WWP ANNUAL REPORT NOW OUT

New record highs in average customer use of electricity, higher earning consistent with the prosperity of the area it serves, and increasing popularity of natural gas are highlighted in the 77th Annual Report of The Washington Water Pow r Company now being distributed to the utility's more than 26,000 shareholders.

The colorful 24-page report devotes much of its space to promotion of the Inland Empire as a place to live, work, and play.

"I'm one of 25,103 Water Power Shareholders"

"Mine is a modest amount of shares, but I'm pleased about owning my WWP stock. I receive dividends every year ... and, as a stockholder in my utility company, I'm one of seventeen million Americans who own shares in our free enterprise business system."

It is 25,000 people, like this school teacher, whose investments make it possible for us to grow and expand our services to meet the needs and match the growth of our area. Many of our customers are WWP shareholders and two of every three employes own stock in their company.

Shareholders come from all walks of life, from various levels of income. Over 11,000 WWP stockholders own less than 100 shares each; about 3,000 own less than 10. And, practically everyone who owns an insurance policv has invested indirectly in the business managed utilities of America.

So, in a sense, an investor-owned utility like the WWP is owned by the public—a good example of the system that is the strength of our nation.

NOTE: It's quite possible that our school teacher's father also owned stock and received dividends from The Washington Water Power Company. WWP has paid dividends every year since 1900. Our 1966 annual report has just been printed. Extra copies are available. If you would like one, just drop us a card.

Meet a national resource named Steve

Steve is a cross-country track man, an artist, and an explorer of worlds that do not exist. That toothpick model is an attempt to study what lies beyond our three known dimensions.

At the 1966 International Science Fair, Steve won a ribbon for his theory of dimensions. But he didn't stop there. He believes the number of other dimensions is limitless, and is hard at work to prove it.

Why our interest in Steve? Because young people are our greatest national resource. They deserve all the help they can get toward realizing their potentials.

Contributing to science fairs, providing scholarships and fellowships, refinery tours and geology tours, and teaching materials for schools, are just some of the ways our Company shows its active interest in today's young men and women.

Standard Oil is trying to help young people discover more about themselves . . . and the world they live in.

DON'T BE A LITTER BUG, IT'S COSTLY

Spokane — You can be a welcome stranger on your auto trip, if you take an additional responsibility for cleanliness and neatness along the highways, in roadside picnic areas and in rest rooms

The next time you're tempted to toss a gum or candy wrapper from your car window, remember your annual litter bill — $26.31. That is the estimated cost of litter cleanup for every man, woman and child in the United States, for a staggering total of $5 billion.

Even more costly are the estimated 900 Americans who are killed each year — with 75,000 seriously injured — because their cars either strike objects on the road or swerve to avoid them.

People are encouraged to travel and see new vistas, but many violate the areas of natural beauty and wildlife habitat which have been preserved for them.

It is really disgraceful that the paths of travelers should be marked by empty beer can and bottles, milk cartons and other debris along their way. We have a great heritage of natural beauty and it is a shame to find it spoiled by the minority of people who just don't really care!

Here are a few tips that will make you a welcome traveler:

Carry a litterbag, and use it. Even brown paper sack will work.

If you smoke, use your ashtray.

After using a roadside park and help keep them clean.

picnic area, clean up your debris.

Exercise care in the use of public rest rooms along the highway, and help keep them clean

NEW BUILDING FOR UNIVERSITY

U. of I., Moscow - Students in physical education for women, and in forestry, who have been utilizing two of the oldest buildings on the University campus, are looking forward to new buildings. Announcement has been received from Boise that the new Wemon's Health and Education, and Forestry buildings are included in projects for which the state legislature allocated $3:3 million dollars to the university.

significant updating to teaching and research facilities." said President Ernest W. Hartung. "Even though the present buildings are more than a half-century old, they are structurally sound, and we intend to convert them to more appropriate use." The present Women's gymnasium, built with a $25,000 state appropriation, was completed in 1904. The Forestry building was constructed in 1907 with insurance money from the destruction by fire in 1906 of the original Administration building. "Women on the campus have been hoping and praying for the new health-education facilities for at least 20 years," said Prof. Mabel Locke, chairman of physical education for

Dean Ernest Wohletz of the College of Forestry. Wildlife and Range Sciences commented: "With the new Forestry Building, we can expand in areas in which there are particularly crowded conditions. Since our gradnate program has increased in the last two years from 25 to 55 students, and from eight to 25 doctorates, we had feared we might have to curtail it, but now we can continue to grow."

COMMON COLDS

Wash.. D. C. -- Low temperatures, at least under normally encountered conditions, do not seem to cause the common cold. Volunteers in a National Institute of Health study were subjected to the sort of shortterm chilling and dampness commonly believed to bring on a cold. Despite their exposure to the low temperatures, they didn't catch significantly more colds than a control group who stayed warm and dry.
