, and the youngster got credit on a project for the work involved.

"Today, we have more and better cover than we did then, due to the hundreds of acres of land in the Soil Bank, and goodness knows, feed is plentiful, and the winters have been mild.

"Of course, there is another vital factor involved in the bird shortage — and that is the so-called 'dove' — and partridge seasons. These give the poacher — and there are many, many of them, an opportunity to roam the countryside with gun and dog, shooting at anything on wings — and by the time the Chink season is officially opened, there is nothing to shoot at, the poachers have them all, what few there were!

"I feel the Idaho Fish and Game Department needs to take a long, hard look at its 'economy policies' and seasons, and then do something to give the folks in this area birds!"

Our comment: "Amen!" to the above.

BAFFLED

"Sir: There aren't as many people actually working as you may have thought. At least not according to this survey. The population of the country is said to be 160 million, but there are 62 million over 65, leaving 98 million to do the work. People under 21 total 54 million, which leaves 44 million to do the work.

"Then there are 21 million who are employed by the government, and that leaves 23 million to do the work. Ten million are now in the Armed Forces, leaving 13 million to do the work. Deduct 12,800,000, the number in state and city offices, and that leaves 200,000 to do the work. There are 126,000 in hospitals, asylums, etc., and that leaves 74,000 people to do the work.

"But 62,000 of those are bums or others who will not work, so that leaves 12,000 to do the work. Now it may interest you to know that there are 11,998 people in jails, so that leaves just two people to do all the work — and that's you and me, brother, and I'm getting darn tired of doing everything by myself. — Signed, Baffled."

KITE FLYING FUN

Local youngsters are having a real "ball" with kite flying these days, taking advantage of the "March" winds that have been blowing in February, and the lack of snow.

Some have gotten quite proficient with the wind-born bits of paper, cloth and string.

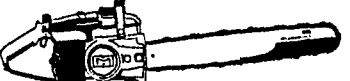

Favorite spot is near the village reservoir, where there are no trees or telephone poles and wires.

WHEAT PRODUCTION EXPECTED TO SOAR

U. of I., Moscow — The wheat farmer of the future will harvest 150 to 200 bushels per acre of wheat varieties tailored for specific market purposes. Dr. R. D. Ensign, associate director of the University of Idaho Agricultural Experiment Station, forecast in a report prepared for the Idaho State Wheat Growers Association.

"In Idaho, we have seen wheat yields more than double in certain areas through use of improved varieties, better cultural conditions and all-around better farming," he said. "The production potential for some of the state is still untapped."

"A well-adapted, dwarf-type wheat for fertile irrigated areas will possibly have a greater impact upon the wheat production picture than has the phenomenal Gaines variety."

Specialization is one area likely to develop rapidly, as we stop thinking of wheat as "just wheat," Ensign believes.

"Plant breeders will be required to develop wheat which possesses a certain protein quality. The wheat grower will need to follow rigid fertilization and production practices in order for the variety to meet market requirements. He will become a specialist along with all others in the production, marketing and processing of this food crop."

These developments will come through the intensive interest and continued cooperation of the wheat grower, the wheat processing industry and university agricultural researchers, Ensign pointed out.

Currently, he said, University of Idaho scientists are engaged in 20 general research projects related to wheat. These range from wheat breeding work to cultural studies to quality and marketing investigations.

AWARDS SET UP

Governor Don Samuelson announced today the establishment of a program of Governor's awards in literature for young Idaho writers.

The Governor said the awards will be given in order to encourage the development of young writers, one year from now. He said that the Idaho State Commission on Arts and Humanities will administer the program.

The six winners will be brought to Boise to receive the recognition of the Governor and the State and to be presented with their awards. Governor Samuelson said the awards will be given in three categories and each of two age groups. The categories will be fiction, non-fiction, and poetry. There will be one contest for persons through the age of sixteen years, and another for persons seventeen through twenty-two years of age.

The program is one which had been suggested by the Idaho State Commission on the Arts and Humanities. The Governor said he is participating in it personally because "I do want to give encouragement in this field, and help toward the improvement of writing and of the opportunity for writing within Idaho."

The Governor said detailed rules for preparing and submitting entries and details concerning judging and deadlines, will be announced by his office later.

WORLD PRAYER DAY

The World Day of Prayer is observed each year on the first Friday in Lent. It has a meaningful history dating from 1897. Prayer and giving for the World Wide Mission of the Church have been its primary purpose. It has traditionally brought people together across denominational, racial, national and cultural boundaries. Basically the same service is used by groups in approximately 127 countries and territories of the world.
 Women of the Kendrick, Juliaetta and Cameron churches will observe this day on Friday, Feb. 10, from 1:30 to 3:30 at the Zion Lutheran Church in Juliaetta. Miss Dorothy Meyer, a missionary, on leave from India, will be in charge of the offering and dedication. There will be special music and participation by all the women's groups.
 The ladies of the Zion Lutheran Church will be hostesses at a fellowship hour following the service.

HEARTFELT THANKS
 My heartfelt thanks to my many friends for your prayers, calls, flowers and cards while I have been ill. Your thoughtfulness has meant so very much to me. Sincerely - Jo Benscoter. 6-1x

MORE CAMPSITES NEEDED SAYS F. S.
 Boise - Protection of about 735 acres of land for recreational use on the Clearwater National Forest in north Idaho has been requested by the U. S. Forest Service. Several of the areas are along the Lewis-Clark Highway, and others on the North Fork of the Clearwater river.
 The Bureau of Land Management has been asked to withdraw key sites to permit construction of new camp grounds, expansion of several already in use, and creation of an historical site at Moose City Graves. Four of the campgrounds, Noseum, Hotel Flat, Pinto Flat and Jay Flat are located at intervals along the heavily traveled Lewis-Clark Highway. The Forest Service estimates that more than $800,000 will be expended in improvements at these sites within the next few years.
 The Pete Ott camp site on the North Fork of the Clearwater, has been used for many years. Forest Service officials report that improved facilities are needed because of increased demand along this particular section. Some timber removal, debris cleanup and replanting is planned. Improvements are also planned at the Fish Lake and Lake Creek sites, according to the Forest Service.

TAXES, TAXES!
 The following "letter" made its rounds of newspapers and magazines some four years ago following the steep tax increase, and is again making its appearance:
 "My Dear Sirs: In reply to your request to send a check I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to federal laws, state laws, county laws, city laws, corporation laws, liquor laws, mother-in-laws, sister-in-laws and outlaws.
 "Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, gas tax, water tax, sales tax, liquor tax, carpet tax, income tax, food tax, furniture tax, and excise tax. Even my brain is taxed. I am required to get a business license, car license, truck license, not to mention a marriage license and dog license.
 "I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life, to women's relief, the unemployment relief, and the gold digger's relief.
 "For my own safety I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglar insurance, business insurance, earthquake insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment insurance, old age insurance and fire insurance.
 "My business is governed so that it is no easy matter to find out who owns it. I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, rejected, defected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire, or thought of the human race.
 "Simply because I refuse to donate to something or other I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held down and robbed until I am almost ruined.
 "I can tell you honestly that except for the miracle that happened, I would not be able to enclose this check. The wolf that was at my back door just came in and had pups in the kitchen. I sold them, and here is the money!"
 Fresh and hot meats of all kinds are obtainable at Blewett's Market in Kendrick. 1-ad.

SOLAR BARBECUE DESIGN WINNER

U. of I. Moscow - A solar barbecue, which uses the sun's rays for heat, won a quartet of Idaho freshmen engineering students the first J. R. Simplot award at the University of Idaho.
 The competition featured a variety of designs ranging from door-knobs to complicated electrical circuits.
 The barbecue was designed by the team of Jeff Holmes, Midvale, Jim Voyles, Nampa, Warren Boxleitner, Riggins, and Charles Givens, New Meadows. The awards were presented by Robert Lothrop, manager of Simplot's Bovill plant.
 Second place in the competition went to the team of H. A. Johnson, Emmett, Olin Jennings, Los Angeles, Calif., J. D. Roethig, Boise, and J. A. Stewart, Coeur d'Alene. They designed a transistorized microphone tester.
 The two-way doorknob that opened either by turning or pushing, was designed by Peter Oswald, Boise, Robert Frye, Moscow, and Eric Pence Fayette. The design won third place.
 A portable energy utilization system won fourth prize. It was designed by Mike Cimino, San Francisco, Calif., Kenneth Nyman, Wallace, and Ronald Hills, Jerome.
 Fifth place went to the team of William Darden, Warren, Ohio, Louis Covert, Moscow, Perry Kirby, Craigmont, John Boyle, Los Angeles, Calif., and James Collier, Lewiston, with a sanitary garbage collection system.

FATS AND OILS
 A letter received from a reader displays some of the confusion which has arisen through the controversy over fats, oils, nutrition and diseases of the arteries and the heart. The lady asks:
 "Can I use mineral oil for cooking? I want to cut down on my calories, and, of course, I know that I should not use animal fats. I have already begun to use salad oils in place of butter, to cut down my calories."
 This is an interesting letter. To answer the first question first - mineral oil is nontoxic, and supposedly could be used for cooking, but it has other disadvantages.
 It tends to absorb the fat-soluble vitamins A and D from the intestines, thus depriving the body of these essential nutrients. It has a disagreeable tendency to leak from the bowel and stain the clothing. And it contributes no useful nutrients, as the other fats do.
Calorie Cutting
 The inquirer wants to cut down her calories, and perhaps she should; her doctor should advise her how to do it. As for substituting salad oils for butter to lower the calorie intake, here are some figures which should be sufficient commentary on that idea:
 Butter, which is 82% fat, plus salt and water, supplies roughly seven calories per gram, about 33 per teaspoon. Salad or cooking oils are 100% fat and supply roughly nine calories per gram, 42 per teaspoon. (Source: U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Handbook No. 8.)
 Instead of reducing her calories, she has increased them by about 27 percent by substituting salad oil for butter. Butter also supplies an average 3300 units of vitamin A per 100 grams; salad or cooking oils none.
 "Of course, I know that I should not use animal fats." Why "of course"? On whose authority? The role of animal fats in heart and arterial diseases is unsettled; distinguished medical authorities continue to differ. On one point, there is virtually universal agreement that the American diet tends to contain too much of all or any kind of fat. It is also recognized that other factors than diet may play a part in causing heart diseases.
Nutrition Authorities
 Two of the most knowledgeable sources of judgment in nutritional matters, the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council, a governmental agency, and the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association, are in agreement that in the present state of our knowledge, there is insufficient warrant for making any radical changes in the American dietary, beyond moderate reduction in the total amount of all kinds of fats.
 The key to heart disease prevention seems to be moderation in many phases of living, rather than all-out tampering with the diet.

WEATHER COULD BE DISASTEROUS

The warm winter to date could prove very disastrous to local flower and shrub owners, or for most anyone with a "green thumb." For example:

Lawns are a brilliant green, border daisies and pansies have never quit blooming, bridal wreath is beginning to leaf, lilacs have huge buds, forsythia is beginning to leaf, Corabell is shedding its "bud like" winter appearance.

To cap it all, rose bushes are beginning to bud — so a good, hard freeze could result in a great deal of damage to shrubs and flowers, and perhaps kill them.

HOSTS YOUTH GROUP

Margie Smith was hostess to the Christ's Ambassadors Youth Group of the Assembly of God Church, Sunday evening. This was their weekly devotional meeting with 20 members present and Shari Harris in charge.

After a group singspiration special music was furnished by the Youth Male Quartette, followed by the Harris Trio singing "I Don't Know About Tomorrow." Dan Salter and Roy Fry played an instrumental number. Jeannie Mabbott gave devotions.

The hour was concluded with a wish of "God Speed" and prayer as Margie prepares for her trip to Boise where she will receive therapy treatments.
